Come, Let Us Reason Together

By Dr. William F. Knox
Personal Counselor

'Why Is Change So Resisted?'

I have been quite amazed as I travel out over the country to find that people think of us Bostonians as rather backward in our thinking and actions. We seem to have gained a reputation for resisting change....long after other people have adopted a new idea we hold on to the old idea even though it is recognized universally to have been supplanted by a new and better idea. Two cases in point.... fluoridation....and birth control. I don't think we in New England have any monopoly on resisting change....but in many ways we must admit that we almost worship the "old" and resist the "new". The public and institutional resistance to change slops over into every family and affects every individual life.

I see three reasons for our resistance to change. First, scruples....moral and religious scruples....scruples which have no legitimate foundation....scruples based upon handed down myths....misinterpretations of truth....and authorities who had personal axes to grind. People took for truth "that which has always been." The "generation gap" has never been greater and this is simply because young people are breaking with the old scruples. For many young people it is far more religious to be marching in a demonstration against the immoral war in Vietnam than it is sitting in a Church on Sunday morning....far more moral to preserve relationships than it is to be true to senseless "principles" handed down from generation to generation. Those who coddle and cultivate their "scruples" usually are in the front ranks of those who resist change. Those most concerned about "right and wrong" are often the first to destroy harmony and create conflict.

The second reason for resistance to change....in Boston or any other place.... is ignorance. I'm not necessarily talking of lack of formal education.... though I certainly believe in formal education. I've burned some of the academic midnight oil to get those "cherished handles" which we call degrees. But I don't happen to think that the storing up of a lot of facts makes an educated person. I think an educated person is a person who can think....who had developed his/her personality....who has the ability to love....who knows how to treat other people.... whether they are black men.... children....Jews....husbands... wives. These latter two categories seem to show up the greatest ignorance among our people. We just do not know how to treat each other....hence the quarrels and fights in homes....and the need for marriage counselors to be teachers....to teach men how to treat women....to teach women how to treat men....to teach people how to communicate with each other....how to forgive ....how to make love with each other....how to please each other....how to build up the sagging spirit of each other. The people who know these things are the happy people....they are the educated people. They have broken the bonds of ignorance. These people do not resist change. They are constantly seeking new and better ways of life.

Fear is the third reason why we resist change....fear of being hurt....fear of being submerged ....fear of being taken advantage of....fear of displeasing a parent who you can't possibly please unless you submit to his/her unworkable ideas of your life.... fear to be a man and stand up on your own hind legs and head that family....fear to be a woman and get behind your man....or better still, walk by his side as the "helpmate" God intended wives to be. Fear keeps people from listening to the new and better ways of relationship because they disturb us....and being disturbed is the last thing a fearful person wants.

"Scruples"...."Ignorance"..." "Fears"...Which one causes you to resist change?.... Oh! No! ....not all three? But....after all they are about the same thing, aren't they? FOR YOUR COMMENTS: Call Dr. Knox at 326-5990, or 545-5947, or 945-9800, or write him at 628 High Street, Dedham, Mass. 02026

Furniture must be appealing to the eye and many pieces of furniture require a great degree of comfort in sitting. But there is another kind of comfort that furniture shoppers rightly demand, and that is comfort and ease in shopping. One establishment that offers full and friendly service is Dudley Furniture and Appliance, 11 Billings Rd., North Quincy.

The store is owned by Harold Glickman who has been in business at his present location for the past 30 years. Mr. Glickman's familiarity with furniture and its sale, however, reaches beyond those 30 years to his experience when his parents were in the same business.

Most furniture stores offer their customers a delivery service; but Dudley adds an extra-setting up and assembling the furniture, too. This service is an important part to Dudley's attempt at easing the job of the shopper - novice or experienced.

Dudley also has a complete appliance department featuring the larger appliances on the market.

The most popular style of furniture today, according to Mr. Glickman, is Mediterranean. Naturally, Dudley has a complete offering of furniture in this style, and also in styles popular in years past or to gain popularity in the near future.

Along with his four employees, Harold Glickman has gained the confidence of South Shore furniture buyers. Evidence of this fact is the patronage of third generation customers. The grandchildren are still able to appreciate the same fine quality and service which Dudley offered when it first opened.

This mood of confidence in Mr. Glickman has filtered into the businessman's community where he has served as president of the North Quincy Board of Trade.

Everything sold is warranted at Dudley Furniture and Appliance - all merchandise and all customer service.

students will be returning to public, parochial and college classrooms in Quincy.

"The responsibility to provide safe walking conditions and to develop self-reliance and safe habits among children is shared by the School Department, Police Department, parents and the children themselves," Pettinelli said.

Grades 1-12 are slated for full opening day sessions on Wednesday with first graders to benefit from short days and 11 a.m. dismissals during the first week.

Incoming North Quincy High School students new to the school will report to the auditorium at 8 a.m. Regular returning pupils will report to assigned homerooms at 9:30 a.m.

Lists will be posted in the lobby for Quincy High School students. Sophomores will report to the auditorium at 8 a.m. and juniors and seniors to homerooms at 8 a.m.

At Vocational-Tech, sophomores will report to the cafeteria and juniors and seniors to shop areas. Orientation will be conducted for post-grad students in the cafeteria at 8 a.m., Sept. 8.

Introductory sessions for kindergarten pupils and parents are scheduled for Sept. 10 according to post cards mailed to parents.

Quincy's new teachers were officially welcomed yesterday [Wednesday] with building tours and introductions to fellow faculty members and city officials highlighting the orientations.

Among those extending greetings were Dr. Creedon, Mayor James R. McIntyre, School Committee vice-chairman Mrs. Alice Mitchell and Quincy Educational Association president Robert Basiliere.

Three-day orientation programs for new secondary school teachers opened yesterday and will continue today and tomorrow [Friday]. Official welcome was extended by secondary school coordinator Arthur S. Woodward.

All new teachers were requested to attend the noon luncheon program yesterday at Broad Meadows Jr. High School for the welcoming remarks by city and school officials.

By GUIDO PETTINELLI
Quincy School Safety Officer

School bells will ring in Quincy next Wednesday [Sept. 3] and we should all work together to make it an accident free school year.

This responsibility must be shared by the School Department, the Police Department, motorists, parents–and the children themselves Safety is everybody's business.

Children need your help in providing safe walking conditions and developing self- reliance and safe habits.

Approximately 20,000 students will be travelling to and from school in Quincy in the weeks and months ahead.

Among them will be pupils from 22 public elementary schools, five parochial schools, five junior high schools and students from two high schools, one Vocational-Technical School, Quincy Junior College and Eastern Nazarene College.

This will mean many miles of pedestrian traffic during the 1969-1970 school year with many younger pupils and older students crossing main streets and busy intersections.

The younger children will be aided by 36 women traffic supervisors and eight policemen at

Meet The Women Who Will Protect Your Children

Thirty-six women traffic supervisors will guard school crossings during the 1969-1970 school year.

Safety Is Everybody's Business school crossings, assisted by an estimated 1,000 pupils who will serve on school safety patrols.

Youngsters should remember these rules:

- Always walk on the sidewalk.
- Cross only at the corner, look both ways BEFORE crossing.

ETTINELLI

- Use the crosswalk whenever possible.
- Don't cross from between parked cars.
- When crossing at a traffic light, wait for the light to change and wait for the traffic to stop before crossing.
- Obey your school traffic supervisor.
- Obey your safety patrol.
- Watch for turning cars.
- Never dart out onto the street.

There are also important safety rules for youngsters traveling to and from school by bus. They are:

- Stay quietly in your seat.
- Save snacks and homework for later.
- Put books and bundles where they cannot slide or fall.
- Keep arms and legs out of aisles.
- Act as you would in a classroom.
- Try not to carry big or heavy things on the bus.
- Your head, arms and bundles are safest INSIDE the bus.
- Don't talk to the driver except in emergencies.
- Don't open windows without permission.
- When leaving the bus, walk–don't run.

Parents should fulfill their obligations by understanding traffic regulations and have knowledge of safety rules to pass onto their children.

Poor parental example and lack of supervision can defeat the positive efforts of others to provide for a child's safety.

Following are a few tips for parents to help contribute to the safety of their children:

- Make sure your child is taking a safe route to and from school.
- Set a good example in the presence of your child when a pedestrian. If you follow safety rules, your children will follow your example. Teach your child the danger of talking to or going with strangers.
- As a driver, be courteous and observant. Around school zones be especially careful.
- Treat other children as you want others to treat your child.

Safety is everybody's business.

It could also be worth a life.

THIS WILL BE a familiar scene again beginning Sept. 3 when Quincy youngsters return to school. Here, Mrs. Jean Quintiliani, one of 36 women traffic supervisors assigned to school crossings, helps Willard School youngsters cross safely at Furnace Brook Parkway and Copeland St., West Quincy.

School Yard Is 'No Dogs' Land

Mary may have had a little lamb that followed her to school.

But if you have a little [or big] dog–keep him home.

The school yard is no place for dogs and Quincy police urge that you keep your pet home.

They advise you to keep your dog in the house when your children leave for school.

Dogs congregate around school yards and even the friendliest ones can frighten other children, sometimes causing injuries.

Police also remind you that Quincy has a leash law and violators face prosecution.

Recreation Roundup

Quincy's active summer recreation programs ended officially last Saturday according to Recreation Director, William F. Ryan. "Championship Week" on the city's 33 playgrounds was climaxed by the annual Field Day last Wednesday at Veterans Memorial Stadium. Forty-four different running and novelty races were held in five divisions for boys and girls six to 16. District One, supervised by Tom Turner accumulated 84 points to win the district championship.

The Perkins Playground won the individual playground championship with 31 points coached by their playground leaders, Florence Tingey and Stephen Riley. In second place with 28 points was Pollard Playground and in third place with 21 points Merrymount Playground.

Volunteer Junior Leader badges were presented by Mayor James R. McIntyre to youngsters who voluntarily assisted playground leaders during the summer. First, second and third place achievement award ribbons were presented to competitors by Miss Katherine G. McCoy, Park-Recreation Board Commissioner and Ward Four Councillor Albert R. Barilaro.

The "Wreck Band" made up of summer staff members made their first appearance in the stadium. Their Herb Alpert arrangements were applauded loudly particularly when Mayor McIntyre [a former Marine] and Mr. Ryan [a former Navy man] ducted on the departments' song, "Roll on Recreation" sung to the tune of the Army song "The Caisons Go Rolling Along". Music specialist, Robert Foye on trumpet directed the band assisted by boating instructor, Tom Sweeny on trumpet. Guitarists, Bill Kennedy, Carl Lindgren, and Steven Barry and saxophonists Dave Simpson and Gary Verroneau and drummer Dan Coughlin, all playground leaders, were accompanied on the piano by boating instructor Steve Kenney.

A Rhythm Band from Faxon Park Playground, made up of Mike, Steve and Sal DiMino, Denny MacPhee and Andy Gore performed well on rock and roll numbers and a group called the Mini Singers which included Dorna Deluca, Kathy Picardi, Kathy Lyons and Leigh Lyons as well as another group called the Faxon Swingers with Michele Monti, Charlene Russo and Maryann Picardi delighted all. Michele Dracchio directed both.

Over 200 attended the annual parents night program at Happy Acres Day Camp in Merrymount Park, under the direction of Camp Director, Earl E. Vermillion. Exhibits, trampoline, soccer, archery, obstacle course, folk dancing, singing, skits and a campfire program brought together campers, parents, staff and volunteers. The camp closed last Friday, but half of the group participated Saturday at Boston College Stadium in the Northeast Regional Special Olympics sponsored by the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation and the Massachusetts Jaycees. With Mr. Vermillion were the camp staff members Gus Andrews, Mary Kenney, Ellie Rizzo, Rus Berg, Donna Anderson, Dottie Tehan, Janet Veasy, Bev Hodges, Cindy Morrissey, George Moore, Bill Burke and Charlie Alongi.

Allerton playground really enjoyed the visit of nature specialist Fred Cawthorne and Mary "The Swamp Fox" Faherty as the youngsters hiked through the marshes to collect and study different kinds of seawee, shrimp, minnows, snails and horseshoe crabs. Rickey Bjork and Ronnie Gullickson tied for first and set a new record of eating 12 pieces of watermelon in less than two minutes at the parents night program.

With Dave Sullivan pitching a no-hitter Bayside's senior boys baseball team won the district championship helped by his brother Steve who drove in a double to right to bring in the winning run. Advanced publicity posters were made by "Hoss" Ryan, Dianne Condon, and Cathy Dennis for Labreque's parents night program which included a cook-out on Mr. Donovan's grill.

Water ski instructors Maureen Foye, Lee Davis, and Jim Murphy and skiers Diane Marcum, Peggy Maher, Elaine Murphy, Brenda Kelley, Mark Robinson and volunteer junior ski leader Dave Merrill working from a float and using the recreation ski boat presented the skiers salute, the knee bend, heel hold, slalom, crossunder, shoe skiies, disk and climaxed with a pyramid with Maureen Foye on the shoulders of Lee and Jim. Supervisor Lionel Buckley ran the finals in freestyle races in four divisions for both girls and boys.

Adams Shore with an accumulation of 12 points took the championship over a close second place Perry team what had 11 points followed by Fenno with 10 points. First play girls winners were Suzanne Mortell, Carol Lynch, Janice Lorenzetti, and Yvonne Mackey. The first play boys were Paul Theriault, Kevin Murphy, Ed Donovan, and James Cashman. Master of ceremonies was recreation director William F. Ryan.

Joe Daly, Boating and Sailing Supervisor, and his Black's Creek staff produced the largest attended Nautical Day Program, an extension of Quincy Bay Race Week program. Rowing, sailing and parent-child races were held after a noon-time boat parade. A skit put on by the volunteer junior leaders entitled "Black Beard Returns" saw a pirate battle staged in the boats and on the floats. Mike "Blackbeard" O'Malley ended up in the deep sea as the good guys rescued the fair maidens. The staff band on a float presented a Herb Alpert type performance and Tom Sweeny and Steve Kenney recent graduates of the 10-day American Red Cross Small Craft School, put on a paddling demonstration in the new fiberglass canoe. This was another first for the program which hopes that additional canoes may be added in future years so that an instructional canoeing program may be provided.

Quincy's 14 swimming stations officially closed last Thursday evening with cookouts and awards of Red Cross certificates presented to youngsters who completed requirements for the many water safety and swimming courses. Water Safety Supervisor Mrs. Louise Garland reports there were more than 2500 participants in the program.

With three breaks at the Stadium necessitating replacements of equipment stolen each time, Director Ryan now wonders if enough funds will be available to operate the department's "Winter Program" scheduled to start at the end of October in 22 schools. Those wishing to apply for positions in the Winter Program must file applications at the Recreation Office in the John F. Kennedy Health Center at 1120 Hancock St. before the Sept. 15 deadline. Preference will be given to those who are on Civil Service lists and those who have had successful experience with the department.

Kudos to staff members Rosemary Sullivan who will be teaching the fifth grade at Massachusetts Fields School; Mary Kenney who will be teaching kindergarten at Wollaston School and Happy Acres Day Camp Director Earl Vermillion who was recently appointed a basketball coach at Quincy Junior College.

Inaugural Nautical Parade Unfurled At Black's Creek

Aiding in the colorful festooning for the Recreation Dept. festivity were the boathouse staff. The daylong celebration was highlighted by a nautical parade and sailing races for youngsters in a series of classes.

The following winners captured racing awards:

Winners in boys' sailing were: eight and nine year olds: Kevin O'Connell, Bruce Brennan, Paul Higgins. Ten and Eleven year olds: Pat Conroy, Joe McLean, Tom Fallon. Twelve and Thirteen year olds: Steven Burke, Michael O'Malley, Steven Hobbs. Fourteen and fifteen year olds: Kevin Barry and John Manning.

Winners in girls' rowing were: eight and nine year olds: Beth McLean, Sheila Burke, Karen Pagliaro. Ten and eleven year olds: Ingrid Pagliaro, Christine Hicks, Shirley Lyons. Twelve and thirteen year olds: Margaret McLean, Jean Kelleher, Susan Abate. Fourteen and fifteen year olds: Donna Burke, Linda Grazioso, Lynn Hodges.

Winners of the parent-child sailing event were:

Firtst, Steven and Mrs. Burke, second, Michael and Mrs. O'Malley, third, Steven and Mrs. Hobbs.

The Black's Creek cup, given to the best racer, was won by Steven Burke.

The junior leader award was given to Michael O'Malley; and finally the most improved sailor award went to John Manning.

Frazier Facing Rebuilding Job

When Ralph Frazier accepted the post of North Quincy High's head football coach, many advised him against it, figuring he had nowhere to go but down after Carl Leone's successful eight years.

And, when one looks at the Raider squad which reported this week to their new coach, he has to think maybe these fans were right.

"I know I have a terrific rebuilding job but I consider it a great challenge and am looking forward to it," Ralph said. "We had a fine turnout of 87 and among them are some very likely looking prospects."

North lost its entire starting offensive team plus the second offensive backfield and as the new coach said, "we are green as grass on offense." The defensive picture is a mite brighter but Frazier has only four defensive starters returning.

Frazier feels he has the makings of another strong squad with some capable returnees from the 1968 varsity and some promising graduates of the junior varsity and sophomore squads.

"I will be able to tell you a lot more after we are out a week," he said. "Right now I can't tell you a thing except to say that my hopes are high for another strong team."

Last year's team started fast with a 6-0 record but dropped its last three games to miss another Greater Boston League championship. Leone had only two losing seasons and led the Raiders to the league crown three years ago.

Frazier, who had been Leone's line coach the past four years, has Bill Pagnano, Ted Sadowski and Jack Bowes back as assistant coaches and another aide is still to be named.

Conroy Greets 110

Last fall Quincy High's football team finished with a bang and won its last three games, including the big 21-8 Thanksgiving victory over North, for a 5-3-1 record.

Coach Henry Conroy greeted 110 candidates this week for the opening drill of the season and found himself with only two returning offensive starters, both linemen, and three defensive starters.

However, the outlook isn't as dreary as it might at first appear, as several boys who saw some action with the varsity are back in the fold.

"We lost our entire starting offensive backfield of Steve Mc Devitt, Ken Prouty, Steve Carrera and John Molla and all but Dick Menchi and Steve Shapiro in the offensive line," Conroy said.

However, two of the three returning defensive starters, Paul Picarski and Rick Pettiti, could have been with the starting offensive backfield if needed and loom as running backs this fall. The other returning defensive regular is Menchi, a two-way end. Shapiro is an offensive tackle.

The Quincy coaches feel the big job this year is to fill Carrera's shoes. He ran North Quincy ragged, beating them virtually by himself and was an easy choice as the Granville Award winner.

Picarski and Pettiti, together with a few other returning varsity backs, should fill the other backfield slots and Conroy has three good prospects, Kevin Ryan, Steve Sullivan and John Joyce, battling to replace the outstanding McDevitt at quarterback. Another returning back is Tom Daley, who sparkled in his few varsity appearances.

"Our big job in the line is to find some offensive guards," Conroy explained. "We need some aggressive, fast-pulling guards.

Bob McDonald, who played well at center before breaking his ankle in midseason last fall, has the inside track on that spot. Cliff Mattson and Joe Maguire, who came along well at the end of the year, are excellent tackles, and Menchi, Mike Paluzzi and Bill Maver are fine ends.

"Depth will be a problem," Hank continued. "I think our starting club should be strong and we could have another outstanding defensive team and good speed. We have good size, both in weight and height."

Last year Dave Burke had another undefeated sophomore team and several of his players should play key roles for the varsity this season.

Joining Burke, Art Mosher and Gene Macomber as assistant coaches is a former Quincy star guard, John Bogan, who has been coaching in Milford. "It is good to be back at my alma mater," John said. He replaces Tony Day, now head coach at Dighton-Rehoboth.

Conroy is lining up a strong scrimmage schedule with four already set and another possibility.

Weymouth Fair Sets New Pari-Mutuel Handle Mark

The Weymouth Fair has concluded its 1969 run with a new pari-mutuel handle record and an attendance mark of more than 172,000.

The $1,156,397 pari-mutuel topped last year's by $62,971. Last Saturday's $293,945 handle for a single day passed the 1968 record by $66,203.

Among the highlights were the Grange Contest, the Garden Club Contest, Buddy Wagner's "Lucky Hell Drivers", and the 4-H Livestock Shows staged by William E. 'Hoot' Gibson, Director of Livestock.

Guests visiting the Fair were Sen. William D. Weeks of Cohasset, Carroll Sheehan of Milton, representing Gov. Francis Sargeant, and Nathan Chandler, Commissioner of Agriculture for Massachusetts.

Other notable features were Kiddies Day, Governor's Day and Senior Citizens Day.

Mrs. Marion Ferrisi, Director of Hall Exhibits, cited the greatest number of exhibitors in the history of the fair, attesting to the "sincere interest on the part of Weymouth Fair officials to present the very best for young and old alike."

District One Wins Title

District one, supervised by Tom Turner, won the district championship, at the annual Quincy Recreation Department's Novice Junior Olympics last week at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The event was held in conjunction with Physical Fitness Week with representatives from the City's 33 playgrounds participating:

Novelty, running and jumping events for boys and girls who had won their district meets saw Perkins Playground at The Merrymount School accumulating the top score and the city championship with 34 points, coached by playground leaders Steve Riley and Florence Tingey.

Second was O'Rourke with 29 points under the tutelage of Bob Sullivan and Eileen Cohen and third place Squantum with 24 points coached by Linda Josselyn.

'Significant Contribution' Asked Of 144 Teachers

Dr. Lawrence Creedon, Superintendent of Schools, yesterday sought the commitment of some 144 new teachers to making a "significant contribution" to the City's 17,000 students.

The challenge was made by Dr. Creedon at the Orientation Program for the new teachers - including 58 Quincy residents - at the Broad Meadows Junior High School.

In his greeting message, Dr. Creedon said:

"I can say that many, if not most, and I would hope all, of your colleagues now practicing in Quincy are inspired educators. We are anxious to share with you our tasks, our challenges, our frustrations, and our rewards. In return, we ask that you identify with us as an educational community; that you become a student of the teaching-learning process as it is being developed in Quincy; and you commit yourself to making a significant contribution to the nearly 18,000 young people trusted to us."

Others addressing the new faculty were; Mrs. Alice Mitchell, Vice-Chairman of the Quincy School Committee, and Robert P. Basiliere, president of the Quincy Education Association.

The teachers were provided with a kit with information "relative to the thrust of educational activities in Quincy." In a pamphlet prepared by Dr. Creedon, entitled "Some Thoughts On Process", the superintendent discussed the "development and implementation of a meaningful curriculum and program of instruction", one with a focal point on the individual student as opposed to content, subject matter or school organization.

Dr. Creedon noted that curriculum development includes three phases: inputs, processes, and outputs. In his discussion of process, the heart of learning activity, he addressed himself to four principles;

Development and utilization of the most relevant learning experiences.

Development of teaching strategies that are responsive to the learning styles of each individual.

Sophisticated use of technology.

Pre-service and in-service education of teachers-members of the Learning Management Team.

In a world moving toward "individualized learning", Dr. Creedon made a distinction between individualized learning and independent study.

"Individualized learning and independent study are not synonymous terms," he said. "Independent study is but one approach to the individualization of the learning process and should not be used to the exclusion of all other approaches. Individualized learning refers to the learning style of each individual and includes consideration of not only independent study but also team or peer learning, as well as small and large group situations. It moves out of the listen, read, write and recite syndrone and into a more extensive use of the senses, primary experiences and media."

In conclusion, the Superintendent discussed the teacher role in a social institution dedicated to making youngsters "self-learners".

"If we expect teachers to develop within their students the process skills of inquiry and communication, then we had better begin by structuring education programs that will attempt to modify teacher behavior in these same areas".

Child Abuse

One of the most disturbing experiences a physician has, is the suspicion or recognition of an abused child. - The "Battered Child Syndrome" - Physical abuse is one thing - neglect is another and we often are presented with children suffering both.

The Rights of Children is not a long-standing recognition. The Old Testament [Genesis 22:1-19] and Micah [6-7] was interpreted as justifying rigid rearing to ensure an adjusted adult.

Even infanticide was used to control population and eliminate the weak or defective child. In 1874 a court case involving an abused child resulted in exoneration of the parents because there were no laws against such treatment. Wisely they called in the S.P.C.A. [Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals], after all, humans are animals! The little girl was removed from her parents and the S.P.C.C. [Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children] was born. Man's rigid adherence to the interpretation of law required such an indirection to recognize human rights.

In 1961 the term "Battered Child Syndrome" was first used. A syndrome implies that many signs and symptoms found in a case point to a certain condition or illness. In this syndrome the appearance of the injuries had to be inflicted by violence or mayhem and by another, usually a parent. Xrays have shown odd fractures, often multiple, involving the skull, collar bone, face, arms and legs. Hemorrhages of the brain, internal injuries to liver and spleen and ruptured bowels, fractured ribs, collapsed lungs, severe eye injuries, tell tale imprints of the whole hand on buttocks, back, face etc. You wouldn't believe it at times!

I recall a boy of 10 with fractures of both bones of the forearm which could not possibly have occurred as the history presented and further questioning admitted to direct, violent, snapping, across his knees by the father, in a rage.

If you doubt me - conservative estimates put 10,000 to 15,000 children in the U. S. as receiving severe injuries in this way. Five per cent died and 25% to 30% received permanent deformity. Just Think what the true number would be if all were reported. Strangely, one half of the children were under three and one fourth were under one year of age.

"I just couldn't stand the crying". All cultural, educational, economic and racial back-grounds are represented areas. More often among the poor.

All 50 states now require reporting, by the physician, of actual or suspected cases. He need no longer fear reprisal by law suit. The doctor is reporting the need for investigation. He is not openly accusing! The reason for the report is the horrible observation that continued abuse is the rule with the possible future maiming or death of the child.

Your immediate reaction would be to recoil, or ejaculate, that the parent or abuser should be punished. Strangely the parent wants help and is relieved on discovery and if approached tactfully and sympathetically will admit to his inadequacy and even to his need for separation from the child to a foster home. Even permanently.

Family breakdowns or economic deprivation may be in the background. Agencies, welfare or social, investigating such cases prefer juvenile courts to bear the dependency petitions asking the court to allow the agency to oversee the future care of the child. Dependency action is in my opinion preferable to criminal charges. Your natural question would be, "What manner of person could do this?" Apparently parents despite their exploitation in many ways, need reciprocal affection from the child for their own gratification. Frustration and uncontrollable rage may be the reaction to frustration if the child doesn't respond, or continues to cry [and there are crybabies], or even sick ones.

Often a parent demands a higher level of performance than the child can give. Older children, in their astuteness have learned to read and adjust to their parents needs by proper behavior. But not this poor kid.

Stress in the home such as difficult pregnancies, unresponding spouse or over-bearing relatives may precipitate the abuse to this certain child. Child abuse most frequently occurs when the spouse is physically or emotionally absent and no other support is possible for the abusing parent. Psychiatric help is absolutely necessary for such parents because abuse is not an isolated one time incident. It will recur.

In Quincy, child welfare agencies and our police have been very understanding, sympathetic and cooperative as are the school and social workers. The latter, particularly can more efficiently and discreetly do the physician's work with the family. He is involved more in support than investigation.

Aren't you glad you are relatively normal and have learned to control yourself most of the time? And isn't it nice to have someone you can blow your top off at like your wife and not beat your kids? - Or maybe if you do - gentle-like!

Twelve volunteer junior leaders were missing from the Quincy Recreation Department's Black's Creek boating and sailing program last week.

The 12 were participating in three of the department's Turnabouts in Quincy Bay Race Week under the tutelage of instructor Tom Sweeny and boating-sailing supervisor Joe Daly, both members of the Wollaston Yacht Club.

Sailing the department's new fiberglass Turnabout was Steve Burke skipper and Mark Fasano, who competed in the White Fleet; Mike O'Malley, skipper and John Manning, in the Red Fleet.

The third boat was assigned to four different crews which had as skippers Kevin Barry, Donna Burke, Bill Manning and Paul Fantucchio and crew members Kevin O'Connell, Roseanne Fantucchio, Joe Burns and Mike McCauley.

ARBITRATION URGED ON LAYOFFS

Shipyard Walkout BlowTo Labor Pact

A continuing walkout at the Quincy General Dynamics Shipyard has set back hopes for a long-term agreement with labor forces.

Shipyard General Manager Robert V. Laney appealed to stay-at-home workers to return to their jobs yesterday. An estimated 6,000 production workers are involved in the walkout that cast a shadow over the five-year union-management pact signed last April.

"It is the responsibility of the union leaders and other employees to return to work now," Laney stated in an open letter to all employees Wednesday.

"The present strike is illegal under law and under terms of the labor agreement," the shipyard official charged.

Laney urged that the walkout issue involving a layoff of 10 machinists "be settled by the arbitration procedure."

The mushrooming walkout was was ignited at lunch time Tuesday when Local 5 production workers failed to report back to their jobs. The walkout was a gesture of support for the 10 machinists who were officially terminated Friday.

The grievance was touched off on July 31 when 50 machinists walked off their jobs in reaction to the first notice of the intended layoff of the 10 workers.

An arbitration ruling is being awaited on the July walkout following a marathon union-management session that ended at 5 a.m. Wednesday at the Sheraton Motor Inn, North Quincy.

Despite appeals of Local 5 leaders, an estimated 95 per cent of the first shift workers failed to enter the shipyard Wednesday morning. Although the walkout remained unsanctioned by the union, Local 5 officials called the layoffs violation of seniority agreements."

Laney's letter proposed that the layoff issue be submitted to arbitration under the long-term labor contract ratified by the shipyard unions last April.

"In fairness to all concerned, the arbitration proceedingsshould be held at once," Laney urged.

"Management is ready to do so. I ask each of you to get back to your jobs," Laney notified the idle workers.

Arbitrator Rules Three Work Stoppages Illegal

An arbitrator's ruling in favor of General Dynamics was handed down late yesterday afternoon ordering striking workers to return to their jobs.

Ruled Arbitrator W. J. Fallon, "It is my finding that employees of General Dynamics, Quincy Division, engaged in a work stoppage on July 31, Aug. 25 and 26, 1969, in violation of article 11, section one of the collective bargaining agreement.

"Employees who have participated in the work stoppage are directed to refrain from such conduct forthwith and to cease and desist from any such further contract violations."

Still pending is a proposal by Shipyard General Manager Robert V. Laney to submit to arbitration the walkout issue involving the layoff of 10 machinists.

Quincy Man In Chiropractic Session

A Quincy man will participate in the annual convention of the Massachusetts Chiropractic Society to be held Sept. 11-14 at the new Sheraton Motor Inn in Hyannis.

He is Philip A. Tardanico, 792 Southern Artery, who will serve as chairman of displays and exhibits.

The convention will feature two prominent members of the profession, Lorraine M. Golden of Louisville, Ky., and August L. Schultz of Mitchell, S.D.

All-Star League Seeking Bowlers

Guy Giampietro, secretary of the All-Star Bowling League, announces the League is expanding and is looking for interested ten-pin bowlers.

An organization meeting will be held Tuesday evening, Sept. 2, at 7 p.m. at the Wonder Bowl Lanes, Southern Artery in Quincy.

Nannis, LaRaia Return To City Political Arena

Harold A. Nannis, 107 East Elm Ave., Wollaston who opposed Mayor James R. McIntyre in the last election, has once again taken out nomination papers for the office of Mayor in the Oct. 7 city preliminary election.

Another familiar face is returning to the Quincy political arena after an absence of four years. Former City Council President Joseph J. LaRaia, of 54 Grogan Ave., West Quincy, is seeking a Councillor-at-large seat.

Two more persons have taken out papers for the School Committee. They are Planning Board member George C. Smith, Jr., 16 Anderson Rd., and Julie E. Morrissey, 100 Doane St.

This brings to 42 the number of candidates with papers in circulation.

Prospective candidates have two more weeks to file papers.

Deadline for submitting them is Sept. 9.

Fourth Major Project

A high-rise $6 to $8 million office building is in the planning stage for the Quincy Center area.

If plans materialize, it would be the fourth major construction development for the city in two years.

The others, now underway are:

–The $10 to $20 million Jordan Marsh distribution center-which will be the largest building in New England–nearing completion at the former Squantum Naval Air Station.

–The $100 million computer -residential complex to be built by State Street Bank and Trust Company in the Montclair marsh area.

"There is a major insurance company interested in locating in Quincy," said Mayor James R. McIntyre confirming the plans.

But he declined further comment.

However, it was learned by the Quincy Sun that the insurance company has two sites in mind for constructing the building on leased air rights over the MBTA tracks.

Sources said tentative plans call for an approximate 200,000 square foot building of between 10 and 15 stories in height.

Cost is estimated between $6 and $8 million.

If plans materialize, the building would be another economic boon to the city, strengthening the tax revenue base and creating more jobs in the area.

McIntyre Seeks Third Term To 'Finish Job' Started

Mayor James R. McIntyre today formally announced his candidacy for a third term "to finish the job" started by his administration.

The announcement ends speculation in some political corners that the city's 39-year-old chief executive might bow out in an 11th hour move.

But it also confirmed a report in the Quincy Sun July 10 that McIntyre would "definitely run for a third term this fall."

McIntyre, one of the youngest mayors in the state and the first Democrat elected to the office in Quincy in more than a half-century, quietly took out his nomination papers Tuesday after a week's vacation.

"I have given considerable thought whether or not to seek a third term," Mayor McIntyre declared.

"I find much has been accomplished for Quincy but there is much more to be done. Therefore, I am seeking another term as mayor to finish the job that the McIntyre administration has initiated."

McIntyre cited the MBTA rapid transit extension to Quincy as one of the main reasons for his decision to run again.

"We want to see the MBTA line completed to the satisfaction of the people of Quincy," he declared. "This line is coming through just once. It has to be done right all the way."

Another project he said he wants to carry to completion is the federally-funded North Quincy Improvement program initiated by him.

"There will be groundbreaking shortly for the public works phase of the program," he said. "This will include new streets, sidewalks and curbing."

McIntyre said he also wants to see his proposed multi-million dollar Government Center near the reality stage before leaving office.

"This will stimulate growth in the Quincy Center area," he said.

The Mayor noted that during his administration three huge development projects have come to the city. They are the State

Fire Chief Seeks 38 Men

Quincy Fire Chief Edward F. Barry has requested Massachusetts Civil Service to hold a firefighter's entrance examination for Quincy in October.

The 42 hour work week for firefighters will go into effect May 1, 1970 and a total of 38 men will be necessary to implement it, he noted.

Chief Barry urged all young men interested in a fire service career to avail themselves of this opportunity. Applicants who may need course preparation, help may get it through a Massachusetts Department of Education course at MIT beginning Sept. 22.

Applicants are required to have a high school diploma or a certificate of equivalency to take the examination in Quincy. Application blanks may be obtained from City Personnel Director Kenneth Gardner at City Hall.

Likes School Safety Feature

Editor, Quincy Sun:

Just a brief note to compliment you and School Safety Officer Guido Pettinelli on the excellent article you had in last week's Quincy Sun. I appreciated particularly the suggestions and rules you outlined for more safety to both motorists and pedestrians.

One point, in particular, coincides with a theory I have held for a long time; that the adults should be more careful in setting examples for the children. So many times, we see parents practically dragging their children across a busy street in direct conflict with the flow of traffic. We try to teach the youngsters to use the push button pedestrian control signals before crossing the busy streets; yet, their parents, time after time, fail to make use of the push button signals and escort their children across the street through the heavy traffic.

I have felt for a long time we have been neglectful in educating the people and enforcing the jay-walking laws. By our flagrant violations of crossing against red lights and "Don't Walk" signs, we are setting a horrible example for the children.

Again, I congratulate Mr. Pettinelli, not only for the newspaper article, but for the splendid job he has been doing for some years now working with the school traffic supervisors in the interest of our children's safety.

Incidentally, I appreciated seeing the list of names of the supervisors as it is nice to be able to identify them and give a sign of recognition as we drive by. [I missed Rita Prewitt's name; hope she will be able to get back on the job after her new baby is a little older].

Keep up the good work and very best wishes to you.

Joseph E. Brett, Representative.

No Fee Money Orders In Vietnam

Postmaster General Winton M. Blount has announced that American Servicemen in Vietnam will soon be able to send money orders back to the United States without paying a fee.

At most other overseas bases, a flat fee of 15 cents will be charged servicemen and dependents buying domestic money orders when the new regulations become effective Sept. 15. Existing fee scale for domestic money orders purchased at all military and civilian post offices ranges from 25 cents to 40 cents, depending upon the size of the money order.

Blount said, "Because many overseas military personnel do not have ready access to banks and similar financial institutions, the simplified money-order procedure will encourage more servicemen to send their dollars home and increase their savings."

The no-fee money orders will be issued to military personnel at Armed Forces post offices in Vietnam and on ships operating in that combat theater. Servicemen and their dependents will be charged a flat 15-cent fee at other overseas military post offices, but not including those in Alaska, Hawaii, Guam and Puerto Rico.

Blount said the simplified fee policy will also reduce administrative burdens in combat areas and at other overseas military post offices and thereby encourage wider use of postal money orders.

The existing domestic money order fees will continue for servicemen stationed in the 50 states, Puerto Rico and Guam. Also unaffected by the new regulations are international money order fees, which range from 45 cents to 75 cents.

TODAY'S announcement by Ward 3 Councillor John F. Koegler that he will seek a fourth term should end speculation he will be appointed to a new city post. Reports were hot a few months ago that a new job was being created in the park department and that his name was on it.

* * *

Political newcomer William D. Delahunt apparently is going to make a very determinded bid for the Ward 5 City Council seat.

The young attorney, a resident of Milton St., needed only 50 genuine signatures on his nomination papers.

But he and his campaign committee, headed by Atty. Joseph Killion of Grand View Ave., collected an estimated 3,000 signatures. Delahunt got about 600 of them himself.

* * *

* * *

Incidentally, the Lions Club is sponsoring the Oct. 18 Game between the Giants and Bridgeport, the New York Jets farm team, reports new President William Shea. The game to be played under the lights at Veterans Memorial Stadium, will aid the Lions Club charitable-civic projects.

* * *

SPEAKING of the Lions Club, colorful sports figure Bill Veeck, new president of Suffolk Downs, will ride into town to do the speaking honors at the Sept. 23 meeting, 6 p.m., Sherry's. He's one of the most entertaining speakers you'll ever listen to.

* * *

FORMER local political figure James S. McCormack is recovering from back surgery at New England Baptist Hospital. He expects to be there another two weeks.

McCormack, who marked his 37th birthday shortly after entering the hospital, was considered one of Quincy's brightest young political stars until he bowed out of the scene.

He served as Ward 3 City Councillor and State representative from the Quincy-Braintree-Randolph--the first Democrat ever elected from that senatorial district.

McCormack now is an assistant commissioner in the State Department of Commerce.

* * *

NICE-GESTURE-DEPT: Rep. Joseph E. Brett has forwarded a check for $100 to the Jimmy Fund representing contributions from 500 youngsters who attended a Red Sox game last week as his guests.

It was the 13th year Brett has treated Quincy youngsters to a day at Fenway Park. They have donated nearly $1,000 to the Jimmy Fund during that time.

* * *

WHICH REMINDS US: Brett, as president of the Massachusetts Elks Assn., will lead 2,000 Massachusetts Elks to Fenway Park Friday night for the game between the Sox and Washington Senators. And he may get to throw out the first ball. The Elks National Foundation will benefit from the game proceeds.

* * *

ATTENTION MUSICIANS: Morrisette Legion Post is forming its own band, If you play an instrument and are interested, contact Adjutant Paul W. O'Neil! or Past Commander Gino Giorgi.

Martha Fagerlund Weds Steven Manzer In Quincy

(Hobbs Studio)

Miss Martha Amanda Fagerlund and Steven Blair Manzer were wed Saturday at a candlelight double ring service at the Salem Lutheran Church. The service was performed by The Rev. Gary Santmire of the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd, North Quincy.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer K. Fagerlund of 27 Grogan Ave., Quincy, attended Quincy Junior College and is employed by the Empire Insurance Co. in East Milton. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Kustaa Fagerlund and the late Mr. Fagerlund and Mrs. J. Thure Karlstrom and the late Mr. Karlstrom.

Mr. Manzer, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Blair Manzer of 77 Wallace Rd., Quincy, is a veteran of the United States Air Force has served in the Aleutian Islands and recentiy returned trom Vietnam. He is now attending Quincy Junior College.

The bride wore a gown of white silk organza with a modified empire waistline, the front accented by three slender appliqued panels of Venitian lace, satin and seed pears. The ruffled Queen Anne's collar and short cap sleeves were banded by the same type applique. The A-line skirt flowed into a circular chapel train, the bouffant veil of French silk illusion falls from a matching lace and satin demi-bonnet. She was the eleventh bride in her family to carry an heirloom lace and linen handkerchief blended into her bouquet of cascading miniature carnations and roses.

Serving as maid of honor for her sister was Miss DeeDee Fagerlund. She wore a long princess line sleeveless gown of turquoise dotted linen, with a white Venitian lace wedding band neckline and appliqued front panel, with a bow accent at the swing back. She wore a matching white lace pillbox hat with a shoulder length turquoise bouffant veil and white lace mitts. She carried a cascading bouquet of white and yellow carnations and roses.

The identically gowned bridesmaids were Miss Marguerite Manzer, sister of the groom, Miss Judith Hanlon of Brookline, Miss Carolyn Wyke of Quincy, and Miss Cheryl Glidden of Stoughton, all cousins of the bride.

Miss Korin Petruska of Zelienople, Pa. was flower girl for her cousin. She wore a short white dotted organza dress over yellow with white Venetian lace and yellow ribbon applique in narrow panels and a ringlet hat of white lace with yellow streamers. She carried a nosegay of white and yellow carnations and roses.

John Fagerlund, brother of the bride, will be the best man. Ushers will be Bruce Brown and James Costello, both of Quincy, and Michael Chalfant of Hingham.

A reception followed on the church green. After a wedding trip to Nantucket, the couple will reside in Quincy.

Come, Let Us Reason Together

By Dr. William F. Knox
Personal Counselor

'The New You'

I understand that it costs the Red Sox $500,000 to develop one player. That $500,000 per man comes under the heading of "player development" and does not include salaries of players. When I read this on the sports page recently it occurred to me that nearly all of us could use a little more "player development". If "player development" is important for a ball player, it is even more important for the rest of us.

Most of us must look after our own "player development" in lieu of an institution with a half million dollars to spend on developing our personality and skill in playing the game of life. So. . . .how shall we go about this development? Consider the following suggestions:

First, get an image of what you want to be. . . .not what your mother or father want you to be . . .not what the front office wants you to be. . . .but your own image of what you want to be. A young woman came recently saying. . . ."I want to improve myself. . . .inwardly and outwardly. . . .to make myself more desirable." We started on a program deepening her love for herself. . . .the developing of her mind, emotions and outward appearance. We set down our goals physically. . . .34. . . .24 . . . .34. . . .110 pounds. . . .she's studying Eric Fromm's "The Art of Loving." She is getting an image of what she wants to be. . . . personality-wise.

Secondly, see where you fall short. This young lady, for one thing was several pounds overweight. . . .she was hostile to other people because she hated herself. . . .she was withdrawing from other people because she was ashamed of herself. . . .she was finding that she was less and less desirable to her husband because of these undesirable characteristics. All this is devastating to a woman.

One man discovered when he began to look at his true self that he had a very bad temper. . . .[What is the matter with men that so many have such a short fuse?] One woman discovered that she is very unaffectionate. . . .that she seldom laughed. . . .never sang or danced around the house. Her husband said "her face in the mornings would stop a clock." Some people fall short in their "player development" by living in a shell . . . .by refusing to give themselves. . . .by confusion and indecision. . . .by rigid behavior which makes relationship with a husband/wife impossible. Some people are spoiling their image by excessive drinking habits. . . . some by sheer laziness and lack of goals. It doesn't need to cost a half million dollars to correct these personality defects. . . . and bring about the image of what you want to be.

Thirdly, welcome the help of your marriage partner in getting your new image. No one knows you and your weaknesses as well as he/she. The resistance. . . .denial of existing characteristics will get you nowhere. If you're that lucky to have a husband/wife who cares and loves enough to help with this $500,000 "development job". . . .then take advantage of it.

I like that song "I gotta be me". . . ."I wanta live. . . .not merely survive. . . .I gotta be free." That's the key right there to "the new you". . . .freedom. But you can't be free alone. . . . so welcome your partner's help. Maybe the most important factor in your new image is happiness in love and freedom. Set yourself free from the old patterns of life which inhibit and destroy. Set yourself free for fuller relationship in love. . . . where you lose your fears. . . . and give yourself without holding back. That's the Real you. . . "THE NEW YOU."

Quincy Girl Appointed To Carney Hospital PR Post

Miss Beverly Giovannucci, of 35 Brooks Ave., Quincy, has been promoted to Assistant Director of Public Relations for the 336-bed university affiliated Carney Hospital in Dorchester.

Miss Giovannucci had been serving as public relations secretary for the past two and one half years, and her promotion follows the hospital's policy of "promoting from within."

Announcement was made by Sister Frances Michael, Administrator of the hospital, which is conducted by the Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul.

Miss Giovannucci is a native of Hingham and a 1963 graduate of Hingham High School. She also attended Quincy Junior College and Bridgewater State Teachers College.

Since her employment at Carney began in December, 1966, she has attended various public relations application courses sponsored by the Publicity Club of Boston and the Public Relations Society of America. She has also been an active participant in the New England Conference of the Catholic Hospital Association.

Previous to her employment at Carney Hospital, she worked in the graphic arts department of the New England Telephone Company, Boston and the General Dynamics Corporation of Quincy.

Book Club Opens Page Sept. 22

The Quincy Area Chapter of the Great Books Foundation is beginning a new season of bi-weekly literary discussions, according to Dr. Charles Djerf, leader of the local group.

The Quincy Chapter is composed of several different groups, divided according to length of participation. However, all groups are opened to any interested persons. The first meeting will be that of the Second-Year Group on Monday, Sept. 22. That group will meet on alternate Mondays, thereafter. Similarly the other groups will meet on alternate weekday evenings at the Thomas Crane Public Library, Main Hall, Washington St., from 8-10 p.m.

Anyone in the Quincy area interested in serious readings and in lively conversation about them is invited to join. No special educational background is required, and there are no tuition fees. Further information may be received from Mrs. Jane Madge at 773-3625.

$69 Donations Step Up Kidney Disease Drive

Solicitation programs for the Spirit of Sixty-Nine Campaign Against Kidney Disease have been accelerated in the past week with the inauguration of appeals for $69 contributions from local businessmen, reports Mayor James R. McIntyre, Chairman of the local drive.

The campaign, which will be climaxed Sept. 11, with a luncheon at Monticello in Framingham, hosted by owner Ceasar Tamango, is being spearheaded by the Mayors of the 39 cities in Massachusetts. Goal of the campaign is the establishment of artificial kidney centers throughout the state to save the lives of victims of kidney failure.

The drive was launched to provide funds to secure sufficient artificial kidneys and to train personnel to operate them in hospitals, medical centers and in home treatment programs. Medical authorities have estimated that 200 people in the state will die this year because of the shortage of machines and trained personnel to run them.

Several patients in Massachusetts have already died since the campaign was inaugurated on July 4, because there were no kidney machines available for treatment for them.

"The Spirit of Sixty-Nine campaign was established," said McIntyre, "to give everyone in our community a chance to participate in a life-saving program. We are asking the general public to mail or bring 69 cent contributions to my office at City Hall, and we are asking the business leaders of our community to contribute $69 dollars as a special gift."

"I am confident our citizens, will respond and help us reach our community goal of $5,200 toward this vital battle against kidney disease."

Quincy Adams Garden Center Offering Free Decorations Classes

The classes will be offered each weekday morning and in the evenings Monday through Thursday from Sept. 22 to Nov. 14.

Mrs. John G. Hedman of Braintree, experienced arts and crafts instructor, will conduct the classes in natural and artificial cone, fruit and flower arrangements, and in the use of other decorating articles.

A registration fee is required but it is returned when the purchase of a kit is necessary to make the decoration items in class. The instruction is free.

More information may be obtained by visiting the garden center or calling 472-3602.

Council On Aging Seeking New Executive Director

The Quincy Council on Aging is accepting applications for an executive director to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of John F. Sheehan.

Sheehan, who was appointed in April, 1967–first man to hold the post–has returned to teaching, at Scituate High School. His salary as executive director was $12,000.

The Council on Aging coordinates and initiates various programs and services for the city's estimated 15,400 senior citizens 60 years and older.

Council Chairman Arthur Ciampa said applicants should have a master's degree in any of the following professional fields: public administration, public relations, community organization, adult education, social work, recreation, group work, public health, human relations or gerontology.

In place of a master's degree, the applicant may substitute two years of responsible full time, paid employment in adult education, community organization, public health, human relations, social work or in a related field. The applicant should have a working knowledge of community organization, of public administration at all levels of government and some skill in public relations and communication.

The Quincy Council on Aging has been funded under Title III of the Older Americans Act and has been engaged in innovative programs geared to aiding the aged in housing and medical services, establishing satellite clinics and community councils in neighborhood areas, providing pre-retirement counselling and employment opportunities inaugurating a meals program at the Quincy High School and offering limited transportation for emergencies.

Interested applicants who believe they can meet the minimum requirements are asked to submit a curriculum vitae to James Nolan, Chairman of the Personnel Committee, Quincy Council on Aging, 8 Adams Street, Quincy, or to Mr. Ciampa, Chairman of the Quincy Council on Aging, 36 Miller Stile Rd., Quincy.

Grindlay Candidate For Ward 5 Seat

In a statement he declared, "It is time that the government is returned to the people."

A lifelong resident of Wollaston, Mr. Grindlay attended Quincy public schools, Quincy Junior College, and Bentley College of Accounting and Finance. He is a self-employed tax consultant with offices on Wollaston Ave., and is also president of Transcontinental Data Processing Corporation of Massachusetts, an accountants data processing service.

He served in the Army as a military policeman.

Grindlay is president of the Young Democratic Club of Quincy, vice-chairman of the Ward 5 Democratic Ward Committee, and treasurer of the Quincy Citizens Association. He is a member of the American College of Accredited Tax Accountants, the Montclair Men's Club, the National Association of Accountants, North Quincy Council Knights of Columbus, the Association of New England Football Officials, the Quincy Democratic City Committee, the Quincy Industrial Development Commission, the Hundred Club of Massachusetts, Inc., the Wollaston Business and Professional Association, and the Wollaston Heights Improvement Association.

In discussing the return of government to the people, Grindlay called for an end to luxurious extra features in municipal construction which he said are greatly increasing the cost and forcing the tax rate upward, and for an end to business encroachment in residential neighborhoods.

Senior Citizens Visit Lexington, Sept. 12

Quincy's Senior Citizens at 1000 Southern Artery will take their first fall excursion, Friday Sept. 12, to Lexington and Concord. The group will visit two Visitors Centers, the Minute Man statue, Buckman's Tavern, and Wright's Tavern.

They will also have a full-course luncheon at the Colonial Inn in Concord.

The last stop will be at the North Bridge–"Here once the embattled farmers stood and fired the shot heard around the world."

Quincy, North Offense Ready To Perk

North •

Ralph Frazier, North Quincy High's new football coach, began practice last week without a single offensive starter from last year and without the first two offensive backfields.

However, following a week of workouts which included double sessions all last week and scrimmages with Catholic Memorial last Saturday and Watertown yesterday, he finds himself with good potential and the outlook is much brighter than when practice began.

Frazier has been working with an all-junior backfield of Jim deVarennes at quarterback, Tony Kelly, Jim Sarruda and Lee Davis halfbacks and John Panarelli fullback.

"This group has worked well and could blossom into a fine backfield," the new coach said.

Three other juniors, Ken Murphy, Dan O'Malley and Paul Lippens and two promising sophomores, Bob McKay from Central Junior and Paul Chambers from Atlantic, are battling for the quarterback slot handled so well last year by all-scholastic Bob Sheeth and Jay Connerty.

"We are very green but I think we should emerge with a good quarterback," Frazier added.

Junior Steve Murray, seniors

RALPH FRAZIER

"I can't say enough for my backfield coach, Jack Bowes, who has done a wonderful job with the backs both offensively and defensively," Frazier lauded.

The offensive line is also shaping up well with Jerry Mulcahy, Ken Racette, Dan Zink, Bob DeRosa and Dan Doherty vying for the end positions, Joe Bertoni, Joe Spavento and Craig Bogosian the leading tackle candidates, Dick Constantino, Mike Martin and John Hemphill, who was unable to report until this week after recovering from an arm injury, leading the guard hopefuls and Bob Bell having the inside track for center.

"We have pretty good size, especially on the first unit, but we are lacking depth in the line," Frazier pointed out. Bertoni and Spavento weight 220, Bogosian and Constantino 205, Hemphill 190, Bell and Zink 185, Panarelli 195, Tomasetti, Mulcahy and Racette each 175.

"We had an arduous practice schedule last week and everyone was terrific," Frazier said. "We had morning practice at 8:30, a skull session at 3:30 and another workout at 4:30 and everyone cooperated so well. The players' mothers in particular have been tremendous, we couldn't get the boys out early in the morning without their help. I appreciate the help of everyone and the dedication of all our players and coaches."

With the offensive unit coming along, Frazier and his aides, Bowes, Bill Pagnano and Ted Sadowski, were putting the emphasis on defense as they staged their first two outside scrimmages.

Quincy •

Quincy football coach Hank Conroy started the season with no returning backfield offensive starters, two returning starting offensive linemen and three defensive starters. However, despite the inexperience of his team, as far as varsity starters are concerned, the Presidents' offense has been looking pretty good and a big reason for this is the performance of two of last year's defensive starters.

HANK CONROY

Shining in workouts thus far are Rick Pettiti and Paul Picarski, who, in their coach's opinion, could have been offensive starters if needed last year.

"They excelled as defensive regulars and if I had needed them, they could easily have played in the backfield on offense," Conroy said. He is using Pettiti at fullback and Picarski at halfback.

Quincy scrimmaged Dedham last Saturday and Hank was satisfied with what he saw. "We weren't too concerned with who outscored who and I wanted to see as many of the boys as possible," he said. "Many of them I had never seen in competition and seeing just what they can do meant more than how we actually did against them."

Striving to replace the brilliant Steve McDevitt at quarterback are Kevin Ryan, who played on the varsity last year, and two junior varsity graduates, Steve Sullivan and John Joyce. Conroy rates Ryan and Sullivan, a southpaw passer, as just about even.

Vying with Pettiti for the fullback position are Wayne Richards and Bob Tarbox, who also played for the jayvees a year ago.

In the line Conroy has Bob McDonald, who played well at center last year but broke his ankle at midseason, and Joe Maguire, a former jayvee with a smattering of varsity experience.

Offensive guards include Paul Hand, a varsity returnee; Steve Galvin, who has a little varsity experience; Bob Silva and Mike Craig, both up from the junior varsity.

The outstanding tackle is Steve Shapiro, 230-pound veteran who sparkled last year both ways and is expected to be one of the top linemen in the Greater Boston League this fall.

Rich Menchi, a starter and outstanding two-way player as a sophomore, leads the ends and should have a banner season. Also going for end posts are Mike Paluzzi, who has some varsity service, and Billy Maver and John Mikowsky, up from the junior varsity.

"All in all, I'M pleased with the progress of the offensive unit," Conroy said. "We are working hard on defense and will stress this in future scrimmages."

The Dedham scrimmage was arranged at the last minute. The Presidents were due to start a busy scrimmage schedule Saturday. Conroy has at least four more on the schedule.

Veeck To Speak At Rotary Outing

Bill Veeck, new president of Suffolk Downs race track and former owner of three major league baseball teams, will be the featured speaker at the South Shore Council of Rotary Club outing at the South Shore Country Club, Hingham on Wednesday, Sept. 10, at 8 p.m.

Thomas McGuiness, president, announced that Lou Cassani will be master of ceremonies. Chairman of the event is Gerry Batstone and ticket chairman, Terry Carroll.

Veeck, at various times in his career, owned the St. Louis Browns, The Cleveland Indians, and the Chicago White Sox. He has also been associated with the Chicago Cubs and the Milwaukee Brewers.

A promoter with a flair for entertaining the fans, he has in the last few years, devoted much of his time to writing, radio and television.

Jordan Looms As Holy Cross Standout

The 6-1, 185-pound junior last year played regular as a safety man, picked off seven passes, returned one for a 44-yard touchdown, made several clutch openfield tackles and developed into one of the top safeties in the area.

His teammates voted him the Mike Cunnion Memorial Award as the team's outstanding sophomore in 1968 and Coach Bill Whitton says he may play him both ways this year. As a freshman he was a two-way end for the Crusaders.

Giants In Debut Friday

At 8 o'clock under the lights at Veterans Memorial Stadium the Quincy Giants [formerly the Lowell Giants] make their Quincy debut when they face the Roanoke, Va., Buckskins in an Atlantic Coast League game.

The Giants have found a home in Quincy and the response to their transfer from Lowell has been tremendous. Owner Bob Hotin and General Manager Joe Bellino report a brisk advance sale of tickets and everything points to a good crowd for the opener.

Much of the fans' interest will be on the highly publicized Onree Jackson, former Alabama A & M standout quarterback who is considered a fine prospect by the Patriots, who dropped him due to inexperience and he was immediately picked up by the Giants.

The 22-year old 6-4½ 212-pound quarterback is scheduled to be the starter for the new Quincy club but if a shoulder injury keeps him under wraps, the Giants have three other excellent quarterbacks in Greg Sabine from Providence, Dave Brown from Dorchester, and veteran Don Allard.

The Giants have several ex-Patriots and during the past week signed some outstanding Massachusetts players who should make the Quincy team a league contender.

Among these are Barry Gallup of Boston College, who is also coaching at his alma mater; Bobby Leo and Vic Gatto of Harvard, Ray Ilg of Colgate and Allard of Boston College, who has had a lot of pro experience in the U. S. and Canada.

Gallup, recently cut by the Patriots, came to the Giants on the advice of Patriot Coach Clive Rush, who feels he could be a real major league prospect with some experience.

Leo, who sparkled in the Harvard backfield and had a tryout with the Pats, is one of the top running backs in Harvard's history.

Gatto, who led Harvard to an unbeaten season in 1968, is coaching and teaching at Middlesex School and his heroics last year for Harvard won't soon be forgotten.

Ilg was a halfback at Wellesley High but was moved to defense at Colgate. He played for the Patriots for two seasons.

Allard was a first round draft pick of the Washington Redskins. He turned down the 'Skins offer and played instead for the Hamilton Tiger Cats in the Canadian Pro League.

They also have been dickering with Joe DeVito, former B. C. star, but his six-month military active duty tour makes him a question mark.

The Giants hope to rebound from a disappointing 3-9 record last fall. They won the northern division title in 1966.

"We have signed some outstanding players and I think we will have a much stronger team than last year," said Coach Ross O'Hanley, who made the American League all-star team as a Patriots rookie. Ross mentioned the large crowd of fans who have been watching the team drill under new Giants-purchased lights at the Quincy Vocational-Technical School field.

BOBBY LEO

General Manager of the Roanoke team, a farm club for the Washington Redskins, is the colorful former Red Sox Star, Jimmy Piersall. Piersall, seeking a career as an executive after a long active playing career, has taken over as Buckskins' GM with the same enthusiasm and verve he showed while wearing a baseball uniform.

The Buckskins are in their fifth year of existence and know nothing but championships. As the Annapolis Sailors in 1965 they won the North American League title. Then, as the Virginia Sailors, they took two straight Atlantic Coast League crowns in 1966 and '67 and last year captured the southern division championship, losing in the playoff to the Hartford Knights.

Bill Cox was the team's first coach and is still on the job. A former Duke All-American who played with the Washington Redskins, he has a strong team of former college aces, most of them from the south, and the 'Skins feature a wide-open offense and a strong defense.

Despite their 3-9 record, the Giants had one of the league's most devastating passing attacks last year and, with Jackson and Allard in the fold, a heavy air attack can be expected this year. However, O'Hanley and Bellino feel the team has strengthened its running game considerably.

Owner Hotin is delighted by the way the momentum is picking up in Quincy. "The Lions, Rotary, American Legion and Elks all want to handle tickets and sponsor our games," he said. "We are very pleased."

The next home game is Friday night, Sept. 19, with the defending league champs, Hartford Knights, a Buffalo Bills affiliate. The Giants play at Richmond Roadrunners, a New Orleans Saints affiliate, on Sept. 13.

Safety Belts

American delight in breaking records whether its Camille, hot weather, baseball crowds, traffic jams and now of course, highway fatalities. We do get a vicarious pleasure when reading about these - as long as we are not involved.

If diseases can be licked why not the Epidemic of Trauma assailing our roads, urban or suburban?

Ralph Nader, whether you like the crusader or not, has tweaked the nose of the auto industry and jolted our indifferent Congress, seemingly sympathetic to Big Business. Our cars are being improved or recalled.

Exciting advances have been made in road construction, traffic control and lately even the guard rails on roads. Engineering improvements include rails so designed that cars can be prevented from jumping over the rail or mid-strip causing these disastrous head-on collisions we have experienced locally. These new guards can slow the car down to keep it on its own lane so that there is less individual as well as multiple involvement.

Iatrogenic causes [means man induced or produced] involving the driver are directions in which concern for, and correction might lessen accidents. Alcohol, barbiturates, stimulating [drugs as speed] antihistamines, tranquilizers can all alter the drivers judgement. Other persons with cardiac or neurological conditions, diabetes, physical impairments and poor vision should be scrutinized. Fatigue on long jaunts is a major hazard.

Interestingly marijuana with all its publicity, appears to be far less hazardous than alcohol - but this does not condone its use when driving. It is worthy to note that Norway, Sweden and England have dramatically improved highway safety by making it a criminal offense to drive with blood alcohol levels of 0.08% by weight. In Finland a major government official was given one year at hard labor for this offense.

It is said that suicide and alcohol are closely linked in single car accidents but it is hard to prove.

Fifteen years ago Dr. John Stapp strapped to a sled - rocket propelled - sped faster than a bullet and came to a halt in two seconds. He was subjected to a pull 40 times that of gravity - his weight equalled four tons. Think of the Physiological effect on his body and skin. A motorist driving 50 miles an hour hitting a stone wall would experience the same mechanics. How often do you drive faster than 50 miles an hour?

In 1953 Dr. Stapp was asked to look into the fact that more airmen were killed in auto accidents than in airplanes. At that time he recommended seat belt standards. It took until 1963 to get going in this direction for safety.

Dr. Stapp is now with the Department of Transportation as a medical scientist for the National Highway Safety Bureau "to cut down the terrible toll on the Nations Highways".

The toll mentioned was 55,200 lives last year with 10,000 people injured daily. This is 10 times the number by all forms of violent crime.

Getting practical - our best bet is the seat belt or shoulder strap. The National Safety Council estimates that 3,000 lives were saved last year by the use of the belt. Florida and Nebraska studies have shown that the death rate was 56% higher in crashes when the belts were not worn.

Children below four and a half feet are not adequately protected by a seat belt. A harness is more suitable. Infants in the back of cars should be placed so that they face the rear, according to authorities.

Dr. Stapp, as a driver, is cautious, hooks onto his belt and harness, and never argues about the right of way! He says "I'm gratified to get from here to there, the taste for speed is infantile".

You may not be able to take the country out of Salem but you can remain in the country if you use the seat belt. I do.

BACK TO SCHOOL items are in abundance at McLellan's Department Store, 49a Billings Rd., North Quincy. Mrs. Emma Clark, manager of the store, notes that McLellan's is one of the fastest growing chains in the country.

While outlying shopping areas seem to be rapidly encroaching on the business of the familiar community store, such does not appear to be the case with the McLellan chain of department stores. In fact, according to Mrs. Emma Clark manager of McLellan's on 49a Billings Rd., North Quincy, "McLellan's is taking over the chain business." It is one of the fastest growing chains in the United States.

The North Quincy store is a 40-year-old member of McCrory, McLellan and Green which has hundreds of stores - to be exact 610, throughout the country.

Mrs. Clark observes that the American people have experienced a noticeable trend in shopping habits. Nowadays, she notes, people are demanding quality for their money. They are no longer satisfied with a very reasonable piece of merchandise which is not of high quality. And McLellan's caters to the American shopper seeking quality.

Mrs. Clark, who selects her own inventory from the distribution warehouse, works with five other employees. The store is opened from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., and 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Thursdays and Fridays.

As far as variety is concerned, McLellan's might very easily top the list. In the store's 32 departments, there are literally "thousands of items".

Among the items sold at McLellan's which will certainly capture the shopper's attention are the Apache scarves, the Swiss watches, and the Hosiery, three for $1.17.

Mrs. Clark looks at the plaza-mall shopping area in this light. "There has to be a future for community stores despite these larger shopping locations. Some people can't get to them and we're here for the convenience of those people."

Koegler To Seek Fourth Term In Ward Three

Ward 3 City Councillor John F. Koegler of 78 Alton Rd., announced today he will seek re-election to a fourth term. Koegler filed his nomination papers at the City Election Department late yesterday.

In announcing his candidacy, Koegler made a pledge of continued ward improvements, several of which are pending or under study at the present time.

He is a member of several City Council committees, including, libraries and historical places, land conveyances, beautification, and disposal and dumping problems, and the full-membership finance, public works and ordinance committees.

He is also a member of the advisory committee of the Norfolk County Agricultural High School and a former Ward 3 Cancer and Heart Fund chairman.

A founder-member of the Adams Heights Men's Club, Koegler is a member of the utility workers of America AFL-CIO, and a former contract negotiator.

He attended the University of Massachusetts and Bentley College of Accounting and Finance.

In his announcement of candidacy, he pointed out the many improvements made in Ward 3 during his six years as councillor. Among those he cited are improved street lighting, street resurfacing, sidewalk construction, playground facilities, upkeep of historical sights, and safety.

City's Park-Recreation Per Capita Cost $3.92

This came to light Tuesday night when Richard J. Koch, executive secretary Quincy Park-Recreation Board informed members that the 1969 per capita cost for park and recreation expenditures is $3.92.

It represents only a $1.11 increase in the past five years. Per capita cost in 1964 was $2.81.

Total park and recreation budget for 1969 is $349,603.78--of which $199,401.78 is for park and $150,202 for recreation.

Based on a population of 89,000, the park per capita cost is $2.24 and the recreation cost, $1.68.

Quincy, which five years ago had a six cents higher per capita cost for park and recreation expenditures than neighboring Weymouth, is now running $1.32 lower.

Weymouth, with a population of 55,000--34,000 under Quincy--has a 1969 per capita cost of $5.25. In 1964, it was $2.75 compared to Quincy's $2.81.

They get 33 playgrounds with supervised programs, 11 beaches, 40 outdoor basketball courts, 30 outdoor tennis courts, 22 baseball, Little League and softball fields, the 73-acre Merrymount Park and 49-acre Faxon Park, plus a wide variety of recreation programs throughout the year.

City Election Spotlight On Council, School Committee

The spotlight in Quincy's Oct. 7 preliminary city election will be on City Council and School Committee contests.

That is how the political picture shaped up this week after a total of 43 candidates filed nomination papers to officially become contenders.

No 11th hour "big name" opponent turned up to challenge Mayor James R. McIntyre's bid for a third term.

His lone opposition will be Robert C. Preble, of 27 Crosby St., Houghs Neck, a 35-year-old plumber and political newcomer.

Former Deputy Tax Collector Harold A. Nannis, McIntyre's opponent two years ago, had papers out but did not file them.

One candidate is assured of victory before the first ballot is cast unless a "sticker" candidate moves into the picture. Ward 1 Councillor Edward S. Graham, seeking his second term was the only one to file for that seat.

Two familiar faces – former Councillor Joseph J. LaRaia and former School Committeeman Charles T. Sweeny returned to the political arena in comeback bids.

FULL HOUSE--Mayor James R. McIntyre and Rev. Peter Corea, Housing Authority chairman, break ground for new $2.7 million senior citizens housing facility on site of former Washington School in Quincy Point, while crowd of dignitaries look on. The 14-story complex will have 156 units. Front row witnesses include City Solicitor Harry Pavan, Rev. Bedros Baharian, Planning Board chairman; Rabbi Jacob Mann, Rt. Rev. John J. Allston, Housing Authority member John Kelliher, Rep. Clifford H. Marshall and Rep. Joseph E. Brett.

Much To Be Done

Further Delay Seen In Completion Of Quincy MBTA Line

Further delay in completion of the MBTA rapid transit line through Quincy is seen by Mayor James R. McIntyre.

"I think it will be sometime after June, 1970 before we see the line in operation," the Mayor said last night.

Next June is the target date set by MBTA General Manager Leo J. Cusick for rapid transit cars to be operating through Quincy.

"I think it will take a miracle to meet that date," McIntyre declared.

But last spring McIntyre gloomily predicted Quincy would not have rapid transit service until at least the spring of 1970.

"There's still a lot of work to be done," said McIntyre.

He said he would oppose any plan to have the service terminate in Quincy Center "just to meet a target deadline."

He said he wants the Quincy line completed before service commences to avoid possible mass confusion and congestion in the Quincy Center area.

He noted also that there are still agreements to be worked out between the city and MBTA for construction of the line through South Quincy.

McIntyre scheduled a meeting yesterday with Warren Higgins, executive director of construction and planning for the MBTA and Alfred Pacelli, South Shore project director for that purpose.

Agreements for construction of the line from North Quincy to Granite St., Quincy Center, have been finalized, he said.

"We have been trying to work out these agreements for the South Quincy extension for some time," McIntyre said.

A cause of delay had been the fate of the proposed new School St. Bridge. It has now been approved by the legislature. The state, city and MBTA will each share one-third of the estimated $450,000 cost to build the new bridge.

McIntyre said he also wanted to discuss with MBTA officials a crossover to provide freight service to businesses on the westerly side of the rapid transit line.

Traffic Lights For Five 'Accident' Areas

The state Department of Public Works has approved the proposed installation of traffic lights at five "accident prone" Quincy intersections.

Mayor James R. McIntyre announced that the state will pay three-fourths of the estimated $100,000 cost.

The lights, he said, will be installed at:

–Willard and Robertson Sts., West Quincy.

–Copeland and Common Sts., West Quincy.

–Palmer and Sea Sts., Adams Shore.

–Southern Artery and South St., Quincy Point.

–Billings Rd. and Beach St., Wollaston.

The lights at Palmer and Sea Sts. will have "Walk" and "Don't Walk" signs to aid youngsters and adults crossing to and from the new Adams Shore Library.

The lights at Southern Artery and South St. will aid senior citizens at the 1000 Southern Artery housing facility to cross at that heavily travelled area.

McIntyre was informed of the approval by state Public Works Commr. Edward J. Ribbs.

"These are accident prone areas and I am very pleased the state has finally approved the installation," McIntyre said. "The contracts will be let soon."

McIntyre said the Police Department is now conducting a survey to determine the best location of two or three more

Legal 'Lottery' At City Hall

The City Council Chamber will be the scene of a "lottery" Friday–but it's all quite legal.

City Clerk John M. Gillis and Asst. Clerk Thomas R. Burke will draw names of the 43 candidates for position on the Oct. 7 preliminary election ballot. The drawing is scheduled to start at 3:30 p.m.

In the final election, Nov. 4, incumbents will be listed first and the other candidates alphabetically after them.

Quincy Elks Award $2,350 In Scholarships To Nine

Nine recent high school graduates will share a total of $2,350 in scholarships presented by the Quincy Lodge of Elks, Exalted Ruler Richard J. McCormick announced today.

City Recreation Director William F. Ryan, chairman of the lodge's Scholarship Committee, said that financial need, scholarship achievement, extra-curricular activities and volunteer and community service were the primary criteria used in judging the many applicants.

McCormick, Ryan and Earl Vermillion, faculty member at North Quincy High School and and Elk, comprised the three-man scholarship committee.

The recipients and the schools they will attend are:

Christine Finnegan, $500, Quincy High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin C. Finnegan of 49 Whitney Rd., State College at Boston.

Gretchen E. Nelson, $300. North Quincy High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew W. Nelson of 139 Summit Ave., University of Massachusetts School of Nursing.

Lynn MacFarlane, $300, Quincy High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh MacFarlane of 100 Elm St., University of New Hampshire.

Barbara A. Quinn, $300, North Quincy High School, daughter of Mrs. Mary A. King of 162 Elliot Ave., University of Massachusetts.

Judith Rand, $300, Quincy High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan W. Rand of 49 Edison Park, State College at Bridgewater.

Ruth Columbus, $200, Archbishop Williams High School, daughter of Mrs. June Columbus of 44 Upton St., School of Nursing at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Evelyn Murphy, $200, North Quincy High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Murphy of 45 Hamilton Ave., Springfield College.

Sandra Mader, $200, Archbishop Williams High School, daughter of Mrs. Jennie Mader of 116 Water St., who will attend Boston College.

John A. Hurstak, Jr., $150, Braintree High School, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hurstak of 30 Morrison Rd., Braintree, Stonehill College.

The Quincy Lodge is also paying $450 each year for tuition for three student nurses at Quincy Hospital School of Nursing.

Three Quincy Students At Wentworth

Three more students from Quincy have been accepted for admission to Wentworth Institute in Boston for the 1969-70 academic year Dr. H. Russell Beatty, Wentworth president, announced.

The students are Norman J. LeBel, 86 Mears Ave., graduate of Quincy High School, accepted to Electronic Engineering Technology;

Michael R. Maurano, 77 Vidan Rd., Quincy, graduate of Catholic Memorial High School, West Roxbury, accepted to Aeronautical & Space Engineering Technology; and Paul Taglini, 79 Chubbuck St., Quincy, graduate of Quincy High School, Accepted to Electronic Engineering Technology.

Wentworth, which trains industrial and engineering technicians in a two-year program leading to an Associate degree in Engineering or in Applied Science, is the largest accredited and endowed institute in the United States. The institute maintains a Curriculum Center for technical educators and schools in the U. S. to provide latest course data and trends as a result of a $500,000 grand from Ford Foundation.

118 Permits For $94,322 Wiring

Some 118 permits for an estimated $94,322 in wiring were issued during August, City Wire Inspector William H. Pitts reports.

Fees collected for the permits amounted to $902, he said.

During the month, 120 inspections were made by his department and 18 defects were noted.

Major wiring projects during August were:

Elevator for new medical building, 1261 Furnace Brook Parkway; 56-unit apartment building, 10 Arnold Rd.; 24-unit apartment building, 89-99 Elmwood Park; six-unit apartment building, 479 Sea St., new Mr. Donut coffee shop, 95 Franklin St.

Sunbeams

Well, Mayor James R. McIntyre has ended speculation about whether or not he would seek a third term.

But by officially announcing his candidacy, he started a new round of speculation. Question: how about two years from now? Will he run again then?

Already, even before the first ballot is cast in this year's city election, some observers and potential candidates for the second floor office at City Hall, are wondering if this will be his Last Hurrah at the city level.

They have one eye on 1969 and the other on 1971.

McIntyre reportedly has told close friends this will probably be his last bid as mayor. But he gave no hint of it in his formal announcement for a third term.

You may see some hard running on the part of a few council incumbents this year to pile up impressive vote figures as a launching pad for mayor in 1971.

There seems to be little doubt that Councillors-at-large John J. Quinn and Arthur H. Tobin will be contenders two years from now--if McIntyre bows out then.

City Council President J. Vincent Smyth and Ward 5 Councillor Walter J. Hannon are also potential mayoralty runners. So is Councillor-at-large George B. McDonald, though he says he isn't;

A couple of other strong possible contenders are School Committeeman James F. McCormick, a perennial top bote-getter and former Councillor and Assistant Dist. Atty. Richard W. Barry.

Never a dull moment in politics.

* * *

SPEAKING of Richard Barry, he will open his new law office in the Dimmock Building, 1159 Hancock St., Quincy Center Oct. 1. His associate will be Atty. Joseph Killion of Wollaston.

* * *

AND, speaking of James McCormick, he and wife, Nancy, who hardly look it, are grandparents--for the 15th time: a son, Dennis Robert, born to daughter Theresa and son-in-law Robert O'Connor of Apthorp St., North Quincy. The latter won't get acquainted with the new arrival for some months, though. He's in Vietnam with the Air Force.

Incidentally, Dennis Robert is the O'Connor's second child and son, both born on the same date--Sept. 8. The other is Patrick J.

* * *

THE POLITICAL socials are getting underway, One of the first, a coffee social and pep rally for Ward 2 Councillor Clifford H. Marshall is scheduled for Sept. 17, 8 to 10:30 p.m. at Fore River Clubhouse, 16 Nevada Rd. All Ward 2 residents cordially invited.

MILESTONE: Abigail Adams Homans, Quincy native and direct descendant of Presidents John and John Quincy Adams, is a young 90. She now lives on Otis Place, Boston. Her brother, Charles Francis Adams was mayor of Quincy in 1896-97 and became Secretary of the Navy under President Hoover.

* * *

Incidentally, she dedicated the Abigail Adams Cairn in South Quincy in 1896., commemorating the spot where Abigail Adams stood with son John Quincy Adams and watched the smoke rising from the Battle of Bunker Hill.

WEDDING BELLS ring Sept. 27 at St. John's Church for Rosemary Nolan, pretty senior clerk and typist in the Quincy Park-Board office. Lucky man is Richard Walsh of Dorchester.

All the girls in the offices quartered in the John F. Kennedy Health Center, honored Rosemary at a bridal shower the other day. Hostesses were Kay Houl, Agatha Desochenes, Stella Daly and Kay Shaughnessey of the Purchasing Department. The latter baked a beautiful cake for the occasion.

* * *

LEARN-SOMETHING-NEW-every-day Dept: Houghs Neck residents might be interested in knowing they are living in what once was known as "Hofes Thum". So noted author Edward Rowe Snow at the annual meeting of the Quincy Rotary Club at Mason's Point.

Snow also told about an Indian maiden who swooned over Capt. John Smith. With heart pounding, and eyes ablaze, she exclaimed: "Squaw wantum". And that's how Squantum got its name. [But he was smiling when he told it.]

* * *

WOLLASTON'S John J. Sullivan, Jr., executive secretary to the Norfolk County Commissioners, now has another title: Commissioner to Qualify Public Officers. It means he can administer oaths of office. He was appointed by Gov. Francis Sargent.

* * *

Looks Like Spring . . .

IT'S SEPTEMBER but it doesn't look so in garden of Miss Adeline Pompeo, Watson Rd., Quincy Point, as Easter Lilies bloom forth. The plants were removed from a convent last April and will be returned to the nuns in full bloom.

Trucks To Stop Using E. Squantum St. Monday

Trucks hauling materials at the sites of the new Jordan Marsh distribution center and the North-South arterial road will cease using East Squantum St. starting Monday.

Mayor James R. McIntyre announced that an agreement has been worked out so that the trucks will travel a by-pass road off Hancock St. near the North Quincy Garage.

He said the agreement was reached with Jordan Marsh officials, the Police and Public Works Departments at his request and that of Council President J. Vincent Smyth and Ward 5 Councillor Walter J. Hannon.

Residents along East Squantum St. had complained of the heavy truck traffic.

The Mayor also noted that once the Jordan Marsh facility is completed, truck traffic in and out of there and to the Boston Harbor Marina will use a new access ramp to avoid residential streets.

H. N. Council To Honor Five 'Good Neighbors'

Five Houghs Neck residents will be honored as "Good Neighbors" by the Houghs Neck Community Council at its annual awards night Oct. 14.

The five were selected for outstanding civic contributions to the Houghs Neck community, Council President John Powers said.

They are:

Mrs. Edward Radcliffe, 374 Manet Ave., Mrs. Celia Tobin, 49 Charles St., Mr. and Mrs. Edward Meade, 19 Crosby St. and David MacMillan, 18 Wall St.

Mrs. Radcliffe and Mrs. Tobin will be cited for their work with senior citizens, Mr. and Mrs. Meade for boy scout work, and MacMillan as organizer of the Sgt. Lawrence Grenham Youth Center.

Tickets for the banquet will be available at the council's meeting, Sept. 16, at 8 p.m. in Houghs Neck Legion Hall.

Speaker will be Rev. Peter Corea, pastor Houghs Neck Congregational Church and chairman of the Quincy Housing Authority.

'You Big Monster'

Some of you men really are monsters....coming home drunk night after night....yelling at your wife and children....using profanity or falling asleep on the divan in a drunken stupor. If that's the way you are living at home, you'd do them all a favor to put everything in your wife's name and get out. She could manage things better without you.

How did you ever get started on this road of selfish....inconsiderate....beast like behavior? This surely isn't what that little girl bargained for four children ago....and back when she was still happy....young....cute....and sexy. But look at her now.... that's what you've done to her....you big monster!

But....milady....is it possible that you may have had something to do with creating this monster? A lot of wives are turning what was a fine, affectionate, considerate boy of a few years ago into this "beast". If you've already done it, this is probably too late. By now you've probably killed his love for you....perhaps made him a woman-hater. But for the rest of you there is still hope. What's causing your guy to be violent....to put his fist through the wall....swear at you....yell at the children....drink heavily....withhold his money? Did his mother do this to him? Did she spoil him? Was it his father who deserted him and embittered him on life? Or....ARE YOU DOING IT TO HIM NOW?

Some women are now saying, "I've always liked your column....but now you're making me angry....How could I be responsible for the monstrous behavior of my beastly husband?"

"Ah! I thought you'd never ask." Until a woman asks that question she isn't ready to hear the answer. You see....love implies care....respect....responsibility for....knowledge of the person we love....whether a child.... a wife....a husband. When one loves, one strives for the growth and happiness of the loved person....the extent and results necessarily depend upon one's own capacity to love. Herein many people fall short....they just never learned to love. If we can love one person, we can love any number. Love is an attitude as well as an act. And it starts in loving oneself.

Now if that sounds a little deep, I took it from Eric Fromm, Page 59, "The Art of Loving." The point is that here is a husband who needs desperately to be loved....and since you never learned to love.... [the poor guy thinks all women know how to love]....he feels rejected....and when a man is rejected, he turns into a monster. He's hurt....determines not to be destroyed by becoming a cowering pup.... chooses a far more healthy state than becoming docile....he fights back.

Now this all started when you as a little girl taunted Tommy at play. He hit you back. You cried. Mommy came. "Tommy hit me," you said. Mommy said, "Tommy, you ought to be ashamed....she's a girl....boys don't hit girls." What could Tommy say...."Oh, yes we do?" Or...."She taunted me and deserved it?" Or...."I reached the saturation point?" He hadn't that much insight. So Tommy hung his head and turned away. The females had won again. Very bad training for a little girl....for it teaches her not to care about a boy's feelings....not to respect a boy....not to love.... but to have her way with impunity....taunting with words or her body....and then when the boy reacts she calls for mommy....or calls him a monster. Today, a lot of those little taunting girls have become big girls....got married....continued to taunt in one way or another....and now have monster husbands.

"I needed her so badly"....the man said...."I was so mixed up"...."She could have straightened me out." He took out his handkerchief....wiped his eyes. He had yelled....he had blundered with the children....he wanted to be taught....but found himself begging for a kiss in the kitchen....for sex in the bedroom....for warm womanly love. But his wife didn't know how to love. Rejected by the woman he loved, he turned into a monster. Now she pleads her innocence....renouncing all responsibility for what he had become....and is crying out to her attorney....just as she had to her mommy years ago...."Tommy hit me."

"You can expect an awful lot from women"....someone told me recently. "You're right," I replied...."I do indeed....because it is woman....not man....who is the crowning work of God's creation."

Grindlay New President Of Mass. Young Democratic Clubs

William S. Grindlay, Jr., of 92 Brook St., Wollaston, is serving as president of the Young Democratic Clubs of Massachusetts, the official youth division of the democratic party.

He succeeds Peter S. DiCicco of Lynn, who has resigned to become business agent for the I.B.E.W. at the General Electric Riverworks Division in Lynn.

Prior to assuming the office of president, Grindlay had served for two years as second vice-president and for two years as first vice-president. He is also president of the Young Democratic Club of Quincy.

Grindlay announced that the Young Democratic Clubs of Massachusetts will participate with the Young Democratic Clubs of the 14 northeast states at a northeast regional conference to be held from Sept. 26 through 28 in Nashua, N.H.

Among the features of the conference will be a panel discussion with Senator George Mc Govern of South Dakota on the subject of Democratic party reform and an "issue and answer" session with Senator Thomas Mc Intyre of New Hampshire who is a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

DON'T GET HOOKED BY A RUG!

Your house is your home—Be on the alert for "Shenanigans" in the field of wall-to-wall carpeting. BAIT ADVERTISING occurs when certain advertisers feature a ridiculously low price and then do everything possible to discourage you from buying the advertised products while trying to sell you much higher priced merchandise.

Just use common sense and figure it out for yourself; good rubber pad $2.00 yd., laying $1.75 yd. = $3.75 yd. subtracted from $6.95 installed with pad price of that so called "luxurious carpet that cleans like the kitchen sink and many other plus features" leaves a difference of $3.20 for that "fine carpet" — which is about the same price per yard as drapery material and much less than upholstery material for your davenport!

We have never been guilty of insulting the intelligence of our customers by selling them carpet JUST to cover their floors!

Quincy Residents May Get MBTA ID Cards In Weymouth Sept. 18

Quincy senior citizens who have not yet registered for an MBTA-reduced fare identification card may do so in Weymouth Sept. 18.

The special regional registration from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. will be held at the Community Center of the elderly housing project on Calnan Circle off Essex St.

The MBTA said the one-day registration is being held for senior citizens 65 years and older who live in Weymouth and other South Shore communities that are part of the MBTA district.

Senior citizens must bring proof of age such as a Medicare card, birth certificate, baptismal record or driver's license and proof of residency in one of the 79 cities and towns of the transportation district. Latter proof may be a driver's license, library card or charge plate.

Registration fee is 50 cents in cash.

43 Candidates File Papers

And one bonnet was tossed into the ring.

Mrs. Alice I. Kowilcik of 18 Huckins Ave., Squantum, housewife and mother of six, will attempt to become the first woman member of the City Council since Mrs. Edna B. Austin.

LaRaia and Mrs. Kowilcik are among those challenging council at-large incumbents George B. McDonald, John J. Quinn and Arthur Tobin, all candidates for re-election.

LaRaia, now a resident of 54 Grogan Ave., West Quincy, served six years as Ward 2 councilior and two years as council president before making an unsuccessful mayoralty bid against McIntyre in 1965.

The other council at-large, challengers are:

Herbert F. Cole, 86 Old Colony Ave.; Atty. Maurice R. Horrigan, Jr., 484 South St.; Stephen E. O'Meara, 270 Farrington St. and James A. Sheets, 926 Furnace Brook Parkway.

A field of 10 will seek three School Committee seats--one of them being vacated by Dr. Charles Djerf after 16 years' service on the board.

Frank Anselmo is a candidate for re-election and Paul C. Kelly who succeeded Dr. Edward Mann in 1968 when the latter resigned is seeking to hold the seat.

In addition to Sweeny, the School Committee contenders, are:

Richard I. Gould, 12 Franklin St.; Leo J. Hannon, Jr., 59 Longwood Rd.; James F. Harrington, 136 Safford St.; William J. Hurley, 24 Lunt St.; Paul A. Ladas, 19 Bedford St.; Joseph F. McConville, Jr., 29 Chickatabot Rd.; Planning Board member George C. Smith, Jr., 16 Anderson Rd.

Ward 3 Councillor John F. Koegler is opposed by Louis J. Caruso, 83 Water St.; Richard W. Corner, 70 Hillsboro St., Pasquale DiStefano, 38 Payne St. and Fred J. Prezioso, 34 Roberts St.

In Ward 4, incumbent Albert R. Barilaro has two challengers --Norman W. Cutler, Jr., 140 Robertson St. and Joseph P. Shea, 95 White St.

Ward 5 Councillor Walter J. Hannon has six challengers. They are: John J. Brady, 105 Sachem St.; Atty. William D. Delahunt, 168 Milton St.; John L. Gillis, 122 Taylor St.; William S. Grindlay, Jr., 92 Brook St.; George J. Litif, 128 Prospect Ave., and Dennis P. Toland, 133 Clay St.

Ward 6 Councillor J. Vincent Smyth, present council president, is opposed by Harold J. Gallagher, 17 Young St. and Jens E. Thornton, 14 Orchard St.

Quincy Power Squadron Piloting Course Monday

The course will run one night a week for 12 weeks. The classes will be taught by volunteer members of the Quincy Power Squadron.

Subjects to be covered during the course include: boating safety, small boat handling, aids to navigation, and the reading and understanding of marine charts. It is considered to be one of the finest and most comprehensive boating courses available today.

Quinn Seeking Seventh Council Term

Quinn, "dean" of the council from point of service, has been a member since 1958 during which time he has headed or served on every major council committee.

In announcing his candidacy, he noted:

"I am seeking re-election as one of three councillors-at-large on a record of accomplishment. It is my desire to be personally involved with people and events that shape our lives.

"Quincy is an action city on the move. Such problems in the areas of safety, health, social and economics will be confronting us all. Experience in government will be needed more than ever for the next two years to solve these vexing problems.

"Quincy is a good city and it is up to all of us to make it a better one."

Sept..26 Application Deadline For Winter Recreation Posts

Deadline for applications for part-time winter leadership positions in the Quincy Recreation Department is 4:30 p.m., Sept. 26, reports James F. McCormick, St., Park-Recreation Board chairman.

Those on current civil service lists will be hired first for the department's 25-week winter program, McCormick said.

WJDA Marks 22nd Birthday

WJDA was born here, in this modest wooden building [foreground] Sept. 13, 1947. The long structure at rear was the first of five additions before the new facility was built.

'BREAKFAST WITH JDA' keeps early risers informed and helps get them off to work in time. Jim Asher is shown at the mike at right while Fred Lane, chief engineer, is at the controls in background. Missing from photo is Asher's sidekick, Belinda the cow, who for 22 years has been camera shy.

KEN FALLON, commercial manager, is another familiar voice specializing in covering special events. For many years he called the play-by-play action behind the WJDA mike at local high school football games.

NEWS DIRECTOR Herb Fontaine, one of WJDA's most familiar voices, checks the Associated Press teletype for news of the nation and world. The station also has the United Press International service, in addition to its own local news staff.

By HENRY BOSWORTH

It was Sept. 13, 1947, a date few people would pick to launch a new business and future on.

But Jim Asher isn't the superstitious type. He didn't even cross his fingers when he signed Quincy radio station WJDA on the air [at 1300] that morning.

He had $130 [that number again] in the bank and a lot of hope.

This Saturday, the station will mark its 22nd broadcasting anniversary.

"We still have a lot of hope but a little more money now," smiles Asher, president-treasurer and manager of the station, who also heads sister station WESX in Salem.

WJDA has come a long way from a modest beginning in a small wooden building on Brackett St. to a modern broadcasting facility on the same site opened in 1967.

Not bad, considering some of the so-called experts around Quincy were predicting back in 1947 that WJDA wouldn't last six months.

Quincy was too small and too close to Boston for a station of its own, they insisted.

But they were as wrong as the guys who laughed at Henry Ford's first tin lizzy.

WJDA has become one of the most successful radio stations in the country in a primary listening area of 750,000 in a 15-mile radius of Quincy.

For one thing, WJDA doesn't mention suicide as a cause of death.

"We're not concerned with the person who takes his own life but we are concerned with the family he leaves behind," Asher notes.

The station has never accepted beer and cigaret commercials.

And it plays no rock 'n roll.

"We don't ban it," says Asher. "We just don't play it."

It also has four staff cars with mobile broadcasting units for on the spot news coverage.

Asher and Kenneth P. Fallon, Jr., now vice-president and commercial manager, teamed on one of the station's big "scoops" a few years ago. From mobile units, they covered the chase of a Quincy bank bandit and broadcast an eye-witness account of a police officer gunning him down on a golf course.

And with Associated Press and United Press International teletypes, WJDA keeps an eye on the rest of the nation, the world and "outer space".

Its own microphones, down through the years, have been at the national political conventions [every one since 1951], the Korean battlefront, Geneva Conference, inside Russia and to the Near East.

Most of WJDA's listening audience probably realizes by now that the station's call letters stand for Asher's initials: James D. Asher. [And if you're wondering, the "D" in his name is for Dudley].

But few probably know that Asher was once a clothing salesman [at Filene's] and was general manager at Remick's of Quincy from 1936 to 1938.

"I always liked Quincy and thought it had tremendous possibilities," he recalls.

He knew little about radio when he launched WJDA. But he managed to build the transmitter shop for the station when it first went on the air.

WJDA has a prominent alumni. Many who got their start here have gone on to become well known names in the broadcasting and other fields.

The station's first weather forecaster was Don Kent, now of WBZ-TV. He was known then as Don Dixon.

Another Don Dixon was Dr. Richard Reed who went on to become professor of Meteorology at Washington State University. And still another, Dr. Thomas Malone, is now chief Meteorologist for the Travelers Insurance Co. of Hartford.

Early sportscaster Bob Gallaher is now the "Voice of the Miami Dolphins." Former news announcer Bill Edwards went to NBC's "Monitor" radio program. Don LaTullipe is now WEZE program director.

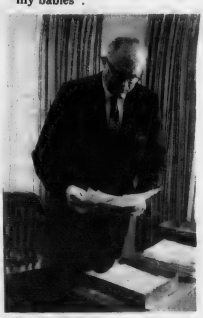
This summer, WJDA and 17-year-old Roger Cicchese of Putnam St., East Weymouth, made broadcasting history. Roger, who graduated from the Perkins School for the Blind, and will attend Assumption College this fall went to work at the station as an assistant engineer. The station installed a Braille system on the equipment, especially for him.

Since 1947, the number 13 has figured prominently in Asher's life. It has become his lucky charm.

He lives at 313 Central St., in Weymouth. His home phone number is 335-1300. WJDA's phone number is 479-1300.

His auto registration is K-1313 and his wife, Ruth's, is H-1313. And, his boat [16-footer] is registration 1300.

He and WJDA have come a long way together in 22 years. And, no doubt, still have a long way to go, progress-wise.



It should be interesting to look in on them again say in 1982. That's 13 years from now.

WIN BETTINSON, station program director, is also host of the favorite "Party Line" program, one of the first successful talk-shows in the Boston area. Callers get a chance to have their say on issues ranging from Jaywalking to the Vietnam war.

MARY JOHNSON always brings good news to her listeners on the "Stork Club", reporting up to the minute births at Quincy, South Shore and Milton Hospitals. She refers to them all as "my babies".

BOB RISSLING is the station's all-around man, quite at ease at a three-alarm fire, delivering a newscast or commercial or spinning records. He came to WJDA from WBZ.

Jack Takes Over As ENC Soccer Coach

Bob Jack, a man who has everything needed for the job, including a Scottish burr, will take over the soccer coaching job at Eastern Nazarene College this year

Jack will replace Glenn Boden, who took a physical education teaching position at Northeastern University after coaching and teaching at ENC for five years. Last year Boden served as president of The Colonial Intercollegiate Soccer Association of which ENC is a member.

Jack's soccer background goes back to Scotland. He started playing in high school and then graduated to the Kerse Rangers in the Juvenile League.

Later he played for four and one-half years with the 12th Royal Lancers Divisional team as it travelled throughout Europe and the British Isles.

He came to the United States and played for the Fore River Shipyard team in the Boston District league in 1953. In 1954 and 1955 he played for a Clan Sutherland team as it won the Eastern Massachusetts title. From 1956-59 he played for the Pines Ramblers in the Boston District League.

Jack's only other coaching position came with the Fore River Shipyard team in 1958 when he served as team manager.

He has been refereeing college, high school and semi-professional soccer matches since 1964 and is a member of the United States Soccer Football Officials Association and a member of the Eastern Massachusetts Soccer Officials Association.

"I want to teach ball control along with more passing and shooting," Jack said, "If I can get these things across I feel we can improve on last year's record."

Giants Lose Debut But They Also Win

By CHARLIE LOWE

The Quincy Giants lost but they also won.

In their home opener in the Atlantic Coast Football League against the Southern Division champions, the Roanoke Buckskins, the score read Roanoke 20, Quincy 7, But the Giants won the hearts of the large majority of the more than 7,000 fans who witnessed the game.

And, the fans won the hearts of the Giants.

Bob Hotin, president of the Giants said, "This is unbelieveable," referring to the size of the crowd. "We only averaged 950 in Lowell last year. I can't say enough about the South Shore fans. I just hope they won't get discouraged by this loss. Give us another 10 days to sharpen up and we'll be all right."

Cosmo Iacovazzi [Newark, N.J.], commissioner of the Atlantic Coast Football League, who flew in for the game, was also impressed by the turnout: "It's certain Quincy wants professional football. The enthusiasm for this game on short notice was phenominal."

The Buckskins, an affiliate of the National Football League Washington Redskins had three exhibition games [2-1] under their belt prior to last Friday night's game at Veterans Memorial Stadium. The Giants, with only one [a 30-0 loss to Hartford] and struggling with the immense problems undertaken in the franchise switch to Quincy from Lowell were definite underdogs at game time. The Giants are affiliated with no one, going it alone after the Boston Patriots withdrew hoped-for support.

The Giants won the fans with their rousing efforts in the final period, down 13-7. A long, Don Allard [B.C.] pass to Dick Queeney [N.U.] a speedy wide receiver wasn't thrown too well but it bounced off a Buckskins defenders hands into Queeney's on the Roanoke 16-yard line.

Smashes by burly Preston Johnson [Florida A & M] and Paul Della Villa [B.C.] and an offside call brought the ball to the six. Allard tried to hit Wayne "Speedy" Richardson in the end zone, but he was rushed and underthrew and the pass was returned 98 yards by Bob [Flea] Johnson [Florida State] for the Buckskins third touchdown.

Giants fans, whooping it up, looking for the winning points as only four minutes were left, and a huge upset to relish, slumped as did the players on the sudden turn of events. This touchdown proved to be the clincher for Roanoke.

GETTING READY for practice are Quincy Giants Dick Queeney and Jack Murdock via Northeastern University and Austin Fey. The Giants, after home debut loss, hope to rebound against Richmond Saturday. Next home game is Sept. 19 against Hartford.

Giants Coach Ross O'Hanley noted, "When we had them with their backs to the wall they came up with the big play. They forced Allard to throw quicker than he wanted to and it broke our backs."

In defense of Allard it should be noted that the former firtst draft choice of the Redskins has been out of professional football for three years and returned to action for the Giants to help his former Boston College friend O'Hanley

O'Hanley elaborated thusly: "It's tough to lose coming into a new city. If the boys don't lose their desire, and I don't think they will, we'll come back against Hartford [next home game, Sept. 19]. We have a tough game coming up against Richmond next Saturday night and if we can win, we'll be all right."

The Giants, almost orphans until two weeks ago when they were given magnificent cooperation and facilities by City of Quincy officials, had only four solid practises to get ready for Roanoke. The rustiness showed early in the game, when long gains by the Giants were nullified by needless penalties brought on by over zealous play. Four straight completions by Allard were wiped out in this manner. In fact well into the second quarter, the Giants had 55 yards walked off against them to none for the Buckskins.

O'Hanley was enthused by the play of his defensive unit. He said, "We played well. We were very strong against their runs." The statistics bear him out. Frank Liberatore former Clemson halfback was held to a minus one output, and Big Ray McDonald [Redskins No. 1 choice in 1967 from Idaho] could only show a 10-yard net gain off 15 carries.

Jim Piersall, former Red Sox outfielder, and now general manager of Roanoke, was his old self. He kept the large crown near him seated on the Giants side in a state of flux and emotion by his antics and gentle needling.

Joe Bellino, former Heisman Trophy winner at Navy, Giants G.M. revealed that the offices of the team are officially open at 10 Temple St. and tickets for all remaining home games are available.

• Game Financial Success •

Although the Quincy Giants lost their home-opener in the Atlantic Coast Football League to the Roanoke, Virginia, Buckskins, 20-7, the game was a financial and artistic success.

Bob Hotin, president of the Giants noted last March at a meeting of the South Shore Quarterback Club that the club needed only 4,500 admissions at $2.50 each to break even.

About 7,000 fans were on hand some of whom paid $3.50 to sit in reserved sections and the rest at $2.50. The only exceptions were City of Quincy high school and junior high coaches and players who are guaranteed free admission to every game under terms of the right to use Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The field itself was in outstanding playing condition with auxiliary goal posts having been installed on each goal line.

The Pembroke Imperials Drum and Bugle Corps provided fine half-time entertainment even drawing praise from the Buckskins broadcasting [WROV] team.

Thirty members of the Quarterback Club worked as ushers, ticket takers, sellers, statisticians and announcers, and the Quincy Lions headed by King Lion Bill Shea sold many season tickets.

Quincy Bowlers Compete In $40,000 Classic League

The Massachusetts Classic League, with a $40,000 prize fund range, believed to be the largest of any league in the eastern section of the country, will have a number of Quincy bowlers competing.

Ready for the competition to begin tomorrow night, Friday, at Boston Bowl, Morrissey Blvd., Dorchester at 8:30 p.m. are Jack Chase, Tom Coleman, George Santos, Jim Gosselin, Tony Attardo, Paul Mulloy and Ralph Marple from the local area. Some of these ten pinners and many other league members are in the 190 to 200 average range.

A full year in the planning stages, this is the first ten-pin league of major league calibre in the Greater Boston area, President Tom Cormican of Dorchester reports that all is in readiness for the opening night kick-off.

Many members of this Massachusetts Classic League have competed against the nation's top pro bowlers in various tournaments which were held in the New England area. Included among these are Santos, Attardo, Gosselin and Marple.

Each team will be sponsored by a leading company or business corporation from Boston and the suburbs. Among them are Bonvie Construction, Quincy and Citco.

Spectator interest will be high as many of the area's top bowlers are participating in the league. High average-wise along with Marple are Ken Galvin of Roxbury with 204 average, Joe Picanzo and Joe Cawlina of Lynn. Picanzo, of Picanzo Brothers Pro Shop, located at Boston Bowl, is also one of the team sponsors.

Cawlina, just a few years back was the World Candlepin champion for a number of years.

N. Q. Boosters Meet Sept. 16

The North Quincy High School Boosters Club will meet Sept. 16 at 7:30 p.m. in Room 119 at the high school.

President Sam Myers announced that the meeting is open to all parents who have a son or daughter attending North Quincy High School.

Recreation Roundup

In the Junior Boys Basketball finals of the annual Quincy Recreation Department tournament, O'Rourke playground, coached by Bob Sullivan and trailing at halftime 4-3 in a tight defensive contest, opened a lead in the third and fourth periods and then had to battle for its life, as O'Rourke hung on to win 18-16 over Ed Monte's Mass. Field team.

With just seconds remaining Mass. Fields had the ball and a chance to tie it up but O'Rourke managed to steal the ball and put the game out of reach. For the winners, Mike DePolo played his usual strong game on defense and dominated both boards. His ten point offensive showing was high for both teams and made the difference in the outcome while teammate William Brabazon chipped in with six points. For the losers, W. Steriansky was high with nine points.

Shea which had to defeat both Merrymount and Wollaston in winning a tough district playoff to even gain entry to the tourney, thus brought the Rink its first city wide championship. The team from the MDC facility which is staffed jointly by MDC and QRD., personnel and is in its second year of operation as a Quincy playground, sped to 24-14 lead at halftime and then pulled away to win easily by 22 points.

Standouts for Shea were Leo Papile with 21 points and Bill Griffin with 13. Credit should also be given to youngsters Ken Furfari and John Regginnini, both ninth graders, who consistently sparked this senior team. Other members were Bob Gantley, Paul Chambers, Dan Coughlin, Dan McKay, and Dave Mahoney, who was sidelined with a back injury and forced to sit out the finals. For losing Elm Street J. Papile had 14 points. With this victory, Shea finished the season undefeated while Elm Street absorbed its first loss.

Pollard playground pushed across a run in the bottom of the 10th inning on a sacrifice fly to right field by Mark Dwyer to win the Junior Boys Baseball tournament final 2-1. Dwyer, who is also Pollard's ace pitcher, thus picked up the win as he turned in a strong mound performance, scattering four hits and striking out 22.

The win allowed Pollard, coached by Frank Brillo, to take the city title, after four other Pollard teams had reached the playoff rounds of the tournament only to be eliminated. For the victors, Rich Wheelock and Frank Clark had three hits each, while Wheelock along with Dave Perdios also stood out defensively. Other team members are Neil Dwyer and Paul Briggette. Pollard had reached the final round the hard way, eking out a 1-0 victory.

For losing Snug Harbor, coached by Doug MacFarlane of Springfield College and former Quincy High Player, Bill Dacey gave a strong performance, striking out nine and driving in his team's only run with a triple.

Golf Specialist, Mike Chrismond, announces the results of the Recreation Departments golf tournament. The tourney was held in two divisions, miniature golf at Play-a-Round Miniature Golf course and regular match play at Furnace Brook Gold Course.

In miniature golf action, Atlantic playground dominated with six winners. The boys senior title was captured by Steve Mele of Merrymount, with second place to Shea Rink's Leo Papile. For the juniors Bob DiPietrie of Pollard took first, and Frank Micelli second. The girls senior title was captured by M. Hines of Atlantic, with Jean Doherty of Montclair second.

Atlantic also made a strong showing in junior girls competition with Denise Berezniewicz first and Jane Chetwynd second. The midget boys title also went to Atlantic with George Hines first, and brother Jim second. For the girls Gina Chetwynd of Atlantic duplicated her sisters junior triumph Ann Hogan of Mass. Fields was second.

Bill Deshler pitched Mass. Fields to the senior playground baseball championship at Adams Field by a score of 6 to 1.

Deshler struck out nine batters and gave up three hits to the Pollard Playground batters. Deshler's mates played outstanding defensive baseball and hit safely seven times and also received six bases on balls from the two Pollard pitchers. Jim Walker and Joe Marani. Walker struck out four Mass Field batters and gave up seven hits, six runs and six bases on balls.

Leading the Mass. Field hitting attack were Steve Murray with two doubles. Bob Bell had two singles and Paul Cuniff a long double. Jim Sarruds and Brad Martinson had the other hits for the winners.

Judo Classes, Swim Tryouts For Girls

Judo classes for girls and women will be offered at the Quincy YMCA starting Tuesday, Oct. 7 at 8:30 p.m.

Tryouts for the Girls synchronized Swim Club and the Girls Swim Team will begin Oct. 3 and 7 respectively.

The judo classes for self-defense, exercise and body conditioning will be conducted by Guy Peluso, formerly with the New England Judo Club. He has a black belt in rating.

Tryouts for the Girls synchronized Swim Club will be held Oct. 3, 10 and 17 from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. with Coach Norma Finnegan.

Girls Swim Team tryouts will be Oct. 7, 14 and 21 from 6 to 7 p.m. with coaches Frank Ruil and May Jackson.

S.S. Juniors Open Season Sept. 20

The South Shore Juniors, an A.J.B.C. 10-pin bowling league will start its season Sept. 20 at 9:30 a.m. at the Quincy Wonderbowl, Southern Artery.

The league is open to boys and girls who have not reached their 19th birthday before Aug. 1. Qualified instructors will be on hand to assist the bowlers.

The league is seeking adults to volunteer three hours Saturday mornings to assist in the program. Those interested are invited to attend a meeting Saturday at 10 a.m. at the Quincy Wonderbowl.

Leone Tribute Sept. 18

Information can be obtained by calling Gus Russo at 335-7904 or Mike Gaudiano at 772-0567. Other committee members include John Riccuiti, Ed Leone, John Walsh and Ralph Frazier.

There will be a catered dinner and music by 12 members of the North Quincy concert band directed by Carl Leone, no relation to the guest of honor. Among the speakers are expected to be various school officials.

"We are bringing in no special speakers, we just want Carl's friends to say a few words," Frazier said. "We want to stress that this is a city-wide event and not restricted to the North section of the city. We are honoring Carl for his work with boys in general and to acknowledge his fine coaching record."

Quincy Defense Looks Good

A year ago the Quincy football team's defense came into its own in the final three games and the Presidents won all three, including the big 21-8 Thanksgiving victory over North which knocked the Raiders out of another Greater Boston League title.

This year Coach Henry Conroy expects his team to be strong again on defense and has been pleased with the progress shown during pre-season workouts.

"We lost our entire starting offensive backfield and all but two offensive linemen," Conroy said. "We have only three defensive starters back but we have found a lot of other fine defensive players who make the outlook fairly bright. Some of them saw some action on defense while others are up from the strong sophomore and junior varsity teams."

The returning defensive starters are Paul Picarski and Rich Pettiti, who are also starting offensive backs this fall, and Rich Menchi, outstanding two-way end.

Heading the defensive tackle brigade are Steve Shapiro, a 235-pound stalwart who shone on offense last year and will play both ways this season; 212-pound Cliff Mattson, who saw a lot of service last fall; Bob Conte, Joe Maguire and Dave Omar.

Over the ball will be Paul Hand, who had some varsity service; Steve Galvin, who had a little action, and Don Austin.

"All of these boys are coming along well and I don't think we will have too many problems on defense," Hank said. "But we still need a lot of work and I hope, following several scrimmages [two have already been held] we will be ready for the season's opener on the 27th."

Quincy Youth Football Season Kick—Off Sunday

The Quincy Youth Football League will open its 18th season at Veterans Memorial Stadium Sunday, at 1:00 p.m.

Opening-day ceremonies will include music, a flag raising ceremony and appearances by city and state dignitaries. There will be a presentation made to last years outstanding football player in addition to special awards for sportsmanship and citizenship.

The first game, scheduled to start at 1:00 p.m. will be between the Apaches and Elks. The second game will feature the Panthers, last year's league champions, and the Manets.

McLeod said, "We ask all parents, relatives, friends and fans to help support the league now in its 18th season of civic achievement.

"All four teams are well equipped and well coached and play a fine caliber of football. Football, I am certain, that all who attend will enjoy. Well attended games will give the boys an incentive to play even better football."

Tickets are now available, through the league commissioners, to all who would like to attend the league's Annual Fund Raising Dance to be held Sept. 27 at St. Mary's Hall, West Quincy.

Quincy Boys Sparkle At Hoop School

Working again with the Celtics standout was Joe Amorosino, assistant coach at North Quincy High and physical education director at Sterling Junior High in Quincy.

"We had a very successful school and everything went along perfectly," Amorosino said. "We run this school at an exclusive camp, Camp Naticook, where the facilities are fabulous. The boys went swimming in the Olympic-size pool and in the lake. We showed sports films in the evening and we wound things up with a family cookout."

The school, at which Siegfried lectured and worked had with all the 143 boys, operated in three divisions, pro for the older boys, college for the intermediates and prep for the youngest boys.

The winning team in the prep division was coached by Eddie Miller, former North Quincy star now at Boston State, and Quincy boys on this team were Robin Carrera, young brother of last year's Quincy High football and baseball sensation, Steve Carrera; Peter DiBona, Guy Sanderson and Mark Sullivan.

The Most Valuable Player trophy on this team went to Carrera, who also won the best defensive player trophy. Roger Thomas received the Most Desire Trophy in the prep division.

The winning team in the college division included no Quincy players but receiving the Most Valuable Player trophy on his team was Brian Van Riper, who also won the Best Offensive Player trophy. Other MVP awards went to Art Hooper and Charlie Santoro.

North Quingy High coach Bob Nolan piloted the pro division's winning team which included two North players, Brian Donahue and Jim Small. Winning Most Valuable Player trophies on their respective teams were Small, Rick Sanderson and Danny McKay. Sanderson also won the Best Defensive Player trophy and McKay the Most Desire trophy.

"Siegfried is rated one of the finest lecturers in the country and I know all the boys learned a lot from him," Amorosino stated. "I honestly think we run one of the finest basketball schools around."

...So Does North Quincy's

Following scrimmages against Catholic Memorial and Watertown, North Quincy's new football coach, Ralph Frazier sees a lot of hard work ahead before the season's opener Sept. 27 against Revere.

However, although his offense, completely stripped of returning starters, showed a noticeable lack of timing, he was pleased with the progress shown by his defensive unit.

"Because we have four returning defensive starters, I feel we are a bit more advanced on defense but we have a long way to go both ways," Frazier said.

On defense he has Jerry Mulcahy, a returning starter, and Bob DeRosa and Danny Doherty, who look good. Another veteran is John Hemphill, who has been unable to work out because of an operation but is sure to be in the lineup when he rounds into form.

At tackle Joe Spavento didn't figure in North's picture at the start but, according to his coach, took off about 20 pounds, moves much better than last year and will definitely start on defense. Joe Bertoni is another returning starter, while John Meyers and Leo Papile have been impressive.

For middle men Frazier is using Bobby Bell, a good solid player and Craig Bogosian, the other returning starter, and both are looking good.

Among the line backers are Dick Constantino, Mike Martin, John Panarelli and Steve Murray, while Dan Zink and Jim Sarruda are coming along well as corner men.

Others being used on defense who seem certain to see plenty of action are Tony Kelly, Jim deVarennes, Scott Gillespie, Steve Tomasetti and Dan O'Malley.

"We are very inexperienced but I am satisfied with the way the defense is progressing," the new coach added. "And as soon as the offensive unit gets its timing down, I think we should be ready. One thing I'll say, every one of these boys is working his head off and each one really wants to play football."

Koch Club Bowlers Return To Action

The Women's League, in its 15th year, bowls Thursday nights at 8:30 p.m. at the Merrymount Daylight Alleys.

Officers are Simmy Koch, founder and president; May Schwartz, secretary and Gloria Adams, treasurer.

The Men's League, in its 20th season, bowls Tuesday nights at 7 p.m. at the Merrymount Alleys. Officers are Bob MacDougall, president; Jim Moody, secretary and Don Prescott, treasurer.

The Couples League, one of the club's five married couples leagues, has started its 12th season, bowling at 8 p.m. at O'Lindy's Alleys, Quincy Ave.

In its seventh season is the Co-ed League, bowling Sundays at 8:30 p.m. at the Merrymount Daylight Alleys. Officers are Al and Betty Nihill, presidents; Al and Peggy DiFazio, treasurers and Vin and Sheila Todd, secretaries.

The Girl's Junior League, starting its fifth season, bowls Tuesday's at 1 p.m. at the Wollaston Boulevard Lanes. Mrs. Paul Nestor, director, announces that girls in grades four through six are welcome to join the league.

The Girl's Senior League, grades seven and up, is the newest bowling league of the Koch Club and got its first season underway last Saturday at noon at the Wollaston Boulevard Alleys. Mrs. Nestor is director.

The Co-eds will start their 12th year Sunday, Sept. 21 at 8 p.m. at the Downs Alleys, North Quincy. They bowl the third Sunday of each month. Officers include Paul and Vi Kelliher, president, Frank and Alice Warner, secretary, and Gary and Betty McSweeney, treasurer.

The Tri-S Couple's League, beginning its fourth season on Sept. 21 at 8:30 p.m., bowl the third Sunday of every month at the Merrymount Alleys. Officers include Bill and Jean Reardon, president, Tony and Jerry Delmonico, treasurer, and Paul and Barbara Byrnes, secretary.

The Partner's League starts its fourth year on Sunday, Oct. 5 at 8 p.m. at O'Lindy's Lanes and bowls the first Sunday of each month. The league calls itself a working league and has no president. Gene and Carol Carroll are treasurer, and Ed and Marilyn Novak, secretary.

The Boy's League will open its sixth season Saturday, Oct. 4 at 2 p.m. at the Merrymount Daylight Alleys. The boys, 9 through 13 years, bowl every Saturday at 2 p.m. with Anthony T. Delmonico, Director of the League.

Sept. 17—18 Registration For Adult Evening School

Registration for the Quincy School Department's Adult Evening Program will be held Sept. 17-18.

Program Director Edward Hannon announced that registration for homemaking classes will be Sept. 17 and for handcraft courses Sept. 18.

Registration will be from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Quincy High School auditorium.

Hannon said the final list of courses will be determined by the number of adults who register. There must be at least 12 persons enrolled in each class.

Registration fee is $2. Checks are payable to the City of Quincy.

George C. Smith Candidate For School Board

In making his announcement, Smith said, "I seek elective office of School Committee after many years of appointed public service."

A lifelong resident of Quincy, he is presently vice-chairman of the Quincy Planning Board and a member of Local Draft Board 123.

He has served on commissions studying Mass transportation and traffic problems, and was a member of the Board of Managers of Public Burial Places.

Mr. Smith cited "overcrowded schools, student counseling, and pupil-teacher ratios" as important problems facing the School Committee.

A graduate of North Quincy High School and Bentley College of Accounting and Finance, Smith has been employed for 21 years as an accountant and tax consultant.

He is married to the former Jeanne Daley and is the father of six children.

FASHION QUALITY CLEANERS does expert work with all kinds of garments including even this beaded-detailed wedding gown owner Gino Marini shows customer Louise MacKay.

"Fashion is our Name, Quality is our Aim." That pretty well sums it up for Fashion Quality Cleaners, 67 Billings Rd., North Quincy. The store offers quality work and nothing less.

Fashion Quality is owned by Gino Marini, a 15 year cleaning veteran, who is president of the North Quincy Business and Professional Association, and a member of the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce, the National Institute of Dry Cleaning, and the Massachusetts Cleaner Plant Owners Association.

Every garment which is brought into Fashion Quality Cleaners is individually inspected and pre-spotted. The store's four employees will not take any chance of a stain being set in during the drying process. The store is very careful to remove perspiration marks from garments brought into the store and takes care in extras such as the cuffs. All the members of Fashion Quality's staff take pride in their work and in offering the finest quality cleaning.

The store has all the latest equipment with no machines more than a year old. They have the most modern of machinery with air presses and a new cleaning machine. And to add to these modern surroundings Fashion Quality employs a presser with 40 years of experience.

Fashion Quality also has same day service and specializes in the cleaning of wedding gowns

As the American people become more and more conscious of their appearance and as the use of the services of the cleaners steadily increases, people are, in addition, searching for a cleaner who does the job in a manner marked by outstanding quality.

And Gino Marini's Fashion Quality Cleaners provides only one kind of service and that is the best.

LaRaia Returns To Arena

Former City Council President Joseph J. LaRaia returned to he Quincy political arena this week as a candidate for one of the three City Council at-large seats.

LaRaia, 37, and now a resident of 54 Grogan Ave., West Quincy, served six years as Ward 2 councillor and two years as council president before relinquishing his seat in 1965 to run against Mayor James R. McIntyre.

He was appointed by former Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa to serve as first chairman of Quincy's Industrial Development commission, originally established in 1963.

Formerly employed with the Ford Division of The Ford Motor Co. & The Borden Co. Mr. La Raia returned to public service in 1967, accepting the appointment by Mayor McIntyre as deputy director of public welfare.

LaRaia served as this year's Ward 4 chairman of the Cancer Crusade and has served on the Heart Fund and March of Dimes campaigns.

He is a veteran of the Korean War, graduate of Quincy Schools and Boston College with a degree in Finance.

He is married to the former Louise M. Salvaggi of South Quincy, they are parents of a son and daughter.

Councillors Ask Probe Of Echo Lake Blasting

Two city councillors have called for an investigation of blasting operations in the Echo Lake area following complaints of damage to homes in South Quincy and Quincy Point.

Ward 3 Councillor John F. Koegler has asked the Fire Department to determine if there is a possible overloading of dynamite charges at the blasting site.

He said he has received complaints of cracked ceilings in homes in the Penn's Hill area, South Quincy.

Ward 2 Councillor Clifford H. Marshall requested Building Inspector Allan F. MacDonald to look into the matter after receiving complaints of cracked foundations at two homes on Raycroft St., Quincy Point.

Ledge and rock are being blasted in the Echo Lake area and trucked to Boston for use in expanding the Logan Airport.

Quincy Spared 4,000 In Flood Damages

The flood control program totally prevented an estimated $1,390,000 in damage in 22 Massachusetts communities according to a report submitted to Gov. Sargent.

The report was presented by George A. Lincoln, coordinator of civil defense and disaster work among federal agencies.

In Quincy, $844 was spent under the program clearing out obstructed culverts to prevent damage that otherwise would have amounted to an estimated $4,000 according to the report.

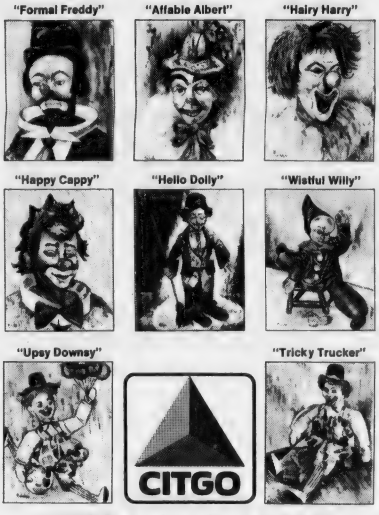
Cost of the program to survey danger spots and carry out immediate protective work in the 22 communities was $309,500-all of it federally financed. N'Q' GRID

QCA Supports Salary Hike For Mayor

The Quincy Citizens Association announces it will support a proposal to increase the salary of the mayor of Quincy.

The association, however, has gone on record against the practice of elected officials holding two public offices at the same time.

In a statement, the association said it also opposes the commercialization of East Squantum St. in North Quincy.



The monthly meeting of the Association will be held Oct. 1. Plans for a city wide rally for the benefit of Quincy voters will be discussed.

All meetings of the association are open to the general public.

Thanks To YOU, We're One Y ay

The Quincy Sun is a year old today.

And did someone say, "Where did that year go to?"

Frankly, we never saw a year go by so fast. Z-o-o-m!

It has been an eventful year for us.

We started out in September, 1968 with what you might call a dream. [Some thought it was the "Impossible Dream"].

And that was to give Quincy a community oriented newspaper–"Quincy's Own Weekly Newspaper." as it says up there in the masthead.

We decided to concentrate on Quincy news–government, schools, business, industries, civic, church, fraternal, social and veterans organizations. Nothing is too small for us to print.

And to leave the rest of the South Shore, state, nation, world and "outer space" to the and

From the response of readers and advertisers we apparently had the right idea then. And still do.

And as we celebrate our first birthday, we want to sincerely thank you–our readers and advertisers–for your support and encouragement during the past 12 months.

Without you, it would have been the "Impossible Dream."

$23 Million In Tax Bills On Way

JUNIOR VOLUNTEER–Mark Gurney, 2 1/2, donned his own plastic fire helmet and offered his services to Quincy firefighters making home inspections for fire hazards. This is T-Week in Quincy–Tax Week.

Tax bills totaling a record $23 million are being mailed out to 25,600 property owners–due for payment on or before Nov. 1.

And $1 million of the total is needed by Sept. 30 for the city to meet its payrolls and remain "in the black".

Otherwise, said Tax Collector-City Treasurer David R. Houston, the city will have to borrow more money to meet its financial obligations.

Quincy has been operating on borrowed money since January.

"We urge property owners to pay their tax bills as soon as possible," he said.

Of these, 23,000 are real estate tax bills reflecting the $116. 40 1969 tax rate–up $17.50 over last year.

An estimated 2,600 are personal property tax bills mostly for store and shop owners.

All are due for payment on or before Nov. 1.

Those who fail to pay by then face a penalty of eight per cent interest retroactive to Oct. 1.

Houston noted that taxpayers may make partial payments on their bills–a minimum one-tenth of the total bill.

Ordinarily, the real estate tax rate is set in May and the tax bills sent out by mid-June.

But this year, the rate was not set until the end of July.

Houston said the delay this year was mainly caused by late receipt of the so-called "cherry sheets" disclosing the amount of state aid earmarked for Quincy and collective bargaining between the city and the Police Department over a new salary schedule.

Marshall Seeks Post Office For Quincy Point Area

Marshall has sent a letter to Congressman James A. Burke [D-Milton] asking for his help and assistance in establishing the facility.

The councillor, who is also a state representative, asked Burke to initiate a feasibility study.

Marshall noted that there are more than 10,000 residents in the area including more than 2,000 senior citizens.

In his letter, he said:

"I would like to seek your help and assistance in establishing a branch Post Office for the Quincy Point area of Quincy. This area has over 2,000 citizens age sixty and over, and includes senior citizen housing such as the new federal housing, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Martensen Street housing, and the housing at 1000 Southern Artery.

"There are over 10,000 residents in this area now and I believe it would be advantageous to locate a branch of the postal service in this area. Perhaps you could inquire so that a study could be made to determine the feasibility of this project."

Marshall also commended Burke for his "outstanding cooperation and assistance in acquiring the necessary funds for the first federally sponsored elderly housing in the city of Quincy."

Ground was broken recently for the $2.7 million senior citizens facility to be built on the site of the former Washington School in Quincy Point.

The 14-story complex will have 156 units.

Union Church Seeking New Pastor

The Pastoral Committee of the Union Congregational Church is continuing in its efforts to find a successor to Rev. John Smith.

The committee has received the resumes of 15 men for the position. Progress reports will be made through the Union Congregational "Newsletter" and by public announcement.

The members of the Pastoral Committee include:

Mrs. Norman MacLean, Mrs. Edward Menz, Mrs. Everett Hall, Miss Barbara Faragher, William Roberts, Leavitt Lombard and John Wilson.

Junior College Has Record Enrollment

Quincy Junior College is starting its 11th year with a record enrollment of 1,750 students.

President Kenneth P. White said the enrollment–up 63 over last fall-includes 787 full-time students in the Day Division and 963 students in the Evening Division.

Of the 963 Evening Division students, 532 are taking college credit courses and 431 non-credit Community Educational courses.

The growth the school has undergone as it starts its second decade is shown by comparison of this year's fall enrollment

44,000 Eligible To Vote, Women Outnumber Men

Approximately 44,000 Quincy residents will be eligible to cast ballots in the city preliminary election Oct. 7.

Going into last night's registration deadline, an estimated 300 new voters had been enrolled.

Of these, there were 20,891 Democrats; 10,302 Republicans; and 12,407 Independents.

The city elections, however, are non-partisan.

But candidates who will be crossing party lines Oct. 7 would do well to remember that in Quincy, the hand that rocks the cradle also has a firm grip on the ballot box.

Registered women voters outnumbered men voters by 4,222. as of July 1. The figures: Female. 23,911. Male, 19,689.

Even with an 11th hour registration rush last night, the girls will still be in control numerically, Oct. 7.

Quincy Sq.-To-Fields Corner Bus Service Being Re-Routed

Quincy Square-to-Fields Corner MBTA bus service is being re-routed from 7 a.m. to 9 a.m. weekdays until further notice to avoid heavy traffic congestion resulting from highway construction projects in the northern end of the city.

The MBTA said re-routing will be over the following streets: West Squantum St., Granite Ave. in both Milton and Dorchester, Adams St., Dorchester, and continuing on the regular route.

Fields Corner to Quincy Square service will be operated on its regular route.

In order to provide service for Atlantic residents, a shuttle bus will operate every 20 minutes from 7 a.m. to 9 a.m. weekdays over Hancock St., between West Squantum St. and Neponset Circle.

New Program For Nursing Home Personnel

A new training program for nurses aides and other nursing home personnel has been authorized by the U. S. Department of Labor.

Mrs. Rita M. Welch of Braintree, secretary of the American Nursing Home Association, said the second-year phase of the training program is aimed to alleviate the extreme shortage of personnel in nursing homes and extended care facilities in Massachusetts.

Ernest J. Christian of Quincy, assistant manager of on-the-job-training under the state Division of Employment Security praised last year's program.

"We are very pleased with the progress that has been made in this program and we hope the second year phase will be even more successful," he said.

The new extensive training program will be administered by the non-profit Massachusetts Health Facility Foundation for Education and Research, a subsidiary of the Massachusetts Federation of Nursing Homes.

An original grant of $208,000 by the Department of Labor will be used for financing of the second part of the program.

Assn. For Retarded Meets Sept. 25

The South Shore Association for Retarded Children will hold its first meeting of the fall season Thursday evening, Sept. 25.

Donald R. Keene of Wollaston and president of SSARC will open the meeting at 8 p.m. at Mental Health Headquarters, 77 Parkingway, Quincy.

Following the business segment, Program Chairman Lloyd Wilkie of Milton will present a film, "A Dream To Grow On". There will be an opportunity for discussion and questions. All interested persons are cordially invited to attend.

SSARC is a member agency of the Massachusetts Bay United Fund. It supports, develops, and sponsors programs and services for the retarded of all ages of Milton, Quincy, Randolph, Braintree, Weymouth, Hingham, Hull, Cohasset and Scituate

Democratic Club Will Hold Candidate Night

The Quincy Democratic Women's Club will sponsor a Candidates Night Oct. 1 at Torre Del Passeri Hall, 252 Washington St., at 8:30 p.m.

Miss Marie Petrillo, president, said the club is inviting candidates in the city election to appear and speak briefly to the membership.

A social period will follow the speaking program.

Quincy Two At Bowdoin

They are Brian G. Kennedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Kennedy of 91 Dickens St. and Brian C. Curley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Curley of 34 Sewall St.

Sunbeams

Ward 1 Councillor Edward Graham has a "free ride" to re-election, but you'd never think so. He's campaigning like he has a half-dozen challengers.

No one filed nomination papers to oppose him in the preliminary election Oct. 7, assuring him of being re-elected unless a "sticker" candidate decides to step into the picture.

"You shouldn't take anything for granted," says he. [And, he apparently means it.]

* * *

TRIBUTE: The memorial to West Quincy residents killed in wars planned for the new cemetery that area will include the names of four who gave their lives in World War I. Two of them are quite familiar names–Cyril P. Morrisette and George F. Bryan–in whose memory the Legion and VFW posts were named. The two others are Chester R. Moyle and Thomas D. King.

* * *

YOUTH MOVEMENT: Pasquale [Pat] DiStefano, seeking the Ward 3 City Council seat is 37 himself but probably has the youngest looking campaign camp.

DiStefano began his second year studies this week at Quincy Junior College. Fellow students have been stumping for him during the summer and helped collect an estimated 1,500 nomination papers signatures.

The youngsters will work for him during the coming election, too. Incidentally, DiStefano was elected to the college's Student Council and hopesthatsa good omen.

* * *

HOSPITALIZED: Maurice R. [Happy] Horrigan, Sr. of South St., 45-year employee of the Quincy Public Works Department, has undergone surgery at the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary. He expects to be home next week. He's the father of Atty. Maurice R. Horrigan, Jr., City Council at-large candidate.

* * *

SMALL WORLD: School Committee candidates Paul C. Kelly and Charles T. Sweeny are neighbors. Both live on Ames St.

* * *

AND, Ward 2 Councillor Clifford Marshall and Robert W. Page, one of his two challengers are virtually neighbors. Marshall lives on Edison St. and Page on Edison Park.

* * *

APPOINTMENT: Anthony Famigletti, city cemetery superintendent and former veterans grave registrations officer, has been appointed an accredited representative of AMVETS to prepare, present and prosecute claims under veterans benefits laws.

* * *

DID YOU KNOW that John N. Dwyer, project director for the $100 million computer-residential complex planned by the State Street Bank and Trust Company is the son of retired Weymouth Police Detective William F. Dwyer. The latter was a familiar and popular figure around Quincy District Court for many years.

John is also vice-president of the State Street Bank.

* * *

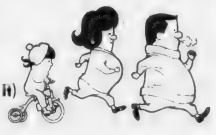
* * *



SMILE DEPT: Sheriff Charles Hedges who has been trying to get a new Norfolk County Jail, passes this item along from "The Insider", published by his inmates.

Four men with a sense of humor escaped from a county jail in Council Bluffs, Iowa, leaving this message behind for the sheriff:

"Dear Sir: You need a new jail. We knocked out the wall in less than one hour. Adios!"

Fire Department Checking Dwellings For Hazards

The Quincy Fire Department is making inspections of dwellings to assist homeowners in discovering potential fire hazards.

The in-service inspections began this week and will continue Mondays through Fridays until the end of October, highlighted by the observance of Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 5-11.

"Members of the department are interested in helping home owners with any problems they may have in connection with fire prevention," said Deputy Chief Thomas F. Maguire.

He noted that the foremost fire hazards around homes are heating, electrical, flammable liquids and rubbish.

"These inspections are held mainly to assist the home owner in detecting hazards and not to create an imposition upon them," Maguire declared.

"It is hoped that full cooperation will be received by the fire department in this home inspection program."

St. Moritz Assn. Returning To Action Tonight

The St. Moritz Association will hold its first meeting of the fall season tonight [Thursday] at 8 p.m. at the MDC Mayor Shea Skating Rink, West and Willard Sts.

Fall agenda highlights include: Voting drive, zoning changes, Pine Hill development, city dumping, ball field dedication, pedestrian lights, horse shoe courts, candidate's night, apartment construction, community center, block dance, association boundaries, winter carnival and tiny tots playground.

Come . Let Us Reason Together

'Mother Love And Father Love'

There is in our society.... contrary to what many adults believe....a great deal of mother and father worship. Children want to please their parents. But since mothers and fathers too often do not understand their male and female roles, their children become quite confused. When we understand ourselves, our relationships improve. So I want to speak of the difference between mother and father love ....and how our children develop from each.

Mother love is unconditional love...."Mother loves you no matter what." All you have to do is to be her child. You do not earn her love. You do not need to deserve it. You cannot create it in a mother if it is not there....and alas, too often it is not. When it is there, it is so wonderful. You know the many sentimental songs and poems which have been written and sung....like "God couldn't be everywhere so he made mothers." Or. Abe Lincoln's...."All I am or ever hope to be I owe to my darling mother." Sometimes they get a little drippy. But they carry this idea that nothing you do produces or turns off this thing we all "Mother Love." Every person....child and adult.... longs for this kind of love....from a mother....or a wife.... even God. Gives us a real good feeling...."Well, anyway my mother loves me."

Now Father Love is something different. Father love is conditional love. It says, "I expect certain things from you ....fulfill my expectancies....do your duty....be responsible....respond to me....then I love you." Father love has to be deserved. It can be lost....sometimes regained. Therefore, one must learn to obey....to learn how to please this person whose love is cherished. One can be and do things to gain father love.... mother love is always there no matter what.

My readers who have been reading Erich Fromm's "The Art of Loving" will quickly see that I've been reading it again too. In fact, my copy is really beat up. Now look at the application of this mother love and father love principle....the infant needs mother's love and care. After about age six he begins to need father's love....his authority.... guidance....discipline....so that he can learn to cope with life problems. Mother love has given security, hopefully....now father love helps one to master himself and life.

Ideally, the mother and father principles are woven into one's fabric so that the mature person has within himself the feeling of mother love that "nothing can deprive me of love for myself and wish for happy life." And....within himself the feeling of father love that says, "I must accept the consequences of my own actions....I must change my ways if I am to like myself." The mature person is now free of the outside father and mother and has built within himself these two elements of love. Only now is he/she ready to love other persons.

When a person grows up without mother love....he can be harsh and demanding. If he grows up without father love.... he can lack a sense of judgment ....feel uncertain....may even shirk responsibility....may have difficulty relating to men. Like the girl who marries but will not let her husband discipline the children....her distorted mother love prevents the development of the male element in the child....because it is foreign to her...she knew no father. Or.... here is the man who had no father....you give him a job to do and unless someone is constantly with him to goad him along he'll flag out....all he knows is the principle that I'll be loved anyway....whether I do what is required or not." Lacking a mother love, look for inconsideration....impatience....exactness ....possibly the tyrant....maybe hatred of women. Too much mother love can produce alcoholism and depression. Too much father love can produce neurotic fear of failure and obsessions.

Weren't you lucky that the balance between mother love and father love were in just the right balance? And wasn't it wonderful that in neither your mother nor your father were there any distortions in their male and female love toward you? Just in case they weren't that perfect....just in case there is some distortion in you.... maybe you would do well to start putting into your growing personality the missing ingredients. It still isn't too late

HOUSE CALL

By Dr. Charles Djerf
Pediatrician

The following article was requested, which pleased me - there are so few comments or questions asking for subjects.

The human acts as a host to pediculi - lice to you, not so very nice to have. They will be permanent guests unless you get busy. They are wingless animals, choosing and preferring man [hence are Homininoxious]. They are, as I said, here to stay, unless exterminated.

In my childhood the word lousy was a contemptible word, it has become commonplace now and connotes something undesirable or shabby. For lice are far less a problem today due to shorter hair -- cleaner than clean emphasis and the onus that goes with being host to the pest.

Twice a year my mother would subject us to this ignominous ritual: hair cut, head on the table, fine tooth combing [a really disagreeable process], and a kerosene dousing with a towel turban if at all suspect.

There are three kinds of lice:

Pediculosis Capitis - head louse whose nits are found firmly adherent to the hair and very hard to remove. Often attended by impetigo of scalp or neck and scratch marks [excoriations] of scalp.

Pediculosis Corposis - body louse whose nits [or eggs] are deposited in the clothing. This louse invades the body, sucks its blood and returns to the clothing where it resides - leaving scratch marks largely in the chest and trunk - many of which can become infected.

[As a medical student I visited a stable where an emaciated heroin addict lay dying - covered with countless bites and his clothing required removal by cutting and discarding before transporting him to the hospital.] The body louse cannot survive without the human host and can be killed with heat - as a hot iron.

Pediculosis Pubis [or "crab"] - This louse enjoys the genital area - armpits, chest hair and surprisingly, eyebrows. You don't catch them in toilets but from other persons. A toilet wall once read: "This is no fish market, keep your crabs at home."

Lice are aristocrats and respect the others' domains and maintain their own classic territories. Despite their individualities, they are homely and abominable. Their chief irritations are the itch, which makes them suspect - impetigo and boils too.

Head lice are easy to detect and rather easy to rid. Assiduous treatment may be needed; although kerosene was good, it was hazardous. Larkspur could cause aconite poisoning. Today products containing benzene [as Kwell shampoo and cream] are effective and not toxic. Teachers and nurses are the best detectives. It is no disgrace to get lice! A common practice among girls is the exchange of combs - avoid this!

Body lice are not too often seen in our city and require investigation, if the skin is being bitten, look in the clothes. Typhus and trench fever can be transmitted by body lice.

Crabs rarely hit children. If an adolescent complains of itchiness in the pubic region, look to the base of a hair. If there is a brown pigment, use a magnifying glass - being wingless, the crab doesn't stir very much.

In World War II, 95% of the British troops had lice. Your parents might recall Charlie Chaplin in "Shoulder Arms" scraping his back against a fixed horse scraper - "Cooties".

S.S. National Bank Elects Two Officers, Promotes One

The election of two new officers and a promotion was announced today by the South Shore National Bank.

Timothy F. Sheehan of South Weymouth was elected a Vice-President, and Edward B. Speno of Hingham was elected a Second Vice-President.

Miss Mary Valle of Squantum was promoted to Manager of the Accounts Receivable Financing Division.

Mr. Sheehan was formerly Vice-President of the State Street Bank, and joined South Shore National's Loan Department during the summer. A Magna Cum Laude graduate of Boston College in 1950, he has also studied at Northeastern University, and is a Certified Public Accountant in the state of Massachusetts.

A long time resident of South Weymouth, he is a member of the town Appropriations Committee, past president of St. Francix Xavier Holy Name Society, past treasurer of the Weymouth Fair Housing Association, and past treasurer and director of the Weymouth Jaycee's, and a member of the Mass. Society of CPA's.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheehan reside at 170 King Phillip St. with their six children: David 19, Dennis 17, Elizabeth 14, Gregory 13, Rosemary 12, and Mark 6.

Mr. Speno joined South Shore National Bank late in the summer, and was recently elected a Second Vice-President in the Marketing Department where he will devote his attention to sales and merchandising.

He had been Merchandising and Sales Manager of the Koratron Corp. in California, and in 1968 was General Manager of Koratron's Western Division. A graduate of Trinity College, Hartford, Conn. He lives at 16 Amber Rd., Hingham with his wife Martha, and their four children: Elizabeth 9, Bradley 8, Caroline 5, and Matthew 2.

At the August Directors Meeting, Miss Mary Valle, a resident of East Squantum St., was promoted to the position of Manager of the Accounts Receivable Division. She joined the bank in 1952 in the Instalment Loan Division, and has served the bank in various capacities as senior investigator, supervisor, and platform assistant. She is a graduate of Braintree High School, class of 1952. Miss Valle makes her home in East Squantum.

LOCAL BANKERS GREETED--Robert C. Rier [right] president of the New England Bankcard Association greets John J. Livingstone, Second Vice-President and Ronald Wagman, Assistant Treasurer of South Shore National Bank at reception at the association's Boston headquarters. The association sponsors the Master Charge card.

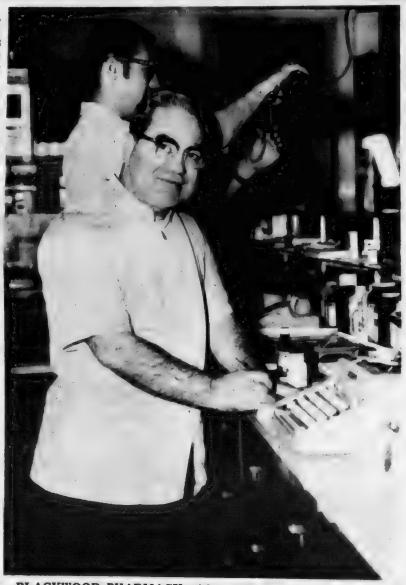
The Blackwood Pharmacy, located at the corner of Hancock and Beale Sts., Wollaston, and its owner, Romulus DeNicola, have been serving the community for 21 years.

Mr. DeNicola was born and raised in Quincy. He attended the Quincy Schools and graduated from the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy in 1937. He is no doubt one of the most qualified druggists in the Quincy area.



While in college he was awarded the Phi Delta Chi scholarship key for excellence in scholarship. He was appointed to a teaching fellowship in the Department of Chemistry at the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy and also was awarded a course in advanced study at M.I.T. in 1940.

Mr. DeNicola's honors did not stop with his graduation from college. He was city pharmacist in Quincy from 1939-1941. Other honors include: presently, President of Boston Druggists Association, appointment to the Massachusetts State Board of Pharmacy by Governor Christian A. Herter in 1956 and continued service since then; past chairman of the Druggists Division of America, Red Cross, Red Feather, United Fund and American Cancer Society campaigns; 1966 Program Chairman of the New England District of the National Association of College of Pharmacy.

Also, in 1966, he was awarded the Bowl of Hygeia, the highest honor for distinguished community service in pharmacy for the state of Massachusetts.

Despite all thesehonorsRomulus DeNicola is not one to rest on his laurels. His education has continued throughout his years of service at the Blackwood Pharmacy. Most recently he completed a course of training for Local and Federal Drug Law Enforcement officials and agents. In 1968 he completed a course of instruction at Temple University School of Law in Investigational Procedures and Drug Law sponsored by the Federal Drug Administration.

BLACKWOOD PHARMACY with owner and druggist Romulus De Nicola and his assistant druggist Gerald Ryan [in background] offers experienced and concerned pharmaceutical service to the Wollaston community.

LIVING WITH YOUR HEART

Massachusetts Heart Association

● This is the first in a series of articles from the Massachusetts Heart Association, Inc., that will appear in the Quincy Sun as a public service to our readers. ●

By Roman W. DeSanctis, M.D.
Director, Coronary Care Unit
Massachusetts General Hospital

One of the great developments in medical care within the last decade has been the coronary care unit.

In these special areas set aside in hospitals some of the recent advances in electronics and engineering can be applied to the care of patients who have suffered heart attacks or who have other serious rhythm disturbances of the heart.

A heart attack [medically known as a myocardial infarction] is caused when a blood clot forms in one of the arteries of the heart, causing damage to the area of heart muscle which the artery supplies. From this damaged or "infarcted" area, life-threatening and even fatal disturbances of the rhythm of the heart may arise. These disturbances called arrhythmias frequently appear suddenly and unexpectedly, and often occur in patients during the period of convalescence.

The coronary care unit was originally conceived to improve survival in patients with heart attacks whose heart had suddenly and unexpectedly stopped beating. By concentrating patients with heart attacks in a special area of the hospital where trained nurses and electronic equipment were constantly and immediately available, it was now possible to save the lives of many such patients who would previously not have survived. The dramatic success of this intensive care treatment led to the construction of coronary care units in many hospitals throughout the world.

KEY PERSON IS NURSE

As more patient data accumulated, it became obvious that most serious disturbances of the heartbeat were almost always preceded by less serious ones. Thus, increasingly, within the past few years, coronary care units have assumed a preventive role--that is, the electrocardiograms of patients with heart attacks are constantly monitored, and potentially serious situations are immediately treated as soon as they are detected and before they can lead to more serious problems.

The coronary care unit is usually designed and constructed as a separate part of a hospital, often close to the overall intensive care area. Although physicians direct the coronary care unit and are responsible for all patients in them, the key person in a unit is the nurse who is specially trained in coronary care.

These nurses are taught to read electrocardiograms, and particularly to recognize the many rhythm disturbances of the heart that can occur as a result of a heart attack. At the first sign of any irregular heartbeat, physicians are notified and institute immediate corrective therapy, often through nurses. In addition the nurses are trained to handle any sort of an emergency arising within the coronary care unit until a physician can be summoned.

It is estimated that at the present time approximately half of the hospitals in the United States are equipped with coronary care units. This number is increasing rapidly, so that eventually virtually all hospitals that treat patients with heart attacks will have such facilities.

MOBILE AMBULANCE UNITS

A further development in this exciting area of coronary care has come about because a large number of patients with heart attacks die of acute rhythm disturbances of the heart before they ever reach a hospital.

As a result, in many communities, ambulances that are specially equipped with this same electronic equipment and personnel are dispatched to carry patients suspected of having heart attacks to the hospital. With these mobile ambulance units, patients can be treated for serious rhythm disturbances and their condition stabilized even before they arrive at the hospital.

As a result of coronary care units, the number of patients who die as a result of a heart attack has been drastically reduced. We look forward to applying even more sophisticated electronics equipment both to hospital and to ambulance coronary care units so that we can improve the outlook of the patient who has suffered a heart attack.

Quincy In Win Over Norwell

Quincy's soccer team, under new coach Ronnie Martin, a soccer player himself from the time he was in grade school in his native Scotland, had a 6-4-2 record last year and was not out of South Shore Association contention until the final couple of games.

This year Martin has a good nucleus of veterans including Dave D'Olimpio, who was rushed into the goalie position last year when the regular goalie, all-scholastic Mike DelGreco, broke his leg in an early game. D'Olimpio played outstanding ball and should be among the better league goalies this fall.

"Despite a good number of veterans, we are not as experienced as last year as we lost some outstanding starters," Martin said. "However, we have a good squad of 42 working out and the boys have loads of desire. I think we should have another good season in a strong league.

"Last year we lost our opening game, 6-2, to Duxbury, which won the Division Two championship and then beat Hingham for the overall league title, but we came along well and were never outclassed. We were in every game and with a break here and there would have had a real shot at the championship."

North Soccer Looking Bright

Two years ago North Quincy's veteran soccer coach, George Golding, had his first losing season in five years but last fall the Raiders bounced back with a 5-4-3 record and were in the thick of the South Shore Association title race until the final week of the season.

North lost some heartbreaking games and its final three games of the season were 1-0 losses to Sharon and Quincy and a 2-2 tie with Division One champion Hingham.

"We have a fine nucleus this year with many returnees but we lost some fine defensive players including two halfbacks and a fullback, so we are hurting a little on defense right now," Golding said. "However, I think we should have a good season. As usual, though, we have no really big players, as the big ones want to play football."

Juniors include George Bourikas, a native of Greece and one of the league's outstanding young players last fall. Bourikas has all the moves and should again be one of the best in the league.

Incidentally, Golding has another native of Greece, George Vulgaris, who shows considerable promise. "He speaks very little English but he looks like a fine prospect," the Raider coach explained.

A number of likely sophomore prospects round out the big squad working out for today's opener against Plymouth-Carver at Montclair Field, where all home games will be played this year instead of at Adams Field.

"I think we will have a better balanced team than a year ago and, with our experience, should give the other league teams a run for their money," Golding concluded.

Giants Host Friday To League Leader Knights

By CHARLIE LOWE

"This is great for us," enthused Ross O'Hanley, coach of the Quincy Giants of the Atlantic Coast Football League.

Why all the enthusiasm?

They hope to keep the momentum going Friday night at Veterans Memorial Stadium when they face the league champion and pace-setting Hartford Knights.

Quarterbacking the Knights will be Benny Russell who started one game for the Bills last year and appeared briefly in two others. Hank Washington [West Texas State] who went to the New York Giants training camp two years ago is the backup. Russell will be relying on the league's top ground gainer, 32-year-old Mel Meeks. In spite of his age Meeks is not slowing up, and still has the speed that carried him for 15 touchdowns last season for the championship with 90 points.

Giants general manager Joe Bellino revealed that he expects to have in the lineup Friday night, Garrett Ford of West Virginia, a 220-pound fullback, who started at that position for the Denver Bronco's last season. He [Ford] claims he is fully recovered from an injury that caused him to be cut by Lou Saban, Bronco's coach.

LINEBACKER RAY ILG

Tickets will be available all week at the Giants office at 10 Temple St. Prices are $3.50 [reserved], $2.50 [general admission] and $1.00 for children under 12. There is also a special reduced price for senior citizens. Ticket booths will be open at the Stadium for the game Friday night at 7 p.m.

In last Saturday's game in Richmond, the Roadrunners, an affiliate of the New Orleans Saints of the National Football League took a first period lead 6-0, on two Tom Field field goals and then the Giants went on to score twice themselves and add two Gus Carias field goals and walk out of the Southland with a very heartening victory.

The Giants put their two T.D.'s on the scoreboard via the air route. Quarterback Don Allard twice hit Wayne "Speedy" Richardson for the six-pointers. The first one that tied the score, was a typical professional football collaboration between an experienced quarterback and his favorite receiver.

Richardson and Allard had been moving the ball well on short sideline patterns against the Roadrunners cornerback. On the successful scoring play [65 yards] Richardson gave the cornerback the fake to the sideline and then took off upfield on a "fly" pattern. Allard laid the ball in perfectly and no one caught Richardson.

The other scoring pass to Richardson covered 35 yards. Carias converted on both and added two field goals [30 and 13 yards] and barely missed another of 35 yards with his soccer-style method.

O'Hanley said, "We definitely played well and we eliminated the mental errors we made last week against Roanoke. Ray Ilg [middle linebacker] did an excellent job as did the rest of the defensive unit.

"A surprise was inserting Bob Kenny at fullback in place of Preston Johnson. Coach Butch Mahoney suggested the switch and it worked well. He did well on two drives picking up valuable yardage.

"Paul Della Villa and Dick Queeney, our other two backs also did very well. They made some key third-down receptions when we tried to central the ball in the fourth quarter."

Veeck Speaker At Quarterback Club Sept. 22

Bill Veeck, president of Suffolk Downs will be the featured speaker at the next meeting of the South Shore Quarterback Club, Sept. 22, 8 p.m. at South Shore Country Club, Hingham.

The meeting is open to all pro football fans. There is no charge but reservations must be made in advance. A Buffet will be served following the meeting.

Reservations may be made by calling Charlie Lowe, 335-5039, Don Baltucci RI9-4454 or Phil Farina, RI9-1720 for reservations.

Raiders Scrimmage Deerfield Saturday

The North Quincy football team, under new coach Ralph Frazier, will climax its pre-season practice schedule with an all-day scrimmage and outing Saturday at Deerfield Academy.

"This makes for a fine day for the boys and will be a fitting climax for our preparations for the season," Frazier said. "We will leave by bus at 8:30 in the morning, arrive there about 10:30, tour their beautiful campus and eat about 11:15. Then we will attend a rules clinic presented by top officials and will start the scrimmage about 2 o'clock.

"The scrimmage will end at 4:30, the players will enjoy a swim in the pool, they will eat dinner at 5:15 and leave for home at 6. We will arrive home about 8 and most of the boys will attend the blastoff dance being held by the Boosters Club in the high school gym at 8:30, so it will be a long day for them."

Frazier explained that the blastoff dance is the first social event on the year's calendar and will serve as a prelude to the football season.

"Last year we were able to bring only the varsity players to the Deerfield event, but, thanks to the Lions Club, which has donated another bus, we can take the entire sophomore group this season and I want to personally thank the Lions very much," Frazier continued.

The new coach was overwhelmed by the success of his parents' clinic last week in the school gym which was attended by 200 parents.

"I introduced our principal, Mr. [John] Walsh, to start the clinic and he gave a wonderful and inspiring talk," Ralph said. "I then introduced all the coaches to the parents and explained the general insurance plan to them.

"Ted Sadowski, one of my assistants, dressed three players and we explained the equipment. Then the entire squad staged a regular practice session in the gym.

"We ran through our calisthenics and then staged a mock scrimmage showing our offensive and defensive patterns. I was delighted with the way things turned out and I think the parents got a lot out of it."

Incidentally, Frazier is pleased with the progress shown by his inexperienced squad in outside scrimmage. The latest was against Milton last Saturday and the Raiders previously scrimmaged Catholic Memorial, Watertown and Haverhill.

Quincy, North Cross-Country Teams In Boston League

After several years of independent scheduling, the Quincy and North Quincy cross country teams have joined the Greater Boston League this fall.

The makeup of the league is the same as in all other sports with the local teams joining Revere, Somerville, Everett, Medford, Chelsea and Malden. The outdoor track teams will also join the GBL next spring.

The league meets will be held at Pine Bank in Medford and Fresh Pond in Cambridge with the Quincy and North teams traveling to all meets in the same bus.

Bob Gentry's North team had a 5-5 record last year and, with some outstanding boys back, he feels the Raiders can have another fine season.

"Last season was a good one for us as 5-5 is a good record for a North team and we faced a very tough schedule," Gentry said. "Four of our losses were to Brockton, Weymouth, Abp. Williams and Hingham, four of the strongest teams in the area."

Among the returnees are last year's two top runners, Paul Affsa and Pat McCormick. Affsa nipped Quincy's outstanding Pete Laing by inches in the season's final meet, and McCormick usually finished second to him.

Also back are Ed Monti, who scored well in 1968; and Richie Yee, another fine runner.

Others among the 18 candidates are Jeff Strungis, Peter Bonoli, a fine looking sophomore; Kevin Henry, small and fleet, and Jack Keenan, who did well in track and looks good.

In contrast to North's .500 record, George York's Quincy harriers were winless as York was forced to go out looking for runners. Like North, the Presidents also faced a rough schedule and among the losses were to powerful Williams, Weymouth and Randolph.

"Interest has been lagging here, especially since the school started sooner," York said. "This year about a dozen boys turned out, including Laing, who should be one of the best in the state."

Laing, also an outstanding distance runner in track, won three meets a year ago and was barely nipped by Affsa in the finale.

Jim Conso and Tom Plante are also back from last year's team and other hopefuls include Tony Iroio, sophomore Bob Ciano, Bill Boutiliere, Frank Hickey, Mark Matthews, Mike Whelton and Dennis Giannoti.

"I know Laing will do well in the league and I hope some of the others will come along," York said. "I don't expect any miracles, but we should give some of the other clubs a lot of trouble."

Pacemaker's 'Fall Flotilla' Sails Into N. Quincy

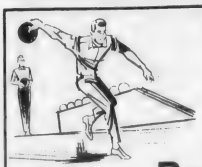
Starting in Boston, the "Fall Flotilla" will make several stops in cities along the East Coast from Massachusetts to Maryland in a monthlong public tour.



Two luxurious yachts, an Atglas 48-footer and a Pacemaker 42-footer will stay in the Boston Area for three days. On Friday at 1 p.m. a Press Party will be held aboard the two boats, followed by two days of public showings on Saturday, and Sunday.

From Boston the "Fall Flotilla" will sail for Wickford, R.I., where it will be displayed for two days at Wickford Shipyard. It will later cruise down to the exclusive Capri Yacht Club on the North Shore of Long Island where it will be joined by Pacemaker's new 65-foot motor yacht.

The 65-foot luxury yacht, costing nearly $200,000 is the world's largest assembly-line yacht, and will later sail for Florida making stops at cities along the way.

The "Great Northeast Boat Show" will wind up a month later in Georgetown, Md., on October 19th.

Only 17, But He's Mr. New England

MAN OF MUSCLE. . . . .Paul Tomasetti

Quincy has never produced a Miss America but right now has a strong contender for Mr. America honors.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tomasetti of 112 Oxenbridge Rd., Wollaston, Paul is the youngest man in history to hold the New England body building title.

And all proportioned to beat 33 contenders in the Mr. New England contest held recently at Holyoke.

Paul is the protege of John DeCola, former manager of the Quincy Health Club, who now has a body building gym in Framingham.

DeCola practices what he teaches. He won the Mr. Junior America title in 1964 and was runner-up in the Mr. America contest last year.

He thinks Paul has a good chance to go all the way.

The twins--not identical--were born shortly after midnight Jan. 1, 1952, the first New Year babies in the Greater Boston area that year.

Paul weighed 7 pounds, Steve 7½. At that time they were the largest twins ever born at the New England Hospital.

How do you get to be Mr. New England?

Well, Paul trains six hours a week and cuts down on starches. The latter part is probably the toughest because his father is supervisor of a Roxbury bakery.

He doesn't smoke and doesn't drink.

"He gets a little angry when I smoke at home," says his father. "He can't even stand the smell of smoke."

Mulloy, Marple Look Good In Classic Bowling Loop

Quincy's Paul Mulloy and Ralph Marple turned in creditable performances in the opening night of the newly-formed 16-team Massachusetts Classic League at Boston Ten Pin Bowl, Dorchester Mulloy had a 257 second game and Marple a 233 third.

But Capt. Joe Baker of Peabody led his Lord & Miller Construction Co. teammates to a 6-to-2 win with his anchorman, V. Viglione of Medford bowling a 683 three-game set.

Salvucci Construction Co. captain George Salvucci of Brighton also rolled a 682 series.

Quincy's Jack Chase of Sea 'N' Surf Restaurant and his three team members all bowled 187 averages in a losing effort, 2 to 6, against Carlson Tire Co., led by John Federici of Revere.

Quincy In Win Over Norwell

Quincy's soccer team, under new coach Ronnie Martin, a soccer player himself from the time he was in grade school in his native Scotland, had a 6-4-2 record last year and was not out of South Shore Association contention until the final couple of games.

This year Martin has a good nucleus of veterans including Dave D'Olimpio, who was rushed into the goalie position last year when the regular goalie, all-scholastic Mike DelGrecco, broke his leg in an early game. D'Olimpio played outstanding ball and should be among the better league goalies this fall.

"Despite a good number of veterans, we are not as experienced as last year as we lost some outstanding starters," Martin said. "However, we have a good squad of 42 working out and the boys have loads of desire. I think we should have another good season in a strong league.

"Last year we lost our opening game, 6-2, to Duxbury, which won the Division Two championship and then beat Hingham for the overall league title, but we came along well and were never outclassed. We were in every game and with a break here and there would have had a real shot at the championship."

North Soccer Looking Bright

Two years ago North Quincy's veteran soccer coach, George Golding, had his first losing season in five years but last fall the Raiders bounced back with a 5-4-3 record and were in the thick of the South Shore Association title race until the final week of the season.

North lost some heartbreaking games and its final three games of the season were 1-0 losses to Sharon and Quincy and a 2-2 tie with Division One champion Hingham.

"We have a fine nucleus this year with many returnees but we lost some fine defensive players including two halfbacks and a fullback, so we are hurting a little on defense right now," Golding said. "However, I think we should have a good season. As usual, though, we have no really big players, as the big ones want to play football."

Juniors include George Bourikas, a native of Greece and one of the league's outstanding young players last fall. Bourikas has all the moves and should again be one of the best in the league.

Incidentally, Golding has another native of Greece, George Vulgaris, who shows considerable promise. "He speaks very little English but he looks like a fine prospect," the Raider coach explained.

A number of likely sophomore prospects round out the big squad working out for today's opener against Plymouth-Carver at Montclair Field, where all home games will be played this year instead of at Adams Field.

"I think we will have a better balanced team than a year ago and, with our experience, should give the other league teams a run for their money," Golding concluded.

Giants Host Friday To League Leader Knights

By CHARLIE LOWE

"This is great for us," enthused Ross O'Hanley, coach of the Quincy Giants of the Atlantic Coast Football League.

Why all the enthusiasm?

They hope to keep the momentum going Friday night at Veterans Memorial Stadium when they face the league champion and pace-setting Hartford Knights.

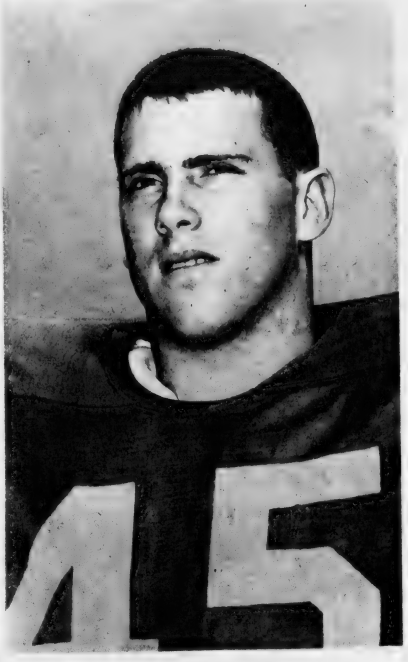
Quarterbacking the Knights will be Benny Russell who started one game for the Bills last year and appeared briefly in two others. Hank Washington [West Texas State] who went to the New York Giants training camp two years ago is the backup. Russell will be relying on the league's top ground gainer, 32-year-old Mel Meeks. In spite of his age Meeks is not slowing up, and still has the speed that carried him for 15 touchdowns last season for the championship with 90 points.

Giants general manager Joe Bellino revealed that he expects to have in the lineup Friday night, Garrett Ford of West Virginia, a 220-pound fullback, who started at that position for the Denver Bronco's last season. He [Ford] claims he is fully recovered from an injury that caused him to be cut by Lou Saban, Bronco's coach.

Tickets will be available all week at the Giants office at 10 Temple St. Prices are $3.50 [reserved], $2.50 [general admission] and $1.00 for children under 12. There is also a special reduced price for senior citizens. Ticket booths will be open at the Stadium for the game Friday night at 7 p.m.

In last Saturday's game in Richmond, the Roadrunners, an affiliate of the New Orleans Saints of the National Football League took a first period lead 6-0, on two Tom Field field goals and then the Giants went on to score twice themselves and add two Gus Carias field goals and walk out of the Southland with a very heartening victory.

The Giants put their two T.D.'s on the scoreboard via the air route. Quarterback Don Allard twice hit Wayne "Speedy" Richardson for the six-pointers. The first one that tied the score, was a typical professional football collaboration between an experienced quarterback and his favorite receiver.



Richardson and Allard had been moving the ball well on short sideline patterns against the Roadrunners cornerback. On the successful scoring play [65 yards] Richardson gave the cornerback the fake to the sideline and then took off upfield on a "fly" pattern. Allard laid the ball in perfectly and no one caught Richardson.

The other scoring pass to Richardson covered 35 yards. Carias converted on both and added two field goals [30 and 13 yards] and barely missed another of 35 yards with his soccer-style method.

O'Hanley said, "We definitely played well and we eliminated the mental errors we made last week against Roanoke. Ray Ilg [middle linebacker] did an excellent job as did the rest of the defensive unit.

"A surprise was inserting Bob Kenny at fullback in place of Preston Johnson. Coach Butch Mahoney suggested the switch and it worked well. He did well on two drives picking up valuable yardage.

"Paul Della Villa and Dick Queeney, our other two backs also did very well. They made some key third-down receptions when we tried to central the ball in the fourth quarter."

Raiders Scrimmage Deerfield Saturday

The North Quincy football team, under new coach Ralph Frazier, will climax its pre--season practice schedule with an all-day scrimmage and outing Saturday at Deerfield Academy.

"This makes for a fine day for the boys and will be a fitting climax for our preparations for the season," Frazier said. "We will leave by bus at 8:30 in the morning, arrive there about 10:30, tour their beautiful campus and eat about 11:15. Then we will attend a rules clinic presented by top officials and will start the scrimmage about 2 o'clock.

"The scrimmage will end at 4:30, the players will enjoy a swim in the pool, they will eat dinner at 5:15 and leave for home at 6. We will arrive home about 8 and most of the boys will attend the blastoff dance being held by the Boosters Club in the high school gym at 8:30, so it will be a long day for them."

Frazier explained that the blastoff dance is the first social event on the year's calendar and will serve as a prelude to the football season.

"Last year we were able to bring only the varsity players to the Deerfield event, but, thanks to the Lions Club, which has donated another bus, we can take the entire sophomore group this season and I want to personally thank the Lions very much," Frazier continued.

The new coach was overwhelmed by the success of his parents' clinic last week in the school gym which was attended by 200 parents.

"I introduced our principal, Mr. [John] Walsh, to start the clinic and he gave a wonderful and inspiring talk," Ralph said. "I then introduced all the coaches to the parents and explained the general insurance plan to them.

"Ted Sadowski, one of my assistants, dressed three players and we explained the equipment. Then the entire squad staged a regular practice session in the gym.

"We ran through our calisthenics and then staged a mock scrimmage showing our offensive and defensive patterns. I was delighted with the way things turned out and I think the parents got a lot out of it."

Incidentally, Frazier is pleased with the progress shown by his inexperienced squad in outside scrimmage. The latest was against Milton last Saturday and the Raiders previously scrimmaged Catholic Memorial, Watertown and Haverhill.

Quincy, North Cross-Country Teams In Boston League

After several years of independent scheduling, the Quincy and North Quincy cross country teams have joined the Greater Boston League this fall.

The makeup of the league is the same as in all other sports with the local teams joining Revere, Somerville, Everett, Medford, Chelsea and Malden. The outdoor track teams will also join the GBL next spring.

The league meets will be held at Pine Bank in Medford and Fresh Pond in Cambridge with the Quincy and North teams traveling to all meets in the same bus.

Bob Gentry's North team had a 5-5 record last year and, with some outstanding boys back, he feels the Raiders can have another fine season.

"Last season was a good one for us as 5-5 is a good record for a North team and we faced a very tough schedule," Gentry said. "Four of our losses were to Brockton, Weymouth, Abp, Williams and Hingham, four of the strongest teams in the area."

Among the returnees are last year's two top runners, Paul Affsa and Pat McCormick. Affsa nipped Quincy's outstanding Pete Laing by inches in the season's final meet, and McCormick usually finished second to him.

Also back are Ed Monti, who scored well in 1968; and Richie Yee, another fine runner.

Others among the 18 candidates are Jeff Strungis, Peter Bonoli, a fine looking sophomore; Kevin Henry, small and fleet, and Jack Keenan, who did well in track and looks good.

In contrast to North's .500 record, George York's Quincy harriers were winless as York was forced to go out looking for runners. Like North, the Presidents also faced a rough schedule and among the losses were to powerful Williams, Weymouth and Randolph.

"Interest has been lagging here, especially since the school started sooner," York said. "This year about a dozen boys turned out, including Laing, who should be one of the best in the state."

Laing, also an outstanding distance runner in track, won three meets a year ago and was barely nipped by Affsa in the finale.

"I know Laing will do well in the league and I hope some of the others will come along," York said. "I don't expect any miracles, but we should give some of the other clubs a lot of trouble."

Starting in Boston, the "Fall Flotilla" will make several stops in cities along the East Coast from Massachusetts to Maryland in a monthlong public tour.

The 65-foot luxury yacht, costing nearly $200,000 is the world's largest assembly-line yacht, and will later sail for Florida making stops at cities along the way.

The "Great Northeast Boat Show" will wind up a month later in Georgetown, Md., on October 19th.

PEOPLE HELPING PEOPLE is the purpose of the Woman's Division of the Quincy YMCA, according to Director Alice Beagan. An example of this in action is the swimming and gym program held on Wednesdays from 2-3 p.m. for both mentally and physically handicapped children. Over 100 children were served this past year in the program. Each child has an instructor, especially trained. Under head instructor Mrs. Jean Rainey are a group of dedicated volunteers who give freely of themselves so that all children may have the opportunity to learn to swim.

Honor For State Street Project Head

John N. Dwyer, project director of the $100 million State Street South complex to be built in the Montclair marsh area, has a new honor.

He has been awarded the Chartered Bank Auditor designation by the Bank Administration Institute.

The 39-year-old South Weymouth resident is vice-president of the State Street Bank and Trust Company with which he has been associated since 1952.

He is one of 207 bankers throughout the country who have received the Chartered Bank Auditor designation. Bankers qualifying for CBA must subscribe to a Code of Ethics and must also take two examinations at least a year apart.

Mr. Dwyer has authored articles on automation and banking subjects, which have appeared in leading national journals. In addition to being a frequent speaker at conventions throughout the United States, he also writes a six page monthly newsletter subscribed to by over 3,000 banks and accounting firms.

A lifelong resident of Weymouth, he graduated from Weymouth High in 1947 and attended Suffolk University before going to work for State Street Bank. He is a graduate of the School of Bank Administration at the University of Wisconsin.

He is married to the former Barbara Faulkner of Milton. The couple has six children and resides in South Weymouth, and Naples, Me.

N.Q.'s Varney, Giachetti Star 'End Men'

Two former North Quincy High standouts are prepping for what should be brilliant football seasons for them as ends for New England college teams.

One, Pete Varney, who is already being selected by national wire services as a likely All-American choice, should be one of the top ends in the Ivy League at Harvard and mention of his name brings a wide smile to the face of Coach John Yovicsin.

"Pete is a good one, no doubt about it," his coach said. "He had a tremendous year for us as a sophomore last fall and should be one of the best around this year."

Although he played outstanding ball all season long for Harvard last season, it was one play, his final one of the year, which brought him nation-wide attention.

This was his clutch catch of a pass for the tying points in the final second to climax an unbelievable comeback and give the Crimson its never-to-be-forgotten 29-29 tie with Yale.

The other ex-North star who appears set for a brilliant campaign is Rich Giachetti, senior co-captain at Tufts where he is ready to break the New England college pass receiving record.

Rich needs just 18 receptions to break the record of 120 receptions set by Ron Martin of Trinity.

As a sophomore Giachetti caught 55 passes for a school record and added 48 last season. Several of his receptions have been for touchdowns and he and quarterback Pete Cohen make a picture passing combination.

"It is our fourth year working together and by now we have got everything down to clockwork, particularly on short passes," Rich said.

The ex-Raider, president of his senior class, was twice selected to the all-New England team, made the All-East team last year, was recently married and is co-captain of next spring's baseball team.

Thus far Rich has gained 1,142 yards on his 103 receptions for a Tufts record along with his marks of 648 yards for a season and 141 for one game.

He is undoubtedly the finest end that Tufts has ever had," Coach Rocky Carzo lauded. "He's as determined to excel as any player I have ever coached.

Giachetti has already been approached by eight pro teams and he admits "I'd like to give the pros a shot. I think everyone who plays for a small school wants to see how he measures up to the pros. Houston seems to be the most interested in me."

LaRaia Urges 'Pronounced' Planning Dept. Objectives

Former City Council President Joseph J. LaRaia today called for "more pronounced objectives" from the Quincy Planning Department.

LaRaia noted that Quincy Architect Joseph Donahue has frequently spoken to civicgroups throughout the city about blighted conditions that exist at some of the entrances to the city.

"Commercialization of Quincy Shore Drive must be considered as the first step towards that possibility," LaRaia said.

Continuing, he said:

"As a member of the city council in 1963, I recall an appropriation that was passed to increase the staff of the planning department, and to begin a zoning study. Yet at Monday nights' meeting, the city council was calling for completion of a zoning study.

"It is apparent that the City Council must press for more pronounced objectives and deadlines from the Planning Department or be confronted with another Quincy Shore Drive commercial enterprise."

H.N. Council Honors Five 'Good Neighbors' Oct. 14

Five "Good Neighbors" will be honored at Houghs Neck Oct. 14, two for work with senior citizens, three for contributions to youth endeavors.

The annual "Honor Awards Banquet " sponsored by the Houghs Neck Community Council will be held at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall at 7 p.m.

Mrs. Howard Back is general chairman. Tickets may be obtained from her or John B. Powers, president; and are also available at Page's Pharmacy and Finlay's F-Z Shop.

The five award winners are: Mrs. Edward Radcliffe, advisor, and Mrs. Celia Tobin, vice-president of the Houghs Neck Senior Citizens; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Meade former Boy Scout workers: and David MacMillan, organizer of the Sgt. Lawrence Grenham Youth Center.

Mrs. Radcliffe, an 18-year resident at 374 Manet Ave., helped organize the Houghs Neck Senior Citizens group in April, 1968, and has been an advisor ever since, representing the Houghs Neck Community Council. Active in nearly all of the Council's projects, she served several times as treasurer and is now treasurer of its Scholarship Fund, is circulation manager of "The Bulletin", has taught Council-sponsored cake decorating classes; been a teenage dance supervisor, and in charge of children's events on July 4th.

In addition, she has been a board member of both the Atherton Hough and Broad Meadows PTA's.

Children of Mr. and Mrs. Radcliffe are Diane, 20, a student at Catherine Laboure School of Nursing; Edward, 17, a Quincy High School Senior; and William, 13, in the 8th grade at Broad Meadows Jr. High School.

Mrs. Tobin has lived at 49 Charles St. since her marriage in 1924 to the late John Tobin, a Deputy Chief with the Quincy Fire Department, Known for her helpfulness to neighbors, particularly older persons, the Houghs Neck Senior Citizens is her only organized activity. Her son, John W. Tobin, Jr. and his wife live at 68 Charles St., and she has two grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Meade, 15-year residents at 19 Crosby St., parents of two sons, were first active in Cub Scout Pack 36 of Most Blessed Sacrament Church, Mr. Meade as assistant cubmaster, Mrs. Meade as a den mother.

After four years with this group, Mr. Meade was a leader of Boy Scout Troop 35 and then Explorer Troop 35 for six years, while Mrs. Meade was president of the Boy Scout Mothers' Club. They were among the organizers of the Great Hill PTA, Mr. Meade serving as its first president in 1956, while Mrs. Meade was secretary.

Their sons have completed military service and are now at home, Edward, 22, after two years with the Army Signal Corps in Germany; and Robert, discharged in July, after 13 months in Vietnam with the Army Engineers. Both are now licensed firemen at the Boston Hospital for Women where their father is chief engineer. Mrs. Meade is the proprietor of Roberta's Fashion Shoppe at 1538 Hancock St., Quincy.

David MacMillan of 18 Wall St. has been at Houghs Neck for more than 25 years. While best known for his organization and supervision of the Grenham Youth Center, he has worked with youth of the community through church organizations and parents to help solve juvenile problems. He coaches the Houghs Neck American Legion Little League baseball team and this year was one of three coaches named to select members of the American League Babe Ruth baseball team to compete in the State contest - won by Quincy for the first time.

The "Good Neighbor" group will be guests at the banquet. They were chosen from a field of fifteen, nominated by more than 60 ballots.

Burke Blasts Navy For Quincy Ship Snub

Congressman James A. Burke [D-Milton] has demanded a review of the Navy Department's decision to eliminate General Dynamic's Quincy Division from competition for a multi-million dollar destroyer contract.

Burke charged that the Navy's letter to General Dynamics informing them of the decision was "about as vague as a college application rejection letter."

The Quincy yard was one of three in contention for the contract that may lead to constructing a new destroyer fleet to replace the World War II vintage vessels.

The DD 963 Class Destroyer Program is the largest shipbuilding package in Navy history. The program is the Navy's massive attempt to replace its World War II destroyers. At a cost of approximately $70 million per vessel, the program is expected to give the winning shipyard more than $1 billion in contracts over the next several years. Construction of the new DD 963 class destroyers is being planned under the Navy's total package concept in which all ships of a particular class are built by the shipyard that wins the initial contract.

Congressman Burke has sent a telegram to Secretary of the Navy John H. Chafee and a letter to Chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, L. Mendel Rivers requesting an immediate investigation and review of the matter.

Quincy Responds To Plea For Articles Needed In Vietnam

Quincy is responding to a hometown boy's plea from Vietnam to send clothing and hygienic articles needed by people in 22 villages there.

SP4 Raymond D. Crombie of Houghs Neck, assigned to the Civic Action Office in Cu Chi hopes Quincy will send a 1,500 pound shipment.

He informed Mayor James R. McIntyre recently by letter that the residents of 22 villages in Vietnam need clothing, soap, toothbrushes and other hygienic articles.

Mayor McIntyre has appointed William L. Villone, Director of Veterans Services, to chairman on the project.

Villone has named the following committee to assist him:

Police Chief Francis X. Finn, Fire Chief Edward F. Barry, Cemetery Supt. Anthony Famigletti and Lawrence Carnali, veterans graves registration officer.

Receptacles donated by Proctor & Gamble's Quincy plant have been placed in seven fire stations throughout the city for collections.

Plans call for the lounge to be open at all times for the convenience of donors.

Crombie is the son of Alexander Crombie, a former vice-commander of the post and now assistant adjutant, and Mrs. Margaret Crombie, former president of the Houghs Neck Legion Auxiliary.

Gillis Names Campaign Committee

Peter Dindy of 140 Grand View Ave. will serve as chairman; Diana Stanton, 23 Wollaston Ave., treasurer, and Ann Gaffey, 173 North Central Ave., publicity chairman.

Precinct captains are:

Arthur Gable, 8 Park St.; Helen Joyce, 31 Taylor St.; Robert Stoddard, 65 Willett St.; John Durning, 122 Green St.; Beverly Albanese, 52 Davis St.; Leo Walsh, 146 Elmwood Ave.; Joseph McLaughlin, 82 Chapman St.; Sumner Levenson, 47 Hilda St., and Lorraine Nolan, 41 Rice Rd.

Timothy Donovan Ave Maria Grand Knight

Other new officers are:

Joseph P. Shea, 95 White St., Deputy Grand Knight; Robert F. Montgomery, 79 Alrick Rd. Chancellor and Edward F. Curry, 52 Loring St., Warden.

Wollaston May Get 500-Car Parking Lot For Christmas

Wollaston merchants and businessmen may get a 500--car parking lot as a Christmas "gift".

Mayor James R. McIntyre disclosed last night the MBTA will try to have the Wollaston station parking lot paved and available for use for the Christmas shopping season.

He said that Warren Higgins, director of planning and construction for the MBTA, promised him "every effort will be made" to have the 500-car lot ready for use by the beginning of December.

"This will be a tremendous benefit to the Wollaston retail-business area and a convenience for shoppers during the busy Christmas season," McIntyre declared.

The Mayor also disclosed that during a progress inspection this week "eight defects" were found in the walls of the Wollaston station now under construction.

"The walls were not even, but this is being corrected," McIntyre said. "It would not have affected the structural strength of the wall but only the appearance of the station," McIntyre said.

The Mayor also noted that MBTA officials have assured him that a full-time architect will be employed for quality control of construction of the Quincy Center station.

New $1.7 Million Courthouse Expected To Be Ready In 1971

A new $1.7 million Quincy District Courthouse is expected to be completed and ready for use by the summer of 1971.

Norfolk County Commissioners this week gave the go-ahead for the modern facility by approving preliminary plans.

Construction drawings and specifications are scheduled to be ready for bidding in November with actual construction underway by February or March of 1970.

Completion target date, said County Commission Chairman James J. Collins is "the summer of 1971".

Collins and Commissioners George B. McDonald and Thomas K. McManus approved the preliminary plans for the courthouse to be built on a two-acre site at McGrath Highway and Chestnut St., Quincy Center.

The three-level, 38,000 square foot facility of contemporary design with red brick exterior, will have on-site parking accomodations for 206 cars.

Plans are to illuminate the on-surface parking area to allow it to be used at night by shoppers to ease the need for more parking in the downtown area.

The basement level will have a large waiting area, courtroom, judge's chamber and a general office for six juvenile probation officers.

On the first floor entrance level will be the main public lobby, clerks' offices, adult probation offices, main courtroom, judge's chambers and a special office for Judge Kenneth L. Nash, presiding justice of Quincy District Court and chief justice of the 72 Massachusetts district courts.

New Feature Starts Today For Brides-To-Be

A new feature for brides-to-be makes its debut in today's Quincy Sun.

The new column, with expert hints on proper procedure, dress and etiquette for "the most important day" in a girl's life will be a regular weekly feature.

Brides-to-be [and their parents, too] are invited to send wedding questions to Mabelle, care of: Quincy Sun, 7 Foster St., Quincy, Mass. 02169

35,000 'Sneak' Tons

Crackdown Urged To Halt Illegal Rubbish Dumping

Councillor George B. McDonald will call for a crackdown on refuse collectors who are "sneaking" an annual estimated 35,000 tons of rubbish into the city dump from outside Quincy.

McDonald said he will propose at next Monday night's City Council meeting that frequent "random" checks be made of trucks dumping at the nearly filled Faulkner quarry hole.

"Periodic checks of trucks and a fee system would do much to cut down this illegal dumping," McDonald said.

"We have enough of a problem disposing of our own rubbish. We don't want any from the outside."

McDonald, chairman of the City Council's special Committee on Dumping and Disposal problems, said some private collection contractors are "sneaking" rubbish into the city.

He said they pick up rubbish in other communities--including Boston--and then top off the truck load with a little Quincy rubbish covering.

"I think if we made frequent random checks of the trucks' contents we could determine who is bringing what in from outside the city," McDonald declared. "Such things as envelopes with outside-Quincy addresses certainly would be evidence."

McDonald estimated that approximately 35,000 tons of rubbish are brought illegally into the city a year.

"It may be a little lower--or a little higher," he estimated.

The city dump is now being operated under private contract.

McDonald's committee voted Monday night to support a proposed ordinance to create a fee schedule at the dump.

Next week McDonald will recommend that the full council accept the committee's endorsement and set in motion the legal

Early Birds Pay $625,000 In Taxes

Quincy property owners have already paid more than $625,000 in 1969 tax bills--an average of $150,000 a day.

City Tax Collector-Treasurer David R. Houston is hopeful the flow will continue so that at least $1 million will be in by Sept. 30.

Unless that figure is reached by then, he said, the city will have to borrow money to meet its financial obligations. Quincy has been operating on borrowed money since January.

As of yesterday, Houston reported, more than $625,000 had been paid by taxpayers. It averages $150,000 a day since the first 1969 tax bills were received in the mail last Thursday.

The first taxpayer was a retired firefighter who turned up at the tax payment window in City Hall shortly after 9 a.m.

"We are grateful to these early taxpayers," said Houston. "They are not only helping us financially but are helping to avoid a last minute work load in our office."

Approximately 25,600 bills representing $23 million were mailed out last week. Of these, 23,000 are real estate tax bills reflecting the $116.40 1969 tax rate--up $17.50 over last year. An estimated 2,600 were personal property tax bills.

Houston reminded property owners they may make partial payments on their bills--a minimum one-tenth of the total bill.

Tax bills are due on or before Nov. 1.

Those who fail to pay by then face a penalty of eight per cent interest retroactive to Oct. 1.

Vandals Ruin Fountain At Cemetery With Detergents

Vandals have ruined the fountain at the Sea St. entrance to Mt. Wollaston Cemetery by pouring detergents into it.

Cemetery Supt. Anthony M. Famigletti said the detergent--placed in the fountain on several occasions--finally burned out the pump.

A new pump will have to be ordered and installed, he said, estimating that it will be next April before the fountain is back in operation.

"They really did a job on it," Famigletti said. "There was so much detergent poured in, that the immediate area looked like a washing machine had overflowed".

Clarification By QCA

Editor, Quincy Sun;

In the September 11th edition of the Quincy Sun a statement of policy of the Quincy Citizens Association concerning a salary increase for the Mayor of Quincy was published.

In order that there may be no misunderstanding in the minds of some, permit me to make this point of clarification concerning this policy statement. The QCA would not oppose a reasonable salary increase for the office of Mayor provided the individual in that office held no other salaried elective office at the same time.

The QCA has voted to oppose the practice of one person holding two elected salaried public offices simultaneously. We staunchly believe in the proposition that an individual who is elected to a full-time public office should devote all of his time to that office.

I thank the Quincy Sun for publishing the QCA statement of policy on this important matter and for allowing me to make this point of clarification.

A 'Happy Birthday' From Quincy Junior College

Editor, Quincy Sun:

The Quincy Junior College Student Government would like to convey their heart-felt thanks to you and your fine newspaper, in recognition of the front page story you published on September 18, 1969.

Needless to say, articles such as your accurate and informative one, about the College, bring deserving credit to the College, the Faculty, and our own Student Government.

The Student Government, on Friday September 19, 1969, resolved to send this brief message and to wish you a happy birthday. It is the hope of the Student Government, that the Quincy Sun will continue to prosper and grow.

'Gentle Giant' Movie To Aid Pilot Club

The Pilot Club of Boston will sponsor a special showing of the movie, "Gentle Giant", the story of a bear and a boy, plus cartoons, at 10:30 a.m., Saturday, at the Wollaston Theater, 14 Beale St.

Proceeds will be used for community service projects, including work with underprivileged children, a scholarship, the Annual Service Award, Project Hope, Meals for Millions, and working with the elderly through Companions Unlimited program of the Women's Educational and Industrial Union.

Pilot International is one of the five international classified civic and service organizations for executive business and professional women.

The Tri-Hi-Y girls from the Quincy YMCA will usher at the movie, under the direction of Mrs. Roger B. Whitcomb, youth worker at the YMCA, and member of the Boston Pilots.

Other local women who are members of the Pilot Club and assisting in the movie program are:

Miss M. Ena Fredette, Guidance Counsellor at Snug Harbor School; Miss Rose Briand, French teacher at Quincy High School; Miss Barbara DeWolfe, teacher at the Willard School; and Mrs. Oscar J. Toye, brokerage office manager.

Granite Lodge 'Day' Oct. 11

Mayor James R. McIntyre has proclaimed Saturday, Oct. 11 as Granite Lodge No. 1451 Day.

The Mayor noted that the Lodge will observe 30 years as part of organized labor [AFL-CIO].

He said that Granite Lodge "has participated and helped the cause of the working man and woman throughout all these years as thousands of men and women have been part of the organization and have benefitted by its everlasting aims in the field of better working conditions, better finge benefits for all."

Sunbeams

One of the interesting political questions in this year's city election is: Can Alice do it?

She, of course, is Mrs. Alice I. Kowilcik, Squantum mother of six, Who has the only bonnet in this year's election ring.

She hopes to become the second woman in Quincy's history to serve in the City Council.

Only woman to hold that honor since Quincy became a city in 1888 was Mrs. Edna B. Austin who served 15 distinguished years as Madame Councillor and retired in 1960.

"I did not know her personally, but I admired her very much," says Mrs. Kowilcik. "I think she did an outstanding job."

Mrs. Kowilcik, of course, firmly believes the city needs a woman councillor today.

"A woman sees things differently," she says. "The city should have a woman's viewpoint in the City Council. Women have a great deal to contribute to a community and its government if given the chance."

Mrs. Kowilcik, whose children range in age from eight to 25, made an unsuccessful bid for School Committee six years ago.

If all the women registered voters in the city decided to "put a woman in the City Council", she'd be a shoo-in.

But, of course, women don't--and won't--vote together in a bloc.

But the potential is there. And she is a candidate the men will have to reckon with.

* * *

SPEAKING of the election, it will be a major double milestone in the life of Ward 3 council contender Richard W. Corner of Hillsboro St.

He will be making his first bid for office--and voting for the first time. He's 21. And you know who will be getting one of his first votes cast.

But at age 21, he's a young man on the move. He is an accountant with a national CPA firm and already has earned a four-year degree in accounting from Suffolk University which he will receive Sunday.

Down through the years, Quincy has seen some bright political stars shining in their early 20's. A few names that come to mind: Thomas S. Burgin, James R. McIntyre, George G. Burke, Richard W. Barry.

NICE-GESTURE-DEPT: More than $3,000 has been contributed so far by Quincy residents to the "Sixty-Nine Campaign Against Kidney Disease", reports Mayor James R. McIntyre, local chairman. The drive, headed by mayors of the 39 cities in Massachusetts, is to raise funds to secure sufficient artificial kidneys and to train personnel to operate them. A predicted 200 persons in Massachusetts will die this year because of the shortage of machines and trained personnel. Mayor McIntyre plans to keep the Quincy campaign going until $5,000 is raised here.

AULD LANG SYNE: The Quincy Sun's special feature on WJDA's 22nd anniversary brought a note to news director Herb Fontaine from an old friend of Quincy's--Mrs. Gertrude [Callahan] Monahan, former Thomas Crane Librarian. Now living in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., she writes:

"There have been so very many changes in Quincy since I moved away in 1965 that I often wonder if I will find my way about the city if I ever get back there.

"Today we received a copy of the Quincy Sun and was I ever happy to see that the good staff of WJDA is still intact".

She also noted that former WJDA staffer Bob Gallagher not only is now "The Voice of the Miami Dolphins" but has a nightly sports show on WTVT in Miami. And, she concludes:

"We enjoy our life here in Ft. Lauderdale and frequent visits from Quincy friends sojourning in Florida keep us from being too lonesome for New England".

Eddie, you might remember, was Rudolph Valentino's look alike back in the 1920's when he and a young fellow by the name of Billy DeWolfe ushered together at the old Quincy Theater.

1973 'Hopeful' Completion Date For Initial $40 Million State Street Bank Project

The State Street Bank hopes to complete the first phase of its planned $100 million North Quincy commercial - residential complex in 1973 if existing access problems are solved.

John N. Dwyer, bank vice-president and project director of State Street South to be built in the Montclair marsh area, disclosed the target date as guest speaker this week at the Quincy Kiwanis Club meeting at the Quincy YMCA.

In response to a question, Dwyer said:

"Hopefully, we'll be in the building by 1973–depending upon economic and other conditions."

Dwyer, however, cautioned the Kiwanians that the rosy optimism surrounding the projection of State Street South must be "tempered with realities". He said even the start of the project will depend upon national and local economic conditions and the Administration's anti-inflation program.

Dwyer said the start of the project will also depend upon the resolution of existing access problems. "Until these problems are resolved", he stated, "we cannot begin to make State Street South a reality"

He said that the access problems "must be resolved as soon as possible to keep State Street South a viable project".

The bank official described State Street South as "an unprecedented investment in people, in the area and in the future", and described it as a paradox.

"On one hand", he said, "it is modern and breathtaking and on the other it has been designed with a concern for providing old-fashioned warmth and with a real concern for our present and future neighbors".

He told the luncheon audience that "total environmental control" has been one of the major concerns. "We have worked with conservationists and naturalists: we have attempted to build-in answers to air and water pollution which, while of great concern now, will certainly, or should certainly, be of paramount interest in the immediate future."

He said State Street Bank officials have been impressed with "both the vision and the cooperation of Quincy officials and business groups".

"We believe they share with us the conviction that we are building for the future and that the steps made in the present toward that goal should be prudent and positive", he said. He added, "We plan to make haste slowly".

The initial $40 million phase –calling for an operations-data processing-logistics center–is expected to serve as the nucleus of a service and residential complex.

The complex will include additional office buildings, retail stores, an apartment complex, a marina and other recreational facilities.

New Police Lieutenant, Four Sergeants Appointed

Appointment of a new lieutenant and four sergeants as the first step in "beefing up" the Quincy Police Department was announced today by Mayor James R. McIntyre.

Fourteen new patrolmen will eventually be added to the department to complete the presently needed manpower build-up, the Mayor said.

Sgt. Corady Solimini is the new lieutenant.

One of the sergeants is expected to be assigned to the juvenile bureau and the other three to supervising patrolmen on the streets.

The Mayor said the new men will probably be sworn in early next week.

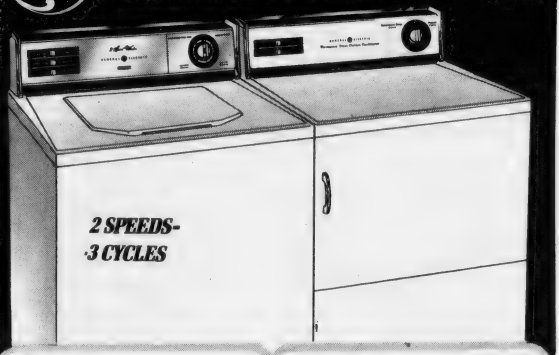
How costly is your warm?



If you think all heating methods are the same . . . compare fuel bills. You'll find that Gas heat is now cheaper than oil. (Oil costs $10 to $50 more a year and electric heat is twice the price.) Gas conversion burners . . . can only a little bigger than a breadbox . . . can fit most any type of furnace or boiler and most can operate even in a power failure. Call Boston Gas and change your home over to cheaper Gas heat in a matter of hours.

Here Comes The Bride

By Mabelle

In the heart of every bride, next in importance to her selection of a groom is her choice of a wedding gown.

Choosing your bridal gown is one of the biggest thrills of your life, so go to a salon where the selection of a wedding gown suited exactly to your personality, figure and budget limitations is one of the important services offered.

In a reliable shop all personnel is trained in style, line, color, etc., and you are treated as a bride and not "just another sale". And just as important, you are never pressured or rushed.

The bridal costume will naturally be influenced to the greatest degree by:

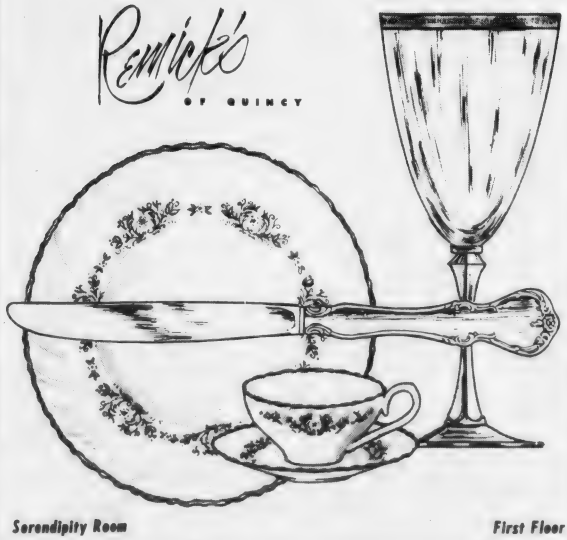
1 The type and size of wedding
2 Your financial position
3 The season of the year.

Answered these questions??

Now it's time to shop for that special dress!!!
Your wedding gown. . .

Here on the South Shore the majority of weddings are considered formal. Therefore, the bride wears a long gown with train. Sleeves may be any length, but gloves should be worn with all but long sleeves. The correct length is 1 to 1½ inches space between the bottom edge of the sleeve and the top of glove.

The basic Silhouettes are:



1. The sheath. This line adds height and subtracts width.
2. The A line. Also adds height and the hips and thighs appear smaller.
3. Controlled style. This is good for either the heavy or thin figure.
4. Bouffant. Very good for the average or tall girl. Also minimizes bust and waistline.
5. Cage line. Straight from shoulder look. Best for the slender small busted bride.
6. The skimmer. The best all around look. This is an excellent silhouette for all girls who want to look thinner.

Due to the assortment of fabrics today a wedding gown does not have to be expensive to be beautiful. Proper fit is the most important consideration. A word of caution: Don't attempt to try on every gown in every bridal shop. You will find you are a very confused and exhausted bride. The pleasure has become an ordeal and you will choose any gown and regret it ever after.

INSURANCE

RETURNING G.I.'S - THE FIRST 120 DAYS

Under the Servicemen's Group Life Insurance program, a man on active duty with the Armed Services (for 30 days or more) may elect to take $10,000 or $5,000 of Group Term Life Insurance on a very economical payroll deduction basis. Following release from active duty, each man is confronted with a decision. Under the S.G.L.I. program, the right to convert this coverage to permanent life insurance is guaranteed--but for 120 days only. On the 121st day after separation, S.G.L.I. coverage terminates. You may convert during this time to a plan with any of the life companies participating with the Government on S.G.L.I. We at Burgin, Platner represent several of these companies.

LIVING WITH YOUR HEART

Massachusetts Heart Association

● This is one in a series of articles from the Massachusetts Heart Association, Inc., that will appear in the Quincy Sun as a public service to our readers. ●

BY CHARLES D. BONNER, M.D.

Director, Cardinal Cushing Rehabilitation Center

Since we have witnessed such exciting and dramatic space achievements during the past year, we should not lose sight of the fact that we still suffer from many unsolved problems – many of them in the areas of medicine and health.

Stroke is still the third largest cause of death in the United States today. Although we cannot control some factors which make us susceptible to stroke, such as our heredity, sex and age, science has demonstrated that there are other factors involved in stroke about which we can do a great deal. In brief, these include keeping blood pressure under control, watching the intake of cholesterol, maintaining norman body weight, stopping the smoking of cigarettes and faithfully undergoing regular annual physical examinations.

Unfortunately, all too few of us observe these precautions. It is easier to adopt the ostrich-in-the-sand attitude and deny that such a catastrophe can happen to us. Therefore, each year several millions of people in the United States are crippled with strokes.

OXYGEN SUPPLY TO BRAIN

The human brain must receive an adequate and constant supply of oxygen to function efficiently. This oxygen is carried to the brain in the red blood cells through arteries leading from the heart. A stroke partially or completely cuts off this supply of oxygen to certain areas of the brain.

Strokes can take place in three areas – the arteries of the brain itself, in the large arteries of the neck, and in certain arteries at the base of the brain. The interruption of the blood and oxygen flow through these arteries occurs because of [1] a blood clot forming in the vessel [cerebral thrombosis]. [2] a rupture of the blood vessel wall [cerebral hemmorrhage]; [3] a clot usually formed in the heart, that travels the bloodstream to the brainfeeding vessel and closes it because it is too big to go through [cerebral embolism]; or [4] a growth around the vessel, shutting it off through pressure [tumor].

Stroke causes paralysis of the body on the opposite side from the damaged side of the brain. In other words, a stroke to the right side of the brain causes impairment to motor movement on the left side of the body.

Every patient is different in terms of what effect stroke will have. It can bring a degree of weakness or paralysis of the arm and leg; it can result in partial or complete loss of speech, it can cause blindness, usually partial. The patient may lose sensation in half of the body. Mental confusion may set in. And, any particular patient can have any combination of these disabilities.

HOPE FOR STROKE PATIENT

At this point, it is important to stress that 80 percent of those suffering non-fatal strokes can be rehabilitated. The care of the patient just after the stroke – at the acute state – is very important. Early return to walking and daily living activities is essential. Efforts should be made to avoid complications which often accompany recovery. These include contracting of muscles, bedsores, disorders of the urinary bladder, dehydration, and weakness of muscles not affected by the stroke.

The team approach to rehabilitation is a major tool used in getting stroke sufferers back into regular living patterns. Although rehabilitation teams are not available everywhere, more and more communities are becoming aware of their lifesaving value and are working to develop them at their local and general hospitals.

The team should include such specialists as a physician and a trained rehabilitation nurse; physical, occupational, and speech therapists; a social worker; a dietitian; and a vocational counselor. Services of psychologists and psychiatrists should be available if necessary to the overall program.

Large sums of money – generous amounts coming from the Heart Association – are spent on research designed to more clearly define the causes of stroke and methods of prevention.

["Living With Your Heart" is a public service of the Massachusetts Heart Association, which can provide further information on this subject.]

'Distortions We Don't See'

To hate men, and not know why you can't get along with your husband....to hate women, and not know why you can't like your wife....to be selfish, and not know why people do not warm up to you....to have children, and not be able to show them affection....distortions of our real humanity is what this article is about. As one man said recently, "I'm a good man....a good father....a good husband....I see no need to change....no need for counseling." I really felt sorry for his wife. None are so pathetic as those who can't see their own distortions. The so-called "good" people are often the greatest offenders.

Here is a family much respected in the community....the father a busy professional man....the mother a club woman whose picture often appears in the paper....their two children unhappy kids. When the boy reached 19 he was emotionally disturbed....involved in drug use and pushing....rejected from the military service and from two colleges. The daughter at 16 had become pregnant and eloped out of State to marry the 22-year-old warehouse clerk.

These parents are now perplexed...."What did we do wrong? ....they ask....listing all the "goodies" they've been tossing out to their son and daughter. At this point I feel like I'm performing an autopsy....the damage has been done. But maybe their "Distortions" will help you to avoid such "distortions" in your family.

The first distortion is that this husband and wife did not come "first" with each other. The son....the daughter....the club....the business all got priority over each other. They looked good as a couple attending public functions but it was really a distortion of a real husband-wife relationship. They didn't enjoy each other. They endured each other. That's why she was always "clubbing"....why he spent so much time with the business ....they were escaping each other....strangers.

They second distortion was in the love they professed for their children. The truth was that neither knew how to love.... the mother "spoiled" the children with her permissiveness and protectiveness....the father by giving them everything they wanted. Such "love" isn't love at all.... but distortions of love. The result was that their children had no platform on which to stand ....no sense of responsibiltiy....no feeling of genuine warmth. Both lost the respect of their children. Neither recognized their falsity and shallowness as persons....as a man....as a woman.

Usually such "fine community minded" people build up unhealthy defenses for the way they think and act....for the inhibitions and prejudices they cherish. When I asked...."Had you talked with your daughter about her sexual life?"....the answer was, "No....I believe young people hear too much about sex nowadays."....that's a distortion.

When I asked why the home had not been made a place for responsibile happy living where their children could feel stability....they answered...."There is so much need in the world and so few people to help." Another distortion....an unhealthy defense.

"Did you consider that your obsessions and busy-ness created in your children feelings of rejection and judgment so that they couldn't get close to you....that this resulted in rebellion against you to their own hurt?" Get this answer ...."We belonged to the Church....to the country club and Scouts....supported all the best things in the community." They were hiding behind institutional images to avoid personal relationship. They omitted to give their children what they needed most....genuine love and warm relationships with their mother and father.

These "fine community minded" people were stripped naked of their unhealthy defenses when their children floundered. It is fine to say all the "right" things and appear to be all O.K....but as one sage said.... "by their works shall ye know them."

Sometimes counselors get the opportunity to hold up to the light distortions in the lives of busy people who flit around to teas....bazaars....directors meetings....before their kids go to hell.

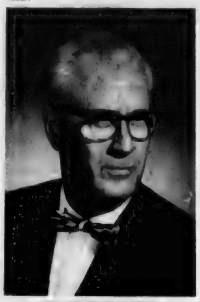
Quincy Great Books Group To Open New Season Tonight

The Quincy Great Books program begins its 1969-70 season with a first year discussion group meeting tonight [Thursday] at 8 p.m. in the Children's Room of the main Thomas Crane Public Library, Quincy Center.

The discussion will be led by Dr. Charles Djerf, noted Quincy pediatrician, school committeeman and Quincy Sun columnist.

The library for the 17th consecutive year is sponsoring a new first year Great Books group to be led by Dr. Djerf.



The first year group will also meet Oct. 3, 8 p.m., at the North Quincy branch library, 381 Hancock St.

The group will meet bi-weekly and will be led by Dr. Djerf, Mrs. George MacDonald of Quincy and Mrs. John Mulloy of Braintree will be co-leaders.

In releasing the fall schedule of meeting dates, William Rossi, of Hingham, President of the Metropolitan Boston Great Books Council, again commended the Quincy community for its continued interest in and support of the Great Books reading and discussion program, the largest adult liberal education program extant.

Rossi noted that with six adult groups meeting bi-weekly and several Junior groups planned for Quincy public and parochial schools, Quincy has the largest Great Books program in the New England area.

In explaining briefly the Great Books program, Dr. Djerf said:

DR. CHARLES DJERF

"Great Books offers all who are interested a course in intensive and meaningful reading. No prior educational experience is necessary – just human experience and maturity. This program is not pedagogiacal: it is a provocative, stimulating intellectual exposure to the basic ideas of the Western World with the added challenge of discussion with equals.

"Authors we'll be reading range from Plato to Machiavelli, from Sophocles to James Joyce, from St. Mathew to Marx."

There are no financial requirements for joining Great Books. Anyone wishing to participate in the program may do so by attending any scheduled meeting. Further information may be obtained from the Thomas Crane Library or from Mrs. Jane Mudge, 264 Furnace Brook Parkway, Quincy.

Two Banks To Issue New Charge Cards

The Hancock Bank & Trust Co. and the South Shore National Bank of Quincy will be issuing the new Master Charge bank charge cards this fall.

DON'T GET HOOKED BY A RUG!

Your house is your home—Be on the alert for "Shenanigans" in the field of wall-to-wall carpeting. BAIT ADVERTISING occurs when certain advertisers feature a ridiculously low price and then do everything possible to discourage you from buying the advertised products while trying to sell you much higher priced merchandise.

Just use common sense and figure it out for yourself; good rubber pad $2.00 yd., laying $1.75 yd. = $3.75 yd. subtracted from $6.95 installed with pad price of that so called "luxurious carpet that cleans like the kitchen sink and many other plus features" leaves a difference of $3.20 for that "fine carpet" – which is about the same price per yard as drapery material and much less than upholstery material for your davenport!

We have never been guilty of insulting the intelligence of our customers by selling them carpet JUST to cover their floors!

Braintree Drum-Bugle Corps. Wins Two Titles For Quincy

The Braintree Drum & Bugle Corps. [Warriors & Braves] of the George F. Bryan Post VFW of Quincy, won Class A and B-2 in the 35th Annual Championships held by the Rhode Island Drum & Bugle Corps Assn. in Cranston, R.I.

The Warriors won Class A with a score of 57.1. In second place was the Regal Crownsmen of Cranston, R.I. with 49.1.

The Braves won Class B-2 with a score of 53.8. In second place were the Reservoir Rangers of Johnston, R.I. with a score of 41.8.

This was the first time in Braintree's 26 years that both Corps won championships on the same day. And the first time in Rhode Islands History.

It was a good year for the Warriors & Braves. The Warriors won the American Legion State 40 & 8 Parade in New Bedford June 28. The Warriors Color Guard also won the Eastern Mass. Color Guard Championship last April and the Braves lost by ticks.

Louis Trubiano In Freshman Class At U. of Rochester

EXPERIENCED SERVICE--Mrs. Joan Foley and L. G. Henley of the Henley Linoleum and Rug Co., look over new rug samples. Mr. Henley has been located at 5 Brook St., Wollaston for more than 30 years, offering the latest styles in floor coverings and the experience to install them correctly and decoratively.

"People are doing more with their floors today," says L. G. Henley of the Henley Linoleum and Rug Co., 5 Brook St., Wollaston.

"The tile and rug patterns are much more attractive today than in the past," he continued, "consequently people are spending more money on floor coverings."

Mr. Henley is certainly in a position to reflect on both the past and present. He has been in the floor covering business for more than 30 years. To be exact the Henley Linoleum Co. has been installing tile and rugs for 31 years.

"We do more contract work than retail work," he noted. "In other words, I work with a contractor who builds a complete house, interior and exterior. I handle all the floor coverings under that contract."

The Henley Co. has contracted for some of the most prominent citizens in the state. Included among the homes which L. G. Henley has serviced is the Dover residence of Governor Francis Sargent. Henley also laid the tile and rugs in the exclusive Somerset Club of Boston.

"It's nice to do these fancy places," says Mr. Henley. "However, I get just as much satisfaction from helping a small homeowner with floor coverings that will be attractive and durable."

The L. G. Henley Linoleum Co. demonstrates an obvious concern for the consumer. It is an experienced company with a large, varied clientele and the ability to cater to the needs of each and every one of its customers.

Hough School Has New First Grade Program

A new program has been set up in the first grade of the Atherton Hough School to provide each child with extra opportunities to develop oral language communication, keener auditory skills and sharper visual perception.

Program teacher, Mrs. Naomi Saltzman and Mrs. John Parkes, principal, recently met with parents, to discuss the goals and direction of the program and to examine the newly developed materials that will be used. In an effort to establish closer school-home ties, future meetings will be scheduled and an "open-door" visiting policy has been established.

Henry Marani, assistant principal, notes that "there is a great deal of credit due to the Quincy Public Schools for a program which truly recognizes that each child is unique and that they have a wide range of abilities and aptitudes."

300 Attend Reception For Ward 2 Candidate Robert Page

Approximately 300 persons attended a campaign dinner-reception for Robert Page of 33 Edison Park at the Fore River Clubhouse, Quincy Point.

Among political figures attending the reception last Saturday were Mayor James R. Mc Intyre, James J. Ricciuti, executive secretary; Councillor John J. Quinn and Councillor-County Commissioner George B. McDonald.

The Drug Menace

The constant reference to the Drug Menace may be annoying to the reader but its overwhelming seriousness requires an increasing concern and interest by the entire citizenry.

It is a problem that public participation may greatly assist in minimizing or eradicating. Law enforcement cannot reach the insidious and uniquitous origins as well as the average parent. Nor can the law enforcement succeed without parental support, reporting of suspected involvement, and cooperation in the correction of one's own family problem.

The eleven o'clock question "Do you know where your children are?", is not only pertinent but refers to you and yours as well as the Jonese's next door. Good families, whatever that means, as well as poorly disciplined homes are involved. The curse has invaded the well-to-do as well as the economically deprived.

Just as in an alcoholic family, the wife may succumb to her spouse's drinking habit-sometimes out of sheer boredom to be companionable and eventually may become worse than he. So also is the urgency for early recognition and attempted thwarting of a drug-users' habit. The addicted one desperately urges his peers and associates to start the seemingly innocuous weed or speed pill. Misery loves company! Once involved it gets beastly hard to break once "hooked".

Marijuana is so common-place among Vietnamese veterans that its continued use by the returnees will present a big problem in its control. Some parents have even condoned the continuance of the practice, alleging that it is far less serious than alcohol. This I cannot buy.

A young lady attending a private, fashionable school alleges that every girl in her floor used either the weed or the speed pill and were constantly "high" - she was ostracized by her peers for refusing to yield. She feels that the Establishment is either unaware of this profligacy or closes its eyes to it. I advised her to leave the school - emotional security is worth more than the institutions pretention.

A young man is seen with jaundice - detected because he thought his urine was bloody. The origin - Hepatites - a damaged liver from using unclean needles passed from one pathetic kid to another. Future highly questionable as to continued health - an old man in a decade - broken-hearted parents - a little late! Was this lad one of the Wollaston Beach Habituees?

A bright young girl - or she used to be - disdainful of her parents, education, society, her looks; siblings - sarcastic. sardonic and dispossessed - a fancy price - a high I.Q. gone to Pot. Her self respect no longer a realization and a societies' loss and now a burden.

Three or four in the morning recently, tearing down the Southern Artery - crash into a pole - two dead a third maimed for life. Drugs - good riddance? or a social tragedy!

There is one bright factor in this disquieting blemish in our youths escutcheon, and that is the natural intelligence and ability of our children to eventually observe the horrible price of addiction - a disdain and avoidance of the menacers and those addicted. Since I don't believe in Hope but do believe in the eventual superiority of good and wisdom, I feel that youth will solve its own problem.

Your help is needed in detecting the restless, anxious adolescent who needs your renewed involvement - participation in his interests - discussion of this problem and the search for psychological or spiritual guidance. If you have to give up some of your habits to win the child over, don't you think this is more important than trying to save the child after the fact?

Giants Offering Senior Citizens Reduced Tickets

Quincy senior citizens in the 60 and over age bracket will be admitted for a reduced price to all Quincy Giants home football games according to a joint announcement by Park-Recreation Board Chairman James F. McCormick, Sr., and Joe Bellino, general manager of the Giants.

Recreation Director, William F. Ryan said the Giants prefer the senior citizens to purchase the $1 tickets at their office at Temple Street. They may also purchase them at the game by showing their senior citizens blue identification card. These cards may be obtained at the Council on Aging office, John F. Kennedy Health Center, 1120 Hancock St. Quincy, Mass.

He will ask that the matter be sent to the Ordinance Committee and the city's Legal Department for drafting of the ordinance.

He will ask the Ordinance Committee to decide whether it should set up the fee rate or to leave the schedule to the discretion of Public Works Commr. John M. Browne.

The fees would go into effect when the city's dumping operation is transferred to Cashman's Quarry. The present dump is expected to be filled by December or early next year.

At this week's committee meeting, Browne suggested that commercial users of the dump be charged fees ranging from $3 a load to $22. The $3 would be for trucks under two tons and the $22 for packers of 15 yards or more capacity.

Business firms dumping 10 or more loads a day would be charged a flat $10 per load rate.

Councillor McDonald recommends "a reasonable rate schedule" ranging from $2 to $6 for regular trucks and as high as $12 for tractor trailers.

McDonald said he will also ask that a weighing scale be placed at the dump to accurately determine the amount of each truck load.

100,000 DOCTORS HAVE QUIT SMOKING CIGARETTES

HERE'S WHAT: When many doctors first started smoking cigarettes, they didn't know the risks they were taking. Now they know—and are quitting by the thousands. Play it cool. Let the facts turn you off before you're hooked!

FACTS:

- Cigarette smoking is the major cause of lung cancer.
- The risk of death from lung cancer is more than 10 times greater for cigarette smokers than for nonsmokers.
- Every year, over 40,000 lung cancer deaths are caused by cigarette smoking. With every cigarette you smoke, you lose an average of six minutes of life.

Conroy: 'We're In Good Shape'

Presidents Host To Brockton In Opener

By TOM SULLIVAN

A year ago Quincy's football team won its last three games, thanks largely to an outstanding defense, to finish the year with a 5-3-1 record.

The climax to that comeback was a great 21-8 win over North Quincy on Thanksgiving to knock the Raiders out of the Greater Boston League title and Coach Henry Conroy hopes to start where the 1968 Presidents left off when they face Brockton in their season's opener Saturday morning at 10:30 at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

"We are in good shape for our opener and the boys have come along very well," Conroy said. "We had four good scrimmages with Dedham, Brookline, Boston Tech and Arlington and I was very pleased with the progress shown by the team both on offense and defense."

Quincy's starting lineup looks solid and Hank's only problem seems to be in finding a few backup men and some capable fill-in players.

Kevin Ryan [160] will start at quarterback with Steve Sullivan [175] also seeing service there. Ryan saw some varsity action behind Steve McDevitt, while Sullivan played on the jayvees.

At the halfbacks will be Paul Picarski [175] and sophomore Steve McCarthy, [155] a fine looking prospect. Picarski was a defensive regular last year but could have played on offense if needed.

In the starting offensive line will be Rich Menchi [185], veteran two-way standout, and Mike Paluzzi [180], with some varsity service, at end; Steve Shapiro [230], who sparkled both ways last fall, and Cliff Mattson [210], a varsity letterman, at tackle; Paul Hand [170], a varsity returnee, and Bobby Silva [175], up from the jayvees, at guard, and Bob McDonald [170], at center. He loomed as the regular center last year until sidelined with a broken ankle.

"This is a good solid group which has clicked well in scrimmages," Conroy said.

On defense Conroy will use Menchi and Billy Maver [155] at end, Shapiro and Mattson at tackle, Hand and Joe Maguire [195] as middlemen, Silva as line backer, Sullivan and Wayne Richards [175] at halfbacks and Picarski and John Provost as safeties.

Rick Pettiti, who was a defensive regular a year ago and who could have played on offense if needed, has been sidelined with an injury and is not expected to be ready for Brockton. Upon his return he will play regularly on defense and will also be used on offense.

Despite Brockton's 30-0 whomping at New Bedford last week, Conroy expects plenty of trouble from the Shoe City eleven.

"They have a new coach in Armand Colombo [who had great success at Abp. Williams] and it takes a new coach time to install his system," Hank said. "They should be much better this week and I know we will have our hands full. But we will be ready for them."

Brockton will be out to avenge last year's 28-6 thumping at Quincy's hands.

Quincy, North Soccer Teams Clash Today

Tuesday the Presidents will play at Plymouth and next Thursday will be at home to Hingham, defending Division One champion in the South Shore Association.

Following a 3-1 win at Norwell, the Presidents were blanked by Duxbury's powerful defending league champions, 5-0, at the Duxbury field.

Duxbury is on its way to another division title as it rolled over Plymouth-Carver, 9-0, in its opener.

Despite the loss to Duxbury, Martin feels his team will do well this year. "Duxbury has another powerful team and will be very hard to beat." he said.

Youth Grid League

Panthers, Apaches In Showdown

By PETE CHELLA

Last week's action in the Quincy Youth Football League set the stage for an early season showdown between the two undefeated teams Sunday.

The Quincy Point Panthers and the North Quincy Apaches who won their second games of the season against no losses, collide at 1:30 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

In the co-feature the South QuincyElks will battle theHoughs Neck Manets at 1 p.m. Both of these teams are looking for their first win.

The Panthers defeated the South Quincy Elks 30-22 last week. The Point team scored once in the first period, twice in the second period and again in the final. Peter Pino scored three touchdowns and Dean Gambino went over for the fourth. Jeff Robertson, Roger Johnston and Mark Walker made two point conversions.

The Elks scored their points in spectacular fashion. Jim Cahill scored on a 70 yard touchdown run, Bill Kelly ran 55 yards into pay dirt and Andy Sferuzza scored on a 30 yard pass.

Two point conversions were made by Jim Cahill and Andy Sferuzza. Also starring for the Elks were Paul Donoghue and Steve McHugh.

The Apaches remained undefeated by defeating the Houghs Neck Manets 22-8. Rich Desmond scored twice for the Manets and Jamie Doherty tallied once.

Two point conversions were made by Jim Evans and Paul Williams. Ken Marsters and Joe Kutchie were also standouts for the Apaches.

J. Forrester scored the lone Manet TD while the two point conversion was made by Jeff Little. Other standouts for the Manets were Frank Guido, Bob Lane and Mike Conine.

Frazier: 'Cautiously Optimistic'

Raiders Have Hands Full At Revere

A year ago North Quincy's football team opened the season with a 28-7 romp over Revere but new coach Ralph Frazier expects loads of trouble against the Patriots in the season's opener Saturday at 1:30 at Revere.

"I saw Revere defeat Swampscott, 8-7, in a jamboree at Lynn last week and I honestly felt they had one of the best looking teams there," Frazier said. "They have a couple of backs who can really run and I feel we'll have our hands full with them.

"In fact, our first two games are going to be really tough and I'll know a lot more about our club after facing Revere and Weymouth."

Weymouth returns to the North schedule after an absence of several years, replacing Lynn English.

The new Raider coach has an entirely new offensive club, having lost the whole starting offensive team plus the second offensive backfield. As a result, he starts in as head coach with an inexperienced team, especially on offense.

Each of these boys, incidentally, will be playing on offense this ear with Mulcahy, Bogosian and Bertoni certain starters and Hemphill a possible starter.

Frazier will start Dan Zink [6-3 and 185] and Mulcahy [175] at end, but with Kevin Racette [178] also a possible starter. Bogosian [205] and Bertoni [218] will open at tackle, Rich Constantino [202] and Mike Martin [185] or Hemphill [170] at guard and Bobby Bell [185] at center.

All these boys saw a little varsity action or junior varsity service. "I think Lippens is a little better passer than O'Malley but Dan looks like a better runner," Frazier pointed out. "Both will see plenty of service."

The new coach explained that as many as eight offensive starters will also play on defense. The defensive starters will be Mulcahy and Hemphill ends, Bertoni and 225-pound Joe Spavento tackles, Bell middle guard, Martin and Constantino line backers, Ken Murphy or Jimmy Sarruda right corner man, Zink left corner man and Kelly and Jim deVarennes safeties.

"I am cautiously optimistic following five good outside scrimmages," Ralph said. "We had good workouts against Catholic Memorial, Watertown, Haverhill, Milton and Deerfield Academy and I achieved one of my major goals, surviving these scrimmages without an injry."

Last Saturday North enjoyed its second annual all-day scrimmage and outing at Deerfield, and, according to Frazier, the Raiders pushed Deerfield all over the field but were unable to score. "We moved the ball well until we got into scoring position, then bogged down," he said. "But, all in all, I'm pleased with the progress shown both on offense and defense."

"We have come a long way but still have a long way to go," he concluded. "But I think we will give everone a gall game."

North Soccer Team Defeats Hingham, 1-0

Bourikas, a native of Greece, who was one of the league's top young players last fall as a sophomore, also had two goals in the Plymouth game and Vin Cameron the other. Wayne Davis had a second assist.

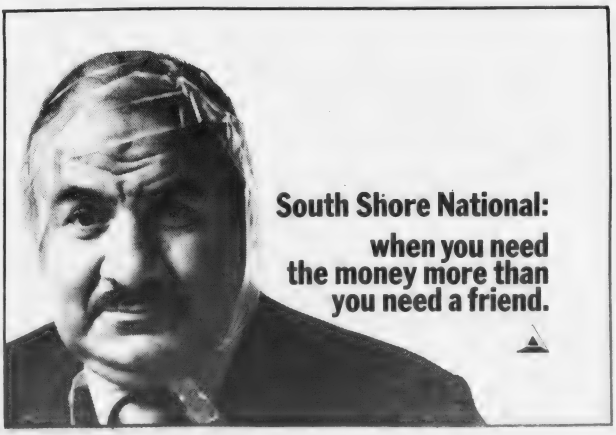
North Sophs Bow To B.C.

In Season Opener, 28–8



The North Quincy sophomore football team got off to a disappointing start on Monday when it lost to B. C. High, 28-8

"We made a lot of mistakes and the score should have been much closer," Coach Ted Sadowski said.

"I was disappointed and I only hope the boys benefit from their mistakes and improve in our next game."

Willman Starts New YMCA Career Chapter

After a near half-century of dedicated service, Henry J. Willman is still young enough–and enthused–to begin a new chapter in his career.

In the new post, he will share in the growing number of administrative duties as well as a specific assignment as director of the newly established Program Department.

"We are very pleased to have Mr. Willman receive this well earned promotion," said YMCA President V. James DiNardo. "He brings a broad background of program experience to this new position."

Willman is well known in the Quincy area for his work with the YMCA Church School Basketball League which he has directed for the past 14 years and for his work with the YMCA Nautical Squadron at Mason's Point, Squantum.

Prior to coming to Quincy he served with the YMCA in Brockton and Lynn. He has been a professional YMCA secretary for 47 years.

Giants Sign Garrett Ford

The Quincy Giants have signed former West Virginia All-American Garrett Ford.

The C-3, 230-pound fullback was a high draft choice of the Denver Broncos in 1968 and saw considerable action with the AFL team last season.

While with the Broncos, Ford carried the ball 41 times for 186 yards, and caught six passes for 40 yards. He scored his lone pro touchdown against the Patriots in a 35-14 Denver win last November on a 17-yard run.

At West Virginia, Ford was twice named to Kickoff Magazines pre-season All-America team and was rated along with such stars as Floyd Little, Larry Czonka, and Warren McVea among the top pro prospects in the country during his career at W.V.U.

He was released by the Broncos this past summer during the exhibition season.

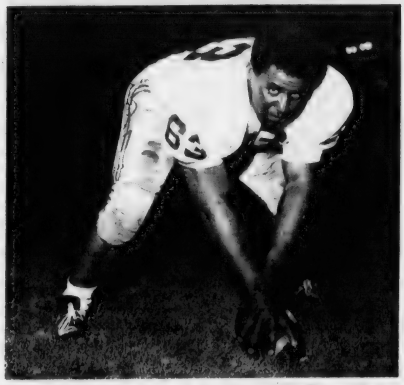
His joining the Giants gives Quincy added size and speed in the backfield, along with better blocking.

"We have high hopes for Garrett," said Coach Ross O'Hanley, "and if he's as good as we think he is, he'll give some defenses in the league a lot to worry about. He should fit into our attack perfectly, and we're naturally delighted to have Ford with us."

On Road To Pa.

Giants Concentrate On Correcting Mistakes

By CHARLIE LOWE



Correcting mistakes is the keynote of practice sessions this week, as the Quincy Giants prepare to travel to Pottstown, Pa., Saturday to play the Firebirds, Southern Division leaders in the Atlantic Coast Football League.

The Giants are now into the portion of their schedule that sees them meeting the powerhouses of the league.

They lost to the league champion Hartford Knights last Friday night, 31-3, meet Pottstown Saturday night, then go to Hartford for a return engagement with the Knights Oct. 4. They return to Veteran's Memorial Stadium Oct. 11 [Saturday night] at 8 p.m. for a re-match with the Firebirds.

Before another fine crowd, estimated at 7,200, the Knights proved to Quincy and South Shore fans why they rated the top minor league aggregation in the nations. They not only outscored the Giants but outclassed them. Hartford had an overall statistical output of 464 to the Giants 134.

DICK ARRINGTON, former All-American at Notre Dame, will see a lot of action at center and guard Saturday when the Quincy Giants travel to Pottstown, Pa. to take on the Firebirds.

Quarterback Benny Russell [Louisville] completed long touchdown passes, two to wide receiver John Wardlaw [North Carolina A & T] and one to Bob Stohrer [Rutgers]. Craig Walker added the fourth TD on a three-yard sprint around right end and Wes Bean kicked a 20-yard field goal. Bean converted on all four touchdowns.

The Giants for one period and a few moments of the second were as Ray Ilg [Colgate], middle linebacker said "sticking it to them," and leading 3-0 on a 15 yard field goal by soccer-style kicking specialist Gus Carias from Brazil.

The Giants had another drive going until an unfortunate delay-of-game penalty nullified a second-and-three situation on the Giants 19. Quarterback Don Allard was unable to secure the first down and Brant Conley's punt was downed on the Hartford 36. Then Benny Russell, [Louisville] the Knights quarterback tossed the first of his "bombs" to Wardlaw who coasted into the end zone unmolested to start the rout.

As Ilg said, "This took something out of us. We never could get going again."

Giants Coach Ross O'Hanley noted, "We gave them two touchdowns on mistakes. That quick touchdown in the third period [Wardlaw's second] put us right out of the game. We were only down 14-3 at the time, but errors killed us again.

"It's very disappointing to come into a new city like this, with the kind of support we've been getting and not do the job. We hope the people will bear with us as it's going to take time. We've had a late start getting organized and we're trying to catch up. We're still not satisfied with some of our personnel.

O'Hanley wasn't alibiing at all. The Knights boast one of the smoothest working organizations, be it minor or major league. The team is coached by Fred Wallner, a fine player in his day with the Los Angeles Rams of the NFL and he has five assistant coaches, all with major league backgrounds. Better than 200 fans accompanied the team from Hartford.

Given time, the Giants will be a very representative team for the city. ACFL football is exciting football and very well worth watching and supporting. Jim McCormack, a member of the Park and Recreation Board summed it up very neatly: "That's [Hartford] one of the best football teams I've ever seen. They'd give some of the big league teams a real battle."

Giants Plan Year-Round Operation Here

–Charlie Lowe

Coach Ross O'Hanley, reveals that the Giants will be a year-round operation in Quincy.

"We're looking to the future," he said. "It's going to take us time to build this team into a solid franchise. We're getting great support from the city and the South Shore.

"Previously this had been a July to December operation. No longer. We intend to start as soon as the season is over and make this thing a year-round business. We're going to scout players, and work with the major league teams on the draft.

"We now have only one owner [Bob Hotin] and things will be done that need to be done."

Sponsors include:

Quincy Sophomores In 36-8 Romp Over Brockton

Quincy sophomore football teams have lost only one game in three years under Coach Dave Burke and the current team started off on the right foot last Saturday with a 36-8 romp over the Brockton Sophs.

Standouts in the Quincy backfield were Pete Daley, who scored two touchdowns, Bob Bolsader and Bobby Malvesti.

Sparkling in the line were Roberto Volpini, Joe Davis, Bud Coull and Paul Sampson. Sampson, however, broke his ankle and probably will sit out the rest of the season.

Adams Shore League Opens 15th Bowling Season

The Adams Shore Bowling League opened its 15th season last night at the New Olindy Alleys on Quincy Ave.

Quincy Junior Baseball Banquets Oct. 9, 16

The annual banquets and awards night of the Quincy Junior Baseball Leagues are scheduled for next month, announces Commissioner Thomas M. Joyce.

Two Artists To Exhibit Works At Libraries

The Thomas Crane Public Library will feature two artists during the month of October.

The main branch of the library will exhibit the paintings of artist Lee Winslow Court. Mrs. June Angier an artist from Marshfield will show her work at the North Quincy Branch.

Mrs. Angier specializes in portraits and florals. She is a member of the Braintree, Duxbury, Scituate and South Shore Art Associations, frequently exhibiting in these organizations. The Mount Ida Junior College "Alumnae Achievement Award" was recently presented to Mrs. Angier for her achievements in the field of art.

Mr. Court, by virtue of his achievements in the field of art has received the French Legion of Honor, a citation from the Government of Mexico and the the Distinguished Service Star from the United States Treasury Dept.

The paintings of Mr. Court are part of the permanent collection of the Farnsworth Museum, Rockland, Maine, the Evansville [Indiana] College Museum, Proctor Academy, New Hampshire, Phillips Andover Academy, Andover, Mass. as well as in many private collections.

Joe Cawlina Rolls 643 In Mass. Classic League

Lynn's Joe Cawlina rolled a 643 at Boston Ten Pin Bowl to lead his Phillips Candy House foursome to a new high team series of 2467 as they shut out Rotary Liquor, 8-0 in Massachusetts Classic League competition.

Paul Fuqua of Medford was a strong leadoff man with a 243 game and 642 series. Cawlina bowled a 248 first game and 223 third game for his 643. Steady in the middle were Jim Palmacci, Malden 607 and Jim Gosselin, Quincy, 575. The win moved Phillips from 13th position to third place.

At present there are 17 men at the 200 and higher average mark. A large gathering of spectators was on hand to see the major league Ten Pin bowlers in action.

Lord & Miller building-contractor team, captained by Joe Baker of Peabody holds first place by two points over G. Salvucci Construction Co., led by George [Sal] Salvucci of Brighton.

Both Citgo and First National Bank, Natick have identical won-lost and total pinfall figures.

Sunbeam Bread, with Harry Eichelberger, Bedford, leading the way at 629 downed Citgo by 6 to 2 in a close, high-scoring match with Sunbeam winning the second game by just three pins and total by a four pin margin, 2386 - 2382. Benny De Santis of Roxbury led off with 603 for Sunbeam and losers had Joe Pepi, Marshfield and Gunn Salvucci, Brighton rolling 600's.

A second high-scoring match saw Holiday Magic Cosmetics take total by 10 pins over Boch Motors, 2335 - 2325. Both anchor men, George Santos of Quincy and Ken Galvin of Roxbury topped the 600 mark.

Circle Inn's Pony Room, led by Barry Warshafsky of Medford, who bowled a fine 648 series, won over Carlson Tire, 6 to 2, missing out taking a shutout when they dropped the third game, 792-810. Pony Room took the first game by 7 pins, 795-788.

Senator Cohen To Speak At Rotary Club Tuesday

Sen. Beryl W. Cohen of Brookline will be the featured speaker at the Quincy Rotary Club's luncheon meeting Sept. 30 at the Quincy Neighborhood Club.

Cohen, present chairman of the Social Welfare Committee and vice-chairman of the State Administration Committee will be introduced by Irving Boyes, program chairman.

Cohen was honored as one of the Three Outstanding Young Men of New England by the New England Jaycees in 1967.

$1.7 Million Courthouse To Be Ready In 1971

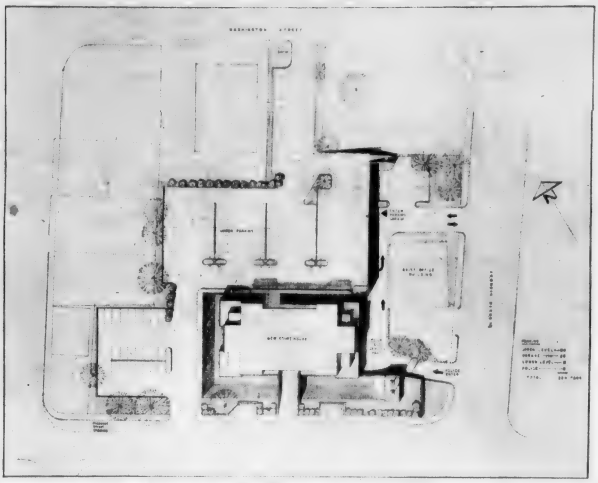
A central stairway and elevator will lead to the second floor level and five other courtrooms. Two of the courtrooms will be used for six-man jury trials.

Also on the second floor will be a lawyer's room and library, judge's chambers for each courtroom and seven public rooms for lawyer-client conferences.



All courtrooms will have controlled light, air and acoustics for maximum comfort and efficiency.

Preliminary plans allow for the second floor to extend out over the parking area for possible future expansion.

The building will also have public rest rooms, on each floor, special facilities and lounge for employees, large record vaults, custodial space and mechanical equipment areas.

Toland Critical Of Revaluation

Dennis P. Toland, candidate for the Ward 5 City Council seat, this week expressed his continued opposition to 100 per cent revaluation of property in the city.

Toland noted he has been "a consistent opponent of revaluation since it was voted for in the City Council in 1965".

He cited "many hardships" suffered by taxpayers in cities and towns with 100 per cent fair market valuation.

He said real estate taxes have continued to rise in those communities despite revaluation.

He stressed that revaluation hurts the small homeowner and those living on fixed or limited incomes.

DiStefano Proposes Lincoln School Use For Recreation, Library

Pasquale S. DiStefano, candidate for the Ward 3 City Council seat, proposes that the Lincoln School be considered as a future combination recreational facility and South Quincy branch library.

DiStefano, who lives at 38 Payne St. made the recommendation in a recent letter to the Quincy Recreational Study Commission.

DiStefano, whose campaign slogan is "New Ideas For South Quincy", declared:

" At the present time there are no definite plans regarding the future use of the Lincoln School after the construction of the new elementary school in South Quincy.

"I feel that this building and its school yard offer excellent facilities for a city recreational area."

"The school yard has an asphalt surface which could inexpensively be converted into several basketball and tennis courts, while the building itself offers many diverse recreational facilities", he said.

He said that by charging "minimal fees" to civic-oriented groups using some of the rooms as office or meeting places, "the area could approach self-sufficiency and would not be a further burden upon the already overburdened Quincy taxpayers".

In proposing the possibility of combining recreational facilities with a new branch library DiStefano noted:

"I have been a prime mover in the efforts to have a new library built in South Quincy and in the efforts to improve South Quincy recreational facilities".

"If the Commission adopts my proposals," the candidate continued, "we can kill two birds with one stone. First, a badly needed library will be available to the residents of my area, and second, we will have taken a tremendous step forward in meeting the recreational needs of all Quincy Citizens".

McIntyre Criticizes Brooke For Chiding Shipyard

Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre this week criticized Sen. Edward Brooke for chiding General Dynamic's Quincy Division over not fighting aggressively for the multi-million dollar Navy destroyer contract.

The Quincy Division was eliminated from competition for the contract for an undetermined number of new ships to replace the World War II vintage destroyers.

McIntyre said he thought it was "tremendously naive for Senator Brooke to expect a contractor, who is doing business with the Navy Department presently and is looking toward future contracts, to wage an agressive battle alone against this Naval colossus in seeking portions of the destroyer contracts."

McIntyre said he hoped Brooke and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy would assist Congressman James A. Burke in his fight to continue to find out intelligent and logical reasons why the Navy Department has chosen this time to cut out the only Massachusetts shipbuilding company able to bid on this work.

"It just doesn't make sense for the people of Massachusetts and their elected representatives to let down at this time and try to level the blame on a contractor who has to look to the Navy Department for other future contracts, McIntyre declared.

Certainly General Dynamics does not want to alienate whatever amicability it might have and hope for future design and construction work on other vessels."

Quincy Line MBTA Cars Make Inaugural Run--But Not Here

The inaugural trip of the new brushed-aluminum rapid transit cars which will service the Quincy MBTA line will make their inaugural run today.--but not to Quincy.

Federal, state and municipal officials and civic leaders will board a four-car train at the Elliot Yard, Cambridge, for a 2 p.m. ride on the Cambridge-Dorchester line to Ashmont and back.

The cars, first of their kind in the U.S., will service Quincy when the 6.1-mile extension is completed.

To date, nearly one-half of the $13 million, 76-car order has been received from Pullman-Standard. The cars are now undergoing several week's of testing.

Invited guests for today's inaugural ride include Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe Gov. Francis W. Sargent, Sen. President Maurice A. Donahue, House Speaker David M. Bartley and Quincy Mayor-Sen. James R McIntyre, chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Transportation.

The cars, the first brushed-aluminum for the U. S. transit industry, are also the first air-conditioned for the MBTA.

West Quincy Crusaders To Hold Reunion Oct 3

Quincy To Remember Residents In Vietnam At Christmas Holiday

Quincy service men and women in Vietnam will again be remembered by their hometown this Christmas.

"Operation Christmas in Vietnam" is now underway to send fruit cakes to them as has been done the past two years.

Mayor James R. McIntyre is asking city employees to each donate $1 to cover the purchase and mailing costs of the gift cakes. Non-employees are also welcome to participate.

"Anyone who has spent Christmas overseas knows what it means to be remembered by the folks back home," McIntyre noted.

"This year we hope to remember every young man or woman from Quincy now in Vietnam."

Families of Quincy men and women serving in Vietnam are asked to furnish the city with their names and mailing addresses. Deadline is Nov. 15.

United Fund Opens With Torch-Lighting Ceremonies Sunday

Residents of Quincy are actively participating in the Massachusetts Bay United Fund Campaign, which formally opens on Sunday with the traditional torch-lighting ceremony on Boston Common.

Prior to the ceremony, campaign chairmen and workers will be taken on a planeride over the 64 communities participating in the drive as guest of Eastern Air lines. After the flight, Charles Francis Adams, campaign chairman, will light the gas torch on the Common. The torch will burn throughou. t' · campaign.

A goal of $14,500,000 has been set for the entire fund-raising which benefits 225 health, family child-care and youth-serving agencies.

More than 60,000 volunteers have been recruited and trained for the giant drive. The first report meeting will be held Thursday, Oct. 16. The final meeting will be Nov. 18.

During the past 12 months the 225 United Fund agencies provided over 300 vital services to more than one million residents and workers in the cities and town comprising the Massachusetts Bay Area.

Last fall's United Fund raised an all-time high $14,002,034.

General chairman Adams declared: "It is imperative that we over-subscribe the minimum goal in order to keep pace with the expanding needs and assure continued high-level services by United Fund member agencies."

Zoning Committee To Meet Oct. 2

The Quincy Zoning Committee will meet at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 2, at 1000 Southern Artery.

"The Zoning Study Committee has not met for several months," noted committee chairman Rev. Bedros Baharian.

"During this interval there was a change in department personnel which delayed the rezoning study".

Rev. Baharian said, however, that although the Zoning Committee has not met, the Planning Department has done a great deal of work on the zoning study during this period and department members are anxious to discuss procedures with the Zoning Study Committee.

Ironic Visit . . .

TWO WAR COINCIDENCE–Marine Lance Cpl. William Lucier, West St., West Quincy, wounded in Vietnam action, makes ironic visit to Mayor James R. McIntyre at City Hall with Quincy Marine Recruiter Sgt. James R. Laskey. Both McIntyre and Lucier served in the Second Battalion, First Marine Division Lucier coincidentally visited the Mayor on the exact date the latter was wounded in the Korean War in 1952.

31,000 May Stay Home

City Clerk John M. Gillis said lack of a mayoralty race–the usual main attraction–is the major reason for the expected lukewarm voter response.

Failure of some of the candidates to generate steam over a number of issues–including revaluation–apparently is also a contributing factor to the apparent mild voter interest.

If Gillis' percentage prediction is correct, it will mean approximately only 13,000 of the city's 44,258 registered voters will go to the polls.

And, that some 31,000 voters will stay home.

Voting polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. with complete final results not expected to be tabulated until early Wednesday morning.

The preliminary runoff spotlight will be on City Council and School Committee contests with 39 candidates seeking 22 nominations for the final showdown Nov. 4.

The names of Mayor James R. McIntyre, seeking his third term, and challenger Robert C. Preble of 27 Crosby St., Houghs Neck, will not appear on the preliminary ballot.

Preble, a 35-year-old plumber and political newcomer, is McIntyre's lone challenger. Thus, both are already nominated for the Nov. 4 final election.

Also missing from next Tuesday's preliminary ballot will be the name of Ward 1 Councillor Edward S. Graham, only one to file for that seat.

Political observers next Tuesday will be watching with interest the comeback bids of two long-time familiar figures–former Council President Joseph J. La Raia and former School Committeeman Charles T. Sweeny.

Also of interest is the attempt

McIntyre On Project 'Mission'

Mayor James R. McIntyre was scheduled to fly to Washington today on a mission of multi-million dollar importance, to Quincy.

While in Washington, he said, he will push for:

–Approval of the proposed piping of Sagamore Creek in the Montclair marsh area to pave the way for construction of the planned $100 million State Street Bank commercial-residential complex.

–Approval of an application for $77,000 in federal funds to construct a relief sewer in the Quincy Point area.

McIntyre said he will confer with Congressman James A. Burke [D-Milton], and the staffs of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and Sen. Edward W. Brooke. He expects to return to Quincy Saturday.

"All of these projects are of vital importance to Quincy's future," McIntyre declared.

He said approval from the Army Corps of Engineers to pipe Sagamore Creek is "imperative."

"Unless we get approval the $100 million State Street Bank project is in jeopardy," McIntyre said.

A share of the estimated $1 billion contract to build a new fleet of destroyers for the Navy would also be a tremendous boon to Quincy's economy and prosperity, he said.

The new relief sewer for the Quincy Point area is vitally needed, he said, because of various projects now underway or planned there.

They include, the $6 million Hazeltine electronics complex, a new Community College, a 150-unit senior citizens housing facility on Martensen St., another one on the site of the former Washington School and the new facility under construction at 1000 Southern Artery.

"We can't afford to sit back and wait," said the Mayor. "We have got to fight for these projects."

For On-Spot Probes

Police To Get Radar Equipped Accident Van

Quincy police will soon have a radar-equipped mobile unit for traffic enforcement and on-the-spot accident investigations.

Chief Francis X. Finn announced yesterday that the city has been approved for a $9,000 federal grant to purchase the specially equipped panel van vehicle.

Notice of the approval came from James J. Stratford, Jr., coordinator of the Highway Safety Program.

Capt. Roy T. Cavicchi, head of the Quincy police traffic bureau, said the vehicle would be equipped to carry out a complete on-the-spot investigation of an accident.

He said it would also be equipped for rescue-emergency needs at the scene of an accident and for selective traffic enforcement.

The van will double the department's radar coverage ability. One cruiser already has a radar unit.

The van's equipment, in addition to radar, will include: fire extinguishers, an inhalator, reflectorized highway cones, emergency power lights, public address system, and two-way radio.

It is hoped the new vehicle will be ready for use sometime this year.

Can You Help Bonnie?

The six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sullivan of 287 Rockland St., Hingham, was born with brain damage.

Volunteer "patterners" are urgently needed to help Bonnie along the long road to recovery.

Patterning is a process in which the volunteers move the child's head, arms and legs in a specific sequence depending on the type of brain injury involved.

The process requires 15 people a day seven days a week. There are three patterning shifts every day with five people to a shift. The first shift is from 10:15 to 10:55, the second from 1:35 to 2:15 and the third from 3:35 to 4:15.

Anyone wishing to volunteer may call Mrs. Natale Zuccari at 749-4879 or Mrs. Sullivan at 749-0407.

GAELIC GREETINGS are extended to Maire McKeown [right] exchange student from Lisburn, Northern Ireland at reception, by Quincy High School American Field Service Club. With her are Lee Quinlan, club vice-president, and Darleen D'Olimpio, president, who spent last summer in Japan as an AFS Student. Miss McKeown is living with the family of Mrs. Weikko Haapanen while in Quincy.

'A Commendable Job'

Editor, Quincy Sun:

I didn't realize until I received my copy of the Sun this morning that the paper had reached it's first anniversary.

I have been a subscriber for about four months now, and prior to that had purchased a copy each week at a local newsstand ever since coming to Quincy in November, 1968. I have read other papers as well, and it is obvious that there was a rather large gap to be filled on the local level. Particularly in a city as progressive as Quincy.

There is no doubt in my mind, or the Jaycees' mind that you have done a commendable job filling that gap. I can also say that the Quincy Jaycees are extremely appreciative of the coverage we have been given over the past year, and we look forward to a long relationship with your fine paper.

William J. Griffin
First Vice President
Quincy Jaycees.

Happy Birthday

Editor, Quincy Sun:

I wish you a Happy Birthday and a prosperous future. "The Sun" has been needed in Quincy for a long time, and it is hoped you may see your way clear to include your observations in our State Government.

Mr. Harry Whin
148 Spring St.,

Congratulations

Editor, Quincy Sun

My congratulations for your successes in the past year and for the future.

I know your presence as another media for public opinion is greatly appreciated by many people.

Community-School Roles Topics At Broad Meadows

A series of small group discussions will be held Oct. 7 at 7:30 p.m. at Broad Meadows Junior High School.

Topics will deal with the various roles of the community and the school in today's changing world.

The discussions, sponsored by the parents and teachers, are open to residents whether or not they have children in the Quincy public school system.

A coffee hour will follow the discussions at 9:30 p.m.

Burke To Speak At Jaycees Meeting Oct. 8

GEORGE G. BURKE

Norfolk County Dist. Atty. George G. Burke will discuss the menacing drugs problem at a meeting of the Quincy Jaycees Oct. 8.

The meeting will be at 8 p.m. at the Sheraton Motor Inn, North Quincy.

James B. Karter, president of the Jaycees, extends an invitation to young men between 21 and 35 to attend the meeting.

News Boys Wanted To Deliver Quincy Sun Call 471-3100

Sunbeams

The first ballot in the Quincy City preliminary election won't be cast until shortly after 8 a.m. next Tuesday.

But already there is another campaign underway. This one is for the City Council presidency to be decided next January.

Several incumbents are already trying to line up votes among colleagues for the honor of banging the gavel during council meetings for the next two years.

The council presidency is the second most powerful political post in the city and considered the springboard to the most powerful - the mayor's office. In addition to prestige, the council president appoints all the City Council committees.

Who will succeed J. Vincent Smyth as council president?

Contenders, no doubt, include incumbents John J. Quinn, Arthur Tobin, George B. McDonald, Walter J. Hannon and Clifford H. Marshall. Providing, of course, they are re-nominated next week and re-elected Nov. 4.

The behind-the-scene campaigning brings to mind the year 1962 when Quinn could have become president but let it go by.

In a dramatic display of loyalty, he handed the gavel to Charles L. Shea. Quinn had pledged his support to Shea early. Then on Inauguration Day found himself as Shea's biggest threat.

Both he and Shea received four votes for the presidency. All he had to do was vote for himself and he would have had it. But Quinn kept his word and gave his own--and deciding vote--to Shea.

But he no doubt would take the job in 1970--if he can have it. Now 46, and dean of the council, he has strong mayoralty aspirations as have some of the other councillors.

But maybe it might be wise for councillors not to commit their vote too early. They could find themselves in the same position Quinn did in 1962.

* * *

YOU MIGHT SAY Planning Board member George C. Smith, Jr. has done a little planning in his campaign for a School Committee seat. Realizing he couldn't get to every door in the city, he in effect has many of the doors coming to him Has been campaigning in the municipal parking areas and in front of supermarkets where the crowds are.

* * *

SCHOOL COMMITTEE incumbent Paul C. Kelly couldn't attend the Ward 2 Civic Association Candidate's Night last week because the board was in session. But he sent an impressive pinch-hitter: his wife, Grace. She was making her maiden political speech and did very well. And with a name like Grace Kelly, she would be quite a candidate herself.

* * *

NAME ALIKES: Seems to be a little confusion over John L. Gillis, candidate for the Ward 5 City Council seat. Some voters think he's John M. Gillis, the City Clerk. John L. or John M., it's a good political name in Democratic controlled Quincy.

* * *

FAMILY AFFAIR: Pasquale DiStefano and Fred Prezioso, contenders for John F. Koegler's Ward 3 City Council seat are first cousins. But not related, politically.

* * *

* * *

AND, that's enough of politics for today. So here's a change of pace: Dr. Paul Gossard, former Quincy superintendent of schools, was presented a 25-year pin by fellow Quincy Rotarians.

* * *

SMILE DEPT: Definition of a moonlighter via Patrolman Tom Scanlon: "A fellow who holds day and night jobs so he can drive from one to the other in a better car."

of Mrs. Alice I. Kowilcik, Squantum housewife and mother of six, to become the second woman in Quincy's history to win a City Council seat.

Only woman so honored was Mrs. Edna B. Austin who served 15 years and retired undefeated in 1960.

And with female voters outnumbering male voters 24,245 to 20,013, Mrs. Kowilcik has to be a candidate to reckon with. She is the only woman in the entire election.

LaRaia and Mrs. Kowilcik are among five contenders challenging three incumbents–George B. McDonald, John J. Quinn and Arthur Tobin for council at-large seats.

The other three challengers are Herbert F. Cole, Atty. Maurice R. Horrigan and James A. Sheets.

A field of 10 is seeking three School Committee seats–one of them being vacated by Dr. Charles Djerf after 16 years' service on that board.

The School Committee challengers–in addition to the comeback attempting Sweeny are:

Richard I. Gould, Leo J. Hannon, Jr., James F. Harrington, William J. Hurley, Paul A. Ladas, Joseph F. McConville, Jr., and George C. Smith, Jr., present member of the Planning Board.

With the exception of "no contest" Ward 1, the ward council fights are shaping up as lively one with the incumbents facing spirited opposition.

Ward 2 Councillor Clifford H. Marshall is being challenged by Robert W. Page and Warren F. Spencer.

Ward 3 Councillor John F. Koegler is opposed by Louis J. Caruso, Richard W. Corner, Pasquale S. DiStefano and Fred J. Prezioso.

Six contenders–two of them lawyers–are challenging Ward 5 incumbent Walter J. Hannon. The six are: John J. Brady, Atty. William D. Delahunt, John L. Gillis, William S. Grindlay, Jr., Atty. George J. Litif and Dennis P. Toland.

44,258 Eligible To Vote In Preliminary Election

Exactly 44,258 Quincy residents are eligible to vote in the Oct. 7 preliminary election.

The election is non-partisan, meaning that candidates will not be designated by party affiliation.

But the total enrollment figure is broken down by party and shows that Democrats are widening their numerical control of a city that for many years was a Republican stronghold.

Registered Democrats total, 21,144 compared to 10,336 Republicans and 12,779 Independents.

Since July 1, Democrat enrollment increased by 253, and Independent by 371 while Republican decreased by 34.

Here Is Where You Will Vote Tuesday

Voters will cast their ballots here in both the Oct. 7 preliminary election and the Nov. 4 fianl election.

Three New Polling Places For Oct. 7 Preliminary

Voters in three precincts will cast their ballots in new polling locations Oct. 7, reminds City Clerk John M. Gillis.

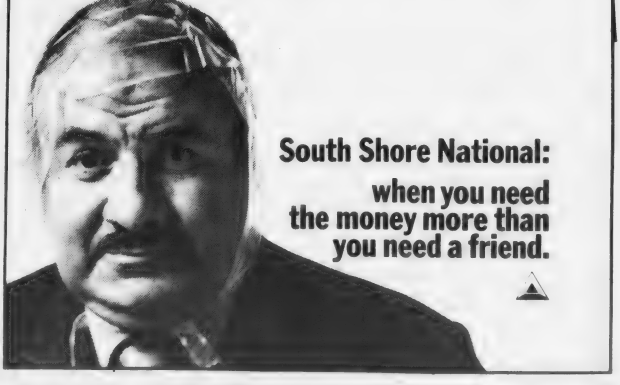
In Ward 4, residents of Precinct 2 will vote at the Willard School instead of at Finn Hall.

In Ward 5, residents of Precinct 7 will vote at Wollaston Methodist Church instead of at Wollaston Legion Post Home.

Voting hours here and at the other 36 precinct polling places will be from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.



Women Have Firm Grip On Quincy Ballot Box

The hand that rocks the cradle in Quincy is also maintaining its firm grip on the ballot box.

Female registered voters outnumber male, 24,245 to 20,013–or by 4,232.

This gives the distaff side a numerical increase of 10 since July 1 when there were 23,911 female registered voters to 19,689 male giving them a 4,222 lead back then.

Here Comes The Bride

By Mabelle

Last week we discussed the purchase of your bridal gown. Now it's time to think of your attendants.

This is your wedding and it's a mark of friendship and honor to invite a girl to be in your wedding party. The dress chosen should harmonize with your gown and be the color scheme you like best.

The wise bride selects the gown she wants, keeping in mind her friend's pocketbook and how wearable it will be in the future. Each attendant has been a bride or probably will be in the near future and then it is her turn to do the same.

It is a mistake and will create a difficult situation if you invite your bridal party to take part in the selection of their gowns. Some of the difficulties brides have run into because she thought it "only fair" to have all her girls present are:

1. The girls become inarticulate and offer no opinion lest they hurt the bride's feelings.

2. There will be an endless discussion with such varying points of view that regardless of what gown you select you can be sure someone will be disgruntled.

3. You'll visit every shop for miles around and will be footsore and weary and finally in desperation end up with gowns that spell disaster to your bridal gown.

You say it couldn't happen to you? I'm sure many unhappy brides felt the same way when they invited their friends to participate in their weddings.

To avoid these calamities select all gowns from the same shop. A shop where the main interest is making a memorable day for you whether it be modest or lavish.

[Brides-tO-be are invited to send wedding planning questions to Mabelle in care of the Quincy Sun, 7 Foster St., Quincy, Mass. 02169]

Come . Let Us Reason Together

By Dr. William F. Knox
Personal Counselor

'He Overwhelms Me'

A lovely 30-year-old woman was speaking...."He does everything so well....Nothing I do compares to the way he does it ....He can sew on buttons....cook ....diaper babies....make addresses....teaches a boys' Sunday school class....earns a fine salary.... flies his own airplane....everyone likes him." I had to admit that this fellow was quite a guy. Her question to the counselor was...."How do I live with a man so efficient and effective?"

She went on...."He loves adventure and people....He's so unafraid....and so uninhibited....I'm still boxed in with Victorian standards and fears. He's wanted me to fly cross country with him....but I'm afraid. He's always a step ahead of me in every way. I'm so afraid I'll lose him. What shall I do?"

What would be your answer?

She had come from a home where her father was a weak man. This is always a hardship to a girl or boy. His father was a strong responsible man. This is a plus for a boy or girl. Her mother was a domineering woman of limited education. His mother was a warm companion to her husband whom she loved and respected greatly. He had had broad experience as a youth ....he had worked as he grew up...traveled with his parents ....learned to make decisions on his own early in life. She had been sheltered....pampered and controlled by her mother. There was quite a gap in their backgrounds.

But she had a lot going for her She was attractive....college educated....fun loving....had a warm spirit. Her greatest plus was that she wanted to grow....to lose the chains of childhood....to join this man fully as his wife. How could she do it?

First I told her...."Stop trying to compete with your husband. Be a woman to him." What this kind of strong man wants is not a competitor but a companion....a warm....affectionate woman. Only you can supply that unmet need in your man." Brag on him....not necessarily on his feats. There is a difference. You don't have to tell him how well he does things ....he already knows that. Feed his ego....let him feel your approval of him as a person....not for what he does....but what he he is to you. "You'll see how warmly he responds to you".... I told her.

Second...."He is a learner....so learn with him. If you don't he'll grow away from you. Ask questions....this feeds his ego. He likes to teach....to explain.... to feel you need him." This calls for feminine humility....and it is very becoming in a woman.

Differences in background do not need to be walls of separation. They can be the very means of drawing two people closer together....if they want to learn. Ignorance is one of the greatest enemies to marriage happiness.

This couple turned their differences into assets. They used their differences as "conversation pieces." They talked and studied themselves....read books and discussed them together.... finding ways to please each other and have new understanding. Their backgrounds did not wall them off from each other. No longer was she saying, "He overwhelms me."

I was very proud of this couple for my "little coaching" started them on the road to a higher happiness than most people ever attain. They really did it on their own. Maybe you can too!

FOR YOUR COMMENTS: Call Dr. Knox at 326-5990, or 545-5947, or 945-9800, or write him at 628 High Street, Dedham, Mass. 02026.

St. Joseph's Opens New School Library

For St. Joseph's Church, a dream became a reality recently when the Rt. Rev. John J. Allston, Pastor, invoked a blessing upon all donors, benefactors and youthful recipients of a brand new school library.

The handsomely furnished and well equipped facility was a goal that the members of St. Joseph's parish had undertaken three years ago. They felt a new and expanded library would better serve the education of their children.

Roman Gabriel's Ready For Grand Opening Sunday

Quincy's newest eating place Roman Gabriel's Restaurant and Lounge will open Sunday.

The lavishly decorated restaurant featuring fine Italian foods at moderate prices is located at the site of the former Maple Cafe and Gary's Restaurant in the Gary Building, Quincy Sq. Entrance to the dining room will be from Hancock St.

The restaurant is owned and will be operated by the Aluisy brothers, Gary, 28, Steven, 26, and Jonathan, 22. For many years, their father operated Gary's in Quincy and Gary's Coral Gables in North Weymouth.

GARY ALUISY

More than 5,000 persons have been invited by the Aluisy brothers for a cocktail and hors d'oeurves during inaugural week.

The dining room will seat 60 in double booths and 25 at tables with food served from 11 a.m. until midnight. The cocktail lounge, with a separate entrance on Maple St., will feature entertainment nightly. There is also a separate men's bar.

PROMOTED--Roland O. Farrar, Sr., a member of Rural Lodge AF & AM, Quincy, has been named sales manager of Latin America electrical products at I-T-E Imperial International.

Voters of Wollaston

I wish to take this opportunity to thank you all for being so courteous to me during my door to door campaign in Wollaston. Your attitude makes me proud to be a life long resident of Wollaston. During the past few months I have endeavored to visit every home in the area in order to talk to you personally. If you were not in when I called please note my qualifications which appear on Page 18 and if you have any questions please feel free to call upon me.

We in Ward Five must choose between a continuation of the same leadership that has represented us in the City Council or we must choose a new man with new ideas to lead us into the 1970's. I feel that I have the qualifications to be your councillor and I earnestly solicit your vote.

I firmly believe that when a voter goes to the polls he or she has already made up their minds as to whom they would like to vote for. My workers at the polls will not harass you with cards as you make your way to vote. They will be at the polls only to answer any questions you may have regarding my canadidacy Feel free to call upon them if they can assist you in any way.

Very truly yours,

Grindlay Receives J.F. Kennedy Memorial Award

A Quincy man has received one of two John F. Kennedy Memorial Awards for outstanding service to the Democratic Party.

William S. Grindlay, Jr., of 92 Brook St., Wollaston and Atty. David Skerry of Medford were honored by the Young Democratic Clubs of America at a dinner in Nashua, N.H.

Grindlay, president of the Young Democratic Club of Quincy, has served the Young Democratic Clubs of Massachusetts since 1963 in the offices of second vice-president, first vice-president and president.

Hank: 'Can't Afford Mistakes'

Quincy Seeks No. 2 Against Revere

By TOM SULLIVAN

It is always nice to win the first game of the year but Quincy Football Coach Hank Conroy was far from satisfied after last week's 15-0 win over Brockton and hopes the Presidents' many opening day mistakes won't be repeated Saturday when they play a strong Revere team at Veterans' Memorial Stadium. Kick-off time is 1:30 p.m.

Revere opened with a 14-0 victory over North Quincy and Conroy and his aides sat in on that contest.

"This is a real good Revere team and if we make half as many mistakes against them as we did against Brockton, we'll be in for some real trouble." Conroy said.

Brockton, under new coach, Armond Colombo, who had great success at Abp. Williams, threw a surprise defense against Quincy and Conroy admitted it took his players a half to get adjusted to it.

"We scouted them at New Bedford and they used an altogether different defense, the Syracuse Style, against us, and we weren't prepared for it, the Quincy Coach said. "The defense put a crimp in our passing game in particular during the first half but we made some changes and penetrated it a lot better in the second half."

Actually, Kevin Ryan, starting his first varsity game at quarterback, completed seven of 10 passes for 102 yards, including one for no gain, but he was thrown six times for losses, including three totalling 46 yards. Two other long pass completions were nullified by penalties.

"We had altogether too many penalties and they hurt us tremendously," Hand continued. "A couple of clipping penalties in particular hurt us and they were unnecessary." Penalties hurt both clubs as the officials called 23, 20 of which were accepted.

"We ran the ball pretty well and Paul Picarski, Tom Daley and sophomore Steve McCarthy ran well, but our passing game, despite the figures, wasn't good and it must improve."

Conroy went on, "Steve Sullivan, our number two man, was hurt and couldn't play, so Ryan had to go all the way."

Conroy was pleased with the showing of young McCarthy, who reeled off the game's longest run, a 34-yarder, late in the game. "He is only 14 and was understandably nervous and had a couple of fumbles, but he looked good and will come along.

Defensively Conroy was delighted with the work of the interior linemen, Steve Shapiro, Cliff Mattson, Joe Maguire and Paul Hand.

They did an excellent job both ways and I can't say enough for Rich Menchi, who is a junior and in my opinion is one of the best two-way ends in our league. He is 6-1 and weighs 180, has great hands and does a tremendous job both ways. I haven't seen a better one.

Others praised by their coach were John Provost, who intercepted two passes, little Bobby, Sacchetti, who spelled Daley on defense and did a good job against Brockton's big pass receivers, and guard Bobby Sylva.

Brockton drove to Quincy's seven in the first period after a fumble recovery but Quincy's Billy Maver, another fine performer, got the ball back when he fell on a fumbled lateral.

Picarski broke loose for 25 yards down the left sidelines to bring the ball to Brockton's 32 late in the second period but the Shoemen held.

Early in the third period, Quincy started a drive from its 49 following a punt but the Presidents really had to battle to get it. It took them 17 plays to make the distance with five penalties being called, three against Quincy.

A screen pass from Ryan to Daley went for 25 yards to the Brockton 24 after a long pass from Ryan to Menchi had been nullified by a penalty. McCarthy went for 11 and Picarski for eight to the four and McCarthy made a first down on the one. Quincy was penalized for illegal procedure and on the next play McCarthy went in for an apparent score but fumbled, Brockton recovering. However, the Shoemen were offside and on the next play Daley went over. Ryan kicked the point.

McCarthy raced through the right side for 34 yards but when Quincy was forced to punt, it looked like the end of the scoring. However, Maver grabbed a deflected Brockton pass and ran it back to the four and, after McCarthy went to the two, co-captain, Rick Pettiti, who had been sidelined with an injury for some time, went in and scored with seven seconds left. Dennis Walters rushed for the two extra points.

"Pettiti had been out for sometime," Conroy said. "I thought it would be nice to have him score. I think he will be back at full strength for Revere. I also hope Sullivan will be able to play and give Ryan some rest."

Quincy had nine first downs to eight for Brockton, had a net gain of 88 yards on the ground to 50 and picked 102 yards to 44 on passes. Quincy was Assessed 75 yards in penalties and Brockton 55.

SETTING UP Quincy's second touchdown against Brockton is Bill Maver [81] on a 29-yard pass interception return to the five-yard line. Rich Petti drove over from one yard out and Dennis Waters rushed for two points. Action came with seconds left in the game to give Quincy a 15-0 season opener win.

Girls' Sports Expansion Planned At Quincy, North

A year ago, Quincy had its first girls' basketball team which had a 3-2 record under Coach Mary Lou Thimas.

"Mary Lou did a fine job at Quincy last year and I just hope things will progress at both high schools," said Carl.

In addition to Quincy's first interscholastic team in basketball, girls' softball at Quincy and girls' tennis at North were initiated last season.

"Now we are talking about a pilot program for girls' gymnastics at both schools this year." Leone went on. "And we are hoping for girls' softball and girls' basketball at North.

"The programs were started by Munroe MacLean (late athletic director) and Ken Rickson, coordinator of health education and physical education. Girls' sports prior to last year were practically non-existent, although there were some intramural athletics.

"We have these programs so we are going to try and expand them and add others. I'm a firm believer in girls' athletics and we plan to expand as finances allow. Virtually every other school on the South Shore has girls' basketball, field hockey and softball."

Vermillion, Salvucci New Junior College Coaches

Earl Vermillion has succeeded Bob Basiliere as basketball coach at Quincy Junior College and Don Salvucci has been appointed coach of the school's first hockey team which will make its bow this winter.

Basiliere has given up the basketball job to concentrate on being the coordinator of athletics at QJC. He also will continue as high school baseball coach.

Vermillion, a graduate of Ohio State University, is former junior varsity basketball coach at North Quincy High and was coach of ninth grade football and a physical education instructor at North.

Salvucci, a graduate of Quincy High School and Northeastern University, has been hockey coach at Brockton High for the past five years. He was an outstanding hockey player at Quincy and Northeastern.

Both the QJC basketball and hockey teams will play in the Mass. Junior College League with the hockey games being played at Boston Arena.

Frazier 'Proud And Hopeful'

Raiders Renew Weymouth Rivalry

North Quincy renews its football rivalry with Weymouth Saturday after a lapse of several years and despite an opening day defeat last week at Revere, the Raiders' new coach, Ralph Frazier, is hopeful of giving the Maroons a busy afternoon. Kick-off time at Weymouth's Legion Field is 1:30 p.m.

"We are going to have to do a a lot better, especially on offense, than we did at Revere if we hope to give them a ball game," Frazier said.

"This is another real good Weymouth team and their quarterback [Tom] McMahon is one of the best, as he proved against Brookline. We did well on defense at Revere and if we play as well on offense this week at Weymouth, we could slow down their attack."

Revere posted its first win in four years over North, 14-0, last week at the Patriots' home field to spoil Frazier's debut as head coach.

"Despite this loss I am extremely proud of the kids," Ralph said. "We couldn't get our offense moving against their strong defense but our defensive line did a good job. One of their touchdowns came on a screen pass and the other was set up by one."

Revere was unable to move much on the ground, gaining only 50 yards, but did gain 104 yards through the air on six completed passes. The Patriots had nine first downs to four for the Raiders.

North's running game was bottled up by a strong Revere defense and the Raiders wound up the day with a net gain of 36 yards on the ground. And, although they completed five passes, they were good for only 43 yards.

"This is a young and inexperienced team and once we smooth things out and get our offense clicking, we'll cause some trouble," Frazier continued. "I feel we have a good team. We lost our entire starting offensive team and our second offensive backfield from last year and it will take a little while for these kids to get rolling.

"We'll work hard all week on our offense and also will do a lot of work on our pass defense, as McMahon is an outstanding passer."

On offense the new Raider coach had praise for Steve Tomasetti, Lee Davis, who ran hard: John Panarelli, who also ran hard, and Dan O'Malley, who sparkled near the end of the game.

"The interior line was outstanding and stopped their running game," Frazier went on as he singled out Dick Constantino, Jerry Mulcahy, Joe Bertoni, John Hemphill, Joe Spavento, Bob Bell, Mike Martin and Jim deVarennes for their defensive efforts.

Movies of past North games will be shown each Friday night at 7:30 at the high school during the football season. Last week films of last year's Revere game were shown.

Panthers Apaches Try Again Sunday

By PETE CHELLA

The Quincy Point Panthers and North Quincy Apaches will try again Sunday to decide the Quincy Youth Football League leadership.

The two undefeated powers, rained out last week, are rescheduled to square off at 1:30 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

In the 1 p.m. co-feature, the Houghs Neck Manets and South Quincy Elks will meet in another re-scheduled game. Both teams will be looking for their first win of the season.

In the main attraction, the Apaches will attempt to become the first team to knock over the Panthers in three years.

The Point club's undefeated streak includes 12 games and three league championships.

The Elks may be on the rebound against the Manets.

The South Quincy team looked good against the Panthers despite a 30-22 loss. Coach Frank Perfetuo was pleased with his team's performance and expects his boys to be "really up" for their clash with the Manets.

The Elks, after three winless seasons, hope Sunday will be the day they break into the victory column.

But the Manets have thoughts of their own about that.

High School Hockey Problems To Be Solved

The major problems of the Quincy and North Quincy High School Hockey Coaches, the lack of an organized Junior High program and lack of junior varsity teams, apparantly will be solved during the coming season.

The local schools' debut in the new Greater Boston League will mean pending school committee approval, freshman and jayvee programs.

Quincy and North, both members of the now defunct Met League for many years, now are hooked up with thier Greater Boston League rivals in every sport except soccer. The GBL now encompases football, basketball, hockey, track and cross country.

A freshman hockey schedule has already been drawn up and a junior varsity schedule is being completed and should greatly benefit the hockey at both schools.

Present plans call for the freshman games on Saturday mornings at Boston College's McHugh Forum. Nothing definite has been decided about where the jayvees would play.

"The junior varsity schedule is pretty well set," said North Quincy Coach, Bob Laing. "However, we don't have a formal team or a coach yet.

"We have needed these programs for years. It will give more boys a chance to play hockey and to play in games. Usually we carry about 25 boys on the varsity to have something for the next year. Now we could have 20 on the varsity and the cuts play on the jayvees. But hopefully the jayvees would be mostly sophomores.

"In the case of a goalie, the one who wasn't playing for the varsity would play for the junior varsity and he would be sharper then if he had to be called up to the varsity. I'm very happy about the new programs."

Equally elated is Quincy Coach Bob Sylvia and he is hopeful the new programs will soon be approved and official.

"I'm really tickled " he said. "It would be a great boost and more kids are going to develop. In high school hockey you can get away with two lines and have a third, fourth and fifth playing on the junior varsity. The big thing, of course, is that it gives more kids an opportunity to play and it expands the overall program in the city."

The Quincy Coach explained that he is proud of the progress hockey in Quincy has made since he became coach in 1966.

"The big difference is in the coaching," he pointed out. "When I came here, one man was in charge of the junior high program. Now Ray Brown has the schools on the Quincy side (Sterling, Broad Meadows and Point) and Ken Hayes has the schools on the North side (Atlantic-North and Central.)

"Under the proposed set-up, Brown would coach the Quincy freshmen and Hayes the North freshmen. Another thing is that the younger players are able to scrimmage outside Quincy. Before they had to play in Quincy.

Bob paid tribute to the Quincy Youth Hockey Organization which sees to it that the boys get experience at the lower levels, Pee Wee, Bantam and Junior High.

"When I came here there were no Pee Wees, Bantams or anything," he concluded. "What pleases me most is that there will now be an age level at which to play for every kid who wants to play."

Underdogs (Again) In Hartford

Injuries, Mistakes Still Haunt Giants

By CHARLIE LOWE

For the third week in a row, the Quincy Giants of the Atlantic Coast Football League will be underdogs when they journey to Hartford Saturday night to face the defending league champions, the Knights.

The Knights handled the Giants easily in the second half of their meeting to overcome an early Giants lead, and last Saturday night at Pottstown, Pa., the Firebirds, an affiliate of the Philadelphia Eagles of the NFL bombed Quincy, 49-3. This gives Quincy a season record of 1-3.

Hartford figures to win this Saturday because the Giants came out of their game at Pottstown in further decimated condition. The Giants lost their starting quarterback Don Allard, a 33-year-old "youngster" who came out of retirement to assist his college [B.C.] buddy Coach Ross O'Hanley. Allard was racked up with an injured back in the Hartford game.

Questionable players for the Giants Saturday night are defensive end Mike Jansen [Miss. State] with an injured leg; Bob Ellis [U. Mass.] a bad knee; Tom Munroe [Kearney State] two bad shoulders; Dick Arrington [Notre Dame], a former All-America guard, reinjured knee

A definite loss to the team is defensive back Willie Porter of Texas Southern who has resigned from the team, as he is devoting all his time to the Boston Patriots where he is a member of their "taxi" squad and hopes to be reactivated. Porter was handling kickoff and punt runbacks and was a real asset to the club with his major league experience.

Allard's loss has actually been monumental. After being out of the game for three years, he came back and led the club to it's only win [Richmond] and was showing signs of being the quarterback expected of him when O'Hanley signed him. His place has been taken by Tom Tyler, a rangy lad, who graduated from Holy Cross, and started this 1969 season with the Bridgeport Jets [an affiliate of the New York Jets]. He was released when Bridgeport was able to sign Steve Dowling, Yale's All-America, when he was let go by the Minnesota Vikings.

O'Hanley said of Tyler, "He got no help at all in the game at Pottstown. Our offensive line broke down and he had to scramble and threw many times off balance. He can scramble around well.

WILLIE PORTER
His Departure Hurts

"Hartford and Pottstown are real strong teams. Pottstown's line is every bit as good as Hartford's. They can beat you physically and this is what they did to us.

"We were in the game at Pottstown until we got a roughing-the-kicker penalty early in the first period, and this took the 'zip' out of our guys. They lost their aggressiveness and this they'll have to overcome against Hartford. We know what Hartford can do and we hope to overcome our mistakes and upset them.

"We have to give out 100-percent in the entire game Saturday night. If we can overcome mental errors we can win this ball game and we need to come back to Quincy with a win and we have to play 60 minutes of football.

O'Hanley revealed that he is adding several well-known former professional figures to his staff. Bob Dee, former All-AFL defensive end with the Boston Patriots, and a native of Braintree will assume a part-time position as assistant coach specializing in handling the defensive line. Ed "Butch" Sengin, of Walpole, ex-All America at Boston College who has had a career in the Canadian and Hamilton American Football Leagues [Boston and New York] has agreed to assist as offensive backfield coach.

This will allow O'Hanley to oversee his whole operation, rather than pin himself down to defense, where he was a specialist with the Patriots and Miami of the AFL. It's another step in the Giants long-range plans to building a solid, minor-league pro football franchise.

The Giants return for their next home game, Oct. 11 at Veteran's Memorial Stadium when they host the Pottstown Firebirds in a return engagement at 8 p.m. On the 18th of the month, the Quincy Lions will sponsor the game for its Eye Fund. Bridgeport will be the opposition and Dowling the Jets quarterback. This should be one to see.

Tickets for all remaining home games are on sale at the Giants office at 10 Temple St., or from any member of the Quincy Lions.

Dee May Be Giants' General Manager

The former Holy Cross, Washington Redskins and Boston Patriots' defensive star is expected to be named to succeed Joe Bellino who resigned as general manager last week.

N. Quincy Cross Country Team Off To Fast Start

And, if Quincy can get some help for its two top runners it could cause a lot of trouble in the league.

Bob Gentry's North runners whitewashed Revere, 15-40, Monday as the Raiders took the first seven places.

Paul Affsa won for the second meet in a row, again followed by Pat McCormack. Ed Monti was third, Kevin Henry fourth, Richie Yee fifth, Andy Hughes sixth and Jeff Strungis seventh.

Last week in their opener the Raiders just nipped Somerville, 28-27, as Affsa and McCormack again placed 1-2, Monti was sixth Yee eighth and Hughes 10th.

George York's Quincy team lost both its meets but sophomore Bob Ciano won both for the Presidents and Pete Laing was second in both.

In Monday's 25-33 loss to Somerville Jim Conso, Tom Plante and Ed Mariano were Quincy's other scorers.

"This boy Ciano is very strong and looks very good," York said. "Of course, Laing, a veteran, is a fine runner and if we can just get a little depth and give these two boys some help, we might do something."

Young Ciano's time of 12:57 Monday was the best of the year in eight league dual meets.

Today Quincy faces Everett and North takes on Chelsea at Pine Banks in Malden. Monday it will be Quincy vs Chelsea and North vs Medford at Medford. Next Wednesday North runs at Milton Academy in a non-league meet.

Two Quincy Elks Qualify For State Title Tourney

Two Quincy Elks are among eight finalists who have qualified for the State Elks Club Championship tournament to be held next spring.

James Herbert and John Wipfler qualified by finishing second and eighth respectively in the semi-final round held recently at the Brook Meadow Country Club, Canton.

The Quincy Elks' George Goodhue, Peter Gill, Richard McCormick and George Riley made the alternate team.

A special entry fee of $1.50 was charged to each player for a donation to the Massachusetts Elks Scholarship Program.

North Team Defeats South Shore Vocational

Bourikas' scores came within seconds of each other as the North soccer star converted a penalty kick and moments later converted a Lee Davis pass into a score.

Haight had one unassisted goal and his other score was assisted by Tom O'Malley. Tim Flynn had North's other goals.

Last week Quincy nipped North 2-1 for the Raider's first loss.

Quincy scored both its goals in the final period. Russ Barry slipped a pass to Vin Bertrand at the corner of the goal. Vin booted it in to tie the game. Quincy scored the clincher as Bruce Carlson dropped a corner kick right in front of the goal and Al LaVoie headed the ball in to win the game.

Today Hingham travels to Quincy and North will play Plymouth at Plymouth in South Shore Soccer Association Matches.

City Councillor-Rep. Walter J. Hannon said last night he will oppose bringing Expo '76 to Boston as "a waste of taxpayers' money."

"A quarter-billion dollars of an estimated $1 billion would come from the pockets of taxpayers in Quincy and other Massachusetts communities," Hannon declared. "I'm not going to vote for state funds for this."

Hannon, who represented Mayor James R. McIntyre and the City Council at a Washington hearing at which plans for Expo '76 were outlined by a Boston delegation headed by Mayor Kevin White, made a report as speaker at this week's Quincy Lions Club luncheon.

Hannon said that according to the plans he heard, there was no indication of a feared physical link between Quincy and the proposed Expo '76 site off Squantum.

Thompson Island would be the nearest point to Quincy, he said. The site, he said, would be built on stilts from South Boston across Dorchester Bay at the mouth of Neponset River to Thompson's Island.

He said after the six-month's fair closes, plans are to build a "21st century city of 50,000 to 60,000 population" on the site.

"Who is going to pay to support this city?" Hannon asked. "It is not going to be self-supporting as far as schools, fire and police protection is concerned."

Two other cities–Philadelphia and Washington–are seeking the fair. Philadelphia wants it at a cost of $800 million. Washington at $5 billion and Boston at $1 billion.

The Boston cost, he said, would be one-half financed by the federal government, and one fourth by the state and city of Boston.

"I'm absolutely opposed to it," said Hannon. "I'm not going to vote for state funds for this. People want tax relief–not additional taxes. Spending this kind of money at this time for a fair would be a waste of money in my book."

Great Books Meeting Oct. 6

The Fifth Year Great Books Discussion Group will meet Monday, Oct. 6, at 8 p.m. in the main branch of the Thomas Crane Public Library.

Subject will be "The Wild Duck", a play by Ibsen. Mrs. Barbara Carson will be the discussion leader.

The general public is invited to attend and participate in the meetings. For those seeking additional information about the Great Books Discussion Program are asked to call Mrs. Cliff Hallett at 471-0742 or Mrs. Jane Mudge at 77303625.

100,000 DOCTORS HAVE QUIT SMOKING CIGARETTES

HERE'S WHAT: When many doctors first started smoking cigarettes they didn't know the risks they were taking. Now they know–and are quitting by the thousands. Play it cool. Let the facts turn you off before you're hooked!

FACTS:

- Cigarette smoking is the major cause of lung cancer.
- The risk of death from lung cancer is more than 10 times greater for cigarette smokers than for nonsmokers.
- Every year over 40,000 lung cancer deaths are caused by cigarette smoking. With every cigarette you smoke, you lose an average of six minutes of life.

LIVING WITH YOUR HEART
Massachusetts Heart Association

● This is one in a series of articles from the Massachusetts Heart Association, Inc., that will appear in the Quincy Sun as a public service to our readers. ●

By FREDRICK J. STARE, M.D.
Department of Nutrition,
Harvard School of Public Health

About 10 years ago, a young Irish cardiologist, Dr. R. W. Childers, was spending some time in Boston and became friendly with various members of Harvard's nutrition department.

The question was raised: Could we learn more about the causes of heart disease by neutralizing the hereditary factor? That is, could we shed more light on how living habits and environment might be related to heart disease, if we studied pairs of brothers born in Ireland, one of each pair having lived and worked in the greater Boston area for 10 or more years, and the other having remained in Ireland?

And so the Ireland-Boston Heart Study [also known as the Irish Brothers Study] was born, a cooperative study with Trinity College School of Medicine of Dublin.

A large sum of money was required to bring Dublin investigators to Boston and send Harvard investigators to Dublin; to find the brothers; to plan and execute the study; and to analyze the results [which will appear later this year in a scientific paper authored by 10 Irish and nine Boston investigators]. We raised about $10,000 from Boston Irish businessmen, including the late President Kennedy's father, used some nutrition department funds, and finally received a grant from the National Heart Institute of the U. S. Public Health Service.

Over a five-year period we studied 1,994 middle-aged men including more than 500 pairs of brothers, one of whom lives in Ireland and the other in Boston. And what were some of our findings?

DIFFERENCES IN DIET

The men in Ireland eat more than the men in Boston, taking in 700 to 1300 more calories per day. They consume more milk and more whole grain cereals and breads. Complex carbohydrates, or starches, provide a greater percent of total calories in Ireland, but simple carbohydrates, such as sugar, are not as prominent in the the Irish diet. The Irish brothers eat more foods containing saturated [animal] fats, butter and meat, for example. The Boston subjects eat more polyunsaturated [vegetable] fats, some of them bring the oils used in margarine and salad dressings, such as cottonseed oil, corn oil, and soybean oil.

The men in Ireland drink more tea and less coffee than the Boston subjects. An average of 40 to 45 cups of tea and only one and one-half to three cups of coffee are consumed weekly by the men in Ireland. The Boston brothers drink an average of about 15 to 16 cups of tea and a similar amount of coffee each week.

DIFFERENCES IN LIVING HABITS

A high percentage of men in both groups smoke cigarettes, but more of the Americans smoke more than one package per day.

Those living in Ireland eat more often, have the larger meal at midday, and engage in a great deal more physical activity. Many of them are farmers whose farms are not mechanized, their tasks therefore being done with pitchfork and hoe. Since Ireland is a poor country, there are few automobiles; people use bicycles and walk long distances.

The Boston brothers drink more. Alcohol makes up four to six percent of the diet of the Irish brothers and eight percent for those in Boston. Most of the alcohol consumed by the brothers in Ireland is stout and beer, while more gin and whiskey are used by the Boston Irish.

One significant fact to come out of this study is that death rates from coronary heart disease are higher in the United States than in Ireland for men in the age bracket studied. The men in Ireland are also thinner and weigh less, even though they eat more. The Irish subjects were found to have lower serum cholesterol levels. Recordings of blood pressure classified as hypertension were higher in the American Irish.

These findings have led to the conclusion that hardening of the arteries [and subsequent coronary heart disease] is not an inevitable feature of the aging process. The study has also indicated that, in addition to hereditary factors, lack of physical activity is an important factor leading to heart disease, along with high blood pressure, high levels of cholesterol, overweight and smoking.

The single most outstanding finding to come from the Ireland-Boston Heart Study is the overriding importance of caloric balance--to burn off day by day through moderate physical activity the extra calories, regardless of the source of the calories, so as to keep body weight on the thin side.

["Living With Your Heart" is a public service of the Massachusetts Heart Association, which can supply further information on the risk factors involved in heart disease.]

Adams' Birthplaces Will Open On October Dates

The Presidents Adams birthplaces will be open for visitors on certain days during October, the Quincy Historical Society announces.

Official closing date at the two historic salt box type cottages where Presidents John Adams and John Quincy Adams were born, was Sept. 30.

But they will be open, the Historical Society announces, at the following times in October.

Saturday, Oct. 4; Sunday, Oct. 5; Saturday, Oct. 11; Sunday Oct. 12, Monday, Oct. 13.

On weekdays through Oct. 10, they will be open by appointment.

John Adams, second President, and John Quincy Adams, sixth President, are the only father and son Presidents in the nation's history.

Quincy is the only community to send two Presidents to the White House.

Sex And More About It

If you think for a minute that too much publicity is given to sex and its problems, you haven't even seen the beginning. It is interesting that the decline of a culture - as the Roman civilization is alleged, by historians, is directly related to its extremes in practice. What a grand way to have the exodus of a given era! Or even an individual life! Sex - if only its beauty was magnified as is its perversions!

The most vocal in our neighborhood, school boards and political bodies, I strongly suspect of having skeletons in a closet or some infinate pet problem which could best be aired by the fast disappearing Freudian analyst, or better yet at a Kairo [a body of people who spend 24 hours reacting spontaneously to each other and let their hair down [not their clothes] thus purging and cleansing themselves of inhibitions with considerable relief, only to go home to their mundane, miserable lives to fake respectable behavior - but perhaps with a modicum more of tolerance.

School committee meetings are a good place to learn about sex. Some have experts on any and all aspects of sex and its avenues of expression - as pornography. You can be led to a library - shown the page and underlined words - naughty ones at that! What a team of bibliographers they have! What avid readers they must be! If only their appetite could be redirected - constructively.

Ogden Nash on sex says "Candy is dandy but liquor is quicker", and "a little incompatibility is the spice of life, particularly if he has the income and she is pattable".

Orson Welles feels that pornography manifests one of our major theatrical ills. The ancient Rome theater openly portrayed sex relations - and you know what happened to the Romans - they were well spent!

Margaret Mead, the famous anthropologist, points to sexual roles as breaking down with more women pursuing careers and the men staying home - as baby sitters. Maybe this accounts for the increasing apathy in middle aged men with an increasing avidity and appetite in women of the same age. Shades of F. Scott Fitzgerald!

Who said there wasn't some value to the Pill. Pigeons are being fed kernels of corn with the pill to curb their populations and hence to cut down hazards at ball games and keep our buildings and streets clean. Who wants all this cleanliness anyhow?

A Soviet professor bemoans the fact that a broken leg, toothache, or a head injury can be properly cared for, but some one with a sex problem has no place to go. The truth is, though, that perhaps doctors are the least capable of advising the sex-forlorn.

There is no doubt that we have long needed another Benjamin Franklin. If you haven't read his advice to a young man looking for a mistress, you should.

Eisenhower Art Prints Exhibit At Hancock Bank

Framed prints of the 20 works of art painted by former President Eisenhower during his lifetime, are being displayed for the first time in this area at each of Hancock Bank's offices throughout Norfolk County.

Selected as exclusive exhibitor of the works of Eisenhower, by the artist, all Hancock Banks will display these exhibits, museum style, to be viewed free-of-charge by all.

Bank President, William E. Kelley, noted: "Mr. Eisenhower painted for his own personal enjoyment. Some were done as lasting gifts for friends and others he respected. Some were created on impulse during rare leisure moments. All represent a memorial that reflects the diverse nature and versatility of the man.

"Eisenhower made no claim to being a professional artist. He referred to his paintings as "daubs", the result of his love of color and inclination to try something new.

"Today, however, his paintings are viewed as historical milestones in a distinguished career that led from the farm lands of Kansas and Texas to global arenas where he helped shape the destiny of man."

Candidate Cole Would 'Look Into' Land Assesments

Herbert F. Cole, candidate for City Council at-large, said he would "look into" recent re-assessment of commercial land if he is elected.

Cole spoke at an open house reception held for him at 16 Beale St. with television personality Cille M. Blackwood as hostess.

Cole said he has received a number of complaints regarding re-assessment of commercial land.

He said some small business owners claimed their land value was raised while others remained unchanged.

"I will look into this matter if I am elected," he said.

Cole also said there is a need for senior citizens housing facilities in the north end of the city.

He said he would oppose any further commercial development of the Wollaston Beach area.

Marshall Seeks Ordinance To Halt Oil Spillage

Councillor Clifford H. Marshall will call for passage, Monday of a new ordinance to crackdown on oil spillage caused by the unloading of tankers in Quincy waters.

It would be the first such ordinance in an east coast community.

The ordinance introduced by Marshall last March requires provision of plastic booms by oil terminal owners. The booms would surround the tanker while it is depositing oil into tanks or other receptacles thereby preventing seepage or overflow escaping into the waters of Quincy Bay or Boston Harbor.

Marshall has asked for a fine of $50 per day for failure of oil terminal owners to comply with the ordinance.

Marshall co-authored a similar bill filed in the Massachusetts House of Representatives with Rep. Robert B. Ambler [D-Weymouth] that would call for the provision of the booms by the private owners of the oil terminals. Both representatives, asked for a fine of $1,000 for a failure to comply, at that time.

That proposed bill was a reaction to spillage of an estimated 100,000 gallons of oil into Weymouth's Fore River last March. That bill was passed by both the House of Representatives and the Senate.

The city ordinance that Marshall has introduced differs from the state passed bill. In Marshall's words the ordinance will be "more restrictive, in that it would make it mandatory for the booms to be put around each and every ship.

UN Council Opens 25th Season Oct. 9

The United Nations Council of the South Shore will open its 25th season of free public World Affairs Lectures Thursday, Oct. 9, with an address by Roger Revelle, Richard Saltonstall Professor of Population Policy and Director of the Harvard Center for Population Studies.

He will speak at 7:30 p.m. in the parish hall of the United First Parish Church, Quincy Square. Subject of his address will be "Population, Food and Poverty around the World Today and in the Years Ahead."

Formerly Dean of Research and for all campuses of the University of California, Dr. Revelle has devoted much of his time in recent years to the problems of developing countries. He has received citations from both Pakistan and India.

In the USA, as a member of the President's Science Advisory Committee, he has been involved in studies of pollution and of the problems of world population and food supply. In 1965 Revelle College in the University of California was named in his honor.

Those wishing reservations for the catered dinner at 6:30 p.m. are asked to call one of the following by Monday, Oct. 6: Miss Vera Call, 55 Spear St., Mrs. Viola Ellis, 18 Terne Rd; Miss Edith Coulman,. 20 Woodward Ave., all of Quincy.

Founded in 1945, the United Nations Council is entering its 25th year of continuous service to South Shore residents. It operates as a foreign affairs forum to aid interested and concerned people in developing sound backgrounds for understanding international problems. Speakers are distinguished in their fields.

The Council is a non-profit educational organization. Antedating the San Francisco Conference, it started as a pressure group to help persuade the United States to join the United Nations. In time it became a foreign affairs forum rendering a valuable service on the South Shore. Programs are financed by membership fees and contributions, all of which are tax deductible.

Council officers for the 1969-1970 season are:

Chairman, Dr. Paul Gossard, Wollaston; First Vice-chairman, Dr. Chase Kimball, Milton; Second Vice-chairman, Rev. Howard H. Hare, Braintree; Treasurer, Robert O. Imper, Wollaston; Assistant Treasurer, Miss Alma Glidden, Quincy; Recording Secretary, Miss Marion B. Reinhardt, Quincy; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Viola Ellis, Quincy; Membership Secretary, Miss Barbara Henry, Milton.

Directors are: Philip Brandt, Braintree; Miss Doris Cummings, Wollaston; Dr. Bradford E. Gale, Quincy; Miss Edith Howlett, Wollaston; Mrs. Wilfred Krabeck, Braintree; Rev. Charles L. Mc Eachern, Wollaston; Mrs. E. Benson Meservey, Wollaston; Walter Meservey, Wollaston; Miss Marie Poland, Quincy; Albert Schechman. Quincy; Miss Margaret Tuthill, Quincy; Dr. Norman L. Wilson, Squantum; Mrs. George V. Woodley, Wollaston.

Morrisette Board Meeting Set For Friday

The Morrisette Legion Auxiliary will hold a board meeting for all officers and executive board members for 1969-1970 Friday at 8 p.m. in the post home. President, Gertrude Paakonen will conduct the meeting.

The Auxiliary also announces plans for a Halloween Dance to be held at the Post Home Oct. 18, from 8-12 p.m. Music will be by the Walter Baker Orchestra. Costumes for the event will be optional. All proceeds will go to the scholarship fund.

Ernest A. Milks Elected To Head Quincy Legion Post

Formal installation of new officers for 1969-1970 will be held Oct. 9 at 8 p.m. at the Post Memorial Home, 2 Mechanic St., Edgar G. Foster, Commander of the Norfolk County Council American Legion Installing Suite, will officiate.

Other officers elected were: George Watlington, James Hewitt and Arnold Cicerone, first, second and third vice commanders respectively; Rev. J. Irving Fletcher, past commander, finance officer; Robert G. Cairns, assistant finance officer. William L. Villone, service officer; Past Comdr. Charles N. Ross, judge advocate; Past Comdr. William S. Ash, graves registration officer; Adolph Flock, welfare officer; Robert Fisher, Americanism officer and Eric Lindewall, historian.

Elected trustees of burial lot; were: Past Comdr. Frank H. Foy; Atty. Edward Libertine, and Harold J. Doig.

Elected to the executive committee were: Robert Leo Eng, Dr. Carl Goodman, Paul Mc Laughlin, William Hancock, Peter Bolea and Philip Angellis, all past commanders of the Post.

Robert Leo Eng, Past Department Vice-Commander will serve as master of ceremonies for the installation. The public is invited and refreshments and dancing will conclude the 51st annual installation of the citys' original American Legion Post.

Commander-elect Milks, son of Mrs. Martha Milks of Rockland, and the late Joseph H. Milks veteran of World War I, is a native of Braintree. He has been a computer service engineer, for the past 15 years with Monroe International, Division of Liton Industries.

He served in the U.S. Navy from June 1945 to June 1949 and joined the U.S. Regular Army in February of 1950, serving as a sergeant in the 41st Signal Battalion to April 1954, when he was commissioned a Second Lt. in the Infantry.

Promoted to 1st Lt., he served as Company Commander, Combat Skills Instructor and Battalion Staff Officer and was separated with a reserve commission as captain.

In the American Legion, he served as Post Adjutant, Third and First Vice-Commanders. His work as Membership Committee chairman, earned him an award for the past year.

Married to the former Zenda N. [Hucklebery] of Indianapolis, Indiana, they have six children; Marion 12, Cynthia 10, Linda 8, Ernest 7, Arnold 6, and Patricia 4. Mrs. Milks currently is serving a second year as President of Quincy Unit 95 Womens Auxiliary, and is chairman of the radio committee, for the Norfolk County Auxiliary Council.

DEPENDABLE CLEANSERS—The Dependable Launderers and Cleansers whose Quincy locations include 27 Adams St., 581 Adams St., and 675 Hancock St., offers its customers experienced service and the most up-to-date cleaning methods. Here Mrs. Pauline Matthews [left] and Mrs. Iva Shanks of the Wollaston store examine a freshly laundered evening dress.

"Above all the customer has to be satisfied," says Donald Fawcett, owner of Dependable Launderers and Cleansers, 675 Hancock St., Wollaston. "You've got to stress quality and service to those customers, in order to be successful."

Don came to Quincy from Canada when he was 15 years old. His first job was that of a laborer in a laundry. It lasted six years. At the age of 22 he borrowed $5,000 and started the Dependable Launderers and Cleansers at 675 Hancock St.,

Since the opening of his first cleaning establishment, he has opened "Dependable" stores in Quincy, Boston, Milton and Weymouth. His other Quincy stores are located at 27 Adams St. and 581 Adams St.

There are over 75 people employed by "Dependable". All of them are pleasant and congenial reflecting their employer's philosophy of customer satisfaction.

Don Fawcett has been in the cleaning business for more than 30 years. Nonetheless, his cleaning methods are as modern and up-to-date as you'll find anywhere.

He offers the best in service and quality to those who patronize "Dependable".

That's why it is dependable.

N. Quincy Public Works Project To Start Monday

The $1.8 million public works phase of the North Quincy Improvement project will get underway next Monday.

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the reconstruction of Hobart St. at Belmont St. are scheduled for 9 a.m.

The public works portion of the program includes construction of new streets, new sidewalks, curbing and planting of trees in the entire project area.

The overall project, including a code enforcement program, was launched in March of 1968 and is scheduled for completion within a three-year period.

Total cost of the entire project is approximately $2.6 million of which $1.8 million is federally financed under the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Participating in the public works groundbreaking ceremonies will be:

If You're 60 Or Older The Service Corps May Have A Job For You

The City Council recently approved funds for the program and the Service Corps is expected to become operational some time in October or November when funds for implementation will be available.

Any citizens of Quincy who is 60 years of age or over may enroll and be temporarily employed in work authorized by the Service Corps. Compensation may not exceed $1,500 in any one calendar year.

Screening and interviewing applicants will be done through the Division of Employment Security, matching applicants' skills and experience with the job requirements. Initially placements will be made in City Departments.

For Debts, Expenses

Need $22 Million In Tax Revenue

The City of Quincy needs approximately $22 million in tax revenue to pay its debts and to keep operating for the remainder of the year.

City Tax Collector-Treasurer David R. Houston said last night that more than $2 million has been paid so far in 1969 real estate and personal property taxes.

Still out, however, is $21 million due for payment on or before Nov. 1.

Those who do not pay their taxes by then face a penalty of eight per cent interest retroactive to Oct. 1.

"I urgently appeal to those who have not paid their 1969 taxes to do so before Nov. 1," Houston said.

He noted that the city must come up with $10.5 million between Oct. 17 and Nov. 19 to pay back money borrowed between Jan. 31 and Aug. 29 to operate the city in anticipation of tax revenue.

In addition to this, another approximate $10.5 million is needed to keep the city operating--without having to borrow further money--from now until the end of the year.

It costs more than $3.5 million per month to run the city, he noted.

In addition to this, the city owes $853,542 to Norfolk County as its assessment share for 1969. This amount is due Oct. 31.

The $10.5 million in borrowings owed must be paid back on the following schedule: $1 million Oct. 17; Oct. 24; Oct. 31; $2.5 million Nov. 7; $4 million, Nov. 12 and $1 million Nov. 19.

To help speed up the flow of tax revenue, Houston reminded those with special abatements that they can pay their tax bills--and escape the eight per cent interest penalty--before they receive their abatement notice.

They are veterans and widows who are entitled to $2,000 assessment abatements and persons over 70 who receive $4,000 assessment exemptions.

"Many of these people are holding back on their tax payments until they receive their abatement notices," Houston said.

"It is humanly impossible for the Board of Assessors to get out all the abatement notices before Nov. 1. These people don't have to wait for the notices. They can pay their bills now by figuring their own reduction.

"This way, they can be sure they will not be penalized at eight per cent interest for not paying their tax bill on or before Nov. 1."

Houston cited a $10,000 assessed property as an illustration.

Sweeny, LaRaia, Hannon In Strong Election Bids

Strong vote-getting performances by Joseph J. LaRaia, Charles T. Sweeny and Leo J. Hannon, Jr., have set the stage for hotly contested city council-at-large and school committee races Nov. 4.

Sweeny, making a comeback bid, topped a 10-man field for six School Committee nominations in Tuesday's lukewarm preliminary election.

LaRaia, former council president also hoping to return to office, finished a strong third in an eight-man council at-large field. He ran behind incumbents Arthur Tobin and John J. Quinn, but ahead of Councillor George B. McDonald.

Hannon, a real estate-insurance broker, making his first bid for the School Committee, rolled up an impressive third-place vote, topping incumbent Frank Anselmo.

Only 26 per cent--or 11,591 of Quincy's 44,258 registered voters went to the polls. It meant that 32,677 voters stayed home.

Lack of a mayoralty race--the usual main attraction--was the main reason for the small turnout.

The names of Mayor James R. McIntyre, seeking his third term, and challenger Robert C. Preble were not on the ballot as they were already nominated.

Also missing from the preliminary ballot was the name of Ward 1 Councillor Edward S. Graham who has no opposition.

Sweeny, who was defeated in a 1967 upset by Miss Elizabeth Scanlan, racked up 4,358 votes in a display of new political strength.

Atty. Paul C. Kelly, who succeeded Dr. Edward Mann when the latter resigned in 1968, finished a strong second with 4,112 in his first actual city-wide run. Hannon was close behind with 4,003.

Anselmo, in a re-election bid, was fourth with 3,806--only 197

Firefighters Commended For Quincy Point Rescue

Fire Capt. George D. McEachern and Firefighter Warren O. Sines have been commended for rescuing a Quincy Point man from his blazing second floor apartment.

"The heroic actions of Captain McEachern and Firefighter Sines played an instrumental part in saving the life of this man," said Fire Chief Edward F. Barry in his official commendation. The pair were rewarded with two days off.

Captain McEachern, commanding officer of Engine Company 3, and Sines rescued John Frazier of 84 Lawn Ave., in the early morning of Sept. 28.

Chief Barry described the rescue thusly:

"Captain McEachern with Firefighter Sines immediately ascended the front stairs to the apartment where they found that one side of the living room was heavily involved by fire with heavy smoke and extreme heat.

"They crawled through the room on fire to a bedroom in the center of the apartment and found the occupant, Mr. John Frazier, lying on the floor unconscious.

"They carried the unconscious man through the smoke filled apartment to an outside landing from where Captain McEachern carried the man on his shoulders down the front stairwell to the open air with the assistance of Firefighter Sines."

Permits For $77,607 Wiring In September

Fees collected for the permits amounted to $720, he said.

During the month, 112 inspections were made and 14 defects noted.

Major wiring projects for the month were:

--New building for the Registry of Motor Vehicles, 38 Broad St.

--New medical office building 85 Clay St.

--Forty-unit apartment building, 195 Independence Ave.

--Twelve-unit apartment building, 550 Willard St.

--Elevator for new apartment building, 128 East Squantum St.

Name Aging Council Head

Mayor James R. McIntyre today announced Mr. Strong's appointment and said he will assume his duties, in the $12,000 post, Nov. 3.

Mr. Strong, 52, and a resident of 10 Bayview Ave., Hingham, succeeds John F. Sheehan, the council's first executive secretary, who resigned in August to return to a teaching career at Scituate High School.

Mayor McIntyre, in making the appointment said he was following the recommendation of a Council on Aging advisory and screening committee, that selected Mr. Strong because of his extensive experience.

As executive director, Mr. Strong will coordinate and expand special programs and services for Quincy's senior citizens who number 15,400 in the 60-plus age bracket.

At Columbia Point, Mr. Strong headed work projects including a service program for 500 elderly persons. Last summer a new and enlarged Senior Center was opened there and a hot-lunch program for the elderly established.

DONALD H. STRONG

A local surplus food distribution center for the benefit of the elderly was set up.

As director at Columbia Point, Mr. Strong supervised the multi-service center operated by neighborhood corporations. He was responsible for proposals and budgets totalling $300,000 annually. He directed 35 full-time paid employees, 125 summer employees and more than 200 regular volunteers.

He has been at Columbia Point from August 1966 to the present, and has served as an ordained minister in Malden, East Rockaway, N.Y., Bellaire, Ohio and Fairfield, Me.

He was also a member of the Board of Trustees at Eastern Nazarene College, Wollaston, from where he graduated with an A.B. degree in Theology and Philosophy in 1938.

A native of Eagle Point, Ore., he graduated from Johnson [Vermont] High School and was awarded a full scholarship to the University of Vermont.

Work, Not Pity

This is National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week. To many people, it's just another one of those weeks like National Pickle Week or Help Your Wife With The Dishes Week.

But this is a very serious week. It is a week not just to focus attention on the physically handicapped. But a week for employers to do something to help the handicapped help themselves.

They don't want pity. They want to work.

Morton S. Garson, supervising employment manager at the Quincy office of the Massachusetts Division of Employment Security "tells it like it is" in the following words. We ask you to take a minute or two to read them:

"It is a mark of America's esteem for the dignity of every human that has led to her record for employing handicapped workers. Since the end of World War II over seven million physically and mentally disabled persons have found their places as self-sustaining members of our labor force. The contributions of these men and women to their communities, to their families, and to their own self-esteem is inestimable.

"Despite this impressive record--and the equally impressive performance record of the handicapped themselves--there are still several million persons who have been unable to batter down the barrier of disability that separates them from the working world. Their handicap may be physical or mental, but is magnified and aggravated by other distressing factors which tend to label them "hard core."

"These are the handicapped imprisoned in pockets of poverty, where social services do not seem to penetrate sufficiently to solve their problems. These are the unskilled who need the full battery of training programs to sharpen their skills. These are the more severely handicapped who traditionally find it more difficult to attract an an employer's interest. These are the handicapped youth who have not yet found an opportunity to prove themselves and to build up a history of demonstrated work skills.

"To these there is a special meaning attached to National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week. There is also a collective hope--the hope that America will heed their needs and observe this special week in the only way that can be meaningful, by helping to open up additional job opportunities for those who still need a chance to work.

Great Books Group Discuss 'Antigone'

The recently organized Quincy First Year Great Books Discussion group will hold its first formal discussion meeting tonight [Thursday] at 8 p.m. in the Children's Room of the Thomas Crane Library, Quincy Center.

The book to be discussed at this meeting is "Antigone" by Sophocles-a play dealing with the always current problem of state versus conscience, of man's law versus immortal law.

In the absence of Dr. Charles Djerf, permanent leader, the discussion will be led by William Rossi, president of the Metropolitan Boston Great Books Council, and Mrs. Jane Mudge, Area Coordinator for the Great Books Foundation.

New members are still being accepted in the group which will meet on the second and fourth Thursdays of the month throughout the winter. Anyone wishing to participate in the Great Books Adult Liberal Education program may do so. There are no educational or financial requirements.

Among the 16 books to be read during the first year course are "MACBETH" by Shakespeare "THE PRINCE" by Machiavelli, "THE GOSPEL of ST. MATHEW", selections from "DEMOCRACY IN AMERICA" by DeTocqueville, and "THE COMMUNIST MANIFESTO" by Marx and Engels.

Further information about joining a Great Books group may be obtained from the Thomas Crane Library or from Mrs. Jane Mudge, 264 Furnace Brook Parkway, Quincy.

Elks Sponsor 'America Week' Poster Contest

The Quincy Elks are sponsoring a poster contest to coincide with "Know Your America Week", Nov. 17 through Nov. 23.

The competition is open to all seventh, eighth and ninth grade students in the Quincy and Braintree areas.

The committee announces the following rules:

The posters may be created in any medium-pastels, crayon, pencil, water colors or oil paints. The materials must be supplied by the participants.

The papers upon which the art work will appear must be no smaller than 11 by 14 inches and no larger than 14 by 22 inches. The design of the poster should be an Americanism theme.

Each contestant must print his or her name, home address, age, grade, school and community on the back side of the art work.

Posters, which will be judged on the basis of thought, creativity and neatness, must be submitted to the Quincy Lodge of Elks, 1220 Hancock St., Quincy, before Nov. 1.

Sunbeams

The crowd that watched Quincy High School's 14-8 come-from-behind win over Revere last Saturday missed a touching post-game scene.

Glenn is a young muscular dystrophy victim, confined to his home at 75 Cranch St. But he follows his favorites by radio.

After the dramatic win, the Quincy players signed the game football and Co-Captains Rick Pettit and Cliff Mattson presented the souvenir to a jubilant Glenn.

Incidentally, Quincy--and young Mattson especially--have another rabid fan who can't get to the games but also follows them by radio.

A victim of the 1955 polio epidemic, she has spent the last 14 years first in an iron lung and then a chest respirator and rocking bed.

Young Cliff really knew how Glenn felt when he and Rick dropped by to see him.

FORMER Mayor Thomas S. Burgin who helped build Quincy's modern Fire Department [and loved to chase fire engines], hasn't lost the interest spark. He was one of the first to show up in front of City Hall this week to look over the new 85-foot aerial ladder truck on display. As chief executive in 1939, he purchased Quincy's first aerial ladder--a 100-footer which is still seeing action.

IF YOU'RE wondering who the next City Council president will be, don't overlook two more potential contenders. One is Ward 1 Councillor Edward S. Graham. And the other--get this--is Ward 6 Councillor J. Vincent Smyth--present council president. Smyth reportedly is interested--and has backing. And can anyone remember a council president succeeding himself?

* * *

EARLY BIRD: While politicians and observers are wrapped up in this year's city election, one candidate already has launched his campaign for next year's state election.

He's Paul T. Gallagher, 35-year-old carpenter, building a state representative bid in Wards 4, 5, 6. A Democrat making his first run for office, he's already got 300 bumper stickers in circulation. And is knocking on doors and distributing a letter asking voters to tell him how he can help them.

WOULD YOU like to help make Christmas happy for a Quincy family? Several years ago, the late Agnes V. Philben established a trust to provide $50 to each of 10 Quincy families with young children at Christmas time to be used for the purchase of Christmas presents.

Atty. Stephen T. Keefe, Jr., trustee, is trying to locate deserving families for consideration. If you know of one, let him know before Nov. 1. You can reach him at 1359 Hancock St.

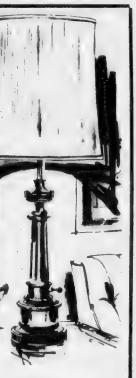
Here Comes The Bride

By Mabelle

We have discussed bridal gowns and bridesmaids gowns in the past issues. Now let's talk to mothers.

Mothers, whether you are mother of the bride or groom, remember you too are very special people on this all important day. Shop early-for your gown. As soon as the bride has made her decision on the bridal party colors it's time for you to get busy and make the rounds.

The brides' mother has first choice on color. However if she is a thoughtful person she will take into consideration the future mother-in-law's favorite color and try to work around it. Better yet, the mothers will shop together and know their dresses will complement each others and the bridal party. Incidently, this is a perfect way to help cement relationship for the children with their future in-laws.



And mothers, never, no never, wear your mink stole or out door coat down the aisle. The only time a coat is acceptable is when it is part of an ensemble.

Shoes to match the gown are stunning. Your hat and bag may match or contrast. For a really smart affect pin your corsage onto your bag. This will avoid discoloring your gown and the feeling the corsage will fall off any minute.

Your gloves must be white to be correct. The right length is one to one and a half inch space between the bottom of the sleeve and top of the glove.

Now you are your prettiest. The day has arrived. The ceremony is about to begin. Take a deep breath, mother - of - the groom [and tuck in that tummy] with your head held high and a smile, down the aisle you go on the arm of an usher, and dad following.

At the exact time the ceremony is supposed to begin the bride's mother, following the advice given to the grooms mother, walks down the aisle. Once she has started no one is allowed down the center aisle except the bridal party. Any last minute guests must go to the side aisles.

MRS. ALFRED P. LICATA
[Ellis Field Photo]

Miss Arlene Sacchetti Wed To Alfred Licata

At a double ring ceremony Oct. 5 at Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy, Miss Arlene Martha Sacchetti became the bride of Alfred Peter Licata. The Rev. James Doyle officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gino Sacchetti of 4 Edwards Rd., Braintree. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Licata of 69 Sharon Rd., North Quincy.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white Victorian empire dress with unpressed pleats of baby peau de soie falling from a bodice of re-embroidered alecon lace with crystals, french sequins and seed pearls with the same alecon and beadings on bishop sleeves and encircling cuffs and Victorian neckline with a built in train.

Mrs. Richard Goldstein of 45 Elm Ave., Quincy was the matron of honor. She wore a victorian empire [sleeveless] gown of spruce green, a velvet bodice with matching lurex braid at empire and around the neckline with a skirt of ivory Karate. A matching green velvet cap with floor length silk illusion veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of garnet sweetheart roses, pink carnations with spruce green streamers and ferns.

The bridesmaids similarly gowned in red garnet were: Mrs. Lewis Loicano of Billerica; Miss Carol Maher of Braintree; Miss Barbara Main, Miss Jean DeLuca, Mrs. Alan Cinquegrano and Mrs. Cynthia DiBona, all of Quincy.

Maureen Murphy, cousin of the groom, was the flower girl. She was attired in an ivory Karate empire dress with a spruce green velvet bow falling from the bodice.

Serving as the best man for his brother was William Licata. Ushers were, Donald Genuardi, Steve Murphy, Thomas Warchal and Richard Goldstein, all of Quincy; Stephen Shind of Dedham; Lewis Loicano of Billerica and Paul Chikolas of West Roxbury.

After a trip to Miami and the Bahamas, the couple will live at the Gaslight Village in South Weymouth.

The bride is a graduate of North Quincy High School and attended Quincy Junior College. She is employed as a junior assistant librarian at the Thomas Crane Public Library.

The bridegroom is a graduate of North Quincy High School and is employed as a sales representative for Rex Manufacturers in Dedham.

Fluoride may have an important role to play in the prevention of heart disease.

That much-discussed compound has long been known for its ability to preserve the calcium in bones and teeth. But a recent study suggests that fluoride can do exactly the opposite for the body's blood vessels: It can prevent the formation of calcium deposits in blood vessels, and by so doing, help to prevent hardening of the arteries, the precursor to a heart attack or stroke.

These findings have come about through the study of another chronic disease, osteoporosis.

Osteoporosis is a loss of bone. The bones become porous and less dense, and abnormal spaces develop where bone should be. As judged by X-ray findings, most people begin to lose bone at about 40 years of age. This progresses more rapidly in some than in others and generally women are more susceptible than men. Eventually, the bones become thin and fragile. Fractures of the hip which frequently occur in elderly women--often from a minor accident or none at all-are usually the result of osteoporosis. Serious fractures of the spine can also result.

Although osteoporosis is common, there is relatively little solid data upon the frequency with which it occurs. Evaluation of X-rays of the spine taken from a rather large number of women in Detroit indicated that, if this group is typical, probably some 14 million women in the United States have osteoporosis and don't know it. This figure would not include the rather large number already hospitalized or incapacitated.

THOUSAND ADULTS STUDIED

It has been known that people and animals exposed to very high levels of fluoride developed hard, dense bones. It seemed likely that such bone would be less susceptible to osteoporosis and that fluoride might be useful in the treatment of osteoporosis. There have been several favorable clinical reports although this treatment remains experimental.

To study this further, two areas in North Dakota were selected --a low fluoride area [with water supplies containing 0.15 to 0.30 ppm fluoride] and a high fluoride area [with water supplies containing 4 to 6 ppm fluoride]. More than 1,000 X-rays of the spines of adults over the age of 40 were obtained. These were individuals who visited their local physician and who agreed to have an X-ray taken. The films were shipped to Boston where they were evaluated for density and other evidence of osteoporosis by a radiologist who was not aware of the origin of the films.

As expected, the results showed that women were much more susceptible to osteoporosis than men and the amount of osteoporosis increased markedly with age. However, women living in the high fluoride area had much less osteoporosis than those living in the low fluoride area. The trend in males was similar but less marked. Thus, the results indicated that fluoride does provide protection from osteoporosis. It is important also to note that although the amount of fluoride in the water in the high fluoride area was much above that recommended for the prevention of tooth decay and did cause teeth to become spotted, no other ill effects resulted.

FLUORIDE'S EFFECT ON HEART

In atherosclerosis, calcium salts are deposited in the walls of the blood vessels, causing them to become hard and stony--thus, the popular term "hardening of the arteries." Through X-rays it is easy to see the amount of calcium in the aorta, the major artery of the body, which carries blood from the heart to all parts of the body except the lungs. The X-rays from North Dakota were also examined to discover how much the aorta had calcified. Interestingly enough, calcification of this vessel was much less prominent in the high fluoride area and this was especially true in men. These data thus suggest that appropriate levels of fluoride ingestion assist in keeping the calcium in the bones, especially in women, who are most susceptible to esteoporosis, and help prevent calcification of the blood vessels, especially in men, who are more susceptible to hardening of the arteries and heart disease. Further studies of this kind are obviously needed.

Osteoporosis is an important debilitating disease which has received far too little study. However, the role of fluoride in preventing the calcification of the blood vessels and other soft tissues also needs investigation and may provide an additional way to help control the epidemic of heart disease in the United States and other countries.

'The Old Guessing Game'

There is an old game which many people are playing which I believe is more destructive than beano....slot machines....or the football pool. So far as I know there is no legislation against this old game....but "there ought to be a law against it" because so many people are being hurt by it. It is THE GUESSING GAME.

Here's the way one man I know plays the game....no family budget is made out....the wife has no idea what the income is... what she can spend for food.... clothing or Christmas gifts. No matter how much or how little she spends, he complains. She loses every time...she never "guesses right."

Here's the way one wife plays the game....according to her husbands report..."I just can't please her....I've asked her repeatedly what I do that displeases her... her answers are...."If I have to tell you it's no good'...'You should know....you're over 21' ..."If you don't know, you wouldn't understand if I told you!..'If I tell you, you wouldn't listen."' So he ends up losing....because he cannot possibly "guess" accurately with such fuzzy...ridiculous clues as these.

See why I say the GUESSING GAME is destructive to our human relationships? You always lose....you're never a winner... and those who play the game are drained of their emotional resources.

Here's the husband/wife who is ill....but instead of saying, "I have a dull throbbing headache" ....or. "It's my menstrual time and I have cramps"....this couple keeps playing the old GUESSING GAME....keeping the other feeling that he/she is guilty of some offense....but what is it? ....for him/her "TO GUESS." Each always loses because their relationship is strained. Such behavior is cruel....destructive.... immature....actually sickening.

"Say it as it is"....whatever you feel. "I feel we should decide now how much we are to spend for Christmas....how do you feel about it?" This calls for a response from the partner ....so that we do not play THE OLD GUESSING GAME this year. "I feel our sexual relationship has deteriorated to the point where we are hating each other about it....how do you feel?" This calls for a response from a partner....not the GUESSING GAME.

One man recently said to his wife...."I'm tired of getting up and leaving for Boston without having my breakfast....I feel that you should get up in time to prepare my breakfast and visit with me while we eat before we part for the day." She was stunned at first. But the next morning she said, "I didn't know you felt that way....you never said anything in our seven years of marriage." From that day he has sat down with her each morning to bacon...eggs...toast and coffee ....and best of all his wife as they begin the day together. She would have stayed in bed in the mornings for the next seven years if he had continued to play the OLD GUESSING GAME of what pleased each other.

"You never said anything five years ago when mother came to live with us"....one wife said.... "I took your silence to be giving consent." She guessed wrongly ....now he wants out.

Why do people play the old GUESSING GAME? Three reasons: First....because some have grown up in a silent family.... evenings, meals, long rides in silence...now in adult relationship they can't express themselves. People they live with are supposed to play the GUESSING GAME.Second...some have grown up in a violent family....where every word and action was used against each other....now in adult life we learn to keep silent...keep the other person GUESSING. Third....when there is a breakdown of relationship so that neither dares to tip his/her hand lest the other will take advantage....they live in secret compartments to keep the other GUESSING.

I think it is an abominable game. If you and your partner are playing it....quit it now....because you're sure to lose...both of you.

Methodist Churches To Open Mission Oct. 19

The four United Methodist Churches of Quincy will sponsor a spiritual life mission starting Oct. 19, and continuing daily through Oct. 22.

The mission with the theme "New Life of Christ" will open Sunday, Oct. 19, at 7 p.m. at Quincy Center United Methodist Church. The Rev. William Newcomer will speak on "What Must I Do?" The Adams Shore singers will be featured.

Adams Shore Community United Methodist Church will host the mission Monday Oct. 20 at 8 p.m. "Jesus and Two Women", will be the subject of the Rev. Robert Bossdorf. Music, will be by The MacCallum family.

On Tuesday Oct. 21 at 8 p.m. the mission will move to the Atlantic United Methodist Church. Rev. Ronald Ober's subject will be "The Discovery". Special music will be by the Eastern Nazarene College Chorus.

Final evening of the mission will be Wednesday, Oct. 22, at 8 p.m. in Wollaston United Methodist Church. The Rev. Dean Benedict will speak on "Its Never Too Late". The combined choirs of the four churches will sing.

Rev. Haskins Returns As Interim Pastor

Rev. Stuart C. Haskins is returning to Quincy as interim pastor at Union Congregational Church, Wollaston.

Rev. Haskins, now retired, served as pastor at Wollaston Congregational Church from 1933 to 1942 and after World War II from 1945 to 1950.

During that time, he served in many community organizations.

The Pastoral Committee at Union Congregational Church has called Rev. Haskins to serve as interim pastor until a permanent pastor is selected.

Rev. Haskins who now lives in Watertown, has served the following churches in addition to Wollaston Congregational:

Middlefield Federated Church, Middlefield,, First Church of Christ, Congregational, Glastonbury, Conn.; Chestnut Street Congregational Church, Worcester; Community Church of Great Neck, New York; and Pleasant Street Congregational Church, Arlington.

He was ordained in 1929 in Glastonbury, Conn., and is now a member of the United Church of Christ, Metropolitan Boston Association.

Rev. Haskins served in World War II as a Naval Chaplain, in both theaters of the war, and was honorably discharged with the rank of Lieutenant Commander.

Three Students Selected For Columbus Day Event

Three high school students have been selected to participate in the annual Columbus Day observance to be sponsored by Ave Maria, North Quincy and Quincy Knights of Columbus Councils.

The three, selected by their schools are:

James Cameron, North Quincy High; Anthony Sabino, Archbishop Williams High and Martin Smith, Quincy High.

The holiday observance will be highlighted by a special broadcast over WJDA Oct. 13 at 1:05 p.m.

Each student will present an essay dealing with some phase of the life of Christopher Columbus to commemmorate the 477th anniversary of the discovery of America.

Also participating in the observance will be:

Bernard Dill, Grand Knight of Quincy Council; Hugh Dawe, Grand Knight of North Quincy Council; and Timothy Donovan, Grand Knight of Ave Maria Council.

John Noonan, chairman of the Columbus Day Committee, will serve as moderator for the program.

$22 Million Needed In Tax Revenue

On the 1969 tax rate of $116.40, the tax would be $1,164.

A $2,000 assessment abatement to widows and veterans brings the assessment down to $8,000 and the tax bill to $931.20 –a reduction of $232.80.

For those over 70, the $4,000 assessment abatement brings the assessment down to $6,000 and the tax bill to $698.40–a reduction of $465.60.

"We urgently request that these people deduct the amount of the abatement from their tax bill and pay it prior to Nov. 1," Houston said.

He noted that on that $10,000 assessment, veterans, widows and those over 70 would have to pay $7.76 interest penalty per month for each month the bill has not been paid.

Thank You

For your vote of confidence in nominating me for the School Committee

MODERN BUSINESS--The Doyle and Long Fuel Oil and Equipment Co. has kept up with the latest improvements in the heating and air conditioning industries in order to afford its customers the absolute best in total home comfort. Standing in front of the office he opened 25 years ago is owner and president Thomas Doyle, [right] and manager Jeremy Hayes.

DOYLE & LONG

"Doyle & Long sells total home comfort not just fuel oil," says Tom Doyle, president and founder of the Doyle & Long Fuel Oil and Equipment Co.

"We are a retail fuel oil service and sales company, but also deal in air conditioning, humidification, dehumidification and incorporating electronic air cleaning to give the home a constant temperature and humidity level."

Tom Doyle started his company in 1945 in Wollaston with a borrowed truck. He now has a fleet of eight fuel trucks and over 2000 regular customers spread throughout the South Shore and Metropolitan Boston areas.

The Doyle & Long Fuel Oil and Equipment Co. has kept up with the new improvements in the constantly changing heating and air conditioning business. They employ the services of a professional heating engineer to cope with heating problem in any type of heating system.

A private industrial weather forecasting agency to obtain the best weather data for the company's 100 percent automatic delivery system, is a recent innovation at Doyle & Long. All of the firm's trucks are radio dispatched in order to implement the orders more efficiently.

"We like to feel that we're doing all that we can to satisfy our customers," explained Doyle. "The best service must be available to our patrons even if it is just answering a question."

Doyle & Long Fuel Oil Co. is available for service to its customers 24 hours a day 365 days a year even if it is just to answer a question.

HOUSE CALL

By Dr. Charles Djerf
Pediatrician

Potpourri

Last weeks' article alluded to misdemeanors on the part of certain people, requiring a Gulliver approach to bring them to others' attention. I have long been convinced that most human expression is uncommunicable and that we should seriously reflect before expounding. This would result in continued listening, attentively and with the realization that whatever the other person said didn't amount to much anyhow, and if no emotional explosion challenged his remarks.

He would recognize that the merry echo rebounding ineffectively would be his own ineptness and make him appear as a pointed monologist.

Have you caught yourself starting to talk before your friend even finished his remarks? We ought to have classes - not for speed reading but speed talking - which is monologous - so why talk at all!

For ten years, at the Boston Floating Hospital, we were privileged to have Dr. Orvan Swensen as Surgeon-in-Chief. I, as many others, were thrilled and pleased at his operative excellence. Frequently, even today, people nostalgically recall his surgical artistry and the human friendly understanding he exuded. His friends and admirers will be pleased to hear that he has been chosen to receive the Ladd Medal for his contributions to surgical research and innovations. This award will be presented at the American Academy of Pediatrics meeting this October. It is refreshing to recall a person of renown, dignified in his art and human in his understanding - benign in humility and equanimity to the families. The advantage of a surgeon is in his doing when an emergency exists. The poor pediatrician is often recognized for his steering in the right direction. Oh well - there have to be traffic officers too.

Do you have a First Aid Chart? If not - ask your Pediatrician for one - or my office. It is attractive - up to date and simple. It briefly recommends treatment for bruises, scrapes, cuts, puncture wounds, slivers, bites or stings, burns and scalds, severe burns, fractures and sprains, eye injuries, nosebleeds, fainting, convulsions, head injuries poisoning, choking and artificial respiration. This is the newest chart prepared at the American Academy of Pediatrics.

I am sure if the requests arise that your Doctor can send for this card at a low cost - when the occasion arises such a card, for advice, is worth while and so is the Poison Center. Aloha.

Presidents At Everett

Quincy Eyes Third Straight Victory

If Quincy's football team continues to show the same improvement Saturday at Everett Stadium that it showed in last week's game with Revere, the Presidents stand an excellent chance of making the big Everett club their third straight victim and their sixth in a row over a two-year span.

The Greater Boston League game gets underway at 1:30.

Han Conroy's Presidents overcame most of their opening day mistakes and came from behind for a 14-8 win over Revere in what was tabbed as the early season "game of the year" in the GBL. This win followed a fumble and penalty-packed 15-0 nod over Brockton in a non-league opener.

"We played a good game and were much improved over our opener but we still made mistakes and unnecessary penalties again hurt us and put them in position for their touchdown," Conroy said.

"Our offense came through again and the defensive line did a terrific job. Kevin Ryan did a great job at quarterback and Paul Picarski [both touchdowns] was the driving force of the team. This game will give us a big lift, but I expect plenty of trouble with Everett, always one of the top teams in our league."

Everett will be looking for its first win following a 34-14 loss to unbeaten Newton, one of the Suburban League powers, and a 26-14 loss to Somerville, defending GBL champ, last week. However, Everett played Somerville even after the champs had scored twice within two minutes of the opening period on an 88-yard pass play and a 96-yard run.

Picarski, Ryan and sophomore Steve McCarthy were lauded by Conroy for their work on offense. Picarski carried 15 times for 49 yards and both touchdowns, McCarthy 15 times for 50 yards and Tom Daley added 28 yards on nine carries.

"And give our pass defenders loads of credit," Hank said. "After we scored the winning touchdown, they drove to our 18 and threw three passes but Richards, with Rick Pettit's help on the second, knocked down two of them and Dave Omar led a terrific pass rush which forced their passer to hurry his pass and it was partially deflected by Omar. These were very big plays for us and saved our bacon."

Quincy's fired-up defense held Revere's running game to a net of 78 yards. Also, Quincy did a good job of ball control, running 64 plays to only 46 for Revere, a 14-0 winner over North Quincy in its opening game.

Picarski put Quincy ahead when he drove across from the one with 2:48 remaining in the first period. Ryan kicked the point. Ryan spearheaded the drive with exceptional ball handling and running. He ran 11 yards to the one to set up Picarski.

In the second period Picarski was tackled in his end zone to give Revere what loomed as a big two points. It was Quincy 7-2 at the half.

Al Petrilli picked Quincy's defense apart with his passing in the third period as he moved the club 64 yards in five plays and scored himself to put Revere ahead, 8-7.

It was Picarski who regrouped Quincy's defense which stopped Revere's vaunted passing game the rest of the day. Provost made his key punt return midway in the final period, going to the Revere 15 and, following pass interference, Picarski scored the winning touchdown from the two. Ryan again kicked the point.

Meyer, Lane In Lineup For Lafayette Freshman

Both Don Meyer and Joe Lane, members of North Quincy High School's 1968 football team, were in the starting line-up last week as the Lafayette College freshman football team opened its season against the Bucknell College freshmen.

Meyer, 5-11 and 195 pounds., started at line-backer while Lane, 5-10 and 175, played in the defensive backfield.

Lafayette, whose football fortunes have been on the rise lately has done quite a bit of recruiting in the Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Massachusetts areas. Freshmen Football coach George Azar commented, "We do have some talented performers this year and we are working to get them together as units. Overall, I feel our size this season is good."

Point Panthers Continue Winning Streak

By PETE CHELLA

This Sunday the Manets challenge the Panthers long winning streak and the Elks will take on the Apaches in a twin-bill at Veterans Memorial Stadium starting at 1 p.m.

The North Quincy team lead the Panthers 8-6 at half time but the champs held the challengers scoreless in the final two frames while scoring a touchdown in the final period to pull out the victory 12-8.

In that game Tony Trubiano scored for the Panthers on a slant over left tackle that covered 23 yards. In the final quarter, Peter Pino sped 35 yards for a touchdown on an end sweep.

Houghs Neck Manets won their first game of the year by downing the Elks. Art Boyle scored twice for the winners on runs of 35 and two yards. A two point conversion was scored by Rich Howard on a sweep around right end. The Elks scored their points when Paul Donoghue teamed up with Andy Sferuzza on a 60 yard pass play.

Starring for the Elks were Paul Donoghue, Bill Kelly, T. J. Sullivan and Jim Cahill offensively. On the defense Ken Kelly Joe Maivesti and Jerry Durante played well for the losers.

North Host To Malden

Raiders Hoping To Explode Saturday

The North Quincy and Malden football teams, both winless in two games, are due to explode and North fans hope it will be the Raiders who do it when the Greater Boston League rivals clash in a 1:30 p.m. game Saturday at Veterans Memorial Stadium. It will be the Raiders' home opener.

North, inexperienced and with a new coach, threw an early scare into powerful Weymouth last week but the Maroons erupted for a 28-6 victory in a non-league game at Weymouth's Legion Field. The Raiders had bowed to Revere, 14-0, in their opener.

The game was the first between North and Weymouth since 1963 when Weymouth won, 14-12. The Raiders haven't defeated Weymouth since 1947 when they took a 7-0 decision. The rivals began their series in 1933. North's first year of football, and played every hear until 1953. They revived it in 1962 and 1963. Weymouth now has won 18 and North Quincy six.

Meanwhile, Malden, with a veteran squad and highly rated this fall, hasn't been able to get untracked, losing its opener to Waltham, 26-12, and Haverhill, 27-14, both non-league games.

"We lost to a mighty fine Weymouth team and their quarterback [Tom] McMahon is as good as I've seen," North coach Ralph Frazier said. "He was tremendous running and, although he didn't pass too much, he hurt us with some fine passes. They scored just before the half ended and then scored their final touchdown with just 10 seconds to play."

McMahon, one of the area's better quarterbacks, scored one touchdown, passed for two more and kicked all four extra points.

"Tony Kelly did a very fine job for us on offense, running well and scoring our touchdown on a nice run," Frazier added. "Our guards, John Hemphill and Rich Constantino, blocked well and on defense Jimmy Sarruda was outstanding at the right corner. However, Weymouth was able to control the ball throughout most of the game and didn't give us a chance to run many plays."

North gave its fans a thrill early in the game when Kelly returned a punt 30 yards to Weymouth's 45 and three plays later raced 34 yards for the touchdown.

Weymouth came back and McMahon, a 210-pounder, drove across from the four and then kicked what proved the winning point.

With time running out in the half he hit speedster Bob Morin, one of the top trackmen in the state, with a 40-yard scoring pass and added the point for a 14-6 halftime lead.

McMahon passed to Tom Higgins for a 35-yard scoring play in the third period and in the final quarter Dennis McLaughlin scored with the clock showing just 10 seconds remaining.

"We booted one good chance when we recovered a Weymouth fumble and went down to their 30 but then bogged down and they took over," Frazier said.

"We have, in my opinion, faced two of our strongest opponents in the first two games and I still think we will come along and win some games. However, I expect plenty of trouble from Malden. I'm surprised they haven't won as I understand they have a big veteran club. Our scouts were very impressed with them despite their loss to Haverhill."

Friday night at 7:30 movies of last week's Weymouth game will be shown at the high school. The public is invited. Movies of the previous week's games will be shown each Friday night during the season.

TOUCHDOWN BOUND is North Quincy's Tony Kelly on a 34-yard sprint for a 6-0 lead over Weymouth in opening moments of play. But it proved to be the only scoring for the Raiders as Weymouth bounced back for a 28-6 victory. [Quincy Sun Photo By Robert Leo Eng]

N.Q. Cross Country Team Leads League

Bob Gentry's North Quincy cross country team, enjoying the best season in the school's history, continues to lead the Greater Boston League with a 4-0 record following its biggest win, a 26-29 squeaker over previously unbeaten Medford Monday.

"This was one we had to win and if we beat Malden Thursday [today] we will be in extremely good shape," Gentry said. Going into today's meet Malden also was 4-0.

Last week North blanked Chelsea, 15-40, as Affsa, McCormick and Henry finished hand in hand for first place, Richie Yee was fourth, Monti fifth, Hughes sixth and Strungis seventh. Matt Clancy placed 10th.

A wrong turn by a Quincy runner Monday cost George York's Presidents their first win as they were edged by Chelsea, 26-29. The runner, certain to finish third, was disqualified when he took the wrong turn. Quincy's soph sensation, Bob Ciano, and Peter Laing placed 1-2 as they have done in every meet this fall. The other scorers were Jim Conso, Ed Mariano and Paul Straughn, who joined the team only recently.

Last week Ciano and Laing again were first and second but Quincy lost another toughie to Everett, 27-30.

Today, while North faces Malden, Quincy takes on Medford in meets at Pine Banks in Malden. The next meets will be Oct. 20 when Quincy faces Malden and North meets Everett at Medford. In the season's finale on Oct. 23 Quincy and North meet at Malden.

Quincy, North Soccer Teams In Wins

Both the Quincy and North Quincy High Soccer teams were victorious in their South Shore Soccer Association competition.

Vin Bertrand scored twice and Rich Brown once for the Quincy team which clinched the win with two goals in the final period. Brown and Russ Barry had the assists.

While North Quincy was enjoying a day off last week Quincy was walloping Plymouth-Carver 7-2.

In that game Bertrand scored three goals, Rich Brown had two and Bruce Carlson knocked in two as Quincy showed its best offensive punch this season.

Improved Giants At Home To Firebirds

By CHARLIE LOWE

The Quincy Giants open a two-game home stand Saturday night when they face the powerful Pottstown [Pa.] Firebirds, leaders of the Southern Division of Atlantic Coast Football League at Veteran's Memorial Stadium at 8 p.m. Pottstown defeated the Giants 49-3, two weeks ago at Pottstown.

Giants fans can look forward to several more squad changes for Saturday night's encounter. Coach Ross O'Hanley revealed that defensive back Willie Porter [Texas Southern] will be back after a two-game absence and that recent Boston Patriots waived players, Art McMahon [No. Carolina State] and John "Bull" Cagle [Catawba] may join the team. If they do, and O'Hanley feels they will, they may be joined by former Philadelphia Eagles and Atlanta Falcons defensive back Bob Shann [Boston College]. This will give the Giants some real solid major-league caliber football players, all of whom will be concentrating on defense.

The Giants nearly pulled the upset of the season when only a blocked field goal by Gus Carias with nine seconds to play prevented a win against the league-leading Hartford Knights, last Saturday night in Hartford. The Giants lost 19-17. Their record is now 1-3.

O'Hanley noted that the players put out their best effort of the season. "It was 1,000 percent better than against Pottstown. This week we have to maintain the same momentum.

"It's frustrating putting out the kind of effort they put out and still lose. We were behind twice and came back and once were ahead by a point."

Tom Tyler, [Holy Cross] the recent acquisition when Don Allard was hurt, will once again start at quarterback with Allard as the back-up man. O'Hanley felt the 6-3, 200-pound Tyler turned in a good game and deserved a winning one.

Pottstown, according to the Giants head coach, has the most exciting team in the league, led by Jim "King" Corcoran its quarterback who has been with New York and the Patriotes in his well-traveled career. Corcoran is the swinger-type and likes to think he's the minor-league Joe Namath.

Pottstown is coached by Steve DeFilippo [Fordham] and assisted by the legendary Steve Van Buren, who set many running records in the NFL with the Philadelphia Eagles in the 40's and 50's.

Tickets for the game are on sale at the Giants office at 10 Temple St., and from any member of the Quincy Lions. The Lions are sponsoring the next home game, Oct. 18 against the Bridgeport Jets led by All-America Brian Dowling of Yale at quarterback.

LINEBACKER ED KOONTZ

Dee Joins Giants As Vice-President, Coach

Dee will have complete charge of the defensive line beginning immediately as the Giants prepare for Saturday's important clash with the powerful Pottstown Firebirds at Veterans Memorial Stadium at 8 p.m.

After an outstanding collegiate career at Holy Cross, Dee played professionally with the Washington Redskins and for eight years with the Boston Patriots. While with the Boston club, he was an All-AFL selection five times at his defensive end position as well as being defensive captain of the club.

He was the first player ever signed by the Pats and he had the honor of scoring the first touchdown in the history of AFL. This occured when Dee pounced on a Buffalo fumble in the end zone in an exhibition tilt against the Bills in 1960.

Giants' League May Merge With Continental Loop

The Quincy Giants have only played two home games this year, but already, President Bob Hotin is looking forward to next season.

The reason? The League will possibly expand to 10 or 12 teams from the present roster of eight, and just might merge with the 26-team Continental League. This would give a combined minor-league, coast-to-coast from the Canadian border to the southern extremities of the United States.

Hotin said, "Cosmo Iacovazzi [Atlantic Coast Football League Commissioner] is presently looking at Norfolk [Va.], Dayton [Ohio], Jacksonville [Fla.] and Charlotte [North Carolina] as cities into which to bring franchises of our league. But plans are being worked on to merge with the Continental League which goes all the way to the West Coast.

The Continental League this year absorbed the eight-team Texas League and now operates with three divisions: East, West and Texas.

"Our league champions this year will play the champions of the Continental League in a minor league playoff and we hope to have it televised and we are attempting to have Curt Gowdy [NBC] cover the game as the announcer," Hotin revealed.

If all this comes to pass, it means that Quincy will be involved in the largest sports venture ever attempted in the city. It will also mean that the city through its Giants football team will be the subject of conversation [at least] in our country, end-to-end.

Hotin and his coaching staff are being very realistic about this year's operations. The whole group has adopted a long-range attitude. Any time the team wins this year will be considered as a bonus. Next year and the following campaigns will be the goals to strive for.

By bringing in proven professional operatives as Bob Dee and Ed [Butch] Songin to assist Head Coach Ross O'Hanley and lighten his tasks, the basic steps have been taken. The next and an important one will be corraling bona-fide football players and this they intend to do.

–CHARLIE LOWE

Nightmare, Anyone?

When things go wrong, they go all wrong.

In no way alibiing for his team's 49-3 defeat at Pottstown, Pa., three weeks ago, Bob Hotin, president of the Quincy Giants of the Atlantic Coast Football League revealed that some times there are extenuating circumstances.

"We left Logan Airport," he said, "on a charter and were supposed to land at Reading, Pa.

Instead we landed at Allentown. I don't know why. It's an hour-and-a-half flight. We landed at 3 p.m. Allentown is quite a bit farther than Reading from Pottstown. No truck [for equipment] was waiting nor was a bus [for players].

"We had to find a bus, and a truck. The bus driver took many wrong turns and we finally got to the Pottstown field 20 minutes before the game and the players had not eaten. It didn't help their morale.

"On the way back after the game to the airport to come home, the bus driver went under a bridge too low for the bus and crumpled the top. He backed out and we went on only to wind up on a dead-end street in an auto graveyard. Instead of being home at 1 a.m. our team finally arrived at Logan at five in the morning. So, I really can't be too critical of the players. It was a very harrowing experience for them."

Giachetti Sets Pass Reception Record

THE WAY Tufts' Rich Giachetti, via North Quincy, catches passes, opponents sometimes think he does it with a basket. With 124 caught so far in his career, he could fill several baskets.
[Donald T. Young Photo]

Last Saturday was a big day for Rich Giachetti, former North Quincy football star and currently one of New England's outstanding ends while shining for Tufts.

Giachetti, the Jumbos' co-captain and senior class president who owns most of Tufts' pass receiving records, became the most prolific receiver in New England college football history.

Rich caught 10 passes to bring his career total to 124, surpassing the record of 121 set by Trinity's Ron Martin a year ago. His receptions in the 40-13 romp over Colby were good for 125 yards and a touchdown.

The Quincy star was given the game ball by his mates following the game and the modest ex-North standout said, "I wish I could cut this up into several pieces because so many of my teammates made the record possible."

Four Quincy Residents Named To Wentworth Institute Posts

Four Quincy residents are among new appointments to faculty and administrative staffs of Wentworth Institute, Boston, for the 1969-70 academic year, announces Dr. H. Russell Beatty, president.

Wentworth, which offers a two year program leading to an Associate degree in Engineering or Applied Science, is the largest accredited and endowed technical institute in the United States.

The Quincy residents are:

O. Joseph April, 56 Maypole Rd., an instructor in Civil Engineering courses including surveying, engineering materials and construction. He is a graduate of Wentworth Institute and Northeastern University.

Barbara Collins, 338 Manet Ave., controller. She is certified in accounting by Bentley College.

John H. Dunlop, 208 Billings St., and instructor in Foundry Processing.

Robert J. Walsh, 28 Wollaston Ave., an instructor of Physics. He is a graduate of Northeastern University.

Pavan To Attend Law Conference In Los Angeles

City Solicitor, Harry Pavan, will attend the 34th annual conference of the National Institute of Municipal Law Officers in Los Angeles, Oct. 12 - 15.

Subjects to be discussed by the more than 500 Municipal Attorneys, will cover problems creating the urban crisis, including: City Disturbances; Environmental Improvement; Noise Controls and Pollution Control; Pornography; Mass Transit; Building Construction; Municipal Labor Relations; Taxation; and Intergovernmental Relations.

The National Institute of Municipal Law Officers [NIMLO] is owned by municipalities and operated by attorneys of member municipalities. It maintains files on municipal legal experience to which municipal attorneys might turn for solving problems never before encountered.

The Institute has its headquarters in Washington, D.C., and has a full-time legal staff to conduct its functions, including the operation and management of its library and files, the editing of publications and the handling of all requests for assistance from member municipalities.

Sweeny, LaRaia, Hannon In Strong Bids

votes behind the challenging Hannon.

Also nominated for school committee were James F. Harrington, a 22-year-old telephone company employee, with 2,672 and Planning Board member George C. Smith, Jr., with 2,214.

Eliminated were William J. Hurley, 2,190; Jospeh F. McConville, Jr., 1,925; Richard D. Gould, 1,557 and Paul A. Ladas, 1,461.

One of the three school committee seats at stake in the Nov. 4 final election is vacant. Dr. Charles Djerf has stepped down after 16 years' service.

Tobin, top vote-getter Tuesday, paced the eight-man field for council at-large, with 6,182.

Quinn was second with 5,200 and LaRaia third with 4,885 –just 315 behind Quinn and 846 in front of fourth-man McDonald who polled 4,039.

LaRaia is making his first return to the city political arena since he was defeated by Mc Intyre in a mayoralty bid in 1965. He had served six years as Ward 2 councillor and two years as president.

Also nominated for council at-large were Atty. Maurice R. Horrigan, 2,218 and Mrs. Alice I. Kowilcik, Squantum mother of six and only woman in the election, who polled 2,208.

The two most interesting ward council battles were staged in Wards 4 and 5.

Incumbent Albert R. Bariaro was top man in Ward 4 with 783 votes. Joseph P. Shea, a 24-year-old foods firm sales representative, edged Norman W. Cutler, Jr., 30-year-old designer and products engineer by 13 votes for the second nomination. Shea polled 493 and Cutler, 480. A possible recount looms here.

In Ward 5, incumbent Walter J. Hannon was easily renominated with a vote of 1,010. Atty. William D. Delahunt making his first bid for office, nailed down the second nomination with 836–only 174 votes behind.

Incumbent Clifford H. Marshall piled up a 1,147 vote in Ward 2. Robert W. Page, restaurant owner, won the second nomination with 577. Warren F. Spencer was eliminated with only 24 votes.

Ward 3 Councillor John F. Koegler was an easy winner with a vote of 771. Second nomination went to Pasquale S. Di Stefano, a driver education administrator who polled 771.

Eliminated from Ward 3 contention were Fred J. Prezioso, DiStefano's first cousin who had 194 votes; Richard W. Corner, 185 and Louis J. Caruso, 77.

In Ward 6, Council President J. Vincent Smyth was an easy winner with 1,034. Jens E. Thornton self-employed lobsterman, took the second nomination with 252, edging Harold J. Gallagher who polled 217.

Sending Christmas Gifts Overseas? Follow These Dates, Methods

Postal and Military authorities have compiled the following list of instructions and mailing dates for sending Christmas gifts to members of the Armed Forces serving overseas.

OCT. 13 to NOV. 8

[Surface Transportation]

Packages travel by train from postoffice of mailing to port of embarkation and by ship to overseas destination.

OCT. 20 to NOV. 22

[SAM Packages 5-Pound Limit]

SAM [Space Available Parcel Airlift]. Packages travel by train to port of embarkation and airlifted from that point to overseas destination on a space available basis. Surface parcel post costs and no additional cost for airlift overseas.

OCT. 27 to NOV. 29

[PAL Packages 30-Pound Limit]

PAL [Parcel Airlift]. Packages are airlifted, on a space available basis, from the postoffice where mailed to the military installation overseas. The cost is $1, plus the surface parcel post cost to the port of embarkation.

DEC. 1 to DEC. 13

[REGULAR AIR PARCEL POST]

Full air service guaranteed. Especially recommended for late mailings of Christmas gifts. Full air parcel post costs to port of embarkation.

George K. Walker, Officer-in-Charge of the Boston Postal District, emphasized the need for strong packages and cushioning material within the package. A duplicate copy of the address should also be placed inside the package. He said that mailers should designate the type of service desired; ordinary surface, SAM, PAL, or Air Parcel Post.

Prior to package preparation, local postoffices should be consulted as to the specific prohibitions of articles to certain military postoffices, giving to the postoffice the APO or FPO number. Cigarettes, other tobacco products, coffee and other items are prohibited in parcels addressed to some military postoffices.

The military address must be complete in every detail, including the ZIP CODE which is an integral part of the military address.

Both SAM and PAL packages are limited to 60 inches in length and girth combined.

A five-pound SAM package from Boston to Vietnam would cost $1.60, a 30-pound PAL package, $7.05.

Christmas cards for Armed Forces overseas are at domestic rates: Six cents whether sealed or unsealed, and 10¢ for air mail. Air mail cards can be sent up to Dec. 13 to assure holiday delivery.

Custom forms are required on packages to many overseas destinations. Local postoffices can advise where necessary and furnish the forms.

For Christmas mailings to civilians in foreign countries, taking into consideration the normal length of time of transit, irregularities of steamship sailings to some destinations [in the case of surface packages], customs inspections and other formalities that packages containing merchandise may be subject to in countries of destination, surface and air packages should be mailed by the following dates to reach addressees before Christmas:

SURFACE PACKAGES

Canada and Mexico	Dec. 5
South and Central America and Europe	Nov. 15
Africa and Near East	Nov. 1
Far East	Oct. 15

AIR PACKAGES

Canada and Nexuci	Dec. 46

State Street South Moves Ahead

The $100 million State Street South commercial — residential complex planned for the Montclair marshes has been given a vital green-light.

Mayor James R. McIntyre said today the state Department of Public Works has approved the necessary piping of Sagamore Creek in the marsh area.

McIntyre and South Street Bank and Trust Company officials called the piping of the creek essential for the project to proceed.

The Mayor said he expects follow-up approval from the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

At a meeting of the Quincy Taxpayers Association this week, John N. Dwyer, vice-president of the State Street bank and project head, declared:

"State Street South will be a monument to what private initiative and governmental cooperation can achieve."

Dwyer said the $100 million complex will "have a salutary effect upon the tax rate and will generate other facets of the private economy to the taxpayers' benefit."

He praised city officials and the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce for their cooperation in locating the project here.

"We sensed in our surveys that the Quincy area was on the move and I believe, sincerely, that State Street South will add considerable momentum to that movement," he said.

He also told the Taxpayers Association that the new complex should attract the kind of businesses which will broaden the tax base and increase, rather than diminish, the attractiveness of the area.

"There are uncounted business and service facilities which will be attracted over the next few years to Quincy, the Greater Boston Area and the South Shore as a result of this new complex", he said.

The strong residential pull of the area will also be enhanced and we can begin to see dimly through the years ahead a new, exciting, prosperous era, where environmental control which will work to insure the preservation of what is best now as well as enabling us to plan the best for the future.

Pretty Stewardess Helps United Fund To Take Off

If you need something done, give it to a busy man, to do.

Better still, give it to a busy woman.

Take, for example, Mrs. William D. Delahunt of 31 Elmwood Park, who has volunteered to serve as Neighborhood Chairman for Quincy in the Massachusetts Bay United Fund campaign.

She is an Eastern Airlines stewardess and, two days a week, flys from Boston to San Juan.

But she is finding the time to help put over a drive to help those in need.

A native of Hamm, Germany, she believes the United Fund is "The American way" to help others.

Her husband, an attorney, is assistant clerk at Norfolk County Superior Court, Dedham.

They met on a student ship enroute to the United States five years ago.

He had been studying in Rome and she, a graduate of Marian Schule Girls School in Hamm, was on her way to the United States to study the English language. She had been employed by Sperry Rand in Lucerne, Switzerland.

MRS. WILLIAM DELAHUNT

Darr Taxpayers Head

Other officers elected were:

F. Peter Fee, first vice-president; Anthony Losordo, second vice-president; Mrs. Dorothy Campbell, third vice-president; Dr. B. Lawrence Shalit, treasurer; Dr. Phillip McCarthy, assistant treasurer; members at-large, Russell Scammell; Arthur Gillis and Mrs. W. Robert Kilbourn.

Mayor Threatens Court Action Against MDC

Mayor James R. McIntyre is threatening to take the Metropolitan District Commission to court if necessary to alleviate morning traffic jams at Neponset Bridge.

Mayor James R. McIntyre is threatening to take the Metropolitan District Commission to court if necessary to alleviate morning traffic jams at Neponset Bridge.

McIntyre said the congestion between 7 and 9:30 a.m. has become unbearable for Quincy residents trying to get into Boston.

"The MDC is trying to funnel traffic from Hancock St. and Quincy Shore Drive into two lanes during these rush hours and it is just too much squeezing," the Mayor declared.

"We have asked the MDC to make the traffic four lanes one-way north during these hours but so far our pleas have fallen on deaf ears."

The Mayor said he will ask Gov. Sargent to intervene in the city's behalf.

"If there is no response from the Governor, I will have no alternative than to take the MDC into court," he declared.

The traffic has been made two-lane during construction of the new $5 million Neponset Bridge.

"The construction will take another year and a half to complete," the Mayor estimated. "Quincy cannot stand this traffic mess. I just cannot understand why this cannot be worked out. There is a solution."

The Mayor noted that Quincy pays the fourth largest assessment of the 39 communities in the Metropolitan District Commission area.

"This year we were assessed for $1.5 million," the Mayor said. "This represents more than $8 on our tax rate. For this amount of money I think we are entitled to a little service and consideration."

Five Named To Commission To Head Government Center

Five prominent Quincy businessmen-civic leaders were appointed today to the Quincy Government Center Commission to carry out plans for the proposed multi-million dollar municipal complex.

Named by Mayor James R. McIntyre were:

–Bernard V. Dill, executive director of the Massachusetts Purchasing Group, an organization that acquires FHA and VA loans in the national market for more than 200 banks and other institutional investors.

–Anthony Losordo, builder-developer, president of Frank Losordo Sons, Inc., and treasurer of Sevenel Inc., and past president of the Home Builders Association of Greater Boston, a 500-member affiliate of the National Association of Home Builders.

–John E. Tormey, Jr., New England District Sales Manager for several Divisions of Zurn Industries, former quality control manager General Dynamics' Quincy Division and Bethlehem Steel Co.'s Quincy Shipyard, with service on several joint U.S. Navy and Industrial Committees.

Mayor McIntyre also appoint-

'Hong Kong' Flu Vaccine For City's Senior Citizens

The city Health Department has begun a vaccine innoculation program for elderly Quincy residents to protect them against a threatened outbreak of "Hong Kong" flu this winter.

Dr. John T. Foley, Health Commissioner, stressed that the flu is not expected to reach the epidemic stage.

"Because of this and the very extensive innoculation program last year we do not feel there is a need for a mass vaccine program," he said.

"Recipients this year will be primarily senior citizens."

Dr. Foley noted his department has already started innoculating elderly patients in Quincy nursing and rest homes.

A program to innoculate other senior citizens will be carried out in cooperation with the Quincy Council on Aging, he said.

Fewer Eligible To Vote Than Two Years Ago

Fewer Quincy residents will be eligible to vote in the Nov. 4 city election than two years ago.

Going into last night's registration deadline approximately only 100 new voters had enrolled since the Oct. 7 preliminary election.

For that election, exactly 44,258 voters were eligible to vote. As of last night the total was about 44,358.

In 1967, there were 44,886 eligible voters for the city election of that year.

Election officials believe the lack of a hotly contested mayoralty race has kept the new voter registration down.

They said apparently more registered voters are moving out of the city than new ones moving in

Greetings From Vietnam

Editor, Quincy Sun:

I want to congratulate you on your first anniversary of the Quincy Sun. I am receiving the Quincy Sun here in Vietnam, and let me tell you something I look forward to reading it every week.

I want to thank you for giving me a chance to be in Quincy again although I'm many miles away.

I am with the 101st Airborne Div. and we are working around the City of Hue.

Our next operation will be to secure Hamlets around the City and help the people build their homes and schools once again. Once again I would like to congratulate and thank you for such a wonderful paper, the Quincy Sun.

A Faithful Reader,

'Splendid Reporting'

Editor, Quincy Sun:

On the occasion of the first anniversary of the QUINCY SUN, the Quincy Citizens Association wishes to extend to you our congratulations for splendid reporting in the past year, and to wish you every success in the future.

The QUINCY SUN has been most cooperative in giving our meetings coverage and in affording the residents of Quincy an opportunity to hear what their fellow voters think in regard to current problems in Quincy.

We are happy that Quincy now has more than one newspaper – competition is healthy in any business – and we hope the QUINCY SUN will continue to grow and prosper under your devoted and professional guidance.

Again, our best wishes to you.

Laurence J. Curtin, President

Dorothy C. Kelly, Secretary

'Thank You'

Editor, Quincy Sun:

We wish to thank you for advertising our need for volunteers to help pattern our daughter Bonnie.

Now we have quite a few Quincy people added to our list of volunteers, which without your help we would not have gotten.

Again we say many thanks to everyone on the Quincy Sun.

Sincerely yours,

Mr. & Mrs. Paul Sullivan

Mayor Proclaims Week In Honor Of Student Nurses

Mayor James R. McIntyre has proclaimed this week as "Student Nurse Week" in the City of Quincy.

The Mayor in his proclamation said the increasing need for nurses has placed a great burden on hospital administrators and nursing school directors.

"We in Quincy are aware of the efforts, often in the face of great odds, of hospital administrators and nursing school directors to offer adequate educational experiences to prepare well qualified nurses for the future," McIntyre declared.

Cranch Hill Assn. Candidates Night Next Tuesday

The Cranch Hill Association will hold a Candidates' Night, Oct. 21, at 8 p.m., at the Covenant Congregational Church, 315 Whitwell St.

City election Candidates – mayor, city council and school committee, will be asked to express their views on a number of issues including, Planning Board proposal. The board plans to rezone residence A property in the Upland Rd. and President Lane areas to the high density category.

Other topics expected to draw interest are the dumping problem and the acquiring of adequate playground facilities for the neighborhood children.

Quincy Woman To Entertain Elderly During Holidays

Mrs. Kathryn Rivera, 81 Union St., Quincy will head a group of local entertainers to tour Nursing Homes and Senior Citizens facilities in the area during the holiday season.

Mrs. Rivera is professionally known as June Clayton and recently returned from a tour of summer stock.

Those interested in auditioning are asked to call 471-3154 between 6 and 7 p.m.

DOUBLE HONORS–Anthony DiTocco, Sr., first member of Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers International Union Local 52, presents honorary membership card to Mayor James R. McIntyre. Sunbeams

For a man in top management, Mayor James McIntyre seems to be shining in labor circles. Over the holiday weekend, he was honored by two unions.

Granite Lodge No. 1451, International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers presented him with a plaque at its 30th anniversary dinner-dance "for outstnding contributions to organized labor."

And, the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers Local No. 52 made him an honorary member. It cited him in part: ". . .because of his concern for his fellow man, [he] put into being a construction program to the benefit of all the citizens of Quincy."

Incidentally, only two others have been so honored by Local 52 in its history. The others: former Mayor Thomas S. Burgin and Architect Paul Coletti.

* * *

LOOKING AHEAD: Two city councillors campaigning for re-election this year are doing so with one eye definitely on 1971. Both John J. Quinn and Arthur Tobin will be mayoralty contenders–if Mayor McIntyre steps down.

* * *

HELPING HANDS: Mrs. Alice Kowilcik, campaigning for council at-large as the only woman candidate in this year's city election, has some hefty help in the male department. Husband, Thaddeus, is on vacation this week and painting signs for her. Son, Peter, a Vietnam veteran, is cutting stencils.

THE DROP in Quincy voter registration figures is attributed by some observers to the apartment construction boon in the city.

Apartment dwellers, they contend, usually aren't too interested in city elections and don't register until there is a state or Presidential election.

Going into last night's registration deadline, Quincy had approximately 44,358 enrolled voters–a drop of about 500 from 1967.

[Quincy Sun Photo By Robert Leo Eng]

Student Nurses Reject Moratorium

Student nurses at Quincy City Hospital observed "Moratorium Day" yesterday–by not observing it.

They had voted to ignore "Moratorium Day" in favor of their on "Pledge Day". They pledged to write letters to U. S. servicemen in Vietnam expressing support of their efforts there.

"We want them to feel that some of us back here support them. So, instead of observing the moratorium, we will send letters of support to the boys who are actually doing the fighting."

American flags fluttered yesterday outside of Gordon House, the student nurses' residence on Whitwell St. And a big, red, white and blue poster proclaimed: "We Support Our Boys In Vietnam."

It was sent as an inquiry concerning our intentions for observance of Moratorium Day, she said.

A ballot was drawn up to poll the students. There were two choices on the ballot: [1] to ignore the moratorium and to send a supportive letter to soldiers in Vietnam, and [2] to observe the moratorium.

The final tally clearly demonstrated that the nurses were in favor of non-observance, she said.

Miss McKinnon, who drew up the ballot, said that as far as she was concerned anyone who demonstrates against the war is not accomplishing any immediate good for the soldiers who are now involved in the fighting.

Organizations Co-Sponsor Candidates Night Oct. 29

Voters of Quincy will get the opportunity to see, hear and evaluate nominees for Mayor, Councillors at-large, Ward Councillors and School Committee at a "Candidates Night" October 29 at 7:45 p.m. in the Quincy YMCA auditorium, Coddington St.

The program is being sponsored jointly by the Quincy Citizens 'Association, Merrymount Association., Montclair Men's Club, Quincy Koch Club, Wollaston Park Association, Wollaston Heights Civic Association, Society for the Preservation of Marshlands, the Germantown Shores Improvement Association and the John Quincy Adams Club.

Other civic and fraternal groups have expressed interest in the affair and confirmation of their participation is expected soon.

Problems and proposals such as revaluation, MBTA, a $15 million government center, new schools, conservation, open dumping, rising tax rates, Expo '76 are expected to be discussed.

Laurence J. Curtin, president of the Quincy Citizens Association will serve as moderator.

Two Recounts Scheduled At City Hall Today

Recounts requested by two candidates in Quincy's preliminary election Oct. 7 are scheduled for today [Thursday] at 5:30 p.m.

City Clerk John M. Gillis will supervise the recounts to be held in the City Council Chamber.

Norman W. Cutler, Jr. who lost a Ward 4 city council nomination bid to Joseph P. Shea by 13-votes has asked for a recount in that ward. Shea polled 493 votes to Cutler's 480.

Smith won the sixth nomination in a 10-man field with a vote of 2,214. Hurley was seventh with 2,190.

City Hall observers cannot remember–in recent times–a recount changing the final outcome of a contest although there have been shifting of votes on several occasions.

Here Comes The Bride

By Mabelle

One of the longest and most involved subjects in regards to weddings is the invitation. In today's column I will give you general information and if you have any questions write to me in care of the Quincy Sun.

Do get the best paper you can afford. Ivory is the most formal. There are several different types of print which your stationer will show you. Select one that is easily read and in black ink. Engraving can be very expensive. If it is beyond your budget use engraveofect. As the word indicates it gives the effect of engraving and few people can tell the difference but your pocketbook will know.

When addressing the envelopes, again use black ink. Write carefully and clearly. With the exception of Mr and Mrs. do not use abbreviations. You may use a return address written neatly on the upper left corner or back flap. This was once tabu by leading authorities but is now accepted as correct.

All invitations come with two envelopes. The larger one has a gummed flap and is addressed with the full name and address. The slightly smaller one is the inside envelope and is addressed, Mr. and Mrs. Doe, omitting first name and address. If other members of the family are to be invited and are under age their first names are added below. Never use the phrase "and family".

May I deviate a bit here and say to guests, if your children's names are not on the inner envelope then they are not invited. The bride and her family mean no offense by excluding them but the line has to be drawn someplace and a wedding is really an adult affair.

Now back to invitations.

The invitation is folded once with wording on outside. Reception and respond cards are inserted in center fold. The invitation and cards are then inserted into INSIDE envelope with the fold down and page one facing the back of envelope.

Insert the INSIDE envelope with the name facing the back of OUTSIDE envelope and seal. Place your stamp neatly in position and they are ready to mail.

Do start this task as early as possible, writing a few each day. Checking addresses and spelling can become a chore, especially if left to the last minute. Mail to three to four weeks before wedding date.

Miss Frances Ruggiano Wed To Arthur Kabilian

At a double ring ceremony Oct. 5 at St. John's Church, Quincy, Miss Frances Ruggiano became the bride of Arthur Kabilian. The Rev. Mark Sheehan officiated at the ceremony. A reception followed at Montello's, Quincy.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ruggiano of 271 Water St., Quincy. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Kabilian of Dorchester.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white Victorian gown with aleeon lace over peau de soie en train with cathedral sleeves trimmed with seed pearls. Her illusion veil was arranged from a crown of seed pearls and she carried a cascade of miniature baby breaths and white roses.

Mrs. John Ralston of Braintree was the matron of honor. She wore an empire gown of leaf green-georgette on peau de soie, trimmed with satin, with matching headdress and carried a bouquet of assorted fall flowers.

The bridesmaids, similarly gowned in Mimmosa-gold georgette were: Mrs. Albert Braga of Norwell and Mrs. Domenic Mignosa of Quincy both aunts of the bride; Miss Cindy Braga of Norwell, cousin of the bride and Miss JoAnn Vecchiola of Quincy.

Kathy Staffieri, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. She was attired similarly to the matron of honor. Andrew Morradian of Hingham, the bridegrooms cousin, was the ring bearer.

Serving as best man for his brother was Richard Kabilian of Quincy. Ushers were, Charles Kabilian and James Kabilian of Dorchester; Andrew Ruggiano and John Ruggiano of Quincy.

After a wedding trip to Bermuda the couple will live in Quincy.

The bride is a graduate of Quincy High School. She is employed as a bookkeeper by the Hancock Bank in Quincy.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Charlestown High School and is now employed by A. T.& A. Construction Co. in Newton. He recently completed a tour of duty in Vietnam.

Come, Let Us Reason Together

By Dr. William F. Knox
Personal Counselor

'The Bedtime Problem

Bedtime for many couples is the most critical time in their relationship. During the day there are children....friends....and the daily routine of work and responsibilities. By bedtime...children in bed....[and most other people].....it's just the two of you....with no diversion except each other. If you have a good relationship, this is a beautiful time. If you love each other and like each other, you can talk...joke....discuss plans for the children....for vacation....for the new home....the old parents....relax... and then sleep restfully. But if you do not have a good relationship earlier in the day, this may be a horrible time. You can feel utterly trapped with one woman....with one man....lonely ....greatly depressed. If he/she has caused anger to rise in you, you are in no mood to lie down in that bed with him/her for rest and sleep.

I remember the many midnight calls from persons embroiled in the "bedtime problem". The sexual relationship....that's the most common problem at bedtime. Rejections cause hostility....hot words....accusations.... threats....hurts....sometime violence, because every temper has its limits. I remember being called to a home one night....walked in to see the wife standing naked in the corner screaming threats at her husband....he stood with his eye spurting blood where she had gouged him shouting ugly accusations at her. Why? It all started because she had refused the sexual relationship for no valid reason.

A call at 2 a.m. from a couple married four years....the drapes had been pulled from the windows....the children were up and crying....both the husband and the wife had been drinking and their suspicions and fears had come out in anger....hauling up past blunders and whipping each other unmercifully with cutting words....not an uncommon "bedtime" scene.

Frequently the counselor gets a flock of calls in the morning.... "How soon can we see you?.... We just can't take another night like last night."....especially on Monday mornings with, "We just can't take another such weekend." Of course, teeming numbers of couples do nothing about their "bedtime problem"....they just go on and on....it gets a little better for a while then the anger builds up for past hurts ....the body chemistry reaches the point demanding sexual release....there is indifference or rejection by one....and bang!.... here we go again. Some couples have gone on for years this way.

Children when grown often continue the same "bedtime problem", and now as adults they sit in the counselor's office telling him of the fear and shivering they felt as little children at their mother's crying....their father's threats....the slamming doors ....ending up with one sleeping on the couch....or one flying out of the house into the car to take off into the night. As with smoking, "like father, like son".... "like mother, like daughter".

What's the basic cause of this "bedtime problem"? Attitudes ....faulty attitudes toward each other....toward sex....toward life ....often it all comes out at "bedtime." For many, bedtime is a dreaded time.

To go on and on with the "bedtime problem" is ridiculous and destructive. How different than to look forward to bedtime when a couple cuddles together in true man/woman love and devotion....feeling strength ....and peace....and happiness.

Medicare Hospital Patients To Pay $8 More

Older people who enter the hospital under Medicare next Jan. 1, or later will be responsible for an additional $8 of their hospital bills, a mandatory increase required by law, Frank Culkin, manager of the Quincy Social Security office announced.

The increase results from a provision in the law requiring an annual review of hospital costs under Medicare, and an adjustment of the portion of the hospital bill for which a Medicare beneficiary is responsible if these costs have risen substantially.

Medicare now pays all but the first $44 of a Medicare beneficiary's hospital bill in each spell of illness.

In announcing the increase in the deductible amount from $44 to $52, Culkin noted that the hospital bill for an average stay by a Medicare beneficiary now runs about $700. The increase of $8 that a Medicare beneficiary will pay effective in January, is a result of the long term trend toward increasing hospital costs and also, results in part from general inflation.

The hospital deductible amount, Culkin explained, is intended to make the Medicare beneficiary responsible for expenses equivalent to the average cost of one day of hospital care. It is similar to the deductible amounts provided in many auto insurance policies where the car owner pays the first $50 or $100 of a repair bill, and the insurance company pays the rest.

The law states that if this annual review shows that hospital costs have changed significantly, the hospital deductible must be adjusted for the following year, with any necessary adjustments made in dollar steps–to avoid small annual changes.

Culkin said that when the hospital deductible amount changes, the law requires comparable changes in the dollar amounts that a Medicare beneficiary pays toward a hospital stay of more than 60 days, or a post-hospital extended care stay of more than 20 days. These amounts also will go up beginning Jan. 1, 1970.

When a Medicare beneficiary has a hospital stay of more than 60 days he will pay $13 a day for the 61st through the 90th day, up from the present $11 per day. If he has a post-hospital stay of over 20 days in an extended care facility, he will pay $6.50 per day toward the cost of the 21st day through the 100th day, up from the present $5.50 per day.

If he needs to draw on his lifetime reserve, the reserve account a beneficiary can draw upon if he ever needs more than 90 days of hospital care in the same benefit period, he will now pay $26 for each day used, instead of the present $22 per day.

For Medicare beneficiaries who enter a hospital before the end of this year, the hospital deductible amount will be $44 rather than $52, Culkin pointed out. Also, the dollar amounts they will pay toward the cost of a hospital stay of more than 60 days or for post-hospital extended care more than 20 days will be payable at the present rate–even though the services may be provided in 1970 rather than in 1969.

The Quincy Social Security District Office is located at 1431 Hancock St., Quincy, Mass., and the telephone number is: 471 - 3500.

100,000 DOCTORS HAVE QUIT SMOKING CIGARETTES

HERE'S WHAT: When many doctors first started smoking cigarettes, they didn't know the risks they were taking. Now they know -and are quitting by the thousands. Play it cool. Let the facts turn you off-before you're hooked!

FACTS:

- Cigarette smoking is the major cause of lung cancer.
- The risk of death from lung cancer is more than 10 times greater for cigarette smokers than for nonsmokers.
- Every year, over 40,000 lung cancer deaths are caused by cigarette smoking. With every cigarette you smoke, you lose an average of six minutes of life.

CITIZENS OF QUINCY

RE-ELECT Your Present School Committeeman

FRANK ANSELMO

1. Pledged to expanding the use of present school facilities to cope with increasing school enrollment; while at the same time curbing new construction, until home owners are given some relief from the galloping taxes.

2. During the past four years, I have opposed busing of out-of-city pupils to Quincy. My opposition is based not only on overcrowded class rooms, but also because the expense is not justified, and because money could be spent more advantageously to provide better neighborhood schools. Today the great majority of black people do not favor busing. They want better local schools, and they are beginning to get them.

3. Pledged to an intensive survey of our high school program. As only about 25 out of 100 students go to college, much more must be done for those that do not, in order to direct them towards knowledge and skills for useful and productive lives.

4. I have and will continue to oppose the circulation in our school system of literature of an obscene and vulgar nature. In this stage of character development this type of literature can be extremely harmful to the young student.

Apart from education, in the council campaign of 1967, I opposed the "gift" - [not sale] of the Quincy City Hospital, as proposed by expert consultants. Today my judgement is verified. The Hospital is operating at a substantial profit, to the benefit of our City.

I pledge myself to a sound educational system; with due regard to the already overburdened taxpayer, of whom I am one.

Broad Meadows Students Tests Oct.28

More than 100 ninth grade Broad Meadow Junior High students will take the three-hour National Educational Development Tests [NEDT] Oct. 28, announces James P. Sullivan, guidance counselor.

"The NEDT battery," Mr. Sullivan said, "is a series of tests in English, social studies, mathematics, natural sciences, and word usage designed to measure each student's ability to apply basic learning skills rather than his ability to memorize facts.

"We will use the test to help students, parents, and teachers identify individual strengths and weaknesses in each student's educational development and in making a realistic appraisal of his educational and vocational goals."

Published by Science Research Associates, Inc., the NEDT battery was constructed under the direction of SRA's Test and Evaluation Division. It has been administered to more than five million students throughout the country since it was introduced in 1959.

Presidents Seek No. 4

Quincy Set For Malden Aerial Attack

Quincy's undefeated football team, improving in every game, has been working hard on pass defense this week in anticipation of an aerial attack when it faces Malden in a 1:30 Greater Boston League game Saturday at Malden.

Assistant Coach Dave Burke saw Malden defeat North Quincy, 29-6, last week, and saw enough of the Golden Tornado's passing strength to warrant a lot of work on pass defense this week.

One of Coach Hank Conroy's big jobs will be to find some big men to put on Malden's huge ends, Steve Caiazzo and Jim Mirley, who ruined North. The Raiders' smaller defenders could not contain them.

Quincy is 3-0 on the year following an impressive 29-6 romp at Everett last week and has a six-game win streak carrying over from last season. It was the Presidents' first win over Everett in five years.

Prior to defeating North, Malden had been upset by Waltham 26-12, and Haverhill, 27-14, in non-league games.

"We are looking better in every game but will have to be at our best to beat Malden," Conroy said. "I hear they looked very strong against North Quincy and also looked good in the two games they lost."

Quincy's defense, strong all year, was again outstanding at Everett, and Conroy was pleased with the improvement in the team's offensive. The Presidents dominated the game from the start.

"We moved the ball very well," Hank added. "Kevin Ryan played another fine game at quarterback and called a good game. He kept the attack clicking and had plenty of help from our other backs. He is developing into a really fine all-around quarterback."

Conroy received some more excellent performances from Paul Picarski, Tom Daley and Rich Menchi, and praised his entire defensive unit, which bottled up Everett's attack throughout the game.

"We are still making mistakes but they are getting fewer in each game," the Quincy coach continued. "If we can just keep improving as we have so far, we should hold our own against anyone. We have some of the league's toughest teams coming up including Medford and Somerville, and we are going to have to work hard to win any game from here in."

The Presidents opened the scoring on a 30-yard touchdown pass from Ryan to end Billy Maver, who has been coming along well and has been playing well both ways. Ryan then hit Picarski for the two points.

Later in the first period, sophomore Steve McCarthy broke loose and galloped 90 yards for the second touchdown providing the biggest thrill of the contest. Ryan then kicked the first of his three points.

It was a big afternoon for young McCarthy. He also shook loose on a 65-yard sprint. In just six carries, he piled up 177 yards.

In the second quarter Menchi intercepted a pass and returned it 35 yards for the third touchdown and Ryan again kicked the point.

There was no scoring in the third period but in the finale Daley raced 40 yards for the final Quincy tally. Ryan again kicking the point. Late in the game Everett's John Romboli broke loose for a 40-yard touchtown run, providing the home club with its lone score.

Our Lady Hockey Team To Seek Funds This Weekend

Members of the Our Lady of Good Counsel Church boys' hockey team will seek needed funds this weekend to finance the new season.

The boys will be outside of the church after all masses Saturday and Sunday to receive contributions.

The team has been in operation for three years and has brought championships to Our Lady of Good Counsel Church during that time.

Hansen is proud of the fact that of the 17 boys on the original team, half have gone on to college with scholarships.

Last year more than 75 boys were active in the Pee Wee program. This year if the fund raising is successful, the program will continue. Coach Hansen is anxious to get as many boys as possible into the program. However, ice time and money to pay for it is a problem.

Hansen cites the fact that none of his boys have been a delinquency problem, and that most of his boys have gone on to college on hockey scholarships.

Quincy To Schedule Weymouth South As Brockton Replacement

Last week's Quincy School Committee decision to drop Brockton as a football opponent, thus ending a long and interesting rivalry, caused a number of raised eyebrows, not only in Brockton but in Quincy. Brockton was Quincy's oldest football rival.

Brockton officials reportedly were extremely upset by the decision, and there apparently are people here in Quincy unhappy over the verdict.

There seems to be merit in the decision, however. Brockton has only the one public high school and its enrollment is much bigger than that of Quincy.

"The request to drop Brockton had been forwarded to me previously," said Athletic Coordinator Carl Leone. "I had thought about it and I agree with the school committee's decision.

"We have had trouble in Brockton games before, although it was not all their fault by any means. This and the fact that Brockton's enrollment [4500 students] is much larger than ours, was a factor. Also, it gives us a chance to play the new Weymouth South High School, which will be a natural rivalry. North Quincy also hopes to schedule Weymouth South."

Leone added that Brockton has been "an exceptional rival over the years, but Weymouth South as an opponent will be even more exceptional. South is looking for games and there's a lot of natural rivalry between our communities."

"There will be great fan interest in a series like this, scheduling Quincy and North with them fits perfectly in our plans. Weymouth South should be nearly the same size as our two Quincy schools."

Quincy, a member of the eight-team Greater Boston League, schedules two non-league games each season. The other is Weymouth.

"I think the competition between the two Weymouth Schools and the two Quincy schools will be excellent," Leone added. "Coming from a city with two schools and two football teams, I know how it is. They, too, will have some extra special years. Of course, not as many as one school would."

Raiders Seek First Win

North Beefing Defense For Medford

The North Quincy football squad has been working extra hard on defense this week in preparation for Saturday's 1:30 Greater Boston League game at Veterans Memorial Stadium against a tough Medford team.

The Raiders have been putting much time into pass defense as they hope to get victory number one after a 29-6 loss to Malden last week.

As was the case against Weymouth the previous week, North scored first and led the Golden Tornado until the final 28 seconds of the half. Then, the roof fell in during the second half when North was outclassed by the visitors, whose huge pass receivers ruined the Raider defenses.

Medford takes a 3-0 record into Saturday's game following a thrilling 21-20 league win over Somerville last week. The Mustangs had previously beaten Boston Latin, 12-8, in a non-league game, and walloped Chelsea, 32-0, in the league.

For one half last week North played at its finest but the second half was a complete turnabout.

"We really played well in the first half and I honestly thought we had a chance," Coach Ralph Frazier said. "But they killed us with their passing in the second half. We couldn't contain their big ends and we were soon out of it. Their first touchdown with only 28 seconds left in the half seemed to give them momentum, but we started the second half well, picking up a quick first down, but then it was all Malden. They have a very good club and I knew they would be tough despite two earlier losses."

Poor punting hurt North's cause. The Raiders kicked five times but most were for short yardage, putting Malden in good field position.

Two bright spots for North were the passing of Paul Lippens and the receiving of Dan Zink. They combined on four nice passes, one for the lone touchdown, in the first half.

"Paul had been alternating with Dan O'Malley at quarterback but he had a hot hand in the first half so I left him in there," Frazier said. "I think we will do more passing in the future. Zink and Jerry Mulcahy are fine receivers."

Frazier preferred not to single out any linemen until after he had seen the game movies but hailed the passing of Lippens, the receiving of Zink, the fine play of the other end, Mulcahy, and the running of Tony Kelly and Steve Tomasetti.

North's troubles started early as the bus failed to arrive to drive the players to the stadium and they had to travel by private cars, arriving only minutes before the kickoff.

Then, early in the game, Lee Davis took a Malden punt and returned it down the sidelines 63 yards for an apparent touchdown only to have it nullified by a clipping penalty.

Malden gained a net of 149 yards on the ground to only 24 for North. Malden completed 10 of 19, most thrown by Perry Verge, for 101 yards and two touchdowns [they also set up a third], while North hit on eight of 23 for 129 yards. Malden had 16 first downs, 11 in the second half and six by passing. North had eight only two in the second half and six on passes.

Neither club moved at the start, exchanging kicks and North failed to advance after the costly clipping penalty. Malden, mainly on passing, moved to North's 24 but the Raiders took over on their 19 as the first period ended.

Lippens hit Zink for a 35-yard completion, threw to Kelly for 10 yards and finally hit Zink for 16 yards and the touchdown.

North recovered the kickoff which bounced off a Malden player and drove all the way to Malden's 17 thanks to a Lippens to Zink pass for 19 yards and one to Kelly for 12. However, another pass was intercepted on the 15 and returned to the Malden 45.

North's Jim deVarenns intercepted a pass on the next play and ran it back to the Malden 45 but another clipping set the Raiders back in their own territory.

North was forced to kick and Malden drove from its 49 in seven plays, a pass from Verge to big Steve Caiazzo clicking from the six for the tying TD. Another pass to the same giant scored what proved to be the winning points.

North came out and started the second half fast but following a punt, Malden drove to its second score.

A pass to another huge end, Jim Mirley, for 36 yards brought the Tornado to the North 26, another to Caiazzo went to the three and Co-Capt. Dave Moulton, an outstanding two-way performer, scored. Another pass to Caiazzo added the points.

Malden drove from the 50 for the third touchdown, which came on three passes, one to Mirley for 25 yards, another to Caiazzo for 10 and finally one to Dick Eason for the touchdown.

Lippens completed two passes to Mulcahy, one for 18 and the other for 10 but the next one was intercepted and Malden held the ball until the end.

Moulton and Nate Lincoff were superb on defense, expecially in the second half, resulting in North backs being dumped for losses on several occasions.

BALLET OF MOTION is caught by camera as North Quincy's Ken Murphy brings down Malden's Marty Hatch and Steve Murray [27] dances in on play. Action came late in the game.

Quincy, North In Soccer Wins

Tim Flynn scored two goals with George Bourikas and Dave Haight getting one each for the raiders. North now has a 6-1 league record.

In Quincy's game Bruce Carlson opened the scoring for the Presidents in the first period. Other goal getters for Quincy were Lavori, Curtis, Carlson again, Brown and two by Carelli.

Quincy and North each won last week to stay tied for first place in Division One of the league.

North had to go all out to edge Avon, 3-2, after Avon's Scott Bradwin had scored two goals in the last four minutes of regulation time to tie the score. North went on to win in the second overtime period on George Bourikas' goal on a penalty kick.

North had scored in the second period on Steve Mullaney's goal and made it 2-0 in the fourth period when George McCall scored on a rebound shot. Then came Bradwin's two late goals for Avon.

Quincy nipped Sharon, 3-2, on two last period goals. Quincy took the lead in the opening session on the first of Bruce Carlson's two goals. Carlson scored again in the finale and Vin Bertrand scored the winner.

Extra Gym Class For Women At 'Y'

An additional class in "Gymnastics for Women" is scheduled at the Quincy YMCA for Tuesday mornings from 9 to 9:45 a.m., starting Nov. 4 with Nan Collins as instructor.

This class is for women who do not need the kindergarten and nursery service and find it more convenient to attend an earlier session. The regular programs remain the same.

Giants Hope To Notch First Home Win

BY CHARLES LOWE

Ross O'Hanley, head coach of the Quincy Giants, is beginning to think he's sounding like a broken record.

His constant references to "improvement" and "mental errors" embarrasses him, but there's no other way he can point up the causes for the team's five losses.

"We're improving every week," he said, "and we hope to improve even more by Saturday night. If we can show the same rate of improvement we can, I think, give the fans our first home win of the season."

The Giants, 1-5 in Atlantic Coast League competition, will be facing the Bridgeport Jets at Veteran's Memorial Stadium, in a game sponsored by the Quincy Lions for they Eye Research and Rehabilitation Fund. The 8 p.m. contest, as usual, will be under lights.

The squad in fact bears out O'Hanley's analysis. It's last four games have been against the top two clubs in the league, the two who should be playing for the championship later this fall: Hartford [Conn.] Northern Division and Pottstown [Pa.] Southern Division. Hartford won at Quincy 31-3 and was nearly upset at the Nutmeg state capitol, winning 19-17. Pottstown won the first of the two, 49-3, and then had to break a 14-14 tie last Saturday at Quincy to win 28-14.

"We've been playing the class of the league and are still coming along, getting better each week. We've played well in our last two games defensively and our offense is starting to put points on the scoreboard," continued O'Hanley.

Two more excellent players were added last week and performed well: Bobby Shann [Boston College] who had a three-year career with the Philadelphia Eagles as a defensive back and John "Bull" Cagle [Clemson] recently dropped by the Patriots. Cagle is a defensive end.

KICKING SPECIALIST BRANT CONLEY

"Shann will be of great help when he gets himself into playing condition and gets his timing down," said O'Hanley. "Cage, we knew would be all right, because until a week ago, he was on the Patriots squad."

The shining lights in last week's heart-breaking loss to Pottstown were the performances of wide receiver Bobby Leo [Harvard] and running back Paul Della Villa [Boston College]. Leo took a Don Allard [B.C.] pass, put a good move on a defensive back and covered 75 yards into the end zone for the Giants tying touchdown. Della Villa carried the ball 14 times and picked up 74 yards, 23 of it on a burst up the middle on the way to the Giants first score. He also caught two passes for 16 yards.

Tickets for the game Saturday night can be had at the Giants office at 10 Temple St., Granite City Coal Co., Quincy Travel Service, Colletta Brothers, Duggan Brothers, South Shore Buick, Blacker and Holland Lumber Co., Shea's Formica Center, Atlantic Fuel and Joe's Barber Shop in Squantum.

The Quincy Elks will sponsor the Nov. 1 game against Richmond [Va.], and the Quincy Kiwanis will sponsor the final home game against the Long Island [N.Y.] Bulls, Nov. 15.

Jets Think They May Be Wild About Harry

Harry Theofilides will be out to prove a point Saturday night at 8 p.m. at Veteran's Memorial Stadium.

Harry who, you ask?

Well, up until three weeks ago he was the number two quarterback for the Washington Redskins, waiting on the sidelines in case anything happened to its ace Sonny Jurgenson. Nothing did, and in fact at cutdown time, Head Coach Vince Lombardi had the chance to pick up Frank Ryan, the former All-Pro quarterback who was dumped by the Cleveland Browns. He did and asked Theofilides to join the Skins taxi squad. Harry told him what he could do with his cab group.

Ray Mathews, former Pittsburgh Steelers halfback, now head coach of the Bridgeport [Conn.] Jets, affiliated with the World Champion New York Jets, consulted with Weeb Ewbank, boss of the parent club, made Harry an attractive offer, and took him on with Bridgeport.

Theofilides has been installed as Number One quarterback for Bridgeport shunting Brian Dowling [Yale], dropped earlier this year by the Minnesota Vikings into the backup position.

Theofilides, 5-10, 180-pounds, is no stranger to Atlantic Coast League competition. A graduate of Waynesburg [Pa.] College he led the Virginia Sailors [now Roanoke] to the ACL crown in 1967. He had an outstanding record at Waynesburg in '64 and '65.

Theo is far from happy in his present setup and will be out to prove that he is a major league quarterback and deserving of another chance. "I have no bargaining power right now, because the season has started.

"Who the hell is Frank Ryan anyway? I made Washington's 40-man team, and just because Ryan had a bigger name, Lombardi picked him up. I told him [Lombardi] what he could do with his taxi squad."

Mathews noted, "Harry's been in the big league's. I've seen him in action and he knows how to read a pro defense. He's also a leader. He's getting to know our system and our receivers."

In case Theo falters, Dowling, winner of the Gridiron Club Award last spring as New England's outstanding college player, who set all kinds of records at Yale, will take over.

Thus Bridgeport is another of the ACFL teams that possess quarterback tandems that are necessary to insure successful seasons. The Giants, no doubt will be in for an interesting night. –CHARLES LOWE

North Outruns Everett

Paul Affsa remained undefeated in Greater Boston League competition as North Quincy High outran Everett in a cross country meet Tuesday for a 21-38 win.

Affsa finished first for North Quincy. Other raiders who scored were: Pat McCormick third, Kevin Henry fourth, Ed Monti fifth, Richard Yee seventh, Matt Clancy ninth and Jeff Strungis tenth.

Quincy High's Bob Sciano and Pete Laing finished first and second respectively but the Presidents lost to Malden 20-32.

Tom Plante, Ed Mariano and Paul Moore also competed for Quincy High in that meet.

Last week North was handed its first defeat by unbeaten Malden, 25-35, although Affsa won again to remain undefeated for the season. North's Kevin Henry, the team's most improved runner, was second but Malden took the next five places to clinch the victory. Pat McCormick of North placed eighth, Ed Monti 10th and Richie Yee 11th.

Earlier in the week the Raiders defeated Milton Academy, 22-34, in a non-league meet as Affsa won again, Monti took third, Yee fourth, Andy Hughes sixth and Henry eighth.

Quincy dropped a 23-42 decision to Medford as sophomore sensation Bobby Ciano was defeated for the first time, finishing second and Pete Laing third. Jim Conso was eighth, Ed Mariano 14th and Charlie Uhlar 15th.

Quincy and North meet next Tuesday as the league winds up its first season. The meet will be run at Pine Banks in Malden.

Lack Of Thump Big ENC Soccer Problem

Lack of thump has been the major problem of the Eastern Nazarene College soccer team this fall.

"The team is passing the ball well," said first-year coach Bob Jack, "but we're missing that one player who can consistently finish the play off."

The one player who was expected to be a consistent scorer, Steve Shoff [Manchester, Conn.] is scholastically ineligible this semester. Without Shoff the team has reached the half-way mark of the season with a 3-3 record.

Brett Seeks Acquisition, Preservation Of Harbor

Rep. Joseph E. Brett [D-Quincy] has filed a bill to authorize the state Department of Natural Resources to acquire control of Boston Harbor and its islands and to preserve and maintain the area for conservation and recreation purposes.

The bill calls for an appropriation of $5 million for costs of acquisition and development of the islands for water-oriented recreational uses.

Brett said his bill, if approved, would undoubtedly result in the killing of any possibility of using the harbor for the site of a world's fair in 1976 or for future use as housing or industrial development."

A section of the bill would abolish the special commission established in 1966 to study the possibilities of using the harbor and its island for such purposes.

The bill defines Boston Harbor as the water area between a line drawn from Point Allerton to outer Brewster Island, to Graves Light to Deer Island thence to Castle Island. This excludes the inner harbor area which is largely devoted to commercial and industrial uses.

Ryan Speaker At Governor's Conference

Quincy Recreation Director William F. Ryan will be a leading participant in the first Governor's Conference on Recreation to be held today [Thursday] at the State House.

Ryan will head a discussion on recreation needs and programs for the handicapped.

The conference, with the theme "United Action For Recreation: Tomorrow's Challenge" is co-sponsored by the state Department of Natural Resources and United Community Services of Metropolitan Boston, the voluntary health and welfare planning council.

Germantown Yacht Club Holds First 'Closing Night' Ceremony

CLOSING NIGHT for the Germantown Women's Yacht Club was a well attended affair. Principal figures included Commodore James M. Connors, South Boston Yacht Club; Geraldine Connors, Commodore Germantown Women's Yacht Club; Rt. Rev. James J. Keating, St. Sebastian Country Day School and Boston Fire Department chaplain; Mayor James R. McIntyre and Vice-Commodore and Mrs. Bernard Reisberg, Metropolitan Yacht Club. [Quincy Sun Photo By J. W. Ross]

The Germantown Yacht Club perhaps the most exclusive sailing club in the state, recently held its first annual "Closing Night".

The Germantown organization is the only yachting group in the commonwealth whose membership is limited only to women.

"Closing Night" was held to celebrate two of the club's achievements: climax of a successful first yachting season and the granting of its charter by the state.

Officers of the club are: Commodore Geraldine Connors; Mrs. John Costello, vice commodore; Mrs. Thomas Sheehan, rear commodore; Mrs. Herbert Hanson, secretary; Mrs. Paul Sheehan, treasurer and fleet captain Isabelle Fields. The ladies were accompanied by their husbands.

Head table guests were: Rt. Rev. James Keating and Mayor James R. McIntyre.

Youth Football League

Panthers, Apaches Keep Rolling On

The rich became richer in Quincy-Youth League Football last Sunday, as both the Panthers and the Apaches defeated the Manets and Elks, respectively.

This Sunday, the Elks will meet the league leading Panthers in the feature game at 1 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The Manets and Apaches will clash at 1:30 p.m. in the co-feature.

The final Panther TD came on a pass interception by defensive guard Mike Maggiani who sprinted 42 yards to pay dirt. Johnston hit Trubiano for the points after.

Art Boyle, who has been doing an outstanding job all year long for the Manets, scored the lone tally for the Houghs Neck team on a 38 yd. sweep. Also playing well for Manets were Bob Lane, Rich Howard and Bond Doucette.

Outstanding players for the Panthers included Mike MacLean, Mark Walter, Richard Della Barba and Dean Gambino.

In the co-feature the Elks threw a scare into the mighty Apaches by taking a 6-0 lead into the locker room at halftime. That score came on a 25 yard pass from Paul Donoghue to Jim Cahill. The Apaches came out after the half to score eight points in the third frame on a 66 yard punt return by Jim Evans.

The North Quincy team scored twice in the final quarter. Their first score of that period came on an 11 yard pass from Jamie Doherty to Paul Williams. The extra points were scored by Evans on a sweep. The final Apache score was by Jack Hatfield on a three yard sweep.

Ward 2 Civic Assn. Praises Summer-Winter Projects

The Ward Two Civic Association has praised two city officials for summer and winter projects.

Theodore DeCristofaro, chairman of the association's Board of Directors, thanked Park-Recreation Board Chairman James F. McCormick, Sr. for the maintenance of beaches in that area.

DeCristofaro also complimented Public Works Commr. John M. Browne for undertaking a program to train personnel in snow removal.

"We realize that it is a very difficult job to keep the beaches clean with the limited personnel in your department," DeCristofaro wrote McCormick.

He cited the "wonderful cooperation" received from Park-Recreation Executive Secretary Richard J. Koch.

"The people of Ward Two were able to spend many enjoyable days on the beaches," DeCristofaro said.

In a letter to Browne, DeCristofaro said:

"The Ward Two Civic Association was very pleased to hear that a program for training in snow removal is being started in the city.

"We realize there are many problems in snow removal, and, after talking with you and Mr. [Alfred] Raymondi, we are satisfied that you are doing all that is possible to eliminate them."

Friendship Dance For Joseph LaRaia Oct. 23

A Friendship Dance for former City Council President Joseph J. LaRaia will be held Oct. 23 at 7:30 p.m. at the Neighborhood Club of Quincy.

Tickets may be obtained from them or at the door or by calling 472-5632 or 472-5677.

Alcoholics' 'Missing Link' Program Set For Oct. 23

"The Missing Link", a program to help alcoholics will be presented in the auditorium of the John F. Kennedy Health Center, 1120 Hancock St., at 10:30 a.m., October 23.

Walter Struck, director of "My Brothers' Place" in Millertown, N. Y., will explain how that program helps in the rehabilitation of alcoholics and what it has accomplished over the last five years.

John S. Levis, Commissioner of the Massachusetts Rehabilitation Commission will introduce Mr. Struck. Dr. James Dykens, Deputy Commissioner of the Massachusetts Department of Mental Health will be a member of a reaction panel.

Community leaders from service agencies, labor unions, clergy, members of Alcoholic Anonymous and Al-anon, and local legislators are invited to attend with the object of considering the feasibility of such a plan for the South Shore.

The meeting is being sponsored by the South Shore Committee on Alcoholism and will be chaired by Joseph A. Sullivan, president of the Norfolk County Labor Council, who is also chairman of the committee.

Other members are Arthur DePietro, liaison for the United Fund and the labor unions; Russell O'Connell of the Quincy CAP program; Roger Sergio, director of the South Shore United Fund; Mrs. Benjamin D. Manton, executive director of the South Shore Mental Health Association; Frank T. Broderick, Local 589; George H. Demming, Local 3920; Joseph O. Broduer, Jr., Local 1451; Charles M. Johnson, Local 90; Richard Glynn, Local 5; Ronald Orcutt, president Local 5 Shipbuilders Union; George MacPherson, financial secretary; and Edward Sharkey, financial secretary, Norfolk County Labor Council.

Paul Primavera, a supervisor from the Massachusetts Rehabilitation Commission has been the coordinator for this program.

Quincy Architect Designs $15 Million Hub Complex

The architectural firm of J. Glenn Hughes and Associates of Quincy designed a 23-story multi-million dollar motor lodge-restaurant-theatre-parking garage complex for the South Cove Area of Boston.

The multi-purpose complex will be built at a cost of $15 million on a 72,000 sq.ft. site at the intersection of Carver and Stuart Sts. It will be known as the "57 Building."

Construction is scheduled to start this month with completion expected by the summer of 1970.

Quincy Youth 'Walk' Funds To Aid South-West Nutritional Project

Quincy youth who raised $27,000 in a Walk for Development march last June, have selected a nutritional education project in South-West Quincy to benefit from proceeds.

Under agreement with the American Freedom From Hunger Foundation, 42.5 per cent of the amount raised was earmarked for a self-help anti-poverty project geared toward meeting nutritional needs in Quincy.

This will mean $11,362 for the South-West Quincy project, reports Russell E. O'Connell, executive director of the Quincy Community Action Organization.

O'Connell said tha youth representatives for the pastfive months had communicated with the Quincy Community Action Organization concerning nutritional needs in Quincy and feasible programs to meet them.

The Quincy Community Action Organization, Inc. is a private, non-profit corporation established four year ago to work toward the elimination of poverty here by opening to Quincy individuals families and groups the opportunity for education and training. The organization provides funds to conduct two Neighborhood Centers, one in Germantown the other in South-West Quincy.

The University of Massachusetts and the Norfolk County Extension Agency have been conducting a Nutritional Education Program in the Germantown public housing project. Purpose of the program is to hire neighborhood people, to be responsible for getting information and knowledge to their neighbors regarding nutrition, such as proper use of surplus commodities, consumer buying, preparation of meals, nutritional diets.

Purpose of the South-West Nutritional Education Project is to provide a nutritional education service for 250-300 low-income families in that area of Quincy. Neighborhood residents will be given the opportunity to apply for positions, then will be screened, selected, trained and supervised by a Home Economist and Nutritional Specialist from the Norfolk County Extension Agency.

The funds will be used for the salaries of six to eight half-time South-West Quincy residents working in their community. Responsibility to oversee the program will be delegated to the Quincy Community Action Organization, Inc., which will, in conjunction with the Norfolk County Extension Agency and the Youth of the Walk for Development, monitor and evaluate the program effectiveness. The funds will be used for a 12 month project.

ROBERT WHITMAN, manager of the South Shore National Bank's North Quincy Branch, discusses banking business with Ralph Pickering. The North Quincy Branch is celebrating its 30th year of operation this year.

The South Shore National Bank's North Quincy branch located at Billings Rd. and Hancock St., will mark its 30th anniversary in November.

For three decades, it has well served the area in a variety of financial matters.

The branch was a sort of pioneer in the growth of the South Shore National Bank. It was the second branch. Today there are 32 branches.

"We are basically an all purpose bank," says North Quincy Manager Robert Whitman. "Included in our portfolio are savings and checking accounts; business and commercial loans and foreign drafting."

"Foreign drafting is a process by which a customer can transfer a personal account or part of that account to an account in a foreign bank," explained Whitman.

"In a city such as Quincy where a large portion of the population is of foreign heritage this type of plan is significant. For example, if a customer wishes to send an amount of money to a relative in another country we will transfer the amount from his account to the account of the relative in a corresponding bank in that country."

"We also have a travel bureau incorporated into the bank," he continued. "It is a very popular service among the members of the bank. The bureau is open to those prospective travellers who are not patrons of our bank. After all, anyone that walks into the bank is a potential customer."

Mr. Whitman emphasized the security of his bank, stating that the South Shore National is "completely insured and bonded."

He went on to explain that further safeguards include an agency to scrutinize applications of new customers to assure maximum security and the financial protection of all involved."

New Manager Hopes To Make Quincy Yard 'The Best'

"We intend to make the Quincy division the greatest shipyard in this country."

That was the challenging objective set by Lloyd Bergeson, veteran General Dynamics and shipbuilding executive, as he took the helm at the Quincy Shipyard.

Bergeson was appointed general manager of the division and vice president of General Dynamics by Roger Lewis, president, Oct. 7.

He succeeds Robert V. Laney, who has been named a special assistant to the corporate president.

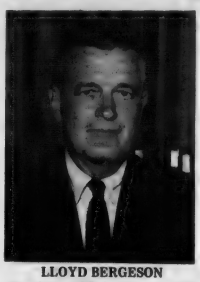
Bergeson stressed that the division's immediate goal is to establish financial and performance credibility with corporate headquarters, the board of directors and customers.

"Our number one goal," he said, "is to apply the individual and corporate discipline necessary to complete the considerable backlog of work we have in hand.

"We must complete ships of specified quality on schedule and within the man-hours currently budgeted, or less."

Closely associated with the Quincy shipyard during his 11 years as an executive at Electric Boat division, Bergeson made these observations on the current status of the yard and personnel:

–"I think this shipyard Facility now is second to none in the industry for its size.



–"Based on my knowledge of the yard under its past ownership, and the problems that have had to be solved by General Dynamics, I feel that great strides have been made here.

–"I am most impressed with the caliber and dedication of the management personnel I've met so far."

Noting the Navy's "well done" on sea trial condition of Milwaukee, AOR-2, Bergeson said the vessel reflects the high caliber workmanship of which Quincy is capable.

Rear Admiral John D. Bulkeley, president of the Navy's Board of Inspection and Survey, recently commended the division for the Milwaukee, which he described as a "significant improvement" over AOR-1.

"It was most heartening to see that AOR-2 was so well received by the Navy," Bergeson said. "We have the opportunity with follow-on AORs and with the pending delivery of the submarine tender L. Y. Spear to demonstrate further that the Navy can depend upon Quincy to meet its commitments in an outstanding fashion."

LLOYD BERGESON

He sees evidence of "great improvement in performance against budgets" in the shipyard, but he emphasized that considerable improvement is still required to establish the division's credibility.

"Tremendous improvements can and must be made in activities supporting production, such as timely issuance of plans and timely availability of materials in relation to schedule.

Bergeson recognized Quincy's disappointment over the DD-963 design competition being narrowed recently to two shipyards, but felt that valuable lessons were learned that will benefit the division of the future.

He stressed, however, that Quincy has not been eliminated from the destroyer program.

"If the Congress follows an announced intent to divide the contract among three shipyards, we intend to qualify for the program and be a participant in it."

Individual self-discipline in demanding accomplishment of respective commitments, he emphasized repeatedly, will be the key to success at Quincy.

"I firmly believe if we all put our shoulders to the wheel that we will establish the Quincy division as the finest designer and builder of ships in the industry," Bergeson concluded.

Bergeson, who is 52, has complete managerial responsibility for the Quincy shipyard, which General Dynamics purchased and opened Jan. 1, 1964, and which is engaged in the construction of naval and merchant vessels.

He was formerly a General Dynamics executive for 11 years, starting in 1951, at the corporation's Electric Boat division in Groton, Conn. He served as planning manager and manager of manufacturing services at Electric Boat.

He also coordinated all of the corporation's design and construction activities leading to production of the first U. S. Polaris submarine, USS George Washington.

In 1962, he became a self-employed industrial management consultant, and four years later was appointed as an executive officer of Litton Industries.

With Litton, he served as executive vice president of Ingalls Shipbuilding Corporation.

A native of Newton Centre, he attended Newton public schools and was graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1938 with a science bachelor's degree in naval architecture and marine engineering.

Prior to joining General Dynamic's Electric Boat division in 1951, he was assistant to the manager of the Hanford Operations Office of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission in Richland, Washington.

He is married to the former Carol Stokes of Moorestown, New Jersey. They have four children.

A Good Question:

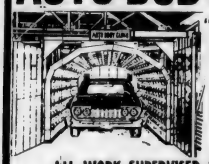
Fifth Graders Seek Answer To 'What Makes Man Human'

BY PETER CHELLA

Six fifth grade classes in Quincy are attempting to find the answer to "what makes man human".

Fifth grade pupils in the Cranch, Furnace Brook, Gridley Bryant, Miles Standish, Pollard and Wollaston schools are experimenting with a new course which attempts to give them insights into the anthropological development of man.

The course was developed by Jerome Bruner, head for Cognitive Studies at Harvard University. The study helps the pupils to understand the behavior of man and how he emerged from the animal world, by examining aspects of the animal world.



The children first study the life of a salmon. The salmon only lives for three years, long enough to give birth to offspring, 3,000 of them. Out of 3,000 eggs only three will live a full lifetime.

At this point in the study the students put down their books to discuss the reason why only three salmon out of 3,000 are able to survive. Eventually they come to the conclusion that the reason the young didn't survive was because the mother salmon dies after laying her eggs. There is no care and protection for the young.

The argument then takes on the human aspect of the study as the students discuss how our needs may differ as human beings. We are dependent on elders at least until the age of 16. What does this do for the life expectancy of a human?

This type of probing and conjecture on the part of the children demonstrates why this course is exciting to them. They are allowed to discuss, reason, compare and contrast, in this way they expand their perspectives. They learn to ask relevant questions.

Mayor Names Five-Member Government Center Commission

ed Carmen D'Olimpio, business agent of Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers, Local 52 as labor liaison to the commission.

"The Commission will initially have responsibility for formulating plans for the construction and acquisition of tenants for the Government Center," McIntyre said.

"The primary task is to see if we can get tenants and then proceed to build the center.

"The Commission will be the administrating and policy making body at this point for the Government Center."

Legislation filed by McIntyre was approved this year allowing appointment of the commission.

McIntyre's proposal is to construct a self-supporting $10 to $15 million Government Center and municipal auditorium diagonally behind the present City Hall.

Preliminary plans call for an approximate 14-story municipal center and an adjoining three-story civic auditorium.

The auditorium would have an estimated 1,500 to 2,000 seating capacity with meeting and function rooms and the capability of feeding 1,000 persons at special events.

The auditorium would also have two below-surface parking levels. These and the fifth floor of the nearby new MBTA Quincy Center station would accomodate an estimated 600 to 700 cars.

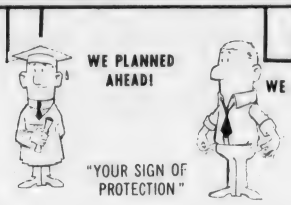
Plans also call for constructing a bridge linking the Government Center with the new 44-foot wide Upland Rd. which will be part of the new North-South artery. The bridge would be used for both automobiles traveling into and out of the Government Center and for MBTA buses to cut traffic congestion in the Quincy Sq. area.

The project study was carried out by Mayor McIntyre and Public Works Commr. John M. Browne and his staff.

The government center would give Quincy a long-needed new City Hall to replace the present 125-year-old one by using the first three floors of the structure for municipal offices and a City Council chamber.

Upper story office space would be leased to federal and state agencies–perhaps others–now located in the general Quincy area.

McIntyre said that by leasing space and renting the auditorium and function rooms, the complex could be a virtually self-supporting facility.



"We have a first caliber group of men willing to sacrifice a considerable part of their valuable time to play a key role in the continued growth of Quincy as the business and cultural capital of the South Shore," McIntyre said.

"We are very grateful to these men for accepting appointment to a very important body that will have a tremendous affect on the city's future."

Funeral Services Held For Mrs. Mabel Swensen

Funeral services were held yesterday for Mrs. Mabel [Anderson] Swensen, of 6 Presidents Lane, Quincy, civic leader and a director of the Quincy YMCA for 15 years. She was 77.

The Rev. William D. Underhill conducted the services, which were held at St. Chrysostom's Church, Wollaston. Burial was in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Born in Chestnut Hill, she had lived for over 60 years in Quincy and was widely known for her active interest in civic and community affairs.

Mrs. Swensen was a 15-year member of the Quincy YMCA Board of Directors, serving on the finance, membership and personnel committees.

She was chairman of the Salvage Committee of the Quincy Federation of Women's Organizations, which earned over $40,000 for the auditorium in the new "Y" building.

A past president of the Wollaston Mother's Club, she also served on the Board of Directors of the Red Cross, United Fund, Community Concerts Association and the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

Mrs. Swensen was the first woman to receive the Benjamin F. Hodgkinson Award for "Outstanding and Unselfish Service in Quincy."

South-West, Quincy Point Contenders

City To Seek $2 Million For Renewal Project

EIGHT BALL in the side pocket may be the discussion here as Edward Garland instructs Tillie Arsenault in the fine art of shooting pool in the recreation room at the 1000 Southern Artery senior citizens facility. Waiting their turn are Josephine Mason, Anne Thomson and Mildred McGrath.

Mayor James R. McIntyre will seek $2 million in federal funds for a second code enforcement-neighborhood improvement program.

The city's South-West and Quincy Point areas are considered the leading contenders for the project similar to the $2-8 million one now underway in North Quincy.

"I do not know at this time," he said. "The final choice will depend on which area has the strongest civic backing for the program."

Civic groups in the southwest area have enthusiastically endorsed the possibility of getting this second residential rehabilitation program.

The Mayor said he plans to file an application for "approximately $2 million in federal funds" next month with the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The program provides low interest loans–and outright grants –to homeowners to rehabilitate their property.

In addition to this, the program includes public works improvements such as new streets, sidewalks, curbing, lighting, street drains and beautification.

The North Quincy Improvement Program which started last year in a 157-block, 2,500-home Montclair-Wollaston area, is now in the public works stage.

The program's features are thus available to an estimated 20 per cent of the city.

"We hope to increase this to 30 to 40 per cent with our second proposed program," Mc Intyre said.

The Mayor said the North Quincy program and the next planned one will also protect residential areas "from commercial or industrial encroachment."

"Communities such as our's, which are primarily built up, must take steps to buffer neighborhoods from other inimicable development," he declared.

"We must attract new developments in order to avoid a spiraling tax rate, but not at the expense of our residential areas."

Lights Set For Five Areas

Work will begin shortly on the installation of traffic lights at five "accident prone" Quincy intersections.

Mayor James R. McIntyre announced yesterday that a $48,990 contract has been signed by the city with R. W. Le Baron Co. of Waltham for the project which must be completed within 180 days.

The lights will be installed at:

–Palmer St. and Gannett Rd., Adams Shore.

–Beach St. and Billings Rd., Wollaston.

–Willard and Robertson Sts., West Quincy.

–Common and Copeland Sts., West Quincy.

–Southern Artery and South St., Quincy Point.

The Mayor said the city will receive 75 per cent reimbursement from the state to finance the project. He said he believes Quincy is the first South Shore community to receive such aid under the Highway Safety Program.

Recover 11 Tons Of Nickel In Raid

Nearly all of an estimated quarter-million dollars worth of nickel stolen from the Wollaston Alloys company was recovered in a Chelsea raid yesterday.

Dist. Atty. George G. Burke of Quincy whose office has been investigating the heavy theft, said 11 tons of the nickel were seized in a building on Orange St., Chelsea.

"We are pursuing several arrests," Burke said.

The nickel was stolen Oct. 14 from the former Quincy based firm now located on Wood Rd., Braintree.

Thirty barrels of nickel were stolen. Twenty-eight were recovered yesterday.

The raid, with Braintree and Chelsea police participating, was led by Lt. John Regan, Detective Philip Riley and Detective William Grant of Burke's office.

Mayor On Overseas Transit Inspection Trip

Mayor James R. McIntyre last night may have added a touch of personal history to historic Quincy.

The city's chief executive was scheduled to fly to The Netherlands and Belgium to inspect airport and transit facilities in Amsterdam and Brussels.

McIntyre was among a number of New England area dignitaries invited by Pan American Airways to make the trip.

He was invited as chairman of joint Legislative Committee on Transportation.

It is believed to be the first time that a Quincy Mayor–while in office–has made a flight overseas in an official capacity.

It was pointed out that the trip was being made at no expense to taxpayers.

The airport and mass transit facilities in Amsterdam are reputed to be among the finest in Europe.

The group is scheduled to return Sunday afternoon.

Don't Burn Leaves Fire Chief Pleads

Fire Chief Edward F. Barry today appealed to Quincy residents not to burn leaves in the streets or around their homes.

"It is a violation of a city ordinance to do so and it is a dangerous practice," the chief said.

He noted there has been several recent fires spreading from burning leaves to motor vehicles.

"Burning leaves could be easily swept by the wind against a house with disastrous results," Chief Barry said.

He suggested that residents place leaves in plastic bags for safe disposal.

Student Nurses Unhappy Over Moratorium Vote

Editor, Quincy Sun:

This letter is being written in reference to the articles in your paper concerning Quincy City Hospital student nurses opposing the Moratorium:

We, the undersigned, students at Quincy City Hospital an affiliation at Medfield, wish to express our extreme dissatisfaction with the outcome of the vote as we were not counted in the final tally. We are proud to support the Moratorium.

If our votes had been counted the issue would have been settled by four votes in favor of Moratorium Day.

Quincy Teacher To Speak At Kingston Meeting

Miss Marie J. Lynch, head of the Business Education department at Quincy High School will be one of the principal speakers at the annual meeting of the Plymouth County Teachers Association Friday at the Silver Lake Regional High School, Kingston.

Miss Lynch will discuss business education and the Quincy High School's pioneer data processing program started in 1966.

The Business Education department at Quincy High School pioneered in the development of the first two-year high school data processing program in Massachusetts with 30 students. The program presently has 100 students from North and Quincy High Schools.

Residents Active In United Fund

JAMES M. BROWN

Quincy residents are taking an active part in the annual Massachusetts Bay United Fund Campaign to raise $14,500,000, benefiting 225 health and welfare agencies.

Stephen T. Keefe, Jr., is Community Chairman for the city. His vice-chairman is Richard S. Garvey, who is also serving as chairman of the local business division.

Other members of Mr. Keefe's cabinet are: Nathaniel T. Sherman, professional; Thomas R. Burke, municipal; Mrs. William Delahunt, neighborhood. James Brown, special gifts; Lawrence S. Butler, clubs and organizations and John J. Walsh, schools.

Members of Mr. Garvey's division, working in the wards throughout the city are: Ward 1, David Leitch; Ward 2, John Latak; Ward 3, J. Brooks Robbie; Ward 4, David Montani; Ward 5, John D. Garvey and Ward 6, John McGue.

Assisting Attorney Sherman in his professional division are: Dr. Norman L. Wilson, doctors' chairman; Lester M. Brockley, III, miscellaneous professional chairman; Mrs. Eleanor Goldstein, dentists; Frederick J. Sheehan, lawyers; Gerald T. Reilly, accountants and Rev. Ernest Hayhow, clergy.

Mr. Keefe will host the first report luncheon of the Quincy cabinet Oct. 29 at noon at Ship's Haven Restaurant.

Sunbeams

Mayoralty contender Robert C. Preble isn't too happy about political writers and so-called experts dismissing him as a "no chance" candidate in the Nov. 4 city election.

The 36-year-old plumber and political newcomer has done little noticeable campaigning but firmly believes an election isn't over until the votes are counted.

But Preble would have to be considered a real underdog who as yet hasn't generated any steam in his campaigning.

ADD two more potential contenders for next year's City Council presidency--providing, of course, they are re-elected this year: Albert R. Barilaro and John F. Koegler. And that just about leaves every present councillor eyeing the gavel.

* * *

BUSINESS NOTE: The long-hair fad for boys is beginning to hurt some of the local barbershops. Business is off. No more haircuts every two weeks for a lot of the kids. Now it's every two months or so. [Some look like it is every two years]. Oh, for the good old days of crew-cuts.

* * *

DID YOU KNOW that former City Council President Joseph J. LaRaia, now seeking a political comeback, and Ross O'Hanley, head coach of the Quincy Giants are former classmates? They graduated together in 1960 from the Boston College School of Business Administration.

* * *

HERE'S ONE: Tom Coleman of North Quincy is competing in the Massachusetts Classic Bowling League at the Boston Bowl on Morrissey Blvd., Dorchester. He usually travels to the alley by cab.

The other night, he couldn't get one, so he half-walked, half-ran from his home to the alleys--toting his 16-pound bowling ball and shoes.

He arrived just as his team started its first game. And with no warm-up, stepped in and rolled a 278 first game and high 600 series. Thanks to him his team set a new high single game of 898. [Well, they always say that walking is good for you]

SMILE DEPT: Rev. John McMahon, pastor of St. Mary's Church, West Quincy, likes the one about the small boy who went with his grandmother to church for the very first time.

"Can you genuflect?" she whispered to him as he looked around in awe.

"No," he whispered back, "but I know how to somersault."

55 Quincy Student Musicians Audition

Fifty-five student musicians representing both Quincy and North Quincy High Schools auditioned yesterday for the Southeast District Music Educators band, orchestra and chorus.

Mr. Anthony Ferrante, director of the Quincy High School band and Carl Leone director of North Quincy's band sent participants to the competition.

Mr. Maurice Carbonneau and Mrs. Gail Harrison, of North Quincy High and Quincy High respectively, sent representatives to the choral auditions.

Students who participate in the Southeast District concert become eligible for auditions to the All State Chorus and Orchestra which will be held in the Spring.

Dr. MacLeod Named To Zoning Committee

Dr. Donald C. MacLeod has been appointed by Mayor James R. McIntyre to represent the Cranch Hill-Presidents Hill Association on the zoning study committee.

An ardent critic of apartment construction on President's Lane, Dr. MacLeod said he was making his own study of the planning board and "lynching laws."

In response to that criticism Mayor McIntyre appointed him to the zoning committee.

Quincy Observes UN Day With Ceremonies Friday

Quincy will observe United Nations Day Friday with special ceremonies at 1:30 p.m. on the Thomas Crane Public Library lawn.

Keynote speaker for the annual event will be Moshe Ofer, Consulate General of Israel.

The ceremonies will mark the 25th anniversary of the founding of the United Nations.

Other speakers will be Mayor James R. McIntyre, Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, Superintendent of Schools and former School Supt. Paul Gossard, chairman of the United Nations Council of the South Shore.

Welcoming remarks will be by Councillor Albert R. Bariaro, UN Day chairman. Co-chairman Anthony M. Famigletti will read a proclamation by Mayor McIntyre.

Rev. John McMahon, pastor of St. Mary's Church, West Quincy, will give the United Nations Day prayer. Invocation will be by Rabbi Jacob Mann of Beth Israel Synagogue and the benediction by Rev. James Kimmell, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church.

Music will be by the Quincy High School band.

Free Flu Clinic For Residents Saturday

A free flu vaccine clinic for all Quincy residents will be held Saturday, from 2 to 4 p.m., at the John F. Kennedy Health Center, 1120 Hancock St.

This will be the only flu clinic to be held in Quincy this year.

Dr. John T. Foley, Health Commissioner, stated that because of the very extensive innoculation program undertaken last year there is no need for a mass vaccine program this year.

Communications Lines Opened By Broad Meadows Workshops

Twenty-six teachers of the Broad Meadows Junior High School met recently with parents and community representatives to open and sustain lines of communication between the school and the community.

That meeting, was the first in a series of school-community workshops. Purpose of the meetings is to evaluate the feasibility of and need for school-community interaction and communication.

The program is a direct result of the Quincy School Community Action Program or Q-SCAP, a federally funded project that operated for six weeks this past summer.

SCAP Workshops extend themselves into the areas of curriculum in the schools and problem solving in the school-community relationship. Discussions could lead to curriculum changes and a closer rapport among parent, child and teacher. The extensiveness of the problem solving depends upon the interest in the community and the desire for improvement among the people involved.

The results of the first workshop are being compiled, and a report will be made available. Judging from a preliminary survey, a mandate for community involvement and future workshops will be made. The agenda for the next workshops will be determined by issues, questions and concerns raised at this workshop. A date has not yet been set for the next session.

Early Morning Repairs On X-Way Proposed

Mayor James R. McIntyre will ask the state Department of Public Works to schedule repair work on the Southeast Expressway for early morning hours to prevent traffic congestion.

The Mayor, who as state senator is also chairman of the joint Legislative Committee on Transportation will request DPW Comr. Edward J. Ribbs to schedule the work between midnight and 5 a.m.

"Resurfacing and other repair work during normal hours has created horrible problems--some real mammoth traffic jams," McIntyre said.

"I don't see why some of this work cannot be scheduled for the off traffic hours."

Social Security pays up to $4,896.00 towards a College Education
Would your Child USE it ——— or LOSE it?

One of the recent changes in the Social Security Law guarantees continuation of a child's benefit beyond age 18, to age 22, provided the child-beneficiary is a full-time student in an accredited school or college. This means that the child of a deceased worker can have part of his college expenses paid through the Social Security Program, if (and this is a big IF) the additional funds needed to allow the youngster to be a full-time student are available.
With a full line of both Life Insurance and Mutual Funds, we can help take the IF out.

Here Comes The Bride

By Mabelle

Question: I am planning a spring wedding and have no idea how to select a color scheme for my attendants. Can you help me?

Answer: Choosing a color scheme depends upon your own likes and dislikes. I usually suggest a bride pick her favorite color and work around it. You could have all attendants in the color you favor. Or perhaps the maid of honor in a deeper shade or contrasting color. For example, if your favorite color is aqua then the bridesmaids could wear aqua and maid of honor turquoise or for contract pink or yellow.

A rainbow wedding is effective. Each girl wears a different pastel color.

Another popular idea, if the gown is two tone, the honor attendant has her colors reversed. Example: Bridesmaids gown have an aqua bodice and turquoise skirt, the maid of honor could have a turquoise bodice and aqua skirt. Or she could wear a solid color. Either aqua or turquoise.

For an Easter wedding yellow and orchid is a good choice. A religious color scheme might appeal to you. Attendants in blue and white for a Blessed Mother Wedding. Or a Sacred Heart Wedding in which the only color is large red bouquets carried by attendants attired in all white. Whatever color you decide upon be sure it blends with the church and follow thru at the reception with linens and table decorations.

Answer: Use the unbroken line of an Aline skimmer or the princess silhouette. Avoid full sleeves and sleeves of a contrasting fabric. Materials with a sheen or a pile such as satins and velvets are best left for the smaller bride. Have a little height in your headpiece and wear a train length veil.

Smith To 'Fight' For Residential Areas

George C. Smith, Jr., vice-chairman of the Quincy Planning Board, said this week he will "fight for the retention of fine residential areas," in the city.

Smith said in released statement:

"The present zoning areas in and around the MBTA stations are merely being studied and no concrete proposals have been agreed upon. Quincy is a well balanced city and, as a member of the Planning Board, I intend to recommend and fight for the retention of the fine residential areas in North Quincy, Wollaston and Quincy. I have said many times that our planning department should be thinking in terms of people first and bricks and mortar secondarily.

"The advent of the MBTA should be a shot in the economic arm of the city, but it should not be used as the means of introducing high rise apartments in residential areas. I intend to continue to work with the administration and the City Council to improve, not destroy, the residential character of our City".

'The Football Widow'

I'm already hearing complaints from wives of husbands who are turning the week-ends into "football orgies." The beautiful landscape is being ignored ....the week-end family activities have ceased....preparations for winter around the home are neglected by husbands....wives are putting up storm windows and raking the fallen leaves. In some homes week-end televised football games now dominate the living room.

The "football-obsessed husband" can be oblivious to his lonely wife....his alienated children....while his increasing waistline reveals his long hours of munching and watching "the games."

For a man to enjoy a game a week on a Saturday or Sunday afternoon is one thing....it's recreation for him after a hard work-week. A family can accept this if the rest of the week he's considerate and brings happiness into the home. His family understands and does not begrudge him that fun. He deserves it.

The football husband/father that families can't tolerateis the fellow who is so compulsively addicted that he watches from East Coast to West Coast as the sun moves across the nation.... every week-end....withdrawing himself from all relationships and responsibilities with his family. Some of these guys are still living in their teens....still school boys. Some were not allowed by rigid parents to play football. Some played and still want to be a football her0....because it was the one time in their lives that they got recognition.

The question is: How does a wife cope with this every week-end compulsive football husband?

I have a couple of suggestions for wives. First....don't be a "football waitress." Some men are utterly unreasonable about expecting their wives to "wait on them" as though they were passengers on a trans-continental airplane....serving drinks....sandwiches....pillows and anything else for the maximum comfort....and woe to her if she doesn't answer the call promptly....or enters with a tray just as a long pass is intercepted by "his" team.

Now don't misunderstand me....I'm all for wives making their husbands happy....I think making a man happy means happiness for herself....her true means of fulfillment. But well-adjusted men don't want a wife just to be a waitress.... rather a COMPANION. If a wife enjoys football too....if she can learn the game and share the exciting plays with her husband as she shares drinks and sandwiches, that's a different matter. But to "go on duty" when the game starts and to feel compelled to "serve him"....well, you better get a job in the grandstand....you get paid for it there. Don't be a "football waitress." You'll only become resentful and angry.

Some wives have found that "football afternoons and evenings" are times for them to leave the home for shopping ....visiting....fun on their own. Of course this leaves the fellow without his "maid service". But it helps some of these big "little boys" to wake up to their relationship responsibilities.

I personally think that anything that separates a husband and wife is an evil thing....whether it is football....money....a child....a mother....a job....a habit....or some childhood hang-up. The relationship between a man and his wife is so precious that nothing should be allowed to interfere. When there is interference the annoyed partner has both the right and the obligation to speak up....to cry out....to make clear "what is happening to us" because of your compulsive habit....whatever it is.

Compromise is the way.... whether "football time" or anything else....so that one is not hurt while the other has his/her way....so that one is not dreading the "football week-end" while the other is gleefully secluding himself. In fact....I suppose that there is no such thing as a happy marriage without COMPROMISE.

Riley Chairman For Kidney Disease Campaign

City Purchasing Agent George R. Riley has been appointed Quincy's "Trick or Treat" candy chairman for the Mayors' Spirit of Sixty-Nine campaign against Kidney disease.

The "Trick or Treat" candy sale marks the second phase in the campaign to raise $200,000 in Massachusetts for the purchase of artificial kidney machines and training of personnel to operate them. Shortages of equipment and personnel threaten the lives of 200 Massachusetts residents suffering from kidney failure.

The "Trick or Treat" candy is contained in a plastic puppet, decorated as a witch or pumpkin. Inside are over 100 individually wrapped candies and 20 decorated paper bags. Housewive who purchase the candy will have enough to serve 20 "Trick or Treat" youngsters when the visit homes on Hallow'een.

Riley is in the process of recruiting volunteers from civic and charitable organizations, schools and youth groups to sell the "Trick or Treat" candy. Sales will be conducted on a house-to-house basis, in bank lobbies and in other places where there is heavy pedestrian traffic.

Organizations may also participate in the campaign by sending contributions which will be used to buy candy for distribution to 12,000 physically and mentally retarded children in hospitals and state schools who disabilities prevent them from going out on "Trick or Treat" for Hallow'een. The candies will be distributed to the hospitals by celebrities from radio, television and Boston's professional sports teams.

Volunteers may enroll by calling, 773-1380

Candidates For Mayor, City Council, Sch

Candidates in the Nov. 4 Quincy City Election have been given the opportunity to express their views on issues through a questionnaire compiled by the League of Women Voters of Quincy.

The public service project was carried out under the direction of Mrs. David Coletti, League President, and Mrs. John Toland, Voter Services Chairman.

In addition to background information, all of the candidates were asked:

What are the two most important issues facing Quincy in the next two years? What is your position concerning them?

The candidates were requested to limit their replies to 100 words.

Following are those replies–printed as they were received from the candidates:

• Mayor

James R. McIntyre, 82 Kemper St. Age: 39.

Occupation: Government.

Education: Graduated Holy Cross College AB Cum laude; Graduated Boston University, Master's Degree in Political Science; Graduated Harvard Law School, L.L.B. degree.

Previous political experience: Present Mayor, State Senator, former President of the Quincy City Council, former State Representative.

1. Quincy's fiscal and revaluation crisis is a paramount issue. If revaluation was implemented in 1969 the average homeowner would be paying approximately $200.00 more than currently. I have successfully fought hard for my Constitutional amendment to solve the revaluation dilemma and will continue to work conscientiously to cut unnecessary expenditures and for increased state and federal aid for our overburdened Quincy taxpayers.

2. Because of the construction of mass transportation facilities into Quincy, we must zone intelligently. I will dedicate myself to insure not only that the tax base is broadened, but that we achieve protection for the fine residential neighborhoods of Quincy.

Robert C. Preble, 27 Crosby St. Age: 36.

Occupation: Plumbing

Education: Attended Randolph and Quincy Schools.

Previous political experience: None

Two existing problems - two years brings MBTA traffic and its deficit to Quincy. This highlights my concerns - financial problems and lack of planning.

1. Financial problems may call for discussion on the tax rate, or the tax base but they are really part of the need for an overall planning policy.

2. We must make basic decisions on what kind of a community we hope to have in 10 years. I firmly support planning programs of strenth, zoning programs of vision, licensing programs of courage. I won't tolerate a Volkswagen case so contrary to community opinion and long range civic goals.

• Council At-Large

George B. McDonald, 133 Grove St. Age: 47.

Occupation: Principal Storekeeper Metropolitan District Commission.

Education: Quincy School System, University of Southern California.

1. Most important issue facing our City presently is the final long-range solution to our refuge disposal problem. I feel we must move out of the unsanitary quarry dumping the City has been using over the last twenty years. This type of rubbish disposal has aggravated residents too long with its obnoxious odors and subterranean fires which has been a major factor in air pollution and no one knows just how much sickness.

2. Revaluation-I vehemently, objected to and voted NO against spending $198,600 of taxpayers' money to use an outside firm, completely foreign to our City, to assess unfairly residential and business properties in Quincy, causing the lowering of industrial and public utility property. I asked the taxpayers of Quincy for their help and organized the largest mass protest meeting ever held in Quincy, at which time we distributed the initiative petition, receiving over 4000 signatures which caused the Massachusetts General Court to vote to change, through a Constitutional Convention and referendum, this unfair assessment law. This fight is not over yet and we will need the tireless efforts of every taxpayer in Quincy to succeed next year.

John J. Quinn, 86 Grandview Ave. Age: 46.

Occupation: Representative Blue Cross.

Education: Graduate North Quincy High School; Boston College - B.S. Degree in Economics and Government.

1. Revaluation - from the beginning I vehemently opposed the initial appropriation of $70,000 to be paid to an outside appraisal firm. The overall amount of this contract was $198,600.00 a staggering amount of the taxpayers dollars. This issue is not concluded yet and as your Councillor at Large I shall continue to resist it.

2. Rezoning - by the end of November 1969 the Planning Director will present to the City Council the suggested new zoning map and ordinances. Our residential areas must be protected. Proper industrial and business zones with buffer areas shall be established. Commercial development in the right sections such as Hazeltine, Jordan Marsh and the State Street complex will greatly enhance the City's fiscal outlook. Valuable marshland and open space must be retained. I shall try to reflect the people's views in resolving these issues.

Arthur H. Tobin, 58 Huntly Rd. Age: 39.

Occupation: Practicing Trial Attorney.

Education: Boston College BS/BA Suffolk Law, Juris Doctorate.

The two most important issues are [Revaluation-Taxes] [Master Zoning Plan]. My stand against 100% revaluation is a public record.

1. Taxes-As your Councillor at Large I will work hard for the completion of three major projects which I have supported. Namely, the Jordan Marsh project - State Street South project and Hazeltine. These three projects will bring in new tax revenue of approximately $12 million dollars. It will help stabilize the spiraling cost of government and equalize collective bargaining contracts and increase expenses.

2. Master Zoning plan - As your Councillor at Large I will continue to oppose any attempt by the planning dept. outside developers or special interest groups to rezone existing upgraded residential neighborhoods to the ultimate detriment of our city. I shall continue to oppose unwanted development as I have in Merrymount, Adams Shore and Houghs Neck including the Volkswagen development on Quincy Shore Blvd. We should protect our boulevard against honky tonk development.

Occupation: Practicing Attorney.

Education: St. John's Grammar School - Archbishop Williams High School - Boston College, B.S. Degree in Economics - Portia Law School - LL.B Degree - Suffolk Law School - LL.M Degree.

Previous political experience: None

1. With the $17.50 increase in the tax rate, the City Council must perform its duty as the "Watchdog" of the City Treasury and scrutinize the budget to eliminate false spending. If the taxes are not brought under control, homeowners will be forced to sell their houses and move into apartments or housing projects and only those with large incomes will be able to own their homes.

2. A few years ago, Quincy citizens voted on a referendum to build an incinerator to solve our rubbish disposal problem. The City has not followed the citizens' wishes and is now wasting One Half Million Dollars to build a road into another Quarry to continue open dumping. I am against continuous open dumping, and I favor incineration. Open dumping causes rats, cockroaches and other vermin and produces a stench far more unhealthy than any air pollution that would be caused by an incinerator.

[Mrs.] Alice I. Kowilcik, 18 Huckins Ave. Age: 51.

Occupation: Administrative Assistant - Boston Housing Authority.

Education: Boston State College, Boston University, Community Progress Institute.

Previous political experience: None

Planning and Representation are the two major issues facing Quincy in the next two years.

1. The physical growth of the city must be coordinated with the human needs of the people. Priorities for spending should be established with neighborhood residents as a vital part of the planning process if homeowners are not to be priced right out of the city.

2. Full Representation may only be achieved by single elective office-holding. It is impossible to work effectively for all constituents on two levels of government at the same time. Coordinated planning and single elective office-holding will achieve more responsive government.

Joseph J. LaRaia, 54 Grogan Ave. Age: 37.

Occupation: Deputy Administrator

Education: Quincy Schools, Boston College, BS BA in Finance.

1. Taxes - The increase in taxes this year was three times the amount of the average increase when I was in the city council, from 1960-65. We provided services to the youth, senior citizen and the homeowner in an orderly growth without undue hardship. Conversely, our growth in the city has become disjoined from the taxpayer's ability to pay for these services. An imposition upon most members of our community is the obvious consequence. A city councillor must review all expenditures with an eye towards the elimination of costly and unnecessary expenditures, and concern for the public's ability to pay for increased services through taxation.

2. Waste disposal - Elimination of open Dumping by incineration.

• Council Ward 1

Edward S. Graham, 32 Shed St. Age: 43.

(Unopposed)

Occupation: Revere Sugar Refinery - Sales.

Education: Dorchester High School, Boston University, Burdett College.

Previous political experience: Present Quincy City Councillor.

1. One of the most important issues facing the City of Quincy in the next two years is the re-zoning of the entire City. The latest report from our planning board is that this in-depth study will be completed and presented to the City Council sometime in November of 1969. My belief that this is one of our most important issues is based on my experiences as the City Councillor for Ward One for the past two years. Zoning was the most singular and time consuming problem which has come to my attention. The threat of invasion of high rise apartments in our residential areas, disturbed and was of grave concern to our single family homeowner. I spearheaded the opposition in Ward One against these big Real Estate developers. It is my intention that when this study is presented to the City Council to hold public hearings in every section of my Ward for acceptance and approval of my constituents.

2. Another important issue would be Revaluation.

• Council Ward 2

Clifford H. Marshall, 64 Edison St. Age: 31.

Occupation: Legislator

Education: Quincy Public Schools. Attended Suffolk University.

Previous political experience: Ward 2 Councillor - 1966-69 State Representative 1968-70.

1. Good solid Planning and the proper and intelligent implementation of the current zoning study are the leading issues facing Quincy residents in the next two years. When we look at areas of the City we see what happens to sections of neighborhoods when poor planning and development is allowed to exist. It is our responsibility to insure this community that undeveloped land that now exists be properly planned and blend into existing properties around such land.

2. As for true and proper zoning I feel that the Councillors are to be responsible to the people to communicate to the residents any proposed zoning changes and to insure thru proper study that neighborhoods do not suffer in character due to any new zoning changes. I also feel that our existing City Ordinances must be revamped and enlarged to cover many problems that have arisen recently.

Robert W. Page, 33 Edison Pk. Age: 37.

Occupation: Restaurant owner.

Education: Quincy High School, Curry College, Suffolk University.

Previous political experience: None

1. Our ever increasing tax rate is getting out of hand. We must stay within the limits of our budget, and eliminate false spending.

2. I am against dual representation in our city and state government. The Quincy Citizens Association is also against this practice. A good man at each job is better than one good man trying to do two jobs.

• Council Ward 3

John F. Koegler, 78 Alton Rd. Age: 38.

Occupation: Massachusetts Electric Co., Commercial Office.

Education: University of Massachusetts and Bentley College of Accounting and Finance.

Previous political experience: Presently serving my third term as Ward 3 City Councillor.

1. Rezoning Study of the Entire City - This is now being done by the planning department. The city was last rezoned in 1943. Rezoning is necessary for the city to get the highest tax potential from its land use. Safeguards must be taken to protect residential areas and to assure a proper balance of industrial, commercial zoning and the proper placing of high rise apartment complexes.

2. A Study of Traffic Congestion and Flow of Traffic - This is now being contemplated. Many of the city residential streets are being heavily used by commercial vehicles and automobiles using excessive speeds. Improved routes must be found and engineering studies conducted to give relief to these residential areas.

Pasquale S. DiStefano, 38 Payne St. Age: 36.

Occupation: Driver Education Administrator.

1. The pressing need for our approved new combination elementary school leads the issues in importance. This school was promised and approved, over two years ago, and yet ground has not been broken to date. The children of South Quincy are being subjected to a 2nd rate education in condemned buildings and unhealthful conditions. An urgent need for the new school exists.

2. The scandalous and irresponsible tax rate which shows an increase of $17.50 is, perhaps the 2nd most important issue. A watchful eye must be aimed at the city budgets with austerity the order of the day.

• Council Ward 4

Albert R. Barilaro, 65 Grove St. Age: 53.

Occupation: President and General Manager Alloy Supply Corp.

Previous political experience: Present 2-year term Ward 4 Councillor.

There are several important issues facing our city. I shall mention briefly 2 of them.

1. Taxes [revaluation] I have supported the State Street Bank

ool Committee Present Views On Issues

Hazeltine and Jordan Marsh projects which, because of an estimated $12,000,000 return should be a great asset in controlling and stabilizing our tax rate.

2. Refuse-Dumping-I have voted NO against the quarry area for dumping and believe an incinerator should be constructed behind the Public Works Building on Sea St. It is a logical and geographic solution.

Joseph P. Shea, 95 White St. Age: 24.

Occupation: Sales Representative Best Foods Div. of CPC Inc.

Education: St. Mary's, W. Quincy. Archbishop Williams High School, Quincy Jr. Associate degree. Presently attending Suffolk University.

Previous political experience: None.

1. I feel the two most important issues facing Quincy in the next two years are: Lack of communication between some Ward Councillors and the people of their wards. Often the people in the various neighborhoods are the last ones informed as to what is going on right in their own neighborhoods. Ward Councillors are the closest elected officials to the people, a constant flow of information should exist between the Ward Councillor and the people he represents. The people of West Quincy will participate in City Government if I am elected their Councillor.

2. Tax Relief: Our increased tax rate has brought increased financial burdens on our homeowners and we must seek new ways of relieving this burden. I would propose a study of all zoning laws so as to make sure that all our underdeveloped land is being used to the best possible advantage to the tax payer. We must get the most revenue possible out of this land without disturbing the residential characters of our existing neighborhoods.

•Council Ward 5

Walter J. Hannon, 45 Forbes Hill Rd. Age: 38.

Occupation: Owner - Hannon Tire Company

Education: Quincy Public School Department - Graduated North Quincy High School - 1949.

Previous political experience: City Councillor [1963 to present]. State Representative [1966 to present].

1. The first most important issue, in my opinion, is the question of taxes. How much can a property owner pay and yet maintain his property value? We must call a halt to unnecessary expenditures and also have the ability to say no to ever-increasing city budgets, while bearing in mind that we have to maintain needed services. Unfortunately, we have no control over 50% of our budget, which is the responsibility of the School Committee; no control over the Welfare expenditures, now that it has been taken over by the State. But, we can and must scrutinize the budget requests now more than ever in the coming two years.

2. The second most important issue is that of expanding our tax base. Many people talk about this, but few do anything constructive by taking the initiative on this issue. I saw the need for the additional revenue as Chairman of the Industrial Development Commission. I worked long and hard to interest well-established firms to re-locate in the City of Quincy. Hazeltine Corporation, a most prestigious concern, is to build a $4,000,000 plant in Quincy. We all know of the Jordan-Marsh complex and what it will contribute to our tax base. State Street South, which is a mammoth multi-million dollar project, on which I filed the necessary bills enabling them to complete their plans for construction. Without this type of tax-producing industry, we will see no end to our spiraling tax bills.

Occupation: Assistant clerk of Superior Court: Attorney.

Education: Middlebury College, A.B.-Political Science; Boston College Law School, Doctor of Jurisprudence.

Previous political experience: None

1. Responsive Representation in behalf of the people of Wollaston and Quincy - is the basic issue of this campaign. Where the people have expressed their opinion on issues either via the ballot box or by petition, it is my opinion that it is incumbent upon a councillor to heed their wishes, regardless of political expediency.

2. Before decisions are made affecting our neighborhoods, A councillor must inform those whom he represents of pending questions. He should actively solicit their views, and establish a two-way communication between the citizens and their elected officials. He should allow the people to participate in the decision-making process.

•Council Ward 6

J. Vincent Smyth, 184 Lansdowne St. Age: 49.

Occupation: President-Treasurer: Smyth's Package Store.

Previous political experience: Two terms Ward 6 Councillor, elected President of City Council 1968-1969.

1. The rising costs of Municipal Government must be carefully scrutinized in every department. Industrial & Commercial Developments must be encouraged to locate in Quincy IN PROPERLY ZONED AREAS. Continuing attempts to obtain both State & Federal funds are necessary to help modernize the city. Tax relief for the homeowner is of the highest priority.

2. A concerted effort should be made to obtain more Senior Citizen housing units, especially in the North Quincy & Wollaston area. Citizen participation should be encouraged in our effort to educate our youth on the serious dangers of Drug usage.

Jens E. Thornton, 14 Orchard St. Age: 45.

Occupation: Commercial Lobsterman

Education: North Quincy High School, Norfolk County Agricultural School, Tufts College.

Previous political experience: None

1. Like most people, here and elsewhere, I agree that rising taxes are a main issue. One apparent solution lies in attracting new industries. However, such industries should require a minimum of services from the city. They should not contribute to pollution and flooding by infringing on our wetlands, beaches, and harbor, also thereby reducing our opportunities for work and recreation.

2. Wetlands are an important factor in our overall economy. To absorb an increasing population while decreasing our recreational opportunities simply does not make sense.

•School Committee

Frank Anselmo, 610 Adams St. Age: 71.

Occupation: Retired, Quincy Postmaster.

Education: English High - Burdett College, B.U., Suffolk University.

Previous political experience: Eight years on School Board.

1. Class-room space for our growing school population. Last year we had approximately 300 more students; many rooms have now more than 30 students per teacher. A new approach to this problem is vital. Considering the high cost of property tax a solution could be had by re-scheduling classes on a stagger system, making further use of our school plant.

2. New courses of training to salvage and orient more of the 75% non-college bound; directing them towards gainful employment in various phases of industry and service. This can be done at no extra cost to the local taxpayer.

Paul C. Kelly, 93 Ames St. Age: 40.

Occupation: Trial Lawyer

Education: Graduate Boston College Law School, Juris Doctor degree, Graduate Boston College - B.S. Business Administration.

Previous political experience: Member Quincy School Committee - 1968 to date.

1. I believe that the foremost problem facing our schools is the growing drug use among our school children. We are attacking this problem in several ways, viz 1. Law courses for our elementary school children; 2. Research assistants who counsel stuuents individually and collectively on the effects of initial and habitual drug use; 3. In-Service Training Program: Drug Abuse Education; 4. Tightening up of our school regulations to give principals authority to deal with drug offenders and pushers either by way of probation, rehabilitation or suspension in an extreme case.

2. Secondly, our budget and its effect on the Quincy tax rate is one of my major concerns. Progressive education must relate to a sound fiscal policy.

Leo J. Hannon, Jr., 59 Longwood Rd. Age: 37.

Occupation: Real Estate and Insurance Broker.

Education: Quincy High School, Boston University.

Poor communication with our youth and individualization of teaching.

1. We must communicate more effectively with our youth to reduce their sense of alienation and frustration. This communication and an effective program of education should help reduce the growing drug problem. There should be a Youth Advisory Committee to the School Committee.

2. The adaptation of our educational techniques to the individual's level of achievement must be increased. The use of team teaching methods should be encouraged. Our new schools should be built with this in mind, using movable partitions etc.

James F. Harrington, 136 Safford St. Age: 22.

Occupation: New England Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Education: Attended Quincy schools and graduated from North Quincy High School.

Previous political experience: None

1. The issue of busing school children in and out of Quincy is in my mind the most important concern of the School Committee. I am on record as being strongly opposed to this invention. After all, why pay for a Quincy education and bus our children to another school system! The great majority of people in Quincy agree with me on this, perhaps one of the most nonsensical ideas to ever reach the educational field.

2. Secondly, but almost just as important, is the problem of infiltration of our two high schools by the Students For A Democratic Society. The SDS, is presently busy at work here in Quincy, distributing a paper called "Right On", which calls for the formation of a "Massachusetts Liberation Front"! They are also publishing a manual on "How To Take Over A High School"! If elected to the school committee, I promise to be a stern disciplinarian and promise to act with backbone in dealing with such problems as lack of obedience. I will not allow anarchy to reign at our schools!

George C. Smith, Jr., 16 Anderson Rd. Age: 46.

Occupation: Accountant and Tax Consultant.

Education: Graduate North Quincy High School [1940] Bentley College [1948].

Previous political experience: Present Vice Chairman-Quincy Planning Board;

1. I view student counselling and overcrowded school facilities as the two most important educational issues. We must find better ways of assisting our young people in the planning of their future. I feel that this can be done by involving the students themselves in the decisions that will affect their future. The field of student counselling may well include information on the current major problem of use and abuse of drugs and alcohol.

2. Overcrowded school facilities are a major problem. Modernization and reconstruction of existing facilities are possible ways of combatting this problem.

Charles T. Sweeny, 49 Ames St. Age: 53.

Occupation: Chief, Contact Division, Veterans Administration, Boston.

Education: Phillips Exeter Academy; Dartmouth College; University of New Hampshire.

Previous political experience: Quincy School Committee [12 years],

1. I am deeply concerned about continuing Quality Education in the Public Schools of Quincy. Quality Education is an investment in the future of our growing and changing community. My long experience at the local, state and national levels can provide a useful contribution. We must not discard our Model Teachers' Contract or our Model Index System - they can be adjusted if necessary.

2. We must improve the relevancy of our Education to today's world. Communication between citizens teachers and students must be be improved-the generation gap is one of communication. A good public school system can close this gap.

Candidates Night Set For Oct. 28

The Quincy Education Association and the League of Women Voters of Quincy will co-sponsor "a something different" Candidates Night Oct. 28.

The event, to be held at the Furnace Brook School, 701 Furnace Brook Parkway, will start at 8 p.m.

All candidates for mayor, councillor at-large, school committee and ward councillor have accepted invitations to attend.

The candidates, however, will not be given five minutes to speak—the usual procedure at pre-election events.

Instead, each candidate will be seated at a table with several voters to answer questions put to them by that particular group.

The candidates will rotate from table to table, spending 10 to 15 minutes with each group of voters.

Mrs. David B. Coletti, League President notes:

"It has been the experience of the League that this type of informal atmosphere encourages some people to ask questions who might not do so in a large group."

"The League and the Quincy Education Association are sure this will be an informative and enjoyable evening for the voter wishing to learn more about the candidates in order to vote more intelligently Nov. 4."

The Candidates Night is open to the general public. Refreshments will be served.

This Special Section Is 'Going To School'

Ten thousand copies of this Special Election section are going to school.

They are being distributed to Quincy junior and high schools and parochial school seventh and eighth grade classes by the League of Women Voters of Quincy in cooperation with the Quincy Education Association and the Quincy Sun.

The copies are being distributed as a public service, to acquaint students with their government, this year's city election and the candidates.

The students are being asked to bring the special section home to their parents after school use.

44,575 Eligble To Vote Nov.4

Exactly 44,575 Quincy residents are eligible to vote in the Nov. 4 city election.

This is 311 fewer than the 44,886 voters who were registered in 1967—the last city election.

Although city elections are non-partisan, this year's enrollment figures by party break down thusly:

Quincy Hosts Somerville

Presidents Hope To Perk Up Attack

The Quincy football team's defense continues to be one of the best in the Greater Boston League, but Coach Hank Conroy hopes the Presidents' attack perks up Saturday when they face Somerville's defending league champions in a 1:30 p.m. game at Quincy Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Quincy's defense was at its best last week but Malden's was just as outstanding and the Presidents, following three straight wins [six in a row going back to last year], had to be satisfied with a scoreless tie and dropped into third place behind Medford and Revere.

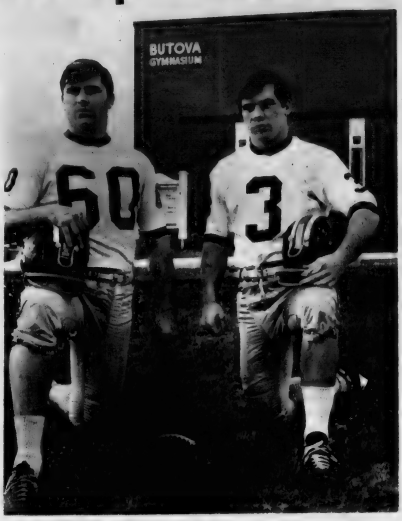
"It was strictly a defensive battle and neither team could move the ball," Conroy said. "We intercepted three passes and they intercepted one and threw our quarterback for several losses."

Neither club could threaten seriously and Kevin Ryan missed a field goal try when one Quincy drive was halted.

Somerville, with a 2-1 league record and 2-2 overall mark, was upset in the final seconds by Medford, 21-20, two weeks ago after topping Everett, 26-14, in a league game and bowing to undefeated Arlington, 32-7, in a non-leaguer.

Last week Somerville had to battle for a 17-0 win over winless Chelsea [22 straight losses], scoring all its points in the final period.

Last year's Quincy-Somerville game was a thriller as Quincy, thanks to Steve McDevitt's passing, dominated the first half and led, 14-0, but Somerville, with Roy Peterson passing expertly came back to tie the game, 14-14.



Somerville had Quincy to thank for winning the title last fall as Quincy upset North Quincy on Thanksgiving. A North win would have given it the crown.

"I think we can stop Somerville's attack but we have to beef up our own offense," Conroy said. "I was very pleased with our defense against Malden but we couldn't penetrate their's."

Hank paid tribut to backs Tom Daley and sophomore Steve McCarthy, and Rich Menchi and linemen Paul Hand and Bob McDonald for their work on offense.

On defense the Quincy coach had words of praise for Bobby Sacchetti, Rich Pettiti, who was especially outstanding against Malden's passing, and Wayne Richard, who, according to Conroy, tackled hard and punted well.

Pettiti and Richards were injured and Lance Peterson and Rich Graham, who filled in, received their coach's plaudits.

CO-CAPTAINS Steve Craig [left] of Quincy and Scituate's Bill Connolly are two big reasons American International College football fans are smiling this season.

Nov. 17 Deadline For YMC A Church League Team Entries

Nov. 17 is the deadline for team entries in the Quincy YM CA Church School Basketball League. Action will get underway Dec. 6.

Any boy who is a member of a high school, junior high varsity or junior varsity basketball team is not eligible for the league. Each player must attend regular services of the church and be vouched for by the pastor.

The teams will be divided according to age:

Samson Division, Boys under 10 years.

Daniel Division, Boys under 12 years.

Goliath Division, Boys under 14 years.

Jonathon Division, Boys under 16 years.

David Division, Boys under 18 years.

The league is regulated by an advisory board which has at least one member from each league entry. This year's representatives are:

Robert Dupre, president, Fort Square Presbyterian Church, Harold Randall and David Taylor, Emmanuel Church; Seymour Sutcliffe and Rev. Eldon D. J. Zuern, Quincy Point Congregational Church; Clyde Morrison and Rev. Robert J. Ripley, First Congregational Church, Braintree Stanley Berman, Temple B'nai Shalom; Don Messinger, Christ Church, Alton Phillips, First Church of Squantum; Robert Jordan, Union Congregational Church, Wollaston and Henry J. Willman, secretary and advisor of the Quincy YMCA.

Quincy Sophs Win 4th In Row

Dave Burke's Quincy sophomore football teams has lost only one game in the past three years and Tuesday the current team made it four wins in a row, 29-20, in a thriller at Brookline.

Bobby Malvesti scored on a long kickoff return and later on a long punt return and added two points. Pete Dalev scored on a 70-yard run and also rushed for two points, while Joe Nicastro scored the other TD. Roberto Volpine kicked the other point. Dave Coull excelled as a pass receiver.

In their previous game the Quincy sophs walloped Arlington, 32-6, with Malvesti returning a punt 98 yards for a score. Jim Walker passed to Coull for one score and ran for another, while Nicastro also had a TD.

Following a 38-6 romp over Brockton, Quincy had nipped Weymouth, 8-6, on Nicastro's touchdown and Malvesti points.

Quincy's junior varsity romped over Malden Monday, 30-0, to make its record 2-1-1. It had previously tied Revere, 12-12.

Soccer Teams Share Top Spot

The Quincy and North Quincy soccer teams stayed tied for the Division One lead in the South Shore Association with wins on Tuesday.

Quincy defeated Sharon, 5-2, at Sharon, while North blanked Norwell 2-0, at Montclair Field.

Today North faces one of its biggest tests when it meets Duxbury, undefeated Division Two champ, at Montclair, while Quincy also faces a big test at Hingham. Although Hingham, last year's Division One champion, is out of the race, it is still tough.

Tuesday, Quincy is host to Plymouth-Carver and North plays at Sharon, and in the final league games next Thursday Quincy plays North at Montclair in the game which could decide the title. Quincy handed North its lone defeat.

Quincy's win at Sharon Tuesday was its seventh in a row after losing its opener to Duxbury. North also is 7-1.

Russ Barry, who hadn't scored a goal all season for Quincy, had three while Bruce Carlson and Craig Simpson scored the others.

Last week Quincy blanked Avon, 5-0, and North topped Hingham, 5-1, to remain in a first place deadlock.

Al Lavoie scored three goals for Quincy to bring his total to seven, while Steve Carlson scored the other two. Goalie Dave D'Olimpio came up with his second straight shutout.

For North Quincy Dave Haight had his second big day in a row, scoring three goals and adding two assists. George Bourikas scored once and had three assists and Tim Flynn had the other North goal.

Craig Standout Linebacker At AIC

Quincy's Steve Craig, senior co-captain of the American International College football team, is making a determined bid to gain attention as one of New England's finest outside linebackers.

The 6-2, 215-pounder starred at AIC the past two seasons as a middle linebacker but prior to the start of the 1969 campaign, AIC Coach Gayton Salvucci switched Craig to the outside to take advantage of his size and speed.

Salvucci noted that the Yellow Jackets would be facing a number of teams this season that would be specializing in the option type offense and he needed a reliable outside linebacker who could confront the remy.

Confronting the enemy is just what Craig has done. Both Norwich and Coast Guard were forced to direct their outside attacks away from the versatile Craig who made both teams quick believers to the fact that to conduct an effective option offense it must be done to the opposite side of "Wolfman".

Craig's second half efforts against Norwich drew the raves of the Vermont press as they saw Craig effectively check Norwich's brilliant quarterback Joe Cottone. Craig, in fact, led AIC in unassisted tackles in the game with six, a large number for anyone but especially for an outside linebacker.

Over and above his outstanding football ability, the Quincy native has responded to his chore as co-captain of the Yellow Jackets. His enthusiasm and desire has managed to rub off on the team and in the words of Coach Salvucci "this team has as fine an attitude as anyone I have coached".

Salvucci is quick to place the credit on the shoulders of Craig and the other co-captain, Bill Connolly the triple threat quarterback from Scituate.

Salvucci is quick to point out that Craig is undoubtedly one of the finest if not the finest outside linebacker in New England this season. His ability to knock down enemy blockers and turn in plays so his defensive partners can make the tackle has been a major factor in the improved defensive play of the Yellow Jackets in the early stages of the campaign.

If the Yellow Jacket outside linebacker maintains the same type of play he has exhibited so far this season he surely is certain to capture New England laurels.

Raiders Find Offense

Winless North, Chelsea Clash Saturday

North Quincy's football team, winless in four starts, is due to explode one of these days and Saturday would seem like an opportune time.

The Raiders, inexperienced and with a new coach in Ralph Frazier, travel to Chelsea for a 1:30 p.m. Greater Boston League game against the Red Devils, who have lost 22 games in a row.

North displayed its best offense of the year last week but two long touchdown runs by quarterback John Aquino in the third period broke a close game open and sparked undefeated Medford to a 32-16 win at Quincy Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Aquino had a hand in four of his team's five touchdowns, throwing two scoring passes as the Mustangs romped to their fourth win in a row, third in the league, to take over the league lead.

"I was very pleased with our offense, although we couldn't score until the final period," Frazier said. "The line blocked very well and the boys never let up. We also played well defensively and it was those two long runs [47 and 75 yards] and the two scoring passes [30 and 31 yards] which killed us. I think we are about ready to explode and I hope it will be Saturday.

"However, I'm always afraid to meet a team like Chelsea. They are really starving for a win and they also could explode some day. I just hope they don't pick Saturday to do so."

The Red Devils, who haven't won a game in three years, are 0-3 in the league and 0-4 overall, having been shut out in league competition. They lost to Lynn Classical, 14-6, in a non-league opener, then bowed to Medford, 32-0; Revere, 33-0, and Somerville, 17-0, although holding the latter team scoreless for three periods last week.

"Kelly, Tomasetti and Panarelli ran well as we gained 177 yards on the ground, and Lippens threw some good passes, although completing only four," Frazier said. "Paul is coming along well at quarterback and handles the ball well."

On defense the Raider coach had praise for Craig Bogosian, Jerry Mulcahy, Frank McIsaac and Steve Murray, starting his first game. He also hailed John Myer, who filled in well when Joe Spavento was hurt.

North trailed only 6-0 at the half as the result of Aquino's 30-yard scoring pass to Dick Fawcett in the first period.

But Aquino's two long scoring jaunts in the third period broke the Raiders' back.

In the final period Aquino passed to Fawcett again for a 35-yard touchdown play and Frank Carbone raced 40 yards for the final Medford TD.

North got on the scoreboard when Lippens hit Kelly with a 35-yard scoring pass and Lippens passed to Tomasetti for the points.

The final touchdown came on a six-yard dash by Panarelli, who also rushed for the two points.

This question has come up as the result of a recent Quincy Sun story that this year's team was enjoying the school's best season ever.

This brought a prompt letter from followers of the 1964 team, which followed up an undefeated season by placing two men in the top 10 in the state meet, a feat the current team will try to duplicate in Saturday's state class meet over the Franklin Park course. The best in this meet will qualify for the state meet over the same course Nov. 1.

Bob Gentry's North team finished its season Tuesday with a win over Quincy to give it a final 7-1 Greater Boston League record and an 8-1 overall mark. This was the league's first season and North finished second to undefeated Malden.

Supporters of the 1964 team claim it was the school's number one team, but backers of this year's classy team dispute the claim.

Gentry explained that in time trials last week in preparation for the state meet, Paul Affsa, Pat McCormick and Kevin Henry had the best times ever run over the North Quincy course.

In North's 24-37 victory Tuesday in the final GBL meet, Affsa suffered his first defeat at the hands of Quincy's brilliant soph, Bob Ciano. Ciano led by 40 yards going into the last half mile but Affsa cut the gap to 10. Ciano lost only one race this year.

Peter Laing of Quincy was third, the only President to finish among the top 10 as North's Pat McCormick was fourth, Kevin Henry fifth, Ed Monti sixth, Jeff Strungis seventh, Matt Ciancy eighth, Frank Webb ninth and Paul Bonetti 10th.

The members of the fine 1964 team were Alan Bennett, Gerry Byrne, Tom Carroll, Mike Greenlaw, Scott Healey, John Laverty, who went on to become a fine harrier and distance runner at University of Mass., Henry Lee, Tom Mullen, Rich Starsiak and Dave Zink.

Carroll was an outstanding freshman runner for Jerry Lyons 1964 team and won the frosh-soph division of the Catholic Memorial meet that year, the only North freshman to do so.

So, followers of North Quincy High sports can argue over which was North's top cross country team—1969 or 1964.

O'Hanley: 'We're Coming'

Giants Chase Second Win at Roanoke

BY CHARLES LOWE

The Quincy Giants lost again and are now 1-6, but Coach Ross O'Hanley may be discouraged, but is not showing it.

"We're coming, every week we're getting a little better," he said. "I had a new backfield out there [vs. Bridgeport, Conn., last Saturday night at Veteran's Memorial Stadium] of Tom Tyler [Holy Cross] at quarterback, Bob Penny [Holy Cross] at fullback, Andy Heideiberg [Norfolk State] at running back and Wayne Richardson at wide receiver [flanker]. They did very well in the second half.

Bridgeport took home a 22-14 win.

"We go to Roanoke, [Va] Saturday night, and I think we can pick up our second win. It's frustrating to the players who seem to think we're snakebit. Everything's been happening to us. We lost our best runner when Paul Della Villa [B.C.] was hurt, but I've picked up Bill Bailey [Cinn.] from the Boston Patriots and as soon as he learns the plays, I think he'll help us."

The Roanoke Buckskins, affiliated with the Washington Redskins defeated the Giants earlier in the Giants home opener, so the Giants will be looking to even the season's series.

O'Hanley was especially pleased with the work of unheralded Penney. "I don't think anyone's ever heard of him, in fact I don't think he even played in his last year at Holy Cross.

"He reminds me of Dan Reeves of the Dallas Cowboys. He's not too fast but he's rugged, has good balance and is hard to bring down. He's been a very pleasant surprise."

Two other players who will add to whatever happiness O'Hanley can salvage are new defensive back Bob Shann [B.C.] and kicker Brant Conley [Tulsa]. Just getting back into condition after a year's layoff, Shann, who has played with the Philadelphia Eagles and Atlanta Falcons, intercepted one pass against the Jets, and a bulwark at his cornerback post against both passes and runs.

Conley had his best night of the season, kicking four times for a 45-yard average and boomed one for 56 yards, his season's best.

Tyler has been installed as the number one quarterback and unless the Giants pick up Tom Sherman [Penn State] recently cut loose by the Boston Patriots, it looks like the job is his.

O'Hanley said, "Tyler threw very well in the second half last week, when he gets to throw quicker, he'll get better yet."

The Giants return home Nov. 1, for an 8 p.m. arclight meeting with the Richmond Roadrunners, affiliated with the New Orleans Saints of the NFL. This game is being sponsored by the Quincy Elks. Tickets may be obtained at the Giants office at 10 Temple St., or from any member of the B.P.O.E. The game will be at Veteran's Memorial Stadium as usual.

Quincy Youth Football League In Season Finale On Sunday

This Sunday is the season finale for the league. In the 1 p.m. feature game, the Apaches will once again try to upset the Point Panthers. In the other match, which begins at 1:30, the Elks will battle the Manets.

The upstart Manets, featuring a brand new defensive formation, repeatedly caught Apache backs behind the line of scrimmage for huge losses. The Houghs Neck team was definitely "up" for the game and displayed the best defensive effort of any club so far this season. Nevertheless, Apache back Jim Evans came through with a 10 yard scoring jaunt to gain the victory.

Outstanding performers for the Apaches were: Paul Williams, Jack Hatfield, Mike O'Malley, Mike Conroy, Paul Keeley, Mark Breslin and Mike Reardon.

The entire defensive team of the Manets was outstanding. Art Boyle, Steve Burke, Bond Doucette, Mike Conine, Rick Howard and Bob Lane were offensive standouts.

The Point's Panthers rolled to their fifth straight season victory by displaying an awesome rushing offense.

Peter Pino scored twice for the winners on jaunts of 12 and 20 yards. Quarterback Roger Johnston scored on a four yard keeper and Jeff Robertson caught the pass for two points. Johnston also picked up the lone TD., in the third frame on a 30 yard slant off left tackle. Tony Trubiano slanted off left tackle and sped 30 yards for the Panthers' fifth score. Tommy Ford had the final tally for the champs on a 38 yard run off a double reverse. Joe McCourt ran for the points.

The Elks' lone touchdown was scored by T. J. O'Sullivan on an eight yard slant. O'Sullivan has picked up a great deal of yardage for the Elks and he continued to impress with his efforts on Sunday.

O'Hanley Blames 'Lousy Officiating' For Game Brawl

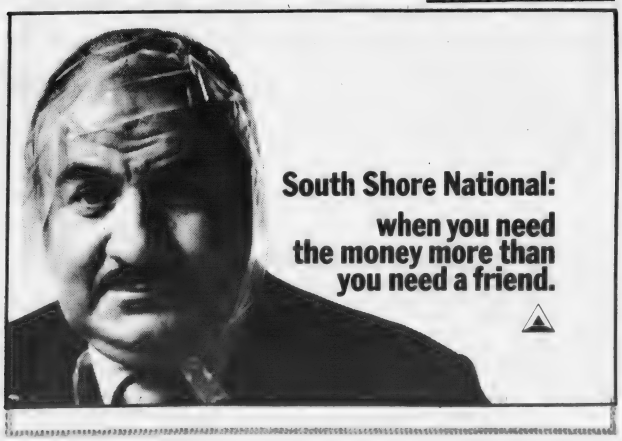
It looked like a scene in the days of the Gladiators in the Roman Colesseum with everyone engaged in mortal combat.

Eighty or so football players were all punching, wrestling, swinging their helmets like clubs at each other with 31 seconds to play in last week's Atlantic Coast Football League game between Bridgeport [Conn.] and Quincy, at Veteran's Memorial Stadium.

Bridgeport was leading 22-14 at the time and when the chaos was allowed to go unchecked, the officials left the field declaring the game over, and Bridgeport the winner.

"Ridiculous," said Bob Dee, Giants vice-president and defensive line coach. "This is no way to play a football game. Settle your differences by beating the other team."

"Lousy officiating, and you can quote me on that," seethed a very irate Giants head coach, Ross O'Hanley. "This is what happens, when you get poor officiating, a game like this winds up in a fight."



The play that triggered the wild melee came with time running out and the Giants trying for another score against the Jets, affiliated with the New York Jets. Tom Tyler [Holy Cross] Giants quarterback went back to pass and was smothered for a 10-yard loss by Jim Harris [Utah] and Seth Cartwright [Prairie View A & M]. While down, Tyler was punched and knocked windless. Paul Feldhausen [Northland] peeled Cartwright off the prone Tyler and gave him [Cartwright] a clout. Both benches immediately emptied and the brawl was on.

The incident was merely the catalyst that set off the frustrated Giants who had an excellent offensive and defensive effort seeking their second win.

An early first period score by fullback Bob Penny [Holy Cross] was nullified by a very questionable penalty, the first of many all night that led to O'Hanley's tirade against the officiating. The Giants were penalized 10 times for a total of 105 yards with only 40 being walked off against the Jets. It wasn't the amount of yardage that hurt the Giants it was the frequency of the calls when promising drives became stalled by alleged infractions.

"I'm going to do everything in my power to let league officers know that this was a lousy team of officials. Bill Diogardi [commissioner of officials] will hear from me and I'm going to give them very poor ratings," concluded O'Hanley.

ENC Soccer Team Keeps .500 Record

The Eastern Nazarene College soccer team kept its record at .500 last week with a victory and a defeat.

On Thursday, ENC travelled to King's College [N.Y.] and was handed a 5-1 defeat. It was an unusual game in that ENC outshot King's 30-29, but could only score one goal, a penalty kick by Bob Mollica of North Quincy.

On Saturday ENC was at Gordon College and spoiled the Scots' Homecoming with a solid 3-1 victory. That win upped ENC's Colonial Intercollegiate Soccer Conference record to 2-1.

Against Gordon, Bob Henning broke into the scoring column for the first time this season when he tied the game up in the second period on a pass from Mollica. Herbie Lau put ENC ahead with an unassisted goal in the third period and Mollica iced the win in the fourth period with a penalty kick.

Mollica, who played for three years at North Quincy High, is leading ENC in scoring with 15 points. His seven goals have all come on penalty kicks.

Wayne Mills has six points on two goals and Rick Melder five points on two goals and an assist.

HOUSE CALL

By Dr. Charles Djerf
Pediatrician

'The Allergic Child'

There are several widely accepted forms of allergies such as hay fever, asthma, eczema, hives, contact dermatitis, plant dermatitis, [such as poison ivy, etc.]

Once again, colic is being considered an alimentary allergy to milk or other foods in some infants. This has been in and out of medical fashion but some infants do seem to get relief when put on a non-milk formula, or when other likely allergies such as eggs are carefully eliminated from their diet. Because more scientific proof can not be established at this time, clinical observation has to be used and finality in this area can not be reached.

However, since a colicky baby is a harrowing experience for the parents, a simple non-allergic diet is worth a try. Doctors can easily say that a nervous mother has a colicky baby but the truth may well be that a colicky, sleepless, crying baby makes everyone nervous.

To help parents understand an allergic child's problems they must be assured that these individuals need considerable medication and medical attention frequently. That their condition is treatable even if not curable at present. Season allergies [hay fever] get the best results by a desentization program.

The medicine cabinet in an allergic family may look like a drugstore. I am sure when we have more knowledge about the basic scientific courses of allergies fewer drugs will be necessary for treatment. At present it is best to attack allergies by eliminating from the household all common frequent allergens such as cats, dogs, birds, wool, dust-catchers [drapes], feathers and kapock. This means that at least the bedroom is stripped of dusty, musty objects and kept so that it can be easily washed and cleaned.

The frequent food allergens are eleiminated such as wheat flour, chocolate, eggs [including noodles with high egg content]. Labels of canned and frozen foods have to be read carefully. "Hi Protein" usually means egg-white content.

Plain soaps rather than detergents are used on the body and in the clothes. Modern chemistry producing all the new detergents and enzyme-acting products have also produced many itchy rashes. There was always an occasional child or adult whose skin reacted to the old soaps but nowhere near the proportion who react to these new chemical compounds. Perfumes and perfumed powder and oils should also be avoided.

Individuals who are so unfortunate as to have "sensitive" skin can get a rash from the simplest and often unexplainable things. They itch miserably and even when the cause is eliminated. Healing is slow, so prevention is worth a pound of cure.

Hayfever sufferers [sometimes thought by the parents to have prolonged or frequent colds, but without fever] if not controlled easily by antihistamine drugs, can be skin-tested and desentized. The treatment is effective and worthwhile.

Newspapers report deaths from bee stings from time to time. This created unnecessary fear everytime a child is stung. The tragic unusual death makes news but fortunately this is a rare occurence. The child who gets a very large or hive reaction to bee or mosquito bites would be well to have a desensitization program against bee stings. This would avoid over-protection and unnecessary fears on the part of the parents.

Death from bee-sting occurs because there is rapid, prompt swelling of the lining of the air passage. Therefore, any indication of severe reactions to bee stings would indicate the wisdom of getting a few injections rather then trying to get prompt effective emergency treatment [meanwhile worrying] each spring and summer.

Asthma is a complex, difficult form of allergy which can leave the lung tissue damaged. One of the serious complications is emphyzema in the young adult. Therefore all forms of treatment should be instituted as soon as the diagnosis is made. Drug therapy of all sorts, antihistamines, bronchial dilators and even antibiotics are just a necessary crutch for relief. Several drugs are often used together and upon the advice of the physician should be instituted as soon as an attack starts.

It is easier to break up a mild, early attack than one that has been allowed to get established in an effort to see if the child could get over it himself. Other home treatments failing adrenalin by inhalation or injection may be necessary.

Steroids are used by most physicians for short-term treatment periodically, although some doctors are still wary of certain complications in respect to lowering the individuals resistance or covering up infections. Skin-testing and a desensitization program should also be established early.

Evaluation of results may take three or four years after starting the desensitization program. Try to keep a steady keel and faith during these trying years as the child may miss a great deal of school, take a lot of medication, miss a lot of sleep. Quite remarkably they do adjust to their chronic illness bouts well. Most children are able to keep right up with their schoolwork, take numerous injections and even frequent hospitalization in their stride. Perhaps better than their parents who also have the bills and worry about the youngster's future. However, improved early diagnosis even without any dramatic new therapy has produced more normal young adults.

Since there are strong family hereditory tendenceies in allergies, accusation or guilt of either parent should be completely avoided. This is because we marry for "love" and do not choose our partners as we breed our dogs.

None of us has such a pure health pattern that we should be smug or cast aspersions. Once more we are expected to accept our children for what they are and to mold their physical as well as their mental lives to the very best level we can.

Great Books Group Meets Tonight

The Quincy First Year Great Books Discussion group will meet tonight [Thursday] at 8 p.m. in the Children's Room of the Thomas Crane Library, 40 Washington St., Quincy Center.

The group led by Dr. Charles Djerf, Quincy pediatrician, school committeeman, and Quincy Sun columnist, will discuss Plato's APOLOGY and CRITO.

In commenting on these famous and timely dramatic dialogues concerned with law and order and the citizens' attitude toward them, Dr. Djerf wondered "...if today's readers can think of any modern politician who, faced with the supreme sacrifice, would or could come to the same reasoned decision which Socrates did"

Participants are still welcome to join this new first year Great Books group. There are no financial or educational requirements. Only an interest in and willingness to read and individually explore the ideas and issues with which good literature is concerned are necessary.

Further information about readings, lists or about the Great Books program may be obtained from the Thomas Crane Library or Mrs. Jane Mudge, 264 Furnace Brook Parkway, Quincy.

IS A SMOKE WORTH A HEART ATTACK?

By William B Kannel, M. D.
Medical Director
Framingham Heart Study

It is a sad fact of life that within the next 10 years one in every 10 men and one in 20 women between the ages of 35 and 60 can expect to develop coronary heart disease and one in three can expect their's to be fatal. If you are a heavy cigarett smoker you are more than doubling this high risk, and the attack, when it comes, is more likely to be a fatal one.

Although much progress has been made in safeguarding the life of heart attack victims who reach the hospital alive, fully 65 percent of the deaths occurring in the course of an attack are sudden and unexpected – the entire course of the illness from onset to death lasting only several minutes. Thus, the major portion of the mortality in coronary victims occurs outside the hospital before expert medical attention can be received. Also, it is not uncommon to have a heart attack without even being aware of it; one in five attacks are either silent or so atypical that neither the victim nor his physician will even consider the possibility.

CONTROL UNHEALTHY HABITS

The only way to deal with this lethal, sneaky disease is to prevent it by avoiding those things which predispose and contribute to its occurrence while we are still free of any symptoms. In this disease the very first symptom may also be the very last!

There is mounting evidence that certain of our living habits increase the chance of a coronary attack. Among them are cigarette smoking, a too rich diet, and lack of physical activity in work and in leisure. Of these adverse habits the cigarette habit is, in theory, the most easily controlled contributor to lethal heart attacks. It is quite evident that the majority of adults under age 60 enjoy smoking cigarettes. In Framingham, 70 percent of men and 40 percent of women were found to indulge in this pernicious habit. Also, every year youngsters take up the habit at an earlier age and women, always striving for equality with men, are more and more taking up the habit.

While those who continue to smoke cigarettes either will not or cannot face up to the fact that the price in ill health is prohibitively high, the Heart Association, the Cancer Society and various other voluntary and governmental agencies both here and abroad repeatedly point out in no uncertain terms that the cigarette habit is hazardous to health and will shorten life. There are really no serious doubts that the cigarette habit makes a potent contribution to the occurrence of fatal heart attacks.

EVERY SMOKE INCREASES RISK

The cigarette smoker's risk of a heart attack is increased day by day with each cigarette smoked. Yet the risk of an attack is not related to how long one has smoked, even in heavy smokers. Consequently there is much to be gained in giving up the habit no matter how long you have previously indulged in it. Studies have shown that those who stop smoking, promptly revert to the same low risk as those who never smoked.

While the cigarette habit triggers lethal coronary attacks, particularly in those with silent coronary atherosclerosis, or hardening of the arteries [which most of us have], cigar and pipe smokers do not share to the same extent the high risk of the cigarette smoker. This provides an alternative for those who are unable to give up the tobacco habit entirely.

While the harmful consequences of the cigarette habit as regards coronary attacks are more pronounced in some persons than others, it has not been possible to delineate with certainty whose who are immune to its effects.

NICOTINE STIMULATES ADRENALIN

The nicotine absorbed in smoking a cigarette stimulates the release of adrenalin-like substances. The heavy cigarette smoker is thus giving himself the equivalent of 20 shots or more of adrenalin each day and it is not surprising that this has been causing lethal heart attacks, since adrenalin raises the blood pressure. After smoking, the heart beats more quickly, sometimes as many as 21 beats more per minute.

Most of us must consider ourselves potential candidates for a heart attack. One of the strongly predisposing factors which we can eliminate to good advantage is cigarettes. This is expecially imperative for those who are known cardiacs or known to be highly vulnerable to heart attack such as diabetics, those with high blood cholesterol, high blood pressure, the obese, and those with ECG abnormalties.

One of the preventive measures against coronary attacks which we can each take, without consulting anyone or obtaining medical assistance is to give up cigarettes. Aside from the obvious benefit of living longer, the improvement in wind and taste and the absence of an irritable cough and sputum, will give you a sense of well being you haven't felt for many years.

"Living With Your Heart" is a public service of the Massachusetts Heart Association, which can provide further information on this subject.

Adams School's P.L.A.N. Gears Teaching To Needs

The program incorporates the most up-to-date methods and materials for meeting the needs of each individual child, at five grade levels.

Frank D'Andrea, assistant principal, reports that the program, which has been in operation for three years, has been "enthusiastically" received by the students at every level.

The year one level children work with three children in three rooms; the Conference Room, the Activity Room and the Listening Room. Each child has a chance to work with each teacher in all the rooms at one time or another. The children are being introduced to the use of Teaching Learning Units which direct them to their learning activities.

The teacher is not a center of attention in year two of the program but rather more a resource person and an aid to the students. The children work primarily on their own with tapes, records and filmstrips.

Achievement levels vary. Consequently at level three instructional materials are provided for both individual and small group activities. The students begin to show a great deal of responsibility at this level.

There is no P.L.A.N. program at grade four. However, at grade five the program acquaints the pupils with the P.L.A.N. sequence and what it is trying to accomplish.

This will prepare them to begin work on a variety of studies that will provide them with a learning activities geared to their learning styles and achievement levels.

The culmination of the sequence occurs in grade six. Youngsters, on the basis of pretests are prescribing their own skill materials in reading and math. The pupils also compile guidelines for school behavior and citizenship. For example elected patrol officers set up the safety patrol program for the school.

In addition to P.L.A.N. projects, year six will undertake research on countries. The study will be climaxed by a spring trip to the United Nations.

100,000 DOCTORS HAVE QUIT SMOKING CIGARETTES

HERE'S WHAT: When many doctors first started smoking cigarettes, they didn't know the risks they were taking. Now they know—and are quitting by the thousands. Play it cool. Let the facts turn you off before you're hooked!

FACTS:

- Cigarette smoking is the major cause of lung cancer.
- The risk of death from lung cancer is more than 10 times greater for cigarette smokers than for nonsmokers.
- Every year, over 40,000 lung cancer deaths are caused by cigarette smoking. With every cigarette you smoke, you lose an average of six minutes of life.

RE-ELECT Your Present School Committeeman

FRANK ANSELMO

1. Pledged to expanding the use of present school facilities to cope with increasing school enrollment; while at the same time curbing new construction, until home owners are given some relief from the galloping taxes.

2. During the past four years, I have opposed busing of out-of-city pupils to Quincy. My opposition is based not only on overcrowded class rooms, but also because the expense is not justified, and because money could be spent more advantageously to provide better neighborhood schools. Today the great majority of black people do not favor busing. They want better local schools, and they are beginning to get them.

3. Pledged to an intensive survey of our high school program. As only about 25 out of 100 students go to college, much more must be done for those that do not, in order to direct them towards knowledge and skills for useful and productive lives.

4. I have and will continue to oppose the circulation in our school system of literature of an obscene and vulgar nature. In this stage of character development this type of literature can be extremely harmful to the young student.

Apart from education, in the council campaign of 1967, I opposed the "gift" - [not sale] of the Quincy City Hospital, as proposed by expert consultants. Today my judgement is verified. The Hospital is operating at a substantial profit, to the benefit of our City.

I pledge myself to a sound educational system; with due regard to the already overburdened taxpayer, of whom I am one.

21st Winter Recreation Program Now Underway

This program utilizes 21 schools for its after school hours and Saturday's activities. The after school program, from 3 to 5 p.m., is for children who are at least age eight and attending elementary school.

The Saturday program runs from 8 to 1 p.m. and schedules elementary school boys from 8 to 10:30, Junior High School boys from 10:30 to 11:30 and Senior High School boys from 11:30 to closing.

There will be a change in the time and location of the Men's Physical Fitness program. This program has so grown in popularity it has been forced to relocate at the larger North Quincy High School gym. This activity again will be under the direction of North Quincy High School and A.I.C. football star John "Buck" Mahoney and runs from 7 to 10 p.m.

The Womens Fitness program will be held on Tuesday evenings at Atlantic Junior High School from 7 to 10 p.m.

The Saturday morning program for handicapped children will be held at North Quincy High School from 9 to 12 noon, Beginning Oct. 25.

The ceramics program will be held again at two locations. Tuesday at the Gridley Bryant School for girls and Thursday for boys. At the Quincy school on Mondays for girls and on Wednesday for boys. Saturday morning both schools are open from 8 to 10 for the girls and from 10 to 12 for the boys.

Anyone seeking more information is asked to call the Recreation office at 479-3221.

WOODS AUTO SCHOOL President Jack Woods (left) and Bill Woods, treasurer shown with the Woods South Shore Auto School Bus used to train drivers for a Class Two license. Jack, who is president of the Driver Education Association of Massachusetts, holds a trophy presented to the association by the New York Driving School Association.

As the number of Americans obtaining driving licenses increases, auto safety decreases. As auto safety decreases insurance rates increase. There seems to be no permanent solution to this modern day syllogism.

There is, however, a way to cope with the problem. Certified and experienced driver education training, as is taught at Woods South Shore Auto School, will not only increase personal safety but also decrease personal insurance rates.

"We are always striving to give our students the finest in professional instruction while they are learning to drive," says Bill Woods, co-owner of Woods Auto Schools.

Bill, who runs the school along with his brother Jack, has been in the driving school business for 20 years. "We started our own school in 1959 with three cars, one employee and a single office." recalled Bill. "Now we have 12 cars, 20 employees, three offices and a bus. We use the bus in order to prepare those people who want to obtain a class two license."

Woods South Shore Auto Schools' three convenient offices are: 60 Billings Rd., North Quincy, 357 Washington St., Braintree and 97 Washington St. Weymouth. Information on times and dates of training courses can be obtained by calling the North Quincy office at 471-3133, Braintree at 843-0300 or the Weymouth Woods Auto School, 337-4242. Dial one of these numbers. It will help you to cope with an increasing problem.

Voc.-Tech Carpentry Students Save City $2,000 With Talent

In an unprecedented move, carpentry students at the Quincy Vocational Technical School will construct a proposed new addition to the Quincy Bowling Green Club.

Their know-how will save the city an estimated $2,000.

The Quincy Bowling Green is within the jurisdiction of the Quincy Park Department and is run with assistance and advice of the Bowling Green Club membership.

The effort is a joint venture of city agencies and the vocational school. The carpentry students will construct the new building in sections as part of their regular shop program.

The Park Department will absorb the cost of materials, construct the concrete slab foundation and assemble the building when the sections are completed.

This combined effort will result in a total cost of $1,000 for materials. It involves a saving of approximately $2,000 for the city of Quincy.

Completion target date is early 1970.

The project will not only involve a 67% decrease in cost for the city but it will also afford a great deal of practical carpentry construction experience for the students, it was pointed out.

Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, School Superintendant; Maurice J. Daly, Assistant Superintendent and Laurence Babin, Principal and Director of the Vocational School have endorsed the unique project.

Three Lane Traffic Alleviates Jams At Neponset Bridge

Opening of a third northbound lane over the Neponset Bridge during morning peak hours has alleviated traffic congestion in the area.

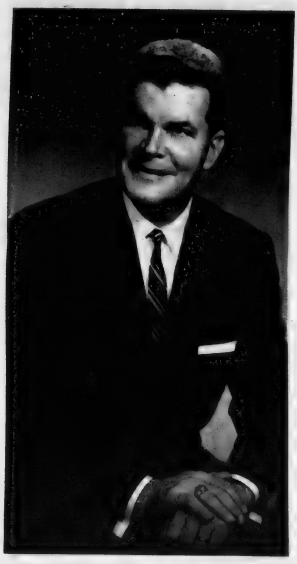
"It seems to be working out very well," said Mayor James R. McIntyre who last week threatened to take the MDC to court if necessary to uncork traffic jams at that North Quincy point.

Capt. Roy Cavvichi, head of the Quincy police traffic bureau, agreed that the problem apparently has been worked out.

The third north-bound lane was opened on a trial basis Monday for the 7-to-9 a.m. peak hours.

The two southbound lanes have been reduced to one during the two-hour morning period in order to open the third lane for heavy Boston-bound traffic.

Mayor McIntyre had recommended that the bridge be made four lanes north-bound from 7 to 9:30 a.m.



The traffic had been converted to two-lane for construction of the new $5 million Neponset Bridge.

The Mayor said there was too much morning traffic travelling from Quincy to Boston to funnel it into two lanes.

Noting that several conferences with the MDC had failed to bring a remedy, the Mayor threatened court action if necessary.

"I am pleased to see that the MDC has now taken steps to correct this unbearable situation," he said. "I think it will improve considerably.

Do It Yourself . . .

WHILE THE OTHER kids were out buying their Halloween pumpkins, 9-year-old Billy Ross of 13 Plover Rd., grew his own, a 10-pound beauty. He got the seeds from his Sunday school teacher, Miss Donna Zanolli, last spring. He plans to do it again, bigger and better, next year. [Quincy Sun Photo by J. W. Ross]

52 Per Cent Vote Forecast For City Election Nov. 4

A little more than half of Quincy's 44,575 registered voters are expected to turn out for the city election next Tuesday.

City Clerk John M. Gillis predicts 52 per cent of the total eligible voters will go to the polls to select from 25 candidates a mayor, three city councillors at-large, three school committeemen and six ward councillors.

Lack of a "big name" mayoralty race and a "no contest" for the Ward 1 city council seat are the major reasons for Gillis' light turnout forecast.

Two years ago, 64.97 per cent of Quincy's voters cast ballots in the election.

In this year's preliminary election Oct. 7, only 26 per cent of the voters bothered to go to the polls because of the lukewarm interest.

The spotlight next Tuesday will focus on council at-large and school committee battles with two former prominent political figures--Joseph J. LaRaia and Charles T. Sweeny--making comeback bids.

Two or three of the ward council contests will also be watched with interest.

The mayoralty race--traditional main attraction in a city election--has hardly more than a co-feature billing this year.

Incumbent James R. McIntyre 39, a powerful vote-getter seeking his third term, is opposed by Robert C. Preble, 36-year-old Houghs Neck plumber and political newcomer.

If the preliminary election results are any kind of a barometer, McDonald would seem to have a serious challenger on his hands in LaRaia.

The 37-year old former City Council president topped McDonald for third spot in the preliminary, with 4,885 votes--846 in front of McDonald who finished fourth.

LaRaia was just 315 votes behind second man Quinn who polled 5,200. Tobin topped the field and all other candidates on the preliminary ballot with 6,182.

Atty. Maurice R. Horrigan, Jr., 34, and Mrs. Alice I. Kowilcik, 51, the other two challengers, polled 2,218 and 2,208 respectively.

Mrs. Kowilcik, Squantum mother of six, has the only bonnet in the ring.

She hopes to become the second woman in Quincy's history to serve in the City Council, following in the footsteps of Mrs. Edna B. Austin who retired undefeated in 1960.

She could pile up a strong distaff vote with female voters outnumbering male voters in Quincy, 24,420 to 20,155.

Strong vote-getting performances by former School Committeeman Sweeny and Leo J. Hannon, Jr., in the preliminary election and the political retirement of Dr. Charles Djerf has sparked interest in the School Committee race.

Sweeny, 53-year-old Veterans Administration executive, topped a 10-man field in the preliminary with a 4,358 vote.

Atty. Paul C. Kelly, 40, who succeeded Dr. Edward Mann when the latter resigned in 1968, finished a strong second with 4,112 in his first wide run.

Hannon, 37-year old real estate-insurance broker making his first bid for the school board rolled up an impressive third place 4,003 vote, topping incumbent Frank Anselmo, 71, who placed fourth with 3,806.

The other two contenders for the three school committee seats are James F. Harrington, 22-

Rail System Better Than MBTA - Mayor

A rail system rather than the $111 million MBTA rapid transit extension would have better solved the South Shore's mass transportation problem insists Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre.

He declared last night:

--"It would have solved today's problems at less cost and with more flexibility to meet the transportation needs of our fast-growing suburban area in the future.

--"The MBTA extension will not penetrate deep enough into the growth areas and thus will be incapable of carrying out the transit needs of the future."

McIntyre, chairman of the joint Legislative Committee on Transportation returned Sunday from a four-day inspection tour of modern transit facilities in The Netherlands and Belgium.

"I've always thought a rail system would have been better," he said. "Now, after seeing what I saw, I'm convinced of it."

"I saw a clean, convenient, safe railway service that could have been provided here."

McIntyre recalled that as a state representative in 1964 he opposed the proposed MBTA extension, favoring instead the use of Buddliners on existing Old Colony Line tracks.

He said the cars could have been purchased and the existing tracks utilized at considerably less than the MBTA extension to Quincy and Braintree will cost.

"In the long run, it would have proven to be the better service," McInture declared.

He said the rail system would have penetrated deeply in the suburbs--to Greenbush, Brockton and the Cape area.

"It would cost too much to electrify rapid transit tracks into these areas," he said. "It would be too tremendous a cost."

He said the MBTA's present plan is to extend rapid transit service only as far as Quincy and Braintree.

"The original plan was to go as far as Derby St. in Hingham," he noted. "But right now there are no plans for beyond Braintree."

McIntyre concluded:

"It is too late now. We will have to make the best of the MBTA. But a rail system would have been the sounder of the two, I'm sure of it."

Vietnam Honors Quincy Hero

Grateful Vietnam has bestowed one of its highest awards on a Quincy Marine who gave his life nearly two years ago defending the southeast Asian country.

The South Vietnamese Military Merit Medal and the Gallantry Cross with Palm was awarded to Lance Corp. Brian P. Ahern, son of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Ahern, 65 Andrews Rd. Mr. Ahern is assistant Quincy City Building Inspector.

Mrs. Taylor received the award recently from Lt. Col. R. E. Romine, executive officer of the Marine Air Reserve Training Detachment at South Weymouth Air Station.

The citations read:

"The President of the Republic of Vietnam has awarded the Military Merit Medal and the Gallantry Cross with Palm, posthumously to Lance Corporal Brian P. Ahern, United States Marine Corps for courage and rare self-sacrifice as a member of the Third Combined Action Group, III Marine Amphibious Forces.

"Lance Corporal Ahern continually displayed most tactful cooperation while aiding the armed forces of the Republic of Vietnam in repelling the Red wave undermining South Vietnam and Southeast Asia. With ready zeal and commendable response Lance Corporal Ahern completed each mission setting a brilliant example for his commander in arms."

For his heroic actions in Vietnam, Corp. Ahern also received the Purple Heart, the Combat Action Ribbon, the National Defense Service Medal, the Vietnam Service Medal and the Republic of Vietnam Campaign Medal.

Lance Cpl. Ahern was killed in action Jan. 7, 1968.

Schools Offer Chance To Catch Up With Kids

Quincy High and Vocational-Technical Schools are inviting the old folks back to the classroom next month to discover the modern math and science that today's youngster takes for granted.

The occasion is the observation of the 48th American Education Week on Nov. 12 between 7 and 9 p.m. at both schools.

Members of the mathematics and science department faculties will be on hand to explain such instructional tools as Projects PLAN and ABLE and audio-visual aids.

Invitations to parents of students are being sent by the department heads, John Chrusciel of Science and Mrs. Margaret King of Mathematics.

Other departments at the schools will hold open houses in their subject areas later in the school year.

Nixon In Tribute To John Adams

President Richard M. Nixon will pay tribute to Quincy-born President John Adams on the 234th anniversary of the latter's birth today.

A memorial wreath from Nixon will be placed on the tomb of the second President in the crypt at historic First Parish Church, Quincy Sq. at 11 a.m. ceremonies.

Capt. John Duke, supervisor of Navy shipbuilding at General Dynamics', Quincy Division, will place the wreath.

Participating in the ceremonies will be Mayor James R. Mc Intyre and City Historian William C. Edwards.

A wreath from President Nixon was also placed on the tomb of the sixth President, John Quincy Adams on the anniversary of the latter's birth in February.

President Nixon visited the crypt of the two Quincy born born presidents while campaigning for vice-president with Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Ten Students Receive High College Marks

Ten former Quincy High School students in the English Advanced Placement Program have received high ratings by the College Entrance Examination Board.

The ratings were "qualified, well qualified, or extremely well qualified."

Only students who have had extensive preparation beyond regular secondary work are eligible to take the three-hour Advanced Placement exams.

The students and their ratings returned by the Examination Boards, are:

Sandra MacLeod and Louise Shaw, extremely well qualified; Gail Chilenski, Jewel Davis, Loren Ostrow, Nancy Battista and Susan Pascal, well qualified; Jeffery Hughes and Arlene Weiner, qualified.

All graduated from Quincy High School last June.

Participating colleges award college credit for those earning those ratings in the placement exams.

Sunbeams

It was a memorable weekend for Quincy Giants Coach Ross O'Hanley

His team won its second game of the season Saturday night against Richmond.

The passing was pretty good in that game. But not as good as the one O'Hanley made off the field. He was notified he had successfully passed the Massachusetts Bar examination.

The 30-year-old Boston College graduate has no immediate plans to practice law. But he has a long range objective of putting his soon legal background to work in a front office capacity in football.

Meanwhile, the next time grid officials give him a bad time on the field, maybe he could threaten them with an injunction.

LAST WEEK'S Quincy Sun special election section brought about a reunion between Ward 1 Councillor Edward S. Graham and Fred Gibbs, Quincy Vocational Technical School printing instructor.

The pair served together with the 45th Army Division in the Korean War. And although Gibbs lives in nearby Weymouth, they had lost track of one another. Hadn't seen each other in 15 years.

Gibbs, reading the Sun's election special, spotted Graham's picture and contacted him. They and their wives went out to dinner together the following night--Oct. 25.

Which, coincidentally, was the 19th anniversary of their discharge from the Army.

CONVENIENCE DEPT: The gate at the John Hancock School yard has been widened to allow voters who will cast their ballots there next Tuesday to drive in rather than hike the length of a football field from Water St. The request was made by Mayor James McIntyre to School Supt. Lawrence P. Creedon.

APPROPRIATE DATE: Miss Ruth Horrigan of South St., Quincy Point marked a birthday Oct. 27. She works for the U. S. Navy recruiting office at the John F. Kennedy Building in Boston, And, of course, Oct. 27 is Navy Day.

Incidentally, her father, Maurice R. Horrigan, Sr., a Quincy Public Works employee for 45 years, celebrated his 69th birthday on the same day. He's convalescing from recent surgery but is determined to vote next Tuesday. Son, Maurice, Jr., is candidate for City Councillor at-large.

FRIENDS ARE HAPPY to hear that Ward 4 City Council contender Joseph P. Shea's wife, Judith, is on the road to recovery after a recent serious illness. Her condition had curtailed his campaigning activities.

HOW DO YOU get along with your mother-in-law? Ward 4 Councillor Albert R. Barilaro's mother-in-law, Mrs. Ellen Flaherty, lives with him and her daughter. A spry 95, she told Barilaro the other night: "You know, we've been living together 25 years and have yet to have our first argument."

I'd vote for her as the sweetest mother-in-law in Quincy," smiles Barilaro.

HALLOWEEN TIP: Youngsters should use Mom's mascara instead of face masks on their trick-or-treat travels Friday night, advises the Automobile Legal Association.

"Masks usually do not fit tightly, particularly on younger children and have a tendency to slide down on the face making it difficult, if not impossible, for the youngsters to see," notes ALA Safety Director Philip C. Wallwork.

* * *

SMILE DEPT: At the recent Candidates Night sponsored by the St. Moritz Association, President Robert Watts told the story of the politician who when asked how he stood on a particular issue replied: "Some of the people are against it and some of the people are for it. And, of course, I am for the people."

Flu Vaccine Clinics For Senior Citizens Set For Nov. 4-13

Flu vaccine clinics for Quincy senior citizens will be held throughout the city between Nov. 4-13, announces Dr. John T. Foley, City Health Commissioner.

The clinics, to be conducted by the Quincy Health Department, have been scheduled with the assistance of the Quincy Federation of Senior Citizens and the Quincy Council on Aging.

Last Saturday, an estimated 2,750 residents of all ages received flu vaccine at a special mass clinic at the John F. Kennedy Health Center.

Dr. Foley recommends that all persons over 50 years of age and those with chronic diseases receive the vaccine.

An outbreak of Hong Kong flu has been predicted for this winter but is not expected to reach epidemic proportion.

Flu vaccine has already been made available to all residents of nursing homes and homes for the aged in the city.

Provision has been made, Dr. Foley noted, for those senior citizens who cannot attend the local clinics.

Vaccine will be made available at the Kennedy Health Center, 1120 Hancock St. until further notice, every Wednesday afternoon at 3 p.m., beginning Nov. 5.

Dr. Foley said the vaccine will not be administered to anyone sensitive to egg products. The vaccine is not intended for healthy adults or children, he said.

The clinics for senior citizens are scheduled for the following places and times:

Nov. 4, 1:30 p.m.
Wollaston Lutheran Church Office
Hancock St., Wollaston

Nov. 4, 2:15 p.m.
North Quincy Improvement Project
Brook St., Wollaston

Nov. 5, 1:30 p.m.
Southwest Quincy Community Center
372 Granite St., West Quincy

Nov. 5, 3 p.m.
Kennedy Health Center
1120 Hancock St., Quincy

Nov. 6, 1 p.m.
St. Boniface Church Hall
Palmer St., Germantown

Nov. 7, 1:30 p.m.
1000 Southern Artery
Quincy Point

Nov. 12, 1 p.m.
Blessed Sacrament Church
Thomas Aquinas Hall
Darrow St., Quincy

Nov. 12, 3 p.m.
Kennedy Health Center
1120 Hancock St., Quincy

Nov. 13, 1 p.m.
Quincy Senior Citizens Drop-In-Center
24 High School Ave., Quincy

LINEUP–Some of the 2,750 Quincy residents who received free flu vaccination at Quincy Health Department clinic Saturday are shown lined up outside waiting their turn.

New Registry Office Opens In November

The new Registry of Motor Vehicles Quincy branch is expected to open sometime in November, Mayor James R. Mc Intyre announces.

The building, located off Sea St. behind the Quincy Police station, was constructed by the city at a cost of $200,000.

The Registry will lease the building from the city at an annual fee of $29,350.

"This means," said McIntyre, "that over the 10-year lease, the building will be completely paid for at no cost to the city."

The new office will be a "great convenience" to Quincy and South Shore motorists, he noted.

15-State Conference Here Plans Education For '70's

Educators from 15 states sat down in Quincy this morning to begin two days of discussions that will affect the course of American public school education through the 1970s.

The occasion is the first conference of Education System for the 70's [ES70], a federally funded project designed to set up new educational goals and develop new curricula.

The educators, representing 18 school districts in 15 states, will meet in workshops and seminars in the Quincy Vocational Technical High School Library to study and evaluate new courses and programs.

Prime subjects for the study will be Quincy's Project ABLE and Project PLAN.

ABLE is a federally funded program aimed at developing new vocational courses on the high school level. PLAN introduces new courses [among them data processing] to high school students.

Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, superintendent of schools.

Stewart S. Sargent, coordinator of ES70 and federal aid.

Thomas F. White, coordinator of mathematics for Project ABLE.

Other conference delegates come from as far away as Portland, Ore.; San Mateo, Calif.; Houston, Tex.; and Broward County, Fla.

Quincy was selected as the meeting site for its close proximity to Boston's many schools, colleges and research groups.

Women's Club Juniors Drive For Members

The Junior Membership of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs is seeking new members, either to join existing clubs or to form new clubs in their areas.

Local affiliates are the Quincy Woman's Club Juniors and the Wollaston Woman's Club Juniors.

"Our purpose," says Mrs. Philip Baker, assistant director of Junior Membership, "is to unite women throughout the world for the purpose of mutual benefit and for the promotion of their common interest in education, philanthropy, public welfare, moral values and fine arts."

Those interested in forming new clubs may contact Mrs. Baker at Holly Rd., Centerville, Mass.

Those interested in joining existing local clubs should contact Mrs. John Ryan, 2 Scanlon Circle, Randolph for Wollaston or Mrs. Kenneth Allen, 118 Canton St., Randolph for the Quincy Club.

MRS. ALFRED A. SPADORCIA
[Sharon's Studio]

Miss Ann M. Connell Bride Of Alfred Spadorcia

At a double ring ceremony and nuptial Mass Oct. 19, at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, Miss Ann Maureen Connell, became the bride of Alfred A. Spadorcia. The Rev. Edward Geary officiated at the ceremony. A reception followed at Hugos Lighthouse, Cohasset.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Connell of 65 Longwood Rd., Quincy. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Spadorcia of 24 Main St., Quincy.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory poe satin gown with re-embroidered lace cascading from a jewel-neckline into skirt bateau en train with long sleeves and headdress of Camelot matching lace worn with a French illusion veil-long front and back. She carried a crescent of ivory colored cymbidiums with icelandic ivy.

Miss Ellen Marchetta, of Dorchester, was the matron of honor. She wore a brandy velvet high line bodice with gold trim and emerald and pink saffais stones and long sleeves, and she carried a hand cluster of gold poms and yellow roses with gold cord interwoven.

The bridesmaids, identically gowned, were: Mrs. Richard S. Connell of Dorchester, Mrs. William Connell, Mrs. Richard Dunham and Miss Sharon Spadorcia all of Quincy.

Serving as best man for his brother was Albert Spadorcia of Quincy. Ushers were, Richard Connell of Dorchester, William Spadorcia, Alfred Petta, Jr., and William Connell, all of Quincy.

The bride is a graduate of Quincy High School and New England Barber School. She is employed in Quincy by Leon's Barber Shop. The bridegroom is a graduate of Quincy High School and is a photographer for the Patriot Ledger.

Social Service Committee

33rd Annual Ball Dec. 5

The Social Service Committee of Quincy City Hospital is making plans for its 33rd Annual Ball to be held Dec. 5 at the Neighborhood Club of Quincy.

A social hour will start at 8 p.m. followed by dancing to Herbie Sulkins' orchestra.

Mrs. Samuel G. Sloane, chairman, announces that this will be the Social Service Committee's only fund-raising project.

Proceeds will go to aid residents in need of special nursing, medicine, transportation to clinics, dentures and other medical items they cannot afford.

These residents are those who are not eligible for welfare, Medicare or Medicaid benefits.

Tickets for the ball may be obtained from members of the Social Service Committee or by calling the Social Service Department, Quincy City Hospital, 773-6100, Extension 257.

Members of the Social Service Committee are:

Hospital Director Harlan L. Paine, Jr., Miss Constance Lundy, Assistant Director; Miss Madeline C. Bradi, Director of Social Service; Mrs. Anthony Colucci, Mrs. T. Vincent Corsini, Mrs. Lawrence V. Here Comes The Bride

By Mabelle

Question: I have always dreamed of wearing a very full wedding gown. My friends tell me this is passe'. Is this true?

Answer: The bouffant wedding gown will never go out of style. There are thousands of girls around the country to whom a full wedding gown is symbolic to a bride. They too, like yourself, have been dreaming of walking down the aisle in the traditional gown. I might add, the girl who stays with this idea despite criticism from friends and family is much happier on her wedding day than the girl who is swayed by the opinion of others.

The important thing is to be sure you purchase the right style for your figure. Probably the most popular style is the lace tierred gown with fitted bodice, long sleeves and Sabrina neckline.

This is excellent if you are average height or tall. If you are a petite size be sure it is a modified bouffant and avoid the circular ruffles. If you must have ruffles us the vertical treatment on the front of the skirt. The neckline, of course, would depend upon your facial structure.

Question: I know I should wear gloves with my short sleeve wedding gown but it seems awkward to take off my glove at the altar and I dislike mitts.

Answer: The answer to this is very simple. Slit the seam of the glove on the ring finger and tuck it up into the glove. Presto! Finger is ready to receive ring. Later on you can resew it and your gloves are as good as new.

Question: I will be married in March. Can my bridal party wear velvet gowns?

Answer: The months for velvet are November, December, January and February. March could be warm and the girls would be very uncomfortable in velvet.

Question: Is it correct for the men to wear white jackets in April?

Answer: No. These too are seasonal. They are strictly for summer wear.

Trio Of Quincy Artists To Exhibit In Libraries

Three Quincy artists will be exhibiting their works in Thomas Crane Public Libraries during the month of November.

Mrs. Anne MacRae MacLeod and Mrs. Doris Ferrara, both instructors of art at the Quincy YMCA, will be showing in the Main Hall of the Main Library.

Mrs. Annette Paglierani, who has exhibited at the Quincy Savings Bank and the South Shore National Bank, will be showing at the North Quincy Branch Library.

Mrs. MacLeod, winner of five art prizes in the past two years, will exhibit a new type of printing called "collograph," consisting of masonite plates with various materials glued on top.

The materials can consist of different kinds of papers, aluminum foil, seran wrap, cotton, lace, sandpaper, string and ribbons.

Mrs. Ferrara, who has studied at the Boston Museum School and is currently studying printing techniques with Mrs. MacLeod, will show flower paintings and sea scapes done in mixed media.

Mrs. Paglierani, who is a member of art associations in Quincy, Canton and Braintree, will show oil paintings.

It Was 'Something Nice'

Masons Attend 'Good Neighbor' Service At Adas Shalom Temple

By PETER CHELLA

A nice thing happened last Sunday at the Adas Shalom Temple on Adams St., where some 150 members of Masonic lodges from Abington, Quincy, Plymouth, Brockton, East Weymouth, Bridgewater, Middleboro and Hingham attended a "good neighbor" service.

The idea for the service came about through a request. The Masons approached members of the Temple with the idea for a service that would enable them to better understand the religion of their Jewish neighbors. The thought was well received and a program was designed. It included an explanatory service followed by a coffee hour.

The results of that meeting were "terrific" according to Sidney Canter, President of the Adas Shalom Brotherhood. "Its the first time the Masons have attended a Jewish service," said Canter.

"Our Rabbi [Martin Kessler] explained the service to them as he went along. In fact he was in such a cooperative mood he gave only a short sermon."

The coffee hour that followed the service was filled with the spontaneity of the Masons learning and conversing with their Jewish neighbors. The coffee hour actually lasted twice as long as originally planned. The program will become an annual event with the two groups.

Later this year a more inclusive "Good Neighbor Night" will take place at the Temple Beth Israel, Quincy Point. The participants will come from the Quincy Point Congregational Church, the New England Islamic Center, St. Joseph's Church and Adas Shalom Temple.

"We've had this type of service before," explained Canter, "and they have also been successful. What I get a kick out of is with all the trouble the Jews and Arabs are having in the Middle East, in America we are breaking bread at the same table and getting along so well."

With America's ethnic groups cooperating and showing the way as they did last Sunday at the Adas Shalom Temple, perhaps that dark cloud will pass away.

Pre-marital Courses For Inter-Faith Couples Sunday

The second series of a unique pre-marital course for couples of inter-Christian religious affiliations will begin Sunday, at 4 p.m. at St. Ann's Youth Center, St. Ann's Road, Wollaston.

"How Will You Form Your Children?" will be the opening subject of the four session seminar. Discussion leaders will be Rev. John D. Banks of Bethany Congregational Church and Rev. Robert H. Blute of St. Ann's Church.

At each session a Catholic and Protestant clergyman of the Quincy area will each speak for 20 minutes on the topic under discussion. Following each presentation by the clergy a question and answer period will be held. The couple will then break up into smaller groups for seminar discussion.

The program, held for the first time last spring, is designed for couples in the Quincy area who are planning marriage within the next six months. All couples of inter-Christian denominations who are planning marriage between now and July of next year are strongly urged to attend these sessions as part of the necessary preparation for their marriage. Recently married couples are also most welcome and are encouraged to attend to assist in the discussion sessions.

The sessions will be held each week at St. Ann's Youth Center, Wollaston at 4 p.m. as follows:

Nov. 9--"What Makes Marriage a Christian Marriage?"-Rev. Ernest H. Hayhow, First Church of Squantum and Rev. Garrett J. Barry, Blessed Sacrament Church.

Nov. 16--"Why Belong to Any Church?"--Rev. Frank E. Fairbairn, Sacred Heart Church and Rev. Douglas M. MacIntosh, Memorial Congregational Church.

Nov. 23--"What is Christian Maturity?" -- Rev. Edward P. Geary, Our Lady of Good Counsel Church and Rev. Bertil E. Hult, Salem Lutheran Church.

Come. Let Us Reason Together

By Dr. William F. Knox
Personal Counselor

'The Household Jungle'

Everybody has some "skeletons in their closet"....if not your own, a member of your family.

This is why it always amuses me to hear some "self-righteous" person passing judgment upon someone else. There isn't a man alive who cannot be made to look bad if we pull off the masks he wears....there's sure to be a little "dirt". And this may be true for most women too. But I'm not concerned in this article about the illicit "affair" which people try to hide from snoopy neighbors and overly protective relatives...an article on that may be in order later.

Right now I'm concerned about the "Fibber McGee Closet" kind of housekeeping in which so many people are living. Many homes are "household jungles" ....places which "complicate and confuse your life." It is little wonder that some men don't want to come home right after work....the confusion they come home to is far less desirable than the peaceful bar for a couple after work. I wonder if some of you wives know just what your husbands think about hour housekeeping. I hear a wide range of comment.

Here are the extremes...."You can eat off the floor of her house" .... "absolutely sterile from cellar to garret".... "she practically grabs my bath towel before I've dried myself to get it into the wash"...."she empties my ash tray after every cigaret I smoke." There are wives like this....some making their husbands uncomfortable with their neurotic compulsiveness in their worship of the god of cleanliness. If you say...."That's me ....why am I that way?"....[you who are don't usually ask].... the answer could be one of those real "skeletons" which you are hiding with this outward cleanliness....or maybe the perfectionistic conditioning you received in your childhood. You can't be perfect....now quit trying.... or you'll make everybody miserable....including yourself.

On the other hand....there are the homes which men describe as "downright dirty"...."always littered" .... "ashamed to have people come"...."children never clean unless I bathe them"... "closets and drawers in complete disorder so you can never find anything"...."laundry in the bath tub"...."ironing weeks behind so I have to get my underwear out of the laundry basket." One man said, " The house smells." Another...."I hate to leave for work in the morning....she's still in bed....the children need help in getting breakfast and off to school." Well.... this is the other extreme. "Household jungles".

It isn't easy to keep a home in order....children's toys....garage tools .... insufficient closet space....basement "catchall areas ....which reminds me that we must get our basement in order because our Irish Setter, Princess, is scheduled to deliver a litter of pups in mid-November and her assigned quarters are the "basement."

Why are some women such poor housekeepers? For some ....it's because their mothers were sloppy housekeepers .... the girl just had no good example. For others....because their mothers were so compulsive about it that the daughter determined to be just the opposite in her own home. For some....the disorganization of the home shows the confusion of her own mind. The wise woman is not just a housekeeper....she's a homemaker....and there's a big difference. The former is a servant....the latter is a woman who is loved and who loves every part of her home. That's what really makes the difference.

You see....when a woman is the "love center" of the home, she trains every member of the family to participate in the housekeeping .... to hang up their clothes....put away the toys.... wash out the bath tub....care for tools....keep the basement in order. That way the home doesn't become a "household jungle."

Quincy City Hospital Gets Three Years' Accreditation

Quincy City Hospital has been accredited for the next three years by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals as a result of a recent survey by the commission.

The Joint Commission on Accreditation is an organization sponsored by the American College of Physicians, American College of Surgeons, American Hospital Association and the American Medical Association.

The Joint Commission grants certificates to those hospitals which meet certain standards that medical and hospital authorities consider necessary to insure high quality medical care.

They call for application of basic principles of organization and administration for efficient patient care and require that the hospital meet certain standards in its physical facilities.

Quincy Hospital Director Harlan L. Paine, Jr., noted:

"It has been said that the seal of accreditation granted to a hospital is like the sterling mark on silver. It is a mark of quality in medical and hospital service. It is a symbol which guarantees that the hospital measures up to high standards of operation in every major respect."

Ecumenical School At Squantum First Church

The first Ecumenical School for special children has been established at the First Church of Squantum, 164 Bellevue Rd. by Michael McMahon.

The school is sponsored by the South Shore Council of Churches and holds classes from 4 to 5 on Sunday afternoons.

The program consists of a religious exposure, snacks, and arts and crafts, designed specifically to meet the needs of the individual special child, Mr. McMahon said.

"The expressed purpose of this program", he said, "is to expose children to the unique love that God has for them. To make them aware by creating, an expression of this love in order to instill within themselves the confidence which is vital to the continued growth of the individual."

The program has an ample number of people who are willing to help, but few special children are currently attending, he said.

The South Shore Council of Churches is whole-heartedly supporting this effort and urges all that are interested to enter their children into the program regardless of their religious affiliation, he said.

Veterans Day Service Nov. 9 At Beth Israel

In commemoration of Veteran's Day, the Beth Israel Brotherhood and the Quincy Jewish War Veterans will hold a joint worship service and breakfast, Nov. 9 at 8:45 a.m. at Beth Israel Synogogue.

Speaker will be Dr. Charles Soforenko, past State Department Commander of the American Legion. Dr. Soforenko has been the adjutant in his post for 16 years and has received several wards for his services.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE: CAUSES, CURES AND MYSTERIES

By Edgar Haber, M.D.
Chief, Cardiac Unit
Massachusetts General Hospital

When your blood pressure is measured by your doctor he obtains two numbers; the first and larger number is called the systolic blood pressure, the second and small number, the diastolic pressure.

Systolic blood pressure may increase with age, with excitement, and with a number of illnesses such as hyperactivity of the thyroid glad. Persistent elevation of the diastolic blood pressure above the normal range, however, generally means that hypertension is present.

HEART, KIDNEY AFFECTED

Hypertension is a very common disease. It generally begins to manifest itself in early middle life. People afflicted with it are generally unaware of its presence for many years. Eventual consequences may be very serious, however. Hypertension may cause early hardening of the arteries, leading to heart attack or stroke. Kidney or heart failure may be the end result of long-standing hypertension.

The cause of hypertension in most people with this illness is not known. A tendency to high blood pressure seems to run in families. In some cases hypertension seems to be caused by a kidney ailment. A term which physicians apply to high blood pressure of uncertain cause is "essential hypertension."

Over the past 20 years, research, funded in great part by the Massachusetts Heart Association has developed drugs which control blood pressure effectively, thus decreasing the complications of hypertension and considerably increasing the life span of individuals suffering from it. The treatment of "essential hypertension" is, however, a life-long process since a cure for this illness awaits a better understanding of its cause through further research.

CURABLE HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Some people with high blood pressure may be cured by surgery. This is true when there exists one of two rare tumors of the adrenal gland or when one or both arteries to the kidney are narrowed--the second condition being a more common situation.

In one instance, a tumor of the medulla, or central portion of the adrenal gland, may secrete adrenalin or substances closely related to it. This tumor quite often produces such large quantities of adrenalin that the symptoms are readily recognized, but at times the illness cannot be distinguished from "essential hypertension."

A second tumor, arising in the cortex, or outer portion of the adrenal gland, could be responsible for the excess production of a substance called aldosterone, which is responsible for the retention of salt by the body. An excess of salt and water causes blood pressure to rise. This condition may also be indistinguishable from "essential hypertension." Fortunately, these tumors can be readily diagnosed by performing certain blood and urine tests, and in both conditions hypertension can be completely cured by surgical removal of the tumor.

FAULTY KIDNEYS A CAUSE

When narrowing of the artery to one or both kidneys prevents the kidney from receiving enough blood, the kidney secretes a substance called "renin," which causes blood pressure to rise. An abnormal X-ray of the kidneys can suggest this condition, and a definite diagnosis can be made by special blood tests and X-rays of the arteries to the kidneys. Usually surgery can cure this condition through reconstruction of the narrowed artery. Sometimes removal of the affected kidney may be necessary.

It is important to remember that high blood pressure, in its early stages, before any complications have occurred, gives the patient no symptoms.

This stage of the illness is most easily treated and a complete cure may still be possible. Proper treatment cannot be instituted, however, unless the patient's physician is first allowed to make the diagnosis of hypertension and then to try to identify one of its curable causes. The discovery of this silent illness and its appropriate treatment or cure may be one of the very real benefits of a periodic physical examination.

McCormick Criticizes DiStefano On 'Condemned' Schools Statement

School Committeeman James F. McCormick, Sr., today took sharp issue with Ward 3 City Council candidate Pasquale S. DiStefano over the latter's assertion that South Quincy children are "subjected to a second rate education in condemned schools."

McCormick labeled as "irresponsible" DiStefano's statement which appeared in a Quincy League of Women Voters questionnaire printed in the Quincy Sun's special election section last week.

In part, DeStefano had said: "The children of South Quincy are being subjected to a second rate education in condemned buildings and unhealthful conditions."

He also said that a new combination elementary school had been promised and approved over two years ago but that ground had not yet been broken.

In his statement, Committeeman McCormick declared:

"As a member of the Quincy School Committee, I feel obliged to take issue with the irresponsible statements made by Mr. DiStefano on the quality of education being offered at the Hancock and Lincoln Schools.

"The teachers at these schools are doing a first rate job of teaching. I think Mr. DiStefano owes these teachers an apology.

"As to the condition of the schools, I'm sure if they were condemned, the State Building Commission would see to it that they would not be in operation.

"These schools will be replaced as soon as the Mayor presents the order to the City Council for the necessary funds."

DiStefano said in reply:

"Various individuals have expressed their concern on my use of words condemned and second-rate as pertains to the long delayed proposed new elementary school for South Quincy.

"When children are forced to wear winter outer clothing while attending classes, and when constant breakdowns of facilities is a common occurrence, along with drastically over-crowded conditions, then I maintain that those children are receiving a second rate education.

"I, in no way mean to imply that the Quincy School Committee is at fault for these deplorable circumstances. And yet, one must ask one's self why this school has not been even started after a period of two years.

"I feel that the people of South Quincy deserve an answer to this question.

"I use the word condemn to imply that the buildings are in fact in a deteriorating condition. I cannot do justice to the children of South Quincy unless I continue to press for this new school and question the unnecessary delay."

Brett Bill Would Give Pensioners Abatements

Rep. Joseph E. Brett, [D-Quincy] has filed legislation to place federal, state, and municipal pensioners on the same basis as social security recipients in regard to eligibility for property tax abatements for elderly persons.

The present law limits eligibility for the exemptions to those persons 70 years of age or over whose income is not more than $4,000 a year for a single person nor more than $5,000 for a married couple with social security benefits not included as income for this purpose.

Brett said he feels that exemption of social security benefits but not pensions is "a sort of unfair discrimination" as most pensioners were never eligible to join the social security system. Therefore, he said, retirees from federal, state, and municipal employment would seem to be relegated to a second-class status.

Brett said he believes his bill would remove this unfairness without harming the general provisions of the law granting such exemptions.

DeNicola Charter Diplomate

INSURANCE

Social Security pays up to $4,896.00 towards a College Education

Would your Child USE it ——— or LOSE it?

One of the recent changes in the Social Security Law guarantees continuation of a child's benefit beyond age 18, to age 22, provided the child-beneficiary is a full-time student in an accredited school or college. This means that the child of a deceased worker can have part of his college expenses paid through the Social Security Program, if (and this is a big IF) the additional funds needed to allow the youngster to be a full-time student are available.

With a full line of both Life Insurance and Mutual Funds, we can help take the IF out.

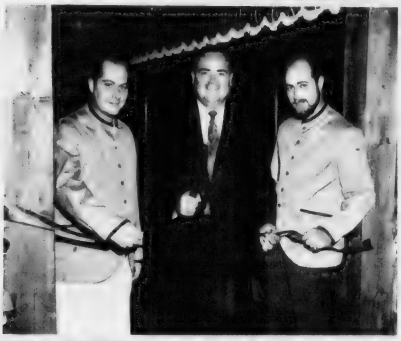
Louise Gray Receives Modeling Scholarship



Louise Gray of 16 Flynt St., Quincy, a 16-year old junior at the Woodward School for Girls has won a free-tuition scholarship at the Barbizon School of Modeling in Boston.

Miss Gray was chosen from among hundreds of teenage girls who had registered for the scholarship during recent open house activities at the Barbizon School.

During her 15-week course, arranged so as not to interfere with her regular high school classes, the attractive Quincy teen-ager will receive professional instruction by Barbizon faculty in beauty basics, makeup, showroom, fashion and photographic modeling in a program designed to help fulfill her modeling ambition.

Roman Gabriel's, which also features a comfortable men's bar, specializes in italian cuisine, in an informal atmosphere.

Glamour Gal-axy Makes Local Beauty Debut

Glamour Gal-axy a new concept in beauty and charm instruction makes its debut this month in Braintree at the King's Department Store Shopping Center.

The program, a beauty club which sponsors a four-week mini-charm course for "young marrieds, long marrieds and unmarrieds", will be held in a luxurious salon with classroom, exercise room, lounge and cosmetic display area all lavishly appointed.

Headed by Vida Berk, a well-known beauty and fashion expert and former regional distributor for a Nationally Advertised cosmetic, the program is based on the philosophy that "Every Woman Can Look, Feel and Be More Glamourous".

Over the four three-hour salon seminars, students learn skin care, make-up application and correction, selection and wearing of hairpieces, manicure and pedicure, diet and nutrition, fashion coordination, voice and diction, hair styling and physical fitness.

Tuition costs, which are under fifty dollars, include two personalized charts - skin care and color selection, three "Beautility Kits", Glamour Gal-axy Portfolio, Membership Card, Glamour Gal-axy Guidelines and Glamour Gal-axy Graphics.

Graduates of the Glamour Gal-axy course receive a Certificate of Accomplishment and a beautiful Cameo pendant, used as a necklace or lapel pin, with a reproduction of Aphrodite, Greek Goddess of Beauty.

"We invite all women from the South Shore to visit our salon during pre-opening weeks, to receive information about the Glamour Gal-axy course and about the Gi-Gi course we will offer on Saturdays for their teen-age daughters".

RE-ELECT Your Present School Committeeman

FRANK ANSELMO

1. Pledged to expanding the use of present school facilities to cope with increasing school enrollment; while at the same time curbing new construction, until home owners are given some relief from the galloping taxes.

2. During the past four years, I have opposed busing of out-of-city pupils to Quincy. My opposition is based not only on overcrowded class rooms, but also because the expense is not justified, and because money could be spent more advantageously to provide better neighborhood schools. Today the great majority of black people do not favor busing. They want better local schools, and they are beginning to get them.

3. Pledged to an intensive survey of our high school program. As only about 25 out of 100 students go to college, much more must be done for those that do not, in order to direct them towards knowledge and skills for useful and productive lives.

4. I have and will continue to oppose the circulation in our school system of literature of an obscene and vulgar nature. In this stage of character development this type of literature can be extremely harmful to the young student.

Apart from education, in the council campaign of 1967, I opposed the "gift" - [not sale] of the Quincy City Hospital, as proposed by expert consultants. Today my judgement is verified. The Hospital is operating at a substantial profit, to the benefit of our City.

I pledge myself to a sound educational system; with due regard to the already overburdened taxpayer, of whom I am one.

year old telephone company employee and George C. Smith, Jr., 46-year old accountant-tax consultant and present member of the Planning Board. They polled 2,672 and 2,214 votes respectively in the preliminary.

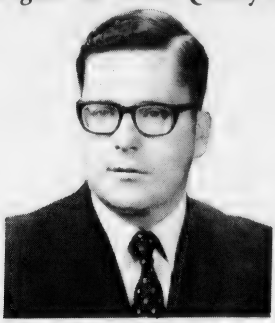
Ward 2 incumbent Clifford H. Marshall, 31, who piled up a 1,147 vote in the preliminary is opposed by Robert W. Page, 37-year old restaurant owner, who won the nomination with 577.

Ward 3 Councillor John F. Koegler, 37, is challenged by Pasquale S. DiStefano, 36-year old driver education administrator. Koegler was an easy preliminary winner with 771 votes. DiStefano's vote was 260.

Ward 4 Councillor Aibert R. Barilaro, 53, is challenged by Joseph P. Shea, 24-year old foods sales representative. They were 783 and 493 respectively in the preliminary.

In Ward 5, incumbent Walter J. Hannon, Jr., 38, probably has the strongest ward challenger in Atty. William D. Delahunt, 28, considered a "comer" by many politcal experts.



Hannon was easily re-nominated in the preliminary with a vote of 1,010. Delahunt nailed down the other nomination with 836 votes-only 174 votes behind.

City Council President J. Vincent Smyth, 49, is opposed by Jens E. Thornton, 45-year old commercial lobsterman, for the Ward 6 seat. In the preliminary, Smyth racked up 1,034 votes to Thornton's 252.

Mayor To Seek Access To 'First Railroad'

A Southeast Expressway turnoff and rest area will be sought by Mayor James R. McIntyre as a necessary step for restoration of Quincy's historic First Railroad site.

"An access off the expressway is the key to plans to restore the old railway site," Mc Intyre said last night.

He said he is asking state DPW Commr. Edward J. Ribbs to meet with him to discuss the requested turn-off and rest area. He will also invite Ribbs to visit the site.

The railway, built in 1826 to haul famed Quincy granite for construction of the Bunker Hill monument is considered the first commercial railroad in the U. S.

The site, just off the Southeast Expressway near Swingle's Quarry, was a long-time tourist attraction but since 1945 under private ownership deteriorated into ruins.

Last year, through legislation filed by McIntyre as a state senator, the site was deeded to the city.

"This could be one of the great tourist attractions in the state," McIntyre said.

He and others vizualize it as an attraction to intercept tourists travelling the Southeast Expressway on their way to see the Plymouth Rock and the Mayflower replica or to Cape Cod.

"Some 300,000 visitors stop in Plymouth each year while the Presidents Adams birthplaces in Quincy attract little more than 8,000 persons," he noted.

The railway, once restored, would serve as a stopping point in Quincy, he said.

"From there, tourists would come to our other historic places" he said.

McIntyre is also asking Ribbs to remove a grout pile that over-hangs the expressway near the railway site. Rock-slides there in recent years have caused several deaths.

McIntyre said the railway site could be restored with the aid of state and possibly federal funds.

Income Tax Course At Jr. College

The intricate problems of income tax preparation will be the subject of a new course to be taught on Tuesday evenings from 7-9 p.m. at Quincy Junior College.

The course will begin Nov. 18 and will run for eight weeks. Those interested may register for the course now at the college office, 34 Coddington St., Quincy Center. The office is open daily from 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and from 6:00-9:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday. There will be a tuition charge of $12 for Quincy residents and $16 for non-residents.

Cyclamate Controversy

In the past two weeks there has been much talk and ado about artificial sweeteners in food-stuffs and medicine. There has been much weeping and gnashing of teeth by mothers who have poured literally gallons of artificially flavored soft drinks into their children during the past summer months.

This understandable concern is almost humorous, when one considers that the evidence that these drugs can cause cancer in humans is nonexistent, whereas cigarettes [not on Mr. Finch's black list] are still on the market, in constant use, giving, along with their tars, carcinogens [cancer causing] or residues, daydreams of sex appeal and escape to the great outdoors.

However, the evidence does have some merit, and research into cyclamates should continue.

The action of HEW, Secretary Robert H. Finch was based on findings that cyclamates had induced malignant tumors in rats which had received very high doses of cyclamates for their entire life spans.

On Oct. 18, Secretary Finch stated: "My decision to remove cyclamates from the list of approved substances in no sense should be interpreted as a "life saving" or emergency measure. Let me emphasize in the strongest possible terms that we have no evidence at this time that cyclamates have indeed caused cancer in humans."

His action was based solely on the Delaney Amendment, which was enacted eleven years ago, and which requires the removal from the market of any food additive if it is shown to cause cancer in animals.

A recent correspondence received in our office from a drug manufacturer notes that dosage levels of cyclamates fed to the animals and which apparently induced tumors in this case were 50 times the maximum amount previously proposed for adult human ingestion by the National Academy of Science, and many hundreds of times the amount included in the recommended doses of any of their medical products.

For example, a child would have to eat 5,000 chewable vitamin tablets per day, each day of his life, to reach the comparable levels used in the rat study upon which Secretary Finch based his action.

I have heard many comments concerning the fact that the products have not been immediately withdrawn from the market, being available until February. In light of the above factors, the reasoning seems more understandable. Meanwhile, it's off to the supermarket to exchange our cyclamate-flavored food-stuffs for cash, and many spending the spare cash for an extra pack of cigarettes.

In a future column we will discuss the problem of monosodium glutamate in foods, especially baby foods.

I might mention here that suggestions that cats can cause leukemia appear ludicrous, and there is less evidence for this than there is for the death of Paul McCartney. These reports have been justly disputed.

However, if Paul McCartney does turn out to be dead, be ready to get rid of your friendly family feline.

Quincy Girls Guests At Newton Wellesley Nursing School

Two Quincy High School students were guests at a recent open house held at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital School of Nursing.

Carolyn Gordon of 41 Greenleaf St. and Marcia Cohen of 76 Furnace Brook Parkway, were among 42 girls from 13 Massachusetts high schools who attended the program.

They were shown slides, given a tour of the school and of the hospital, and were served refreshments. Student nurses acted as hostesses to the visitors. In charge of the program was Mrs. Janet Shanley, admissions counselor for the school.

The Newton-Wellesley Hospital School of Nursing, founded in 1888, has an enrollment of approximately 150 girls. The school's curriculum offers a balance of extensive classroom work and practical experience serving in the 260-bed teaching hospital.

Presidents Seek Revenge At Weymouth

Quincy's football team is back on top of the Greater Boston League but will have to wait a week before attempting to continue its unbeaten league streak.

Hank Conroy's Presidents, following an impressive 34-15 romp over defending league champ Somerville last week, takes a day off from league competition Saturday and plays old Suburban League foe Weymouth at Legion Field in Weymouth. Game time is 1:30 p.m.

Quincy has had its troubles with Weymouth in recent years but, following the outstanding performance against Somerville, Conroy's club should give Jim Wheeler's Maroons all they can handle. Weymouth breezed to a one-sided win at Quincy a year ago.

Quincy returned to first place as a result of its win over Somerville at Veterans Memorial Stadium and previously winless Everett's shocking 20-18 win over un-beaten Medford.

"The boys played a fine game against Somerville and our one weakness was the slowness in getting to their passer," Conroy said.

The Presidents played without two standout backs, Paul Picarski and Paul Pettti, but Joe Goguen, starting his first game, was outstanding.

Goguen gained 100 yards rushing and caught a pass for two extra points. He, Steve McCarthy and Tom Daley, who didn't start due to an injury, sparked the running attack. Quarterback Kevin Ryan had another excellent game and his passing turned the tide.

He hit on seven of his first eight passes and had 11 for 18 for the day including two touchdown passes to junior end star Rich Menchi.

"Lance Peterson did a fine job filling in for Daley and Paul Hand and Bobby Silva also were terrific," the Quincy coach said. "On offense McCarthy, only a sophomore but developing into a truly outstanding runner, scored on a 54-yard run and set up another with a 56-yard sprint. Goguen was tremendous and, as usual, Ryan and Menchi turned in excellent performances.

"On defense Cliff Mattson, Steve Shapiro and John Bucchineri were especially outstanding. This was a big win for us and it should give the boys a big boost for the Weymouth game. We would like to get even for that walloping we took last year."

The win gave Quincy a 3-0-1 league record and an overall mark of 4-0-1. The Presidents are unbeaten in eight straight games going back to last year.

Quincy took the lead midway in the first period when McCarthy romped 56 yards and Ryan passed to Menchi for a 28-yard touchdown play.

Mattson recovered a Somerville fumble on the Highlanders' 33 and McCarthy rolled in from the six-yard line. Ryan passed to Goguen to make it 14-0 after one period.

Quincy Scoring

	TD	PAT	Total
Daley	3	0	18
Menchi	3	0	18
McCarthy	3	0	18
Picarski	2	2	14
Maver	1	2	8
Pettiti	1	0	6
Ryan	0	6	6
Goguen	0	2	2

Somerville made it 14-7, the closest it came, on a long pass from Art Karopoulos to Ken Quinn and Renzo Spada's soccer-style placement for the point. But Quincy increased its margin to 22-7 at halftime when Daley plunged over from the one and Ryan passed to Billy Maver for the two points.

Quincy clinched the decision with two touchdowns in the final period, one on McCarthy's 54-yard run on which he faked a defender into the middle and goose-stepped down the sideline for the TD. Ryan earlier in the period had passed to Menchi for a seven-yard scoring play.

Somerville scored again on Sal Beraldi's one-yard drive and Karopoulos passed to Art Bent for the points.

'Garter Bowl' Classic Is Set For Sunday

The "Garter Bowl Football Classic" will be played Sunday at 1 p.m. at the Curry College Athletic Field, Milton, to aid the Marine Corps Toys For Tots drive.

The game is sponsored by the Theta Epsilon Chi fraternity whose members include Gregory R. Fallon, 857 Furnace Brook Parkway; Thomas J. McShane, 18 Newport Terrace and Robert C. Claire of Waterston Ave., all of Quincy.

Squaring off in the coed attraction will be the Curry College "Puritans" and the LaSalle College "Bruisers" the two teams fought to a 12-12 deadlock in 1966.

Admission to the contest will be a toy or game, which will in turn be given to a needy youngster by the Marines.

The girls play "flag" football, which requires that they pull a red handkerchief from the pocket of the player carrying the ball in order to stop the play.

The Curry team has been training vigorously under the tutelage of Bob Monk. Coaching the La Salle squad is Steve Kavovit.

The game is being sponsored by Theta Epsilon Chi fraternity.

N. Quincy On Win Trail

Raiders Host To 'Shocker' Everett

North Quincy's rookie head football coach, Ralph Frazier, has his first victory after four straight losses and hopes that last week's romp at Chelsea will give the Raiders the boost they need when they face a strong Everett Saturday in a 1:30 p.m. Greater Boston League game at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Until last week Everett, despite another big team, was winless like North. But Saturday's visitors pulled one of the upsets of the year when they came from behind for a shocking 20-18 win over unbeaten Medford and Frazier expects plenty of trouble.

"It feels great to get that first win but I'm happier for the boys than for myself," Ralph said. "They played some good ball despite their winless record and I knew they were a better team than that.

"We moved the ball very well at Chelsea, gaining about 276 yards on the ground and another 45 or so on passing. We threw very few passes because our running game was going so well.

"And the defense was great as we held them to only two first downs and bottled up their attack well. It was a fine two-way performance."

North Quincy Scoring

	TD	PAT	Total
Panarelli	2	6	18
Kelly	2	0	12
Tomasetti	1	2	8
Zink	1	0	6
Lippens	1	0	6

Frazier singled out John Panarelli as North's standout on offense and the boy who made the difference in the game.

"John carried the ball on most of our running plays and averaged eight yards a carry, a fine effort," Ralph continued. "And Tony Kelly and Steve Tomasetti also ran well. Paul Lippens played another good game at quarterback."

On defense the Raiders' coach praised Jim deVarennes, who broke up two screen passes; Dave Zink who intercepted a pass and played a fine all-around game; Joe Bertoni, Jerry Mulcahy, Mike Martin and John Hemphill.

He also pointed to the crisp blocking of Mulcahy, Hemphill and Kevin Racette, which made it possible for the backs to pick up huge hunks of yardage.

North scored in each of the first three periods with Panarelli acoring 10 of the points.

In the opening period Lippens sneaked over for the first touchdown and Panarelli rushed for the two extra points.

Panarelli raced 25 yards for a touchdown in the second period and again added the points.

In the third quarter Tomasetti added the final touchdown on a 10-yard run.

Quincy Youth Football:

Panthers Take Title Again

By PETER CHELLA

The last chapter of this year's volume of the Quincy Youth Football League was written Sunday.

Not surprisingly, the results resembled last year's edition as the undefeated Quincy Point Panthers downed the North Quincy Apaches in the title game 16-0. South Quincy's Elks went down to defeat in their finale with the Houghs Neck Manets, 12-0.

Peter Pino shattered the silence of three scoreless periods by speeding 40 yards for a touchdown in the main attraction. It proved to be the only score that the Panthers needed as they shut out a tough Apache team.

The points after Pino's touchdown were scored on a Roger Johnston to Tony Trubiano pass. An assurance touchdown was scored by Pino on a similar end sweep this one from 14 yards out. Mark Walker caught a pass from Johnston for the points after.

The Panthers' outstanding players also included: Ron Butt, Paul MacInnis, Jeff Robertson, Richard Della Barba, Dave Maggiani, David Goguen, Mark Walker, Dean Gambino, Mike Mc Lean and Tommy Ford.

Apaches' stars were: Paul Williams, Ken Marsters, Rick Desmond, Jim Evans, Jamie Doherty, Mike Conroy, Mark Reale, Mark Reardon, Bernie Halloran, Mark Breslin, Ricky Shaffer and Paul Keeley.

The Manets and the Elks locked in tough defensive battle. Both teams hit well and displayed great desire, despite the fact neither team was fighting for the championship.

Art Boyle came through for his team with two minutes left in the game for the winning points. He ran up the middle for that touchdown from 15 yards out.

The Manets' Rich Howard scored the other touchdown on a well executed off-tackle slant for nine yards.

The Houghs Neck team's standouts were: Boyle, Jim Forrester and Bob Lane.

The Elks' outstanding players included: T. J. O'Sullivan, Bill Kelly, Paul Donoghue, Andy Sferruzza, Jim Curran, Steve Rizzi, Gerry Durante, Joe Malvesti, Rich Lucier and Ken Kelly.

The Panthers' finishing season record was 6-0. The runner-up Apaches were 4-2; the Manets 2-4 and the Elks 0-6.

ENC Soccer Coach High On Goalie Bill Mauger

Even though Goalie Bill Mauger has been beaten in six games, Eastern Nazarene College soccer coach Bob Jack feels he's the best he's seen this season.

"We've given away a lot of goals and we've had a lot scored on poor plays by our defense," said Jack, a former International referee and British Army player." But Billy has let very few in himself.

"Mauger has improved vastly over the season. When he first came out this year he had never played goal before, but he's learned to anticipate and he's got agility. He's made a lot of beautiful saves for us."

In 11 games this season Mauger, a junior from Pottsgrove, Pa., has made 193 saves.

When ENC defeated New Haven College Oct. 18 it bettered its single season win mark. The highest number of games an ENC soccer team had ever won before was four. The New Haven victory gives the Crusaders a 5-6 record.

Bob Mollica of North Quincy still leads ENC in scoring. Mollica, a right halfback, has one assist and eight goals. Mollica is eight for eight on penalty shots.

Wayne Mills, a freshman outside left from North Easton, is second in scoring with four goals while Rick Melder, a sophomore center forward from Fitchburg, Mass., has three goals and one assist.

Nearly 500 In Action

Tomorrow's Stars Begin To Shine Here

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Quincy Junior High football program, which has been in operation for nearly 30 years, is and has been an incubator for the Quincy and North Quincy High teams.

A great many of the players have gone on to star in college and some have become pro-players.

When the league started, it encompassed only the ninth grade but for the past several years has expanded to the seventh and eighth grades and this fall nearly 500 boys have been taking part in the games at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Jack Donahue has been coordinator of the junior high program since he retired as North Quincy High coach in 1960 and says "there is more work to the job every year."

The league boasts an outstanding group of coaches, who are dedicated to their work. The high school coaches know when they get players from the junior high league, they are well-founded on the fundamentals of the game.

The veterans among the coaches are Ed Quagge, who handles the Broad Meadows ninth grade team, and Mike Casale, the ninth grade mentor at Central. Each has been in the league for nearly a dozen years.

"This is an excellent program and some of the games are just as good as many high school games," Quagge said. "We lost to North, 8-6, recently in one of the finest games I've ever seen."

The games are handled by regular board officials.

The other ninth grade coaches are Dick Meyer at North, Don Tobin at Point and Lou DiMartinis at Sterling.

Eighth grade coaches are Joe Ryan at Central, Steve Campana at Broad Meadows, John Oliva at Atlantic, Dana Smith at Sterling. Point has no eighth grade team due to small enrollment and the eighth graders play for the ninth grade.

Coaching the seventh grade teams are Bob Louis at Central, Fran Conroy. at Atlantic, Larry Mahoney at Broad Meadows, Guy Abruzzese at Point and John Gostanian at Sterling.

Following Monday's games, North and Broad Meadows were tied for the ninth grade lead with 4-1 records, as a result of Broad Meadows' 2-0 win over North. In their earlier game, North had edged Broad Meadows 8-to-6.

The roster of junior high league graduates reads like a Who's-Who of Quincy football.

Among those who played in the league are Carl Leone, coordinator of athletics for the Quincy Schools and former North Quincy High coach; Quincy coach Hank Conroy and North Coach Ralph Frazier.

Others include Jim Colclough, former Patriots star; John "Butch" Mahoney, Scituate High coach and many current college stars headed by Rich Giachetti, who has broken the New England pass receiving record at Tufts; Pete Varney, Harvard's All-American end prospect; Joe McDonald, starting fullback at B.C., Steve Craig, co-captian and outstanding linebacker at American International College, and Mike Jordan, selected last year as Holy Cross' outstanding defensive back who was expected to have another great season until H. C. had to cancel its schedule.

Others include Dick Craig, Pete Higgins, Don Houghton and Joe Walsh of Bridgewater State; Pete Pasciucco of Tufts, Ken McPhee of Central Connecticut State, Bernie Stewart of Colby, Bob Kelcourse of Dartmouth, and Greg Craig of Norwich. There are others playing college ball who started in the league.

One of the pioneers of the league who played a big role in its development was LeRoy "Curly" Rogers, a coach for many years. Another who did much to help the league along was the late Munroe MacLean, former director of athletics, physical education and health.

"I think we have one of the finest junior high programs anywhere," Leone said. "I played in it and saw it develop and expand through the years."

Incidentally, Carl's son, Carl, is following in his dad's footsteps and is an outstanding quarterback for Central's eighth grade team.

Steve McCarthy, sophomore halfback at Quincy High who is developing into one of the President's top runners, played last year for Broad Meadows.

"I told Steve he would become one of the high school's greatest running backs before he graduated and he certainly is making me look good," said his junior high coach, Quagge.

There are many familiar names among the junior high rosters this season, such as Creedon, Aimola, DiBona, Gilbody, Ramponi, Sacchetti, Craig, Mullaney, Zoia, Corbin, Martinelli, Mahoney, Bray, Pizzi, Bell, Bertoni, Hemphill etc.

Eye Third Win

Giants Home To Richmond Saturday

BY CHARLES LOWE

Ross O'Hanley, head coach of the Quincy Giants of the Atlantic Coast Football has his moments of levity as do we all. Referring to his club's second win of the season, he said, "We're the best in Virginia."

The Giants defeated the Roanoke Buckskins, an affiliate of the Washington Redskins of the NFL 17-13 last Saturday night at Roanoke. This avenged an earlier loss to the Buckskins at Quincy and gives the Giants a 2-6 record.

The club's other win was last month ar Richmond, this Saturday's opponent at Veteran's Memorial Stadium in an 8 p.m. clash under the lights.

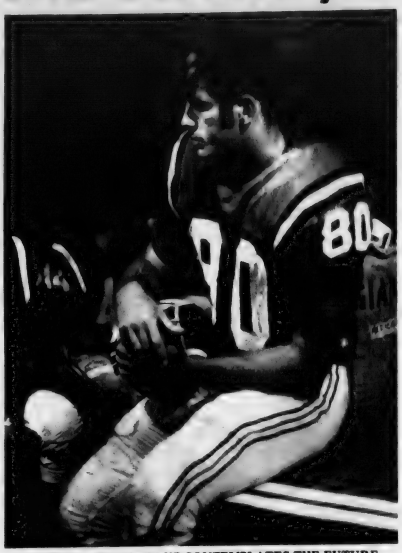
O'Hanley said further, "We're looking for our third win of the season this Saturday night. We're starting to get together as a unit and I think we'll do well from now on. And believe me this is not talk.

"After the game last Saturday night, the fellows were really high. We haven't had the satisfaction of winning too often and this was a real good one to win."

The Giants will be fortified by the return of running back Paul Della Villa [B.C.] and by defensive back Bobby Shann [B.C.]. Both have been out with injuries. Prior to his layoff, Della Villa was the soundest and best of the running backs the Giants had on the field.

Shann, who had had three years in the NFL with the Eagles and Falcons, was rounding into shape and showing his major-league experience at his corner back position before his foot injury.

O'Hanley was quite pleased by the performance of his quarterback Tom Tyler of Holy Cross. Tyler has apparently won the first-string job away from Don Allard [B.C.].



"He didn't throw any interceptions and this helped a great deal. We made very few mental errors and got a great pass-rush from our defensive line especially by Joe Lanzilli [N.U.] and Riley Morris [Florida A. & M.].

"Bob Penny has taken over at fullback and for the second week in a row he gave us a very good game. This is the boy, you know, who didn't even play his last year at Holy Cross and came into our camp quite unheralded. He's been a pleasant surprise. I think he'll do very well Saturday night against Richmond."

This week's foe from the capitol of the Southland, is affiliated with the New Orleans Saints of the NFL and boasts the league's top passer in Ronnie Seuth. He was a member of the Saints last year, but Saints Coach Tom Fears farmed him out to Richmond to get some game experience.

The Giants are coming down the home stretch as far as local fans are concerned. After Saturday night there will be only one more home game, Nov. 15 - against the Long Island [N.Y.] Bulls, affiliated with the New York Giants of the NFL.

The game this Saturday night is co-sponsored by the Quincy Elks and tickets can be purchased from any member of the Elks, at the Giants office at 10 Temple St., or from any member of the Quincy Lions.

GIANTS' BARRY GALLUP CONTEMPLATES THE FUTURE.

O'Hanley Gives Ford Release

Quincy Giants coach Ross O'Hanley reveals he has given an unconditional release to veteran fullback Garrett Ford, an All-America three years ago at West Virginia and that he has consummated a trade with the Bridgeport Jets, affiliated with the New York Jets.

O'Hanley said, "we didn't think Ford [released earlier this year by the Denver Bronco's of the AFL] was doing the job, and we put Bob Penney [Holy Cross] in his place and Penney has come through with some very fine efforts. He has been a most pleasant surprise. He hustles and gives you 100 per cent.

"We owed Bridgeport a player for Tom Tyler [quarterback from Holy Cross] whom we picked up from them when Don Allard [B.C.] was hurt earlier in the season againt Hartford. So we gave them defensive back Herman Murphy [Bethune-Cookman, Jacksonville, Fla.] who they are very high on, and also picked up a defensive back from them, Rick Buffington of Brigham Young [Ogden, Utah] who did a very fine job for us last week in Roanoke, Virginia. We think he will be a fine addition to our squad.

Dee, Young To Speak At S.S. Quarterback Club Meeting Monday Night.

Two former All-Pro football players, one National League and the other American League will be the guest speakers at next Monday's South Shore Quarterback Club, Meeting, 8 p.m. at South Shore Country Club, Hingham.

The meeting is open to the public at no charge and all pro football fans are welcome.

Claude "Buddy" Young of Illinois, who was All-Pro halfback with the Baltimore Colts, and is now attached to Pro Football Commissioner' Pete Rozelle's staff, specializing in public relations will share the podium with Bob Dee of Braintree and Holy Cross who was a five-time AFL All Star with the Boston Patriots as a defensive end.

Young will be an observer for Rozelle at the Patriots-Oilers game, Sunday at Boston College Stadium and will stay in Boston to address the Quarterback Club.

A buffet will follow the meeting-tickets to the Patriots-Bills game and the Quincy Giants-Long Island Bulls [affiliated with the New York Giants] will be awarded as door prizes.

Quincy, North Soccer Teams Clash Today In 'The Game'

The Quincy and North Quincy soccer teams clash today at Montclair Field and a Quincy win will give it the South Shore Association's Division One championship.

However, North, trailing its rival by one game, will throw the division into a top tie with a win, necessitating a playoff game Friday between the two at South Shore Vocational High field in Hanover.

In the event of a playoff, the league championship game between the Quincy-North winner and Division Two champ Duxbury will be played Saturday at Hingham to decide the league's representative in the state tourney which opens next week.

If Quincy wins today's game, the league title playoff with Duxbury will be on Friday at South Shore Vo-Tech.

Both teams won Tuesday, Quincy blanking Plymouth-Carver, 5-0, to make its record 10-1, while North shut out Sharon, 3-0, to give it a 9-2 record.

Dave D'Olimpio notched his fourth shutout for Quincy while Bruce Carlson scored his 12th goal and Vin Bertrand his 10th.

Jim McGuire scored twice and Al LaVoie had the other goal for the Presidents.

Dave Haight scored all three North Quincy goals, with George Bourikas having two assists and Tim Flynn the other.

Quincy took over sole possession of the division lead last week with a 1-0 squeaker over Hingham, while North dropped a heartbreaker to Duxbury's undefeated Division Two champions by the same score.

The only Quincy goal came in the third period when Vin Bertrand booted in a corner kick from Al Lavoie.

North and Duxbury battled until the last minute and a half of the game before Duxbury's Mark McEvoy, one of the league's top scorers, outraced a North defender to a long lob shot which had gone over the pulled-up Raider defense and drilled it past goalie Don Gilliland, who again was a standout for North.

Quincy Girls Finalists For 'Queen' At Abp. Williams Homecoming

Two Quincy girls are among six finalists for the crown of "Student Queen" at the ninth annual homecoming festivities at Archbishop Williams High School, Braintree, this weekend.

Seniors Elaine Clark and Ellen Kane, both of Quincy; Janet Gnong, Anne Leahy, Mary Reidy of Weymouth and Carol Landers of Milton were nominated by their classmates.

The queen will be crowned during the half-time program of the Archbishop Williams-St. John's Prep football game Sunday Afternoon.

A 1 p.m. motorcade from the school to the stadium will be led by St. Francis Xavier Drum and Bugle Corps. of South Weymouth.

The week-end festivities are sponsored by the Archbishop Williams men's Association.

Co-chairmen Donald McHugh of Quincy and Joseph Cullinan of Weymouth invites all students, parents and alumni to attend the homecoming program.

HORRIGAN JR.

COUNCILLOR-AT-LARGE

Qualified By Education, Background And Experience

★HORRIGAN will DEMAND that there be no new taxes and reduction of the present taxes. With the $17.50 increase in the tax rate, the taxes must be brought under control or else the homeowners will be forced to sell their homes and move into apartment houses or housing projects.

★HORRIGAN will DEMAND that the City continue its fight against revaluation. The revaluation issue is not yet solved and the City must continue to fight revaluation to protect the residential property owners rights.

★HORRIGAN will DEMAND that the State Legislature reduce the expenditures for welfare and medicaid. Welfare is for the needy and not for those able to work.

★HORRIGAN will DEMAND that a new zoning ordinance be enacted immediately to prevent high rise apartment buildings and the indiscriminate building of apartments in residential neighborhoods.

★HORRIGAN will DEMAND that the City stop open dumping and adopt a permanent solution to the rubbish disposal problem.

AUCTIONEER AND APPRAISER Herbert F. Cole [right] shows an antique hepplewhite sideboard to Clarence Churchill. Cole's antique shop is located at 16 Beale St., Wollaston. In the business for over 15 years, he deals in "quality antiques".

"We are building our reputation on quality antiques," notes Herbert F. Cole, proprietor of Wollaston's Antique Haven, 16 Beale St., Wollaston.

"I was not always an antique dealer," said Cole, who recalls working for a trucking firm and travelling all over the country. "While on the road I came into contact with a great deal of antiques. My interest in the articles grew to the point where I decided to open an antique shop."

A few of the more interesting articles which Cole has procured include a Chest-on-Frame made in Salem, around 1690; a graduated Curley maple chest of drawers which date around 1700; a set of original Windsor Arrowback chairs and a country sofa which were prominent in the early 1600's and a Pennsylvania Dutch table which dates back to the late 1700's.

Cole, who has run antique shows in both New Hampshire and Massachusetts, also auctions and appraises estates.

"Sometimes I am asked to look at estates for insurance companies or for the state," he said. "This appraisal allows the state to execute the estate among the heirs more equally."

Herbert Cole has been dealing in antiques for over 15 years.

"I haven't become a millionaire through this business but I like it and have learned a great deal about it," he said. "The antiques that I buy and sell are quality articles, my customers can be assured of that."

Quincy Firefighters To Aid 'Fight Against Dystrophy'

Local 792 of the International Association of Fire Fighters will be aiding in the "Fight Against Dystrophy" this year, announces Raymond W. Thibault, President of the Greater Boston Chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc.

Firefighters from Quincy under the leadership of I.A.F.F. Union President, John Meny, will aid M.D.A.A. by distributing special Fire Fighter canisters to business establishments throughout the area.

Proceeds from the Canister Program will go toward research programs throughout the world and to Patient Service Programs. Over the years, fire fighters have lent their support to this Drive and their efforts have made it possible for thousands of dollars to be raised for the benefit of Muscular Dystrophy.

Their achievements this year have been numerous and hopefully their contribution of time and effort toward this program will warrant another successful year in their attempt to defeat this crippler of children.

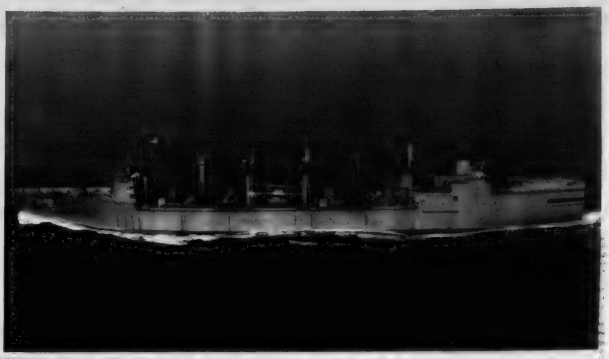
Quincy-Built Milwaukee To Join Fleet Saturday

The Quincy-built USS Milwaukee [AOR-2], a 37,000-ton fleet replenishment oiler, will be commissioned at 2:30 p.m. ceremonies Saturday, at the Boston Naval Shipyard, Charlestown.

Placing the ship in commission will be Rear Admiral Joseph C. Wylie, USN, Commandant of the First Naval District, and Captain James W. Martin, USN, 43-year-old Lowell native, the Milwaukee's first commanding officer.



Congressman Glenn R. Davis [R-Wisc.] of the Ninth District in Wisconsin, will be the principal speaker at the commissioning ceremony.

Davis left his seat in the Legislature for active duty in the U.S. Navy and served three years as a communications officer on an aircraft carrier in the Pacific during World War II.

Built by General Dynamics' Quincy Division, Milwaukee is the second of a new class of multi-purpose replenishment ships being constructed for the U.S. Navy. From 7,600,000 gallons of oil to 5,000 varied candy bars, the USS Milwaukee will carry supplies to ships of the Atlantic Fleet.

Her crew will number 19 officers and 350 petty officers and enlisted men.

The 37,000-ton supply-oiler with an overall length of 659 feet, is the fourth ship of the fleet to bear the name for the city of Milwaukee, Wisc., and the Milwaukee River which flows into Lake Michigan at the City of Milwaukee. "Milwaukee" is said to have been derived from the indian "millioke" meaning "good earth" or "good country".

QUINCY-BUILT USS Milwaukee, shown underway on trials, will be commissioned Saturday at 2:30 p.m. at Boston Naval Shipyard.

Quincy Schools To Study Why Students Drop Out

The Quincy school system is going to study anew the old but still pressing problem of why kids quit school.

During the 1969-70 school year all students who abandon the classroom will be interviewed by a guidance counselor on his or her school history and attitudes toward school.

Parents of the dropout students also will be interviewed to determine their feelings on the matter.

The Department of Pupil Personnel Services hopes that the information gained through the interviews will help school administrators to develop meaningful educational experiences that meet the needs of all students.

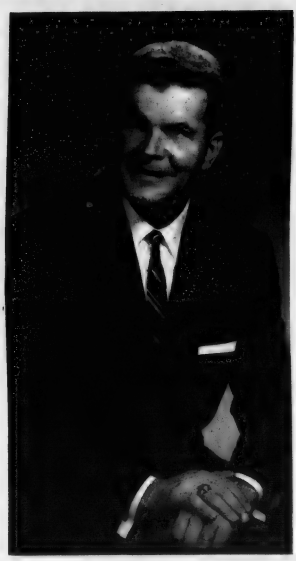
Mass. Fields School Dedicates 'New Look' Playground Friday

The reconstructed Massachusetts Field School playground will be re-dedicated Friday at 2:15 p.m. ceremonies.

The playground recently underwent $10,000 in improvements including re-turfing.



Participating in the dedication ceremonies will be Mayor James R. McIntyre, School Supt. Lawrence P. Creedon, Principal Merle Sawyer, Richard J. Koch, executive secretary of the Park-Recreation Board.

Music will be by the North Quincy High School band.

The school's more than 600 pupils will attend the ceremonies.

The Good Citizens Committee, comprising pupils of the school, is preparing pledges to keep the playground free of debris.

Furnace Brook Addition Key

Over-Crowding Relief Sought For Seven Schools

Mayor James R. McIntyre will push for a "critically needed" addition to the Furnace Brook elementary school to relieve crowded conditions there and at six other schools.

School Supt. Lawrence P. Creedon informed the Mayor an 8-to-10 room addition–plus supportive services–would bring relief to over-crowding at Furnace Brook and at:

- Cranch School.
- Gridley Bryant School.
- Massachusetts Fields School.
- Willard School.
- Wollaston School.
- Montclair School.

Dr. Creedon, noted however, that with a combined 473 pupil enrollment increase at the seven schools since 1960, 27 additional classrooms would actually be needed to properly accomodate them.

McIntyre said last night he will submit an $8,000 appropriation order to the City Council Nov. 17 for preliminary drawings for the addition.

"I am deeply concerned with the critical classroom shortage in our elementary schools," the Mayor declared.

"We are proceeding with plans for an addition at the Squantum school and for a new school to replace the old Lincoln and Hancock Schools.

"An addition to the Furnace Brook School is as badly needed as these other projects. We must move on it."

The City Council in 1967 approved $17,000 to retain an architect to draft preliminary plans for the Squantum and Lincoln - Hancock projects but failed to approve funds to get the Furnace Brook addition onto the drawing boards.

The Mayor said he is submitting the appropriation order following a communication from Dr. Creedon who termed an addition to the Furnace Brook School as "critically needed."

Dr. Creedon noted:

"By adding on the equivalent

HALLOWEEN HEART–Montclair School youngsters are donating more than 100 pounds of candy collected by them on Halloween to less fortunate children. Shown packing some of the goodies are sixth graders James Lapsley, Marilyn Spinale, Donna Rogers and Michael Gethin.
[Quincy Sun Photo By Robert Leo Eng]

Lots Of Heart, Fewer Cavities

The children at the Montclair School should have fewer cavities this year as a result of their Halloween charity.

The pupils are donating more than 100 pounds of the candy collected last Friday night to less fortunate children at St. Coletta's School, the Bridgewater State Correctional Institute and other similar schools in the area.

Principal Lee Gould noted:

"They were not asked to go door to door to collect candy for needy kids," said Gould. "However, when they came to school on Monday we [the teachers] asked them to voluntarily donate some of the candy they had collected. The results were terrific."

Gould also noted that six graders at school collected $225 for UNICEF on Halloween. "This is something that our sixth grades do every year," he said. "Last year they came up with $300."

The expression of concern for their fellow man shown by the young citizens of the Montclair School will go unrewarded but not unappreciated.

An Incumbents' Year

McIntyre, Kelly, McDonald City's Top Vote-Getters

The same hands that steered Quincy's municipal ship of government the past two years apparently will–with just one exception–remain at the helm in 1970-71.

Lone new face–actually a familiar one–is that of Charles T. Sweeny who made an impressive comeback bid to win one of the three School Committee seats in Tuesday's City Election.

All other incumbents were re-elected although victory for Ward 5 Councillor Walter J. Hannon and School Committeeman Frank Anselmo was by scant margins.

Hannon edged Atty. William D. Delahunt, a political newcomer, by only 46 votes. The latter plans to ask for a recount.

Anselmo topped Leo J. Hannon, Jr. by 127 votes. Hannon is considering a possible recount.

The other big highlight of the election that saw 23,503–or 53 per cent–of the city's 44,575 registered voters turn out was the vote-getting power generated by Councillor at-large George B. McDonald.

McDonald, who finished a so so fourth in the Oct. 7 preliminary, orbited into the No. 1 spot in a six man field.

Mayor James R. McIntyre, won an easy third term, rolling over political novice Robert C. Preble by an 18,317 to 4,480 vote.

McDonald, who launched an all-out campaign after the preliminary election, piled up a 13,909 vote, to top second man Arthur Tobin by 86 votes and third man John J. Quinn by 688.

Tobin polled 13,823 and Quinn 13,221 to win re-election by comfortable margins over their strongest challenger, former City Council President Joseph J. LaRaia.

LaRaia had a 10,805 vote–2,416 below Quinn. Behind La Raia were Mrs. Alice I. Kowilcik 5,499 and Atty. Maurice R. Horrigan, 4,030.

Atty. Paul C. Kelly, running city-wide for the first time, topped the six-man School Committee field with an impressive 13,611 votes.

Kelly had succeeded Dr. Edward Mann when the latter resigned in 1968, taking over the vacancy in a special City Council-School Committee election. Tuesday was the first time he had run city-wide.

Sweeny, who two years ago was defeated by Ruth E. Scanlan, came back strong to take second spot with an 11,700 vote –1,911 behind Kelly.

Sweeny thus takes over the seat vacated by Dr. Charles Djerf retiring after 16 year's service on the school board.

Anselmo retained his seat on

50,000 Expected At Veterans Day Observance

An estimated 50,000 persons are expected to turn out next Tuesday for Quincy's annual Veterans Day parade and ceremonies.

Joseph V. Ferrino, national commander of the Amvets will be the keynote speaker.

Some 2,500 veterans and bandsmen will be in the line of march for the 10:30 a.m. parade from the Ross parking area to Adams Academy where Ferrino will speak.

The parade and exercises are sponsored by the Quincy Veterans Council, representing all veterans posts in the city.

Long active in veterans and civic affairs, Ferrino is a member of the executive board of the Boston Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

He has also served as chairman of the annual Pilgrim Awards dinner, moderator of the American Heritage Foundation and chairman of the Red Cross and Salvation Army fund raising drives.

In the three-division parade lineup will be 20 bands and drum and bugle corps, Army, Navy, Marine, Air Force, Coast Guard, Naval Cadets, Civil Air Cadets and Boy Scouts marching units and Gold Star Mothers.

Veterans Day chairman is City Clerk John M. Gillis. Allen Kofman, commander Quincy Veterans Council, is chief marshal and Anthony M. Famigletti, Past Department Commander Amvets, chief of staff.

At the Adams Academy ceremonies, the invocation will be by Rev. Frank Bauer, Wollaston Lutheran Church, the Veterans Day prayer by Rev. Edward S. Sullivan, Star of the Sea Church, and the benediction by Rabbi Jacob Mann, Beth Israel Synagogue.

There will also be remarks by City Clerk Gillis and Mayor

Quincy Point, S. Quincy Airliner Flight Noise Will Be Studied

A survey will be made of airliner flight patterns over South Quincy and Quincy Point in an effort to alleviate noise annoyance.

Mayor James R. McIntyre said last night that Thomas P. Callaghan, assistant to the executive director of the Massachusetts Port Authority, assured him the survey will be made.

The matter will be discussed today [Thursday] at a meeting of the Logan Airport Noise Abatement Committee, Callaghan informed McIntyre.

The action follows a complaint of noise nuisance made to Mayor McIntyre by Mrs. Marjorie Burns of 57 Avalon Ave., Quincy Point and forwarded to the Port Authority by him.

"We shall inform you and Mrs. Burns of the results of our efforts to alleviate within the requirements of safety any annoyance caused by flights over Quincy," Callaghan said.

He said the survey would be made of the Quincy Point and South Quincy areas.

Air Pollution

Editor, Quincy Sun:

Recently my home was painted and a yellow trim put on.

Today I decided to wash finger prints off the door. I found soot all over it and the window panes. On inspecting the rest of my home, I found it worse.

I've read and heard about the air polution, but I didn't realize it was this bad in Quincy.

A man who owns a yacht and docks it at Town River said after it was washed within a half hour was covered with residue the wind was blowing from the Edison Plant.

My husband has quit smoking for two years now. What was the sense? When I think of the deep breath one takes and what goes in our lungs its frightening.

Being a mother of five children I'd like to put some kind of air filter mask on them.

Quincy is a lovely city but what good is its beauty, if we can't breath its air. [We don't want another Los Angeles.] Now is the time to insist on the Edison Co., to do something about their smoke [soot].

As a mother, I don't know much about getting a fire started under our Councillors or Mayor. I thought by writing this letter it might start the ball rolling or should I say Air Clearing.

Mayor, 'Peter And Wolf' Concert Stars On Sunday

Mayor James R. McIntyre will make his "concert debut" with the Quincy Symphony Orchestra Sunday.

His Honor will narrate "Peter and The Wolf" accompanied by the orchestra playing special music by Prokofieff as a highlight of the annual Youth Concert.

The concert will be at 3 p.m. at the Quincy High School auditorium. Admission is free.

Robert Brown, head of the music department at Eastern Nazarene College will conduct the orchestra.

The program will include "Finlandia" by Sibelius, "Quiet City" by Copeland; "The Phantom Regiment" by LeRoy Anderson and "Semper Fidelis" by Sousa.

Youth Center Opens In Germantown Sunday

The Germantown Youth Center, 9 Bicknell St., will hold an Open House Nov. 12, at 8 p.m.

Invitations have been accepted by Mayor James R. McIntyre, other city officials and community representatives. The public is invited to attend.

Social Security Benefits Are For Teen-Agers, Too

Half a million 18-to 22-year-old students are learning that you don't have to be 65 before you can count on social security.

Some of them live right here in the Quincy South Shore area, reports the Social Security Administration Quincy District office.

In the upcoming school year, benefits to these young people will amount to more than the scholarships at all colleges and universities, Frank Culkin, district manager for social security, noted.

Some 500,000 students, he said, will get $490,000,000 in monthly benefits because of social security contributions paid over the years by a parent who is now disabled, retired, or dead. That's an average of almost $1,000 per eligible student. Their parents earned the protection for them.

"The social security law was changed 4 years ago to continue a child's social security benefits past age 18 if he or she is attending school full time. Students who qualify on the work record of a parent can continue to get checks until 22 if they stay in school and remain unmarried," Culkin explained.

Even if the student works part-time or during the summer, he gets all his benefits if he earns $1,680 or less for the year, Culkin pointed out. If his earnings exceed that, some or all benefits will not be payable, depending on how steadily he works and how much he makes.

Culkin said that a 1967 change in the conditions under which payments can be made to the children of women workers made about 175,000 more young people eligible for payments. A large number of those made eligible are students.

Young people who feel they might qualify for benefits on the record of a retired, disabled, or deceased parent ought to check with the social security office, Mr. Culkin suggested.

"Don't guess at the answer. Tell us the details and let us give you the right answer. Maybe we can help with your education expenses," he said.

Sunbeams

What a difference a month makes.

In the Oct. 7 preliminary election, George B. McDonald finished in what looked like a weak fourth-place spot in the council at-large race.

A few of the so-called experts figured he was in trouble and might lose his seat to former City Council President Joseph J. LaRaia who topped him in the preliminary.

But on Tuesday--a month later--McDonald turned in the surprise performance of the final election. Not only topping LaRaia, but usual powerful vote-getters Arthur Tobin and John J. Quinn.

On the strength of his showing, McDonald will have to be considered a strong contender for next year's City Council presidency.

And probably a mayoralty contender in 1971.

McDonald has hinted that this will be his final run for the council. It could be.

But he no doubt must now have a few thoughts about a bid for the mayor's office. When you're No. 1 in the City Council, you can't help but think about being No. 1 in the city.

* * *

POLITICAL observers are convinced that Atty. William D. Delahunt will be sitting in the City Council in the very near future. Possibly two years from now.

Delahunt, making his first bid for public office, came within 46 votes of upsetting Ward 5 incumbent Walter J. Hannon. There'll be a recount there.

Interestingly, people who drop blanks into the ballot box, often have a serious effect on the results of an election.

In the tight Ward 5 battle, for example, 74 blanks were cast. They could have meant a wider margin for Hannon or possible victory for Delahunt.

* * *

INCIDENTALLY, the official city election results were in by 12:30 a.m.--the fastest they've been counted and tabulated in many years.

City Clerk John M. Gillis has put together a good election worker team to expedite the count. It wasn't too long ago that returns were still straggling in as the sun came up the next day.

P.S. [If you want to see a couple of fast men with an adding machine look over the shoulder of Leslie Brierly or Lawrence Butler at City Hall on election night.]

* * *

LOOKING AHEAD: Quincy support is being lined up for Rep. Barry Hannon [D-Braintree] who is seriously considering making a bid next year for Norfolk County Register of Deeds.

* * *

TURNABOUT: Mayor James R. McIntyre who has bestowed quite a few "Honorary Quincy Citizenships" on visitors to the city, had the tables turned on him the other day.

Police Chief Raymond DeCelle, Jr. of Gulfport, Miss., a former Quincy boy back home on a visit, dropped into City Hall. He brought with him an Honorary Gulfport citizen citation for McIntyre, signed by Gulfport Mayor Philip W. Shaw. But McIntyre had the last word. He made both DeCelle and Shaw honorary Quincy citizens.

* * *

AND, Rep. Joseph E. Brett has a "Citation of Appreciation" from the American Legion "in recognition and sincere appreciation of outstanding service and assistance during the 1969 session of our legislature in maintaining Civil Service preference for veterans."

* * *

'Magic Shoes' To Help Tots Test Vision At Free Clinics Nov. 15-16

It's the fun way to find out whether the little toddlers, who have not yet learned to read, can see all right.

The "E" is the testing letter but to a child it looks like a table which can be turned upside down and sideways.

The magic shoes are the prints sketched on the floor 20 feet from the chart with its letters that diminish in size.

The youngster stands on the magic shoes and indicates with movements of his arms which way the table legs point.

The game sustains the child's interest in a test which, most adults will agree, can be pretty boring.

The free vision testing will be held Nov. 15 at Broadmeadows Junior High, Sterling Junior High and Atlantic Junior High from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

The following day, Nov. 16, it will be conducted at the Quincy Health Center from 1 to 3:30 p.m.

"We hope every pre-school child in Quincy will be brought in by his parents," say Miss Jean Zanolli and Mrs. Edmund O'Riordon, co-chairwoment of the project.

"A vision problem can be a tragic --and needless-- handicap for a youngster going through school."

The advisory committee includes Dr. Charles Djerf, Dr. Joseph E. McDermott, Dr. Jack Wolper, Dr. John Foley, Miss Alice Gray, R.N., and Mrs. Virginia S. Murphy of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Every Vote Counts !!

In a hotly contested campaign, Mary Cronin defeated John Francescini for the right to represent Point Junior High in the Youth City Council. Miss Cronin won the election by one vote.

the board with a third place vote of 11,026, turning back a strong bid by Hannon who polled 10,899.

Behind Hannon were George C. Smith, Jr., with 6,787 and James F. Harrington with 6,586.

Ward 1 Councillor Edward S. Graham, running un-opposed, polled 4,150 votes.

Ward 2 Councillor Clifford H. Marshall defeated Robert W. Page 1,953 to 942.

Ward 3 Councillor John F. Koegler topped Pasquale S. Di Stefano, 1,598 to 727.

Ward 4 Councillor Albert R. Barilaro turned back Joseph P. Shea, 1,636 to 1,253.

City Council President J. Vincent Smyth defeated Jens E. Thornton, 3,122 to 1,018 in the Ward 6 contest.

Burke Named Advisor To Drug Problems Committee

Norfolk County Dist. Atty. George G. Burke has been named to serve as an advisor to Attorney General Robert Quinn's Committee on Drug Problems.

Bruke is a recognized authority on the drug problem having set up the narcotics educational program for the Virgin Islands at the request of the territorial legislature.

He has also served as legal advisor to the Governor's Special Drug Commission and saw his proposal for a state-wide agency for drug education incorporated into law.

As district attorney, Burke also established in his office the first such narcotics unit to fight the drug menace.

Here Comes The Bride

By Mabelle

Bridal hints:

On your invitations: Your wedding invitation list should include parents of the groom and members of the wedding party as well as their parents.

When choosing the bridesmaids' gowns, remember, dark colors become darker under artificial lights in a dimly lit church.

The receiving line: Because the mother-of the bride is hostess, she is always first in line followed by the groom's father and mother, the bride and groom, the maid of honor and the bridesmaids, Ushers never stand in the receiving line. The bride's father may mingle with the guests or stand in the line.

Cutting the cake: The bride cuts the first piece of wedding cake starting at the bottom layer, assisted by the groom whose hand is placed over her's and they cut together. They share the first piece together and then a waiter or attendant cuts and serves the remainder. The top layer is saved for the new husband and wife.

Announcements: Very often there are people not invited to the wedding but whom you wish to notify. This is accomplished by ordering announcements at the same time you order your invitations. The announcement reads much the same as the invitation, except the line "request the honour of your presence" is changed to "have the honour of announcing."

The mature bride may issue her own announcement to read Miss Jane Marie Adams [or Mrs. if widowed or divorced] and Mr. John Henry Smith announce their marriage on Tuesday, the eleventh of June One thousand nine hundred and seventy Quincy, Massachusetts.

The announcement is ready to mail before the wedding but is not sent until after the ceremony. The maid of honor mails them no later than the next day.

Social Security pays up to $4,896.00 towards a College Education
Would your Child USE it ——— or LOSE it?

One of the recent changes in the Social Security Law guarantees continuation of a child's benefit beyond age 18, to age 22, provided the child-beneficiary is a full-time student in an accredited school or college. This means that the child of a deceased worker can have part of his college expenses paid through the Social Security Program, if (and this is a big IF) the additional funds needed to allow the youngster to be a full-time student are available.
With a full line of both Life Insurance and Mutual Funds, we can help take the IF out.

'The Practice Of Badgering'

At home and at work many people have fallen into the obnoxious pattern of badgering other people....wives....husbands ....children ....fellow workers.... usually subordinates. Some time ago a business secretary called me from her office. She talked briefly making an appointment to see me. Suddenly she broke off with.... "I can't talk....here he comes".....and bang went the receiver. When she came to see me she told me that her boss [it was a small office] was a real bully...."He badgers me no matter what I do.... it's never good enough....never fast enough....always something else should have come first...he really needs a mechanical secretary, not a human being."

A wife told me recently that she and the children hate to see her husband drive in the driveway...."They all scatter when he somes in....he starts right in badgering first one and then another and especially Janie" [the older daughter]. "He grumbles all through the meal complaining about the food....or the way the children have left their rooms....or the way his secretary acted that day....and most of all, he badgers me....how can I go on living with this guy?"

A man late one night sat in my office....with his head in his hands and elbows on his knees....he sobbed. It was his wife who was doing the badgering...."I just can't please her... .I'm damned if I do and I'm damned if I dont't....if I bring her a gift, I shouldn't have spent the money....if I don't bring a gift, I'm thoughtless and inconsiderate." "She's always badgering the children....especially the boy....about his eating....his room.... his shoes....everything in general....and every time she does it, her words go through me like a sword....I just can't get used to her badgering....Why is she this way?"

There are lots of people who badger other people....bully them ....yelling....hurling threats ....trying to live and work with people using "police tactics." Enlightened police have found that it doesn't work....it just doesn't invite cooperation....it creates unhappiness....and people do not work well when they are unhappy. The grouchy.... badgering supervisor in the plant....or at home....probably is an unhappy person within himself. So he looks stern....uses a heavy voice with critical tone.... asks insinuating questions.... bemeans people. It doesn't make him a bigger man in others' eyes....it doesn't make her a more admired woman. It takes its toll on the mental peace of people they live with....upon their emotional health. It is exhausting to work for....or with....or to live with the badgerer.

WHY DO THEY BADGER? Some men are "woman haters" ....and this inward hate [which means inability to relate to a woman] shows up in every one-to-one relationship with women ....his wife....his daughter....his secretary. It is an emotional disease. Of course it comes out of childhood....chances are that he had a domineering....punitive mother and that now he is getting his revenge on his mother by badgering other women. This man needs professional help. He is strict ....moralizes....doesn't enjoy himself or other people.

Women often feel hatred carried over from childhood from excessive punishment by domineering parents....so they badger.... complain.... show jealousy ....envy....an overwhelming desire to "get even" with people. The "striking back" against unfair parents may continue all through life....long after the overbearing parents have died.

If you are subjected to such badgering....understand that it is an emotional sickness....don't let it get to you. If you are a badgerer yourself....understand that you need help....you are sick emotionally....and making others around you sick.

Thoreau's Works Subject Of Great Books Group

The essay, "Civil Disobedience," and the first two chapters of "Walden," both by Henry Thoreau, will be discussed by the Quincy first year Great Books group tonight [Thursday] at 8 p.m., in the Children's Room of the Thomas Crane Library, 40 Washington Street, Quincy Center.

In commenting on the relevance of Thoreau's ideas in today's world, Dr. Charles Djerf, discussion leader, called the Concord sage, "New England's foremost hippie", and stressed the far-reaching and powerful effects of Thoreau's principles of civil disobedience, non-conformity and non-materialism - principles which shook the foundations of the British empires and are now deeply affecting our own nation.

Anyone wishing to join the Quincy first year Great Books group is invited to attend the discussion. Great Books is an adult liberal education program. There are no educational or financial requirements for participation; only an interest in reading good literature and discussing the ideas with which it is universally concerned.

Further information about the Great Books program may be obtained from the Thomas Crane library, or from Mrs. Jane Mudge, 264 Furnace Brook Parkway.

United Fund South Division Reaches 45.3 Per Cent

The South Division–comprising Quincy and 19 South Shore towns–has reached the 45.3 per cent mark in the Massachusetts Bay United Fund campaign.

The per centage was the highest noted in the Community Division at the third report meeting last week at the Statler Hilton, Boston.

Canton reported a total of $10,000 for 102 per cent.

The next report meeting is scheduled for today [Thursday] at 12:10 p.m. at the Hotel Statler.

"Time is becoming a serious factor but, win, lose or draw – and we plan on winning – we close out this campaign on Nov. 18," Charles F. Adams, chairman of the United Fund campaign, told 400 volunteer workers at last week's report meeting.

The audience, representative group of the 65,000 volunteers now making a sustained effort toward reaching the goal of $14,500,000, cheered the report that the campaign has so far raised $9,399,878 for 64.8 per cent of its goal.

42-Year Old Addict Drug Subject

Quincy public school teachers and other educational personnel will meet this afternoon, [Thursday] at Furnace Brook School to learn more about the drug problem.

The meeting is the 10th in an in-service training program covering physiological, medical, psychological and sociological aspects of drug abuse.

Today's program will be the "Florie Fisher Story," a film and discussion of the life of 42-year-old drug addict. Moderators are Martin C. Finnegan and Maureen O'Brien, research specialists of the Quincy public schools.

Future sessions include:

Nov. 13 - "The Addict," a discussion of the how's and why's of addiction with a panel of addicts from the Rehabilitation Unit of Boston State Hospital.

Nov. 18 - "Drugs, Youth and the Church," a discussion of the role of the church in drug prevention with a panel of clergymen of all faiths.

Noc. 20 - "Drugs in Quincy," a discussion of Quincy student involvement in drugs with Lt. Dave Rowell of the Quincy Police Department.

Nov. 25 - "Drug Education Curriculum," a discussion dealing with curricula from other school systems and suggested guides for Quincy public schools.

HOUSE CALL

By Dr. Charles Djerf
Pediatrician

'The Household Jungle'

Very often as I inquire about the psychological well-being of a family, I hear the mother - "Housewife" - say: "I am "pooped," so tired I crawl into bed after the children have been settled, wake up in the morning tired, drag myself around - can't figure out why I am so tired. No pep - kids drive me nuts - I am irritable - my appetites O.K. but I get so darn tired I can't lift my head."

Yet when such a mother is given a thorough physical exam - with determination of her thyroid etc., between cholesterol levels and sundry other lab work - everything is O.K.

Despite the results, we hear - "I ache all over - my throat is choked - there is a band about my head - my hands are numb and stiff - I drop things - I can't breath - I sigh all the time - I'm dizzy - my mouth is dry, I'm nauseated and feel as if I'm going to pass out. My head pounds - my feet tingle - I'm hot and sweaty and even afraid to be alone - I cry easily."

There are many women with such symptoms - not of organic cause [meaning real disease] but functional or symptomatic disease, a genuine combination of complaints that could be called the "Tired Housewife Syndrome".

This syndrome was described adequately by Sydenham as far back as 1682 - presuming it to be hypochondriosis. The area involved in the discomfort is the pit of the stomach, where many of us have felt sunken at some time or other when frightened.

To digress for a moment, similar complaints were observed in males - soldiers - during the Civil War as well as the First World War. Lewis wrote a classic on the "Soldiers Heart and the Effort Syndrome", inability for certain soldiers to carry on due to rigors of war - called neurocirculatory asthenia - [weak nervous and circulatory systems]. Each era has had stresses which have resulted in the same symptom complex described.

A housewife and mother has always been the linch-pin of the family. Her responsibilities have rarely been fully appreciated by the husband or man - I would even state that her duties and cares are even being increased despite the modern conveniences.

What the woman needs is sympathetic understanding, a little break once or twice during the week, a change, rest or diversion; a dance, movie, trip, etc.

You have to admit, dishes, diapers, meals; dishes, diapers, meals - settling brawley kids and ill tempered, frustrated males is rather an over-whelming daily diet whereas the old man is under pressure, he has a goal or an objective in a competitive world, she has diapers, dishes, meals, etc.

Remember, romance is gone by this time - even to look at each other is a displeasure, hard to get away from unless you look at this sordid situation realistically and arrange for artificial breaks. Instead of coffee breaks, have "housewife breaks". The old man should do some of the work - of her tedium - a doctor might act as a liason to explain matters. Get her out!

I still think a complete look at our marriage laws with a chance for separation legally or a renewal of contract every five years is more sensible than our present out-moded, archaic, enforced commitment to a life of frustration.

Sixth Graders Take Look At Oceanography

The sixth grade class at the Atherton Hough School has taken up a subject usually reserved for college students.

They're studying oceanography.

The subject was chosen by the pupils themselves as part of a program that allows them to plan some areas of their study.

The youngsters have completed the study of the history of oceanography and are preparing to take up the main phases of physical, chemical, biological and geological oceanography.

As part of the study, they have set up a salt water aquarium and stocked it with crabs, fish and plants from the local shore.

In a way, the kids are only doing what comes naturally. They live in Hough's Neck, which is surrounded on three sides by water.

CHILDREN WITH HEART DISEASE NOW HAVE FUTURE

BY ALLAN GOLDBLATT, M.D.
Pediatric Cardiologist, Children' Service
Massachusetts General Hospital

"Children with heart disease" is a phrase which evokes deep emotional responses, clouded for many years by such terms as "cripples," "bed-ridden," and "early death."

But the fact is that today these terms are rarely true, thanks to highly sophisticated methods of detection and treatment resulting from heart research.

Heart disease in children is primarily limited to two forms: congenital [birth] defects and rheumatic heart disease. Congenital heart defects are structural defects in the formation of the heart occurring during the first three months of the mother's pregnancy. The cause in the majority of cases is unknown, though German measles is one known cause. The possibility that other viruses may be involved is under investigation. The role of heredity is being studied, and though we do on occasion see more than one child in the family with a congenital heart defect, there is as yet no definitive evidence that congenital heart disease is hereditary.

DIAGNOSIS 100% ACCURATE

During the past 10 years our medical knowledge has grown to the point where the cardiologist can diagnose with essentially 100 percent accuracy most of these defects – primarily through the physical examination with the aid of the electrocardiogram and X-rays.

One of the most sophisticated methods of diagnosis used by the pediatric cardiologist is cardiac catheterization. This procedure, used when other methods cannot provide a detailed diagnosis, can measure pressures and oxygen content within each heart chamber and vessel. It also enables the physician to record rapid X-ray pictures [either stills or movies] of the inside of the heart, in order to define the size of the defect, position of the vessels and chambers, and their relation to one another. This technique has been perfected to such an extent that even newborns can undergo the study at minimal risk. Naturally, risk to a child's life, however small, is undertaken only after careful consideration.

SURGERY OFTEN REQUIRED

Studies, which continue today, have taught us that children with certain congenital heart defects can live a normal, long life and therefore require no surgery. These children should, however, be examined at regular intervals to determin possible subtle changes in the function of the heart.

For those children who do require surgical correction, advances have been astounding. When once only one or two forms of congenital heart defects could be corrected, today virtually all children in need of heart surgery can undergo either total or partial correction. Though the latter group is undergoing only a first stage procedure, the operation can improve the heart's function significantly, and the child is able to carry on a nearly normal life. The development and further perfection of the heart-lung machine and the use of artificial [prosthetic] valves have allowed for the continuing magnificent cardiac surgery being performed at major medical centers throughout the country.

RHEUMATIC HEART DISEASE

Rheumatic heart disease, the other major cause of heart disease in children, is the result of inflammation and scarring of the heart muscle and valves caused by rheumatic fever. The immediate cause of rheumatic fever is unknown, but it usually follows a streptococcal infection; however, not all "strep" infections are followed by rheumatic fever and rheumatic fever does not alway damage the heart. If the heart is involved, its damage may be so minimal that the child can grow and develop and have a normal life span. Doctors have found that when a "strep" infection occurs, penicillin given properly and in effective doses over a ten-day period may prevent rheumatic fever.

Unlike other childhood diseases, rheumatic fever is a "repeater" and those children who have recovered from an episode should be protected from repeated "strep" infections. Penicillin or sulfur drugs given on a continuing basis under a doctor's directions have shown excellent results in preventing recurrence of rheumatic fever. These drugs are available through state programs at no charge to the patient. Those patients whose heart has been affected can, under good medical care, live full and productive lives, and with the increasing sophistication of cardiac surgery and the use of artificial valves, the diseased valve can be repaired or replaced.

In addition to our increasing medical knowledge and the development of suphisticated technical equipment, there has been the evolving concept of a team approach to the treatment of children with heart disease. The pediatric cardiologist and the cardiac surgeon with their respective associates have come together into a closely knit team evaluating, diagnosing, and treating children with various forms of heart disease. It is through such a cooperative effort that children with heart disease can now look forward to the future.

["Living With Your Heart" is a public service of the Massachusetts Heart Association, which can provide further information on heart disease in children.]

PEACE

This creature is a nowhere one. It might never be a something. It exists only in the minds of men. It will not come out. Now it is a mist, millions of tomorrows later it may be a thing. Mankind sees the egg but fails to hatch it. This nowhere creature is peace. It's egg will hatch when peace is insured for all mankind. It will lick the earths former scars. It will be a something, somewhere, sometime, and somehow.

THE LITTLE LEAF

One day a leaf blew off his tree. And a boy picked him up. He brought him in the house and taped him on the wall. He tried to get off. He was unhappy, but soon everyone came to see him and said he was pretty. Then he liked the house.

THE NIGHT I THOUGHT I WAS ALONE!

One night during the summer at about ten o'clock. I was in my house alone.

I was in the living room watching a mysterious movie called, "The Birds". I got to a real scary part and it started raining thunder and lightning. I heard a thump down the cellar. That thump started to come nearer to me. Then it was upstairs.

I saw a man on T.V. on the show. I started seeing a man's shadow in the kitchen. I got scared and called up my friend Theresa. The same thing was happening to her!

And then I saw a man in the kitchen in body not shadow! I was never so scared in my life. I screamed! Then I went to bed and kept on seeing shadows in my dream. I woke up with a scream in the morning when everybody was home. My mother came in the room and I told her what happened.

She told me that my father was down the cellar working that night.

"IF I WERE"

If I were an entertainer I would sing all over the world. People would buy all my records. I would be famous. Everybody would come to see me on different shows. I would have long, lovely gowns to wear and lots of make-up to put on. I would live in Beverly Hills and have a house on the Cape. I would have a lot of jewels, too. That is, "If I Were".

THE IMPORTANCE OF SAFETY PATROL IN QUINCY SCHOOLS

Safety patrol is very important for the schools in Quincy because it helps prevent accidents and takes the place of policemen, as patrol people do a man-sized job.

The safety patrol reports dangerous practices by the students and guards the children from going on the streets except at crossings. The safety patrol take their job very seriously for they know how important it is, for even one bad accident could affect the whole school.

We should be proud of the way that the safety patrol helps the schools of Quincy.

At all times, the citizens of Quincy should be ready to support the safety patrol organization which has provided such faithful service to the community.

HALLOWEEN

Witches, goblins, ghosts,
And a demon.
All are scary,
All are screamin'.

There are monsters and Fairies
Knocking our door.
They're asking for candy,
And more and more.

There are rats, bats, and shiny black cats,
The cats with eyes of green.
The bats are flying overhead,
The rats are not to be seen.

All these things are running around,
And all the street's asheen,
Can you guess what day it is?
Hurray, it's Halloween!

THE MYSTERY

Once upon a time there lived a family. There was a mother, father, and a child of six. They lived on a deserted street in an old rotten barn.

One night it began to get very windy. The six year older named John began to get afraid so the mother said, "Don't be afraid. If you go to sleep you won't hear anything." So John went to sleep.

His father said, "It will be all gone tomorrow." Then the mother, and father went to sleep.

But when they woke up it was getting worse. Father thought it might be a tornado. All different things were blowing around very wildly. Then suddenly their broken down barn started to lift off the ground. After that day no one ever knew what happened to that family.

SCHOOL SYMPHONY

A school symphony is a working together to make beautiful music which creates a harmonious school.

If someone is off tune it sounds dreadful. This is why we must have cooperation from everyone. Working together is the main idea of a school symphony.

What if the violin made a boom? Or if the drum made a tinkle? Everyone has to do his own part and work hard at it to make a magnificent school symphony.

THE SPRAY

My friends and I were going to sleep out. So we were out in the yard getting ready. We were laying down the blankets, figuring how we were going to sleep and where. Finally we all fell asleep.

All of the sudden, I felt little drops on my head. At first I thought it was raining, but then I looked up in the sky and I saw stars. So it couldn't be raining. I turned around and saw Lardy, [my friends' dog], fighting with a skunk!

I punched Terri in the head, Cindy in the leg and Dotti in the back. We all ran into the house and locked the door. Terri and I got sprayed the worst. We both got sprayed on our hair. By the way it was 5:30 in the morning.

So we had to wash our hair and our clothes. Finally we got to bed, but then it was time to wake up. When we got up we went out in the back yard and saw the skunk's tail. The night after that I had to wash my hair with tomato juice, and Lerdy had to take a bath in tomato juice.

THEY FORGET ME

When I was going to the forth grade, that summer my family and I decided to go to Florida.

We rented a trailer to camp, all the way down. I hated camping. I would have enjoyed the whole trip much better if we slept in motels or hotels.

When we got to Florida we went looking for a camping area. We stopped at a gas station to get some gas in the car, and some tonic for us. The next thing I know no car!! I looked around for my sisters and my brother. They weren't around anywhere. Our car wasn't around either.

I waited around 30 minutes. My mother and father pulled in. They had gone about 12 miles without me they said. It wasn't funny when it happened, but now it sounds funny.

MY UNEXPECTED FALL

One day I was playing in the back yard with my Friend and my mother called me. I went to my friend and told him that I had to go in for dinner.

He went and came back one hour later because he had lost his watch. We were searching a long time. We could not find it. But all of a sudden we saw something shiny. We went over there, but it wasn't the watch.

We kept on going, searching for it. It started to get dark. I said, "I'll go in to get a light." He left and I went into the house to get the light. When we came out, he took the light went to the front yard, I stayed in the back yard.

I started to run and fell in a hole. Jim came running and he saw me laying down on the ground. He went into the house and told my mother. Jim came running. I had broken my ankle and Jim had just remembered that he left his watch at home!!

After Tough Weymouth

Presidents Host To Winless Chelsea

The Quincy football team took a day off from Greater Boston League competition last week and not only lost a non-league encounter to Weymouth but also sole possession of the league lead.

Malden, by virtue of a 26-0 win over Chelsea, moved into a top tie with Quincy but Hank Conroy's Presidents should at least hold its share of the top Saturday when it meets embattled Chelsea, loser of 23 straight GBL games, in a 1:30 p.m. game at Veterans Memorial Stadium. Not only is Chelsea winless but hasn't scored a point in five league games while having given up 130.

Last week's game at Weymouth was a defensive classic with Weymouth scoring the first time it had its hands on the ball and holding off a furious Quincy rush near the end to take a 6-0 win at Legion field before more than 7000 fans.

The win was the fifth in a row for Weymouth over Quincy, the last victory for the Presidents being a 22-20 squeaker in 1964. Weymouth now has 23 wins in the long series which began in 1893 while Quincy has won 29 and there have been seven ties.

"This was a real hard, bruising game with both defenses outstanding," Conroy said. "We couldn't shake our backs loose against their strong line and a few fumbles hurt us. I was very disappointed that we couldn't score after having a first down on their seven late in the game."

Weymouth's standout quarterback, Tom McMahon, sparked the win as he carried seven times in the Maroons' opening drive and scored from the one. However, he was given one of his busiest days by the strong Quincy defense, which dumped him for losses six times for 28 yards. He was only four for 17 for 42 yards, unusually poor for him.

"The whole defensive unit was great and especially outstanding were Paul Picarski, Rick Pettiti, Cliff Mattson, Paul Hand, Rich Menchi and Bobby Sachetti, who came up with a key pass interception," Conroy said.

On offense the Quincy coach, whose team now is 4-1-1 overall and 3-0-1 in the league, had praise for Picarski, Menchi, Billy Maver, quarterback Kevin Ryan and Mattson in the line.

Weymouth took a punt on the Quincy 48 and drove to its winning TD in 13 plays after Quincy had been stopped on its first series of downs.

The Maroons had another golden opportunity just before the half when a blocked punt gave them the ball on the Quincy two with 13 seconds left. McMahon was stopped on the one and time ran out before they could run off another play.

Quincy's big chance came in the last period when, taking over on their 30, the Presidents drove all the way to the Weymouth seven for a first down, sophomore Steve McCarthy going 16 yards to that point.

However, on fourth down, a Ryan pitchout went awry and Weymouth recovered. Quincy didn't threaten after that.

PARDON, ME!–Quincy's Bob MacDonald upends Weymouth's Tom McMahon on the Presidents 24 yard line in one of the season's thrillers Saturday, as Rich Menchi [88] moves in. McMahon later scored only TD of the game to hand Quincy its first defeat of the season.

Quincy, North Sophs-JV's On Way To Top Seasons

The Quincy and North Quincy junior varsity and sophomore football teams are enjoying fine seasons and it appears the sophomore game between the rivals the Saturday before Thanksgiving will be one of the best in the series.

Dave Burke's Quincy sophomores have lost only one game in three years and last week ran their record for this year to a 5-0 with a 49-22 romp over Hingham. Quincy had only a 14-6 lead at the half but exploded for 35 points in the last two periods.

Two of the touchdowns came on Jimmy Walker's passes, one to Dave Coull and the other to Mark DiGuisto. Bobby Malvesti, who has run several kickoffs and punts back, did it again with a long kickoff return for a score.

Gene Macomber's Quincy Jayvees are 3-1-1 following a 32-0 breeze over Somerville.

Paul Bosader scored twice on runs of 40 and eight yards, Dennis Waters had a 40-yard TD run, George Sisti ran 22 for another tally and the other was on a 35-yard run by Paul Hanratty.

North's junior varsity and sophomore teams, both coached by Ted Sadowski, have 4-1 records.

Following an opening day loss to B.C. High, the sophomores defeated Brookline, Scituate and Hingham.

The Jayvee's only loss was to Medford, while they defeated Revere, Weymouth, Malden and Chelsea.

Three North, Two Quincy Harriers Receive Medals

Three North Quincy cross country runners and two from Quincy were among 20 awarded medals at the completion of the Greater Boston League's first season.

The 20 runners turning in the best times during the league season won medals. Among them were North's Paul Affsa, Kevin Henry and Pat McCormick, and Quincy's Bob Ciano and Peter Laing.

Affsa was undefeated until the final meet against Quincy when he lost to Quincy's sophomore sensation, Ciano. Ciano also lost only once, to Medford's outstanding runner, Paul Murphy.

North Has Momentum Going

Raiders Face Strong Brookline Saturday

If Brookline's football team, one of the best in Eastern Mass., is figuring on an easy win over North Quincy Saturday in their non-league game at Brookline Stadium [1:30], it might be in for a big surprise.

Brookline with a 5-1 record [3-1 in the Suburban League] rates as a solid favorite after handing Arlington its first loss last week, 14-6, but Ralph Frazier's North team has plenty of momentum going for it after two wins in a row following four losses.

Brookline has lost only to Weymouth. North followed up an easy win over Chelsea, the first for new coach Frazier, with an impressive 20-12 decision over strong Everett a week ago.

"I know we are facing one of our strongest opponents in Brookline, but I think we now have the momentum and will give them all they can handle," Frazier said. "We played Everett with several starters sidelined and another able to play only on offense, so I am very pleased we won with so many out."

Pass interceptions played a prominent part in North's winas Jim deVarennes intercepted two, running one back for a touchdown, and Dan Zink also grabbed two.

"These two boys were outstanding and others excelling on defense were John Panarelli, filling in at right end, Dan Doherty filling in at left end, Mike Martin as middle line backer, and Dave Carter, filling in for Bobby Bell, who was able to play only on offense due to an injury," Frazier continued.

"The younger boys we had to put in there came through in fine style. John Hemphill and Joe Spavento, starting linemen, were out with injuries and two other regulars, an end and back, also did not play."

Although the new Raider coach admitted his offense was not anything to brag about, he did hail Tony Kelly, who scored on a spectacular run on which he was apparently stopped twice at the line of scrimmage, Paul Lippens, whose touchdown run in the final period clinched the win, and Lee Davis, who, ran exceptionally well.

NORTH QUINCY SCORING

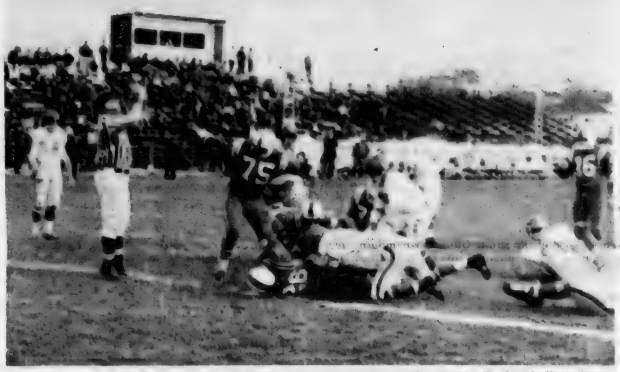
Zink's first interception in the second period at Everett's 28 set up Kelly's 17-yard run for the first North touchdown and Panarelli rushed for the points.



Later in the period deVarennes ran back his first interception 35 yards and North led, 14-0, at halftime.

Everett, which had shocked unbeaten Medford the week before, was not going down without a fight and scored twice in the third period, once on a 68-yard punt return by Ed Puopolo, and again on a one-yard sneak by Gary Moore.

In the final quarter Doherty recovered a fumble at the Everett 38 and Lippens raced 30 yards for the insurance touchdown which gave the Raiders some breathing room.

Sterling Junior High Soccer League Champion

The Quincy Junior High soccer league again provided plenty of action this fall and the championship went down to the final game of the season in which Sterling blanked Atlantic North, 4-0, for the league title.

Sterling, coached by Joe Amorosino, took a 6-0-1 record into the finale while Leo Donovan's Atlantic North team had a 6-1-0 record. The only previous loss had been to Sterling.

The final Sterling goal was scored by, of all people, goalie Bruno DiCienso. With a 3-0 lead as the result of goals by Chris Toy, John Sweeney and Scott Merlis, Sterling was awarded a penalty kick.

DiCienso, who had never played anywhere but goal, was given the shot and wound up with a perfect average as he made good on the only shot of his career.

Atlantic North coach Donovan formerly coached soccer, baseball and basketball at South Shore Vocational-Technical High in Hanover where he was also athletic director.

The Quincy and North Quincy High teams, which had outstanding seasons this fall, will benefit from many of this year's junior high players.

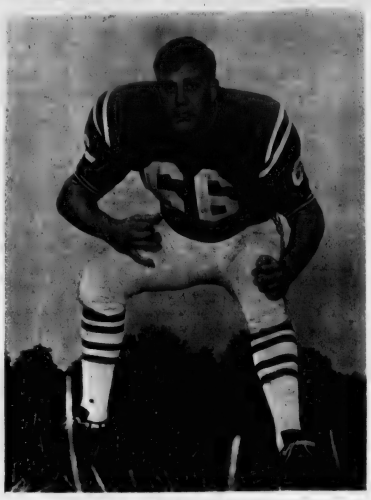
Giants Open Back-To-Back Series

BY CHARLES LOWE

The Quincy Giants, 2-7 in Atlantic Coast Football League competition, play a back-to-back series starting Saturday night with the Long Island Bulls, an affiliate of the New York Giants of the NFL.

The Giants journey to Long Island for a night game and return for the final home game of the season, against the Bulls, Nov. 15 at Veteran's Memorial Stadium for an 8 p.m. game under the lights.

The Giants end their season the following week when they journey to Bridgeport to play the Jets, the farm team of the World Champion New York Jets.



The Giants lost another heart breaker last Saturday night when the Richmond Roadrunners [affiliated with the New Orleans Saints] edged them 21-17 on a third-period touchdown pass from Ronnie South [Arkansas] to Dave McDaniels [Miss. Valley]. It broke a 14-14 tie. The Giants managed only a later fourth period field goal by soccer-style kicker from Brazil, Gus Carias.

Quincy lost one of its better defensive players when John [Bull] Cagle of Clemson was recalled by the Parent Boston Patriots and the expected arrival of replacement Mel Witt [Arlington State, Texas] did not occur. Also missing was the stellar play of cornerback Willie Porter, another Patriots cab squad member. He was out with a slight injury.

Coach Ross O'Hanley of the Giants noted, "Losing these two players hurt us defensively and we weren't able to contain the running game of Richmond the way I would have liked. We were hurt by young Isaac Brown [18 years old] the fine Richmond halfback.

"We hope to add Witt to our squad this week, and if he signs this will help us defensively. Tom Tyler [H.C.] our quarterback hurt his wrist in the third period in a pileup, and Don Allard [B.C.] who has a bad back took his place and wasn't able to move the club too well.

We're hoping to get back in the winning column Saturday night against Long Island and haven't given up hope by a long shot, of winning the remainder of our last three games. If we can do this we'll have a foundation to build on for next season. We've lost some close games, but the team has been improving every week, and you can't ask for more than that except a win."

GIANTS TACKLE PAUL FELDHAUSEN

Presidents Division Champs

Quincy, North Soccer Teams Wrap Up Memorable Seasons

The Quincy and North Quincy soccer seasons, which came to an end last week, won't soon be forgotten, especially by the Presidents' followers.

Quincy, which won 11 games in a row following an opening day 5-0 loss to South Shore Association champion Duxbury, topped North Quincy, 3-1, in the final league game to win the Association's Division One title. Quincy needed the win or at least a tie because a North win would have thrown the division into a tie necessitating a playoff between the Presidents and Raiders.

The win gave Quincy an 11-1 league record, one of its finest, and North a final 9-3 mark, also one of its best, the only other losses being to Quincy, 3-2, and Duxbury, 1-0.

Quincy then met Duxbury, Division Two winner for the third year in a row, and forced the Green Dragons into five overtime periods before their high scoring sensation, Mark McEvoy, scored on a penalty kick in sudden death as darkness was falling and Duxbury had a 3-2 victory and another state tourney berth.

Quincy, on goals by Al Lavoie and Rich Brown, had a 2-1 lead with only four minutes remaining in regulation time but McEvoy scored the second of his three goals to send the game into overtime and it looked for a while as though the game would never end.

Although happy over the win, Duxbury coach Foster Cass, lamented the fact Quincy wouldn't be in the tournament.

"It is a shame for a team to win 11 straight games like Quincy did, win its division and still not make the tourney," he said. "I feel very sorry for Ron Martin and his boys. I think our playoff game should be for the league title only and the winner of each division should qualify for the tourney. I am writing to the tourney director requesting such a rule and I know many others are doing the same thing."

"I feel sorry for our players but a rule is a rule and there is nothing you can do," Martin said. "I am extremely proud of my boys, they had a marvelous season and every one of them should be proud."

In the vital win over North, Bruce Carlson scored his 13th goal, Vin Bertrand his 11th and LaVoie, another high scorer, the other, while Steve Jakub's goal gave North a short-lived lead in the second period.

Dave D'Olimpio was outstanding in goal for Quincy and turned in one of his finest performances of the year against Duxbury with 17 saves, many of the spectacular variety.

This was the second year as Quincy coach for Martin, a native of Scotland and a former soccer star himself.

"This year we were able to score, something we had difficulty doing last year," Ron said. "We made a few lineup changes after our first few games. We averaged about four goals a game and scored 42 for the season and allowed only 18, so our defense was pretty stingy."

Carlson was the leading scorer with Bertrand second and LaVoie right behind. All are fast and excellent ball handlers.

Other starters who kept Quincy going were Jim McGuire, Rich Brown, Gustav Dano, Craig Simpson, Paul Ecklund, Nevio Cardarelli, Russ Barry and Nick Conderlos.

North's veteran coach George Golding also had reason to be proud of his fine team.

"The boys did a wonderful job and going into the final game with Quincy were just two goals away from an unbeaten season," he said.

"They outplayed Duxbury most of the game but just couldn't put the ball past their goalie, who allowed only one goal all season until the playoff with Quincy.

"We had a real strong line, better than average halfbacks, the fullbacks were outstanding and Don Gilliland was terrific in goal for us." He had three shutouts and played part-time in a fourth.

Dave Haight led the Raiders in scoring with 14 goals and eight assists and junior George Bourikas, a native of Greece, had nine goals and six assists. Tim Flynn had five goals and five assists and Jakub three goals and an assist. Jakub alternated with Peter Davis.

Other starters were Steve Mullaney, George Vulgaris, Tom O'Malley, Vin Cameron, Bob O'Neil, George McCall and Ray Doherty. Others who did well were Max Rockman, Mike Delaney and Bob Golden.

Giants May Lose $75,000 This Year

According to Bob Hotin, president of the Quincy Giants, professional football is an expensive business. Not only on the major league level, but also closer to home, on the minor league one.

In the ACFL every team carries an active roster of 36 players with a lot of activating and deactivating, depending on the caliber and what players are available. These players earn anywhere between $75 to $300 per game based on position, experience and ability.

Hotin expects to and probably will lose $75,000 with the Quincy team this year. But he is not discouraged. He has long-range plans for the franchise that include a tryout camp next June in Andover, an active campaign during the winter and spring to sell season tickets and special interest groups to support the team, and the acquisition of better players before next season make the team a more competitive one for Quincy and South Shore fans.

"ACFL teams," said Hotin, "receive no guarantee of any kind when playing away from home. Therefore a home team must pay for two weeks expenses out of a home game - the week of the home game and the following weeks game on the road."

Hotin calculates that expenses run about $8,000 for a two-week period, which do not include front-office salaries, trainer, equipment man, physician, office expenses and rent, supplies, stadium rental, lights, etc.

For a 12-game season in the ACFL, plus pre-season it costs the better part of a million dollars in expenses. The only substantial sources of revenue are gate ticket sales and program sales and advertising.

New Quincy Team Enters Mass. Junior Hockey Loop

A new Quincy team will enter the Mass. Junior Hockey League this winter, joining the Weymouth Jr. Bruins and will play its games at the Weymouth Skating Club.

The Quincy team is actually the franchise that was based in Lynn but didn't receive much fan support, forcing the move to Quincy.

Bob Colman of Colman's Sporting Goods is taking over the sponsorship and points out he is doing it to "fill the gap."

"There are programs for young boys like Pee Wee and Bantam hockey and if a boy doesn't play high school hockey or even after he is through with high school hockey, he becomes a forgotten person," he explained.

"This team will fill a gap for those kids and the young men up to about 21 years of age can play. We feel that with the close proximity of the Weymouth and Quincy teams we really could get up some interest in this thing."

The team will be coached by Rick Golden, who has already started practice at Weymouth. The league season gets underway in a few weeks.

Apache Football Team Awards Dinner Nov. 14

The Apache Football Club will hold its fifth annual awards dinner on Nov. 14 at 6:30 p.m. in the Knights of Columbus Hall at Hancock St. and Hollis Ave.

Francis [Bud] Williams of the Apache Parents Club urged all players and parents to attend the family style turkey dinner followed by presentation of awards and jackets.

Attardo Wins Tournament

Tony Attardo of Quincy topped a 60-man field to win the October South Shore Bowlers Association tournament at Boston Bowl in Dorchester.

Attardo, who averages 192 in Massachusetts Classic Major League play, won four two-game elimination matches en route to the championship.

Institute To Study Reading Problems Of Youngsters

The Quincy School Department will hold a two-day institute on "Helping Children With Reading Problems" today and Friday at the Sheraton Motor Inn, North Quincy.

The institute is co-sponsored by AIDE [American Institute for Developmental Education].

Attending will be 100 reading teachers, supervisors, and administrators from Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

Mayor James R. McIntyre and Dr. Lawrence F. Creedon, Superintendent of Schools, will welcome the participants.

Dr. Walter B. Barbe, reading expert, with the University of Pittsburgh will be the professional reader. Dr. Barbe is the director of several university reading clinics and author of "Educating Children with Learning Disabilities."

The goal of the Institute is to help the participants to identify, understand and successfully teach children with reading problems. Topics to be presented are causes of specific reading problems, teaching and learning styles, materials, and techniques to promote reading.

The following Quincy teachers of reading will attend: Miss Doris Ashley, Mr. Peter Bizinkauskas, Mrs. Isabel Kriska, Miss Antoinette Minerva, Mr. Peter Murray, and Miss Sylvia Wedul.

William L. Phinney, Assistant superintendent for instruction in Quincy Public Schools, will serve as the Dean of the Institute.

Brett Seeks Addition, Swimming Pool At Shea Skating Rink

A comprehensive plan for development of the Shea Skating Rink area in West Quincy has been filed in the legislature by Rep. Joseph E. Brett, [D-Quincy] for consideration next year.

The plan would encompass the building of an addition to the present skating rink for the restricted use of children up to and including 12 years of age. Adult chaperones would be permitted to use the rink when accompanying children.

The second part of the plan would be the construction of a swimming pool adjacent to the parking lot of the present facilities.

of an 8-to-10 room, plus supportive services, addition to the Furnace Brook School, relief will be given to over-crowding in the following elementary schools: Cranch, Gridley Bryant, Massachusetts Fields, Willard, Wollaston, Montclair and Furnace Brook."

In 1960, he said, the combined enrollment of these seven schools was 2,712. As of last Oct. 1, enrollment in the seven schools reached 3,185.

"This is a pupil growth of 473 students," he said. "On a ratio of 25 students per classroom, we need ultimately 27 additional classrooms to care for the additional 473 students.

"The addition at the Furnace

"The addition at the Furnace Brook School, while by no means solving the total problem at the elementary level, will serve to relieve a good portion of it."

He said an addition to the Furnace Brook School would not allow officials to consider the closing or phasing out of any existing elementary school.

"To the contrary," he told Mayor McIntyre, "additional construction beyond that now being requested in Squantum, Lincoln-Hancock and Furnace Brook is needed at both the elementary as well as the high school levels."

Dr. Creedon noted that the Arthur D. Little Report in 1966 concluded that the entire physical plant of the Quincy public schools was capable of housing 14,500 students.

As of Oct. 1, he said, student enrollment–kindergarten through grade 12–reached an all time high of 16,948.

Beware Of Unscrupulous Tradesmen, Warns QMBA

Unscrupulous building tradesmen are on the prowl for unsuspecting homeowners, the Quincy Master Builders Association warns.

Use extreme caution when hiring tradesmen to do work on your property, says Roger Lyons, secretary of the QMBA.

Four key works in hiring builders and repairmen are, stress-

LICENSE: Most work done on the premises require a licensed man. This can be verified by his showing his card, which he carries, issued by the Building Inspector. Many small jobs do not require a permit, but the license shows qualification for the work by listing alphabetically his specific license grade.

INSURANCE: The Tradesman should be properly insured to protect the customer from liability because of property damage or liability from personal injury. The insurance company, upon request of the tradesman, will issue a certificate of insurance free of charge for the customers benefit.

DEPENDABLE: The Tradesman should be relied upon to start and finish the work in a reasonable length of time. He should not have to draw money in advance because of poor credit, and should stand behind his work. Beware of the man to insists on CASH.

ESTABLISHED: He should have a full name, address and telephone number, where you can be assured you can reach him; not just a first name, or an unlisted telephone number, or an answering service.

If in doubt, call the Chamber of Commerce, Better Business Bureau, Building Inspector's office or the Quincy Master Builders Association for information.

Any persons feeling that an injustice in the building profession has been exercised upon them should feel free to notify the Quincy Master Builders Association in writing to discuss the problem.

SMYTH'S PACKAGE STORE proprietor J. Vincent Smyth [right] and Edgar Durkee are shown in front of a display advertising Smyth's new pricing policy.

Smyth's Package Store includes among its services free city-wide delivery. Simply by dialing 472-7320 from any location in Quincy a customer may have any of a complete line of beers or liquors delivered to his door, from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

The Smyths have been commercially located at 66 Newbury Ave. for almost a half century. "In February we will have been here 50 years," says J. Vincent Smyth proprietor of the store.

"My father immigrated to Quincy prior to World War I. He then served with the Yankee Division in Europe during that conflict," said Smyth. "He returned from the service in 1920 and decided to open a grocery store. In 1935 we got a liquor license. That portion of our business did so well that we decided to deal solely in beers and liquors."

Smyth's Package Store has grown to include a complete line of foreign and domestic beers and liquors. "We try to cater to as many tastes as possible," said Smyth. "Our stock includes imported French, Portuguese and Italian wines and also German and Dutch beers such as Lowenbrau and Heinekens, plus all of the domestic stand-bys.

Smyth's Package Store's extensive hours and delivery service reflect a sincere attempt to more than cater to the needs of their customers.

Notes Smyth, "If our huge inventory can't satisfy our patrons we will do everything possible to get what they desire."

C.P.P. Hopes To Bring Congressman Burke Home In Peace Move Nov. 13

Quincy's Citizens For Participation Politics hope to bring U. S. Rep. James A. Burke back to the city Nov. 13 as part of the nation - wide "Bring Your Congressman Home" campaign.

The C.P.P., reports coordinator John L. Gillis of 122 Taylor St., Wollaston, has reserved the Quincy High School auditorium for a 7 p.m. confrontation.

The group, he said, wants to discuss with Burke three interrelated questions: withdrawal of troops from Vietnam, defense appropriations and conversion to peacetime economy.

"Bring Your Congressman Home" is a follow-up to the Oct. 13 Moratorium Day observance.

Gillis, a recent candidate for Ward 5 City Councillor said the discussion will be held in an orderly fashion and will be presented in the form of a panel discussion.

Burke would be joined on the podium by several political figures from the Greater Boston area who have displayed anti-war sentiment. Professor John Letvin of M.I.T., will also speak.

Following the program the Citizens for Participation will board buses for a trip to Washington, D.C. for a massive rally for peace.

New 'Toys For Tots' Drop-Off

"Toys For Tots" may be dropped off at the Marine Corps Recruiting office in the Quincy Post Office building, Washington St., Quincy Center.

Because of a personnel reduction, the Marine Corps this year will be unable to pick up donated toys at Quincy fire stations, the customary drop-off points in past years.

10 Firefighters With 243 Years Service To Be Honored Nov.-13

Ten firefighters will be honored for a combined service of 243 years at the 12th annual Retirement Banquet of the Quincy Fire Department Nov. 13 at 7 p.m. at the Morrisette Legion Post, West Quincy.

Lt. Nunzio L. Cirillo is the dinner chairman.

Principal speaker will be Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, Superintendent of Quincy Schools.

Two recent retired firefighters to be honored are Daniel H. Keniley and William A. McGunagle.

Keniley served in the fire department for 21 years, from Feb. 14, 1948 to April 4, 1969 with various companies and as a Fire Alarm Operator.

McGunagle served 22 years from Jan. 1947 to June 27, 1969 with Engines 1, 3 and 6.

Eight members of the department will receive 25 year service awards:

Deputy Chief William J. Barron, Lt. Joseph P. Mahesti, Lt. James McGuire, Lt. Robert J. Granahan, Lt. Peter J. Cooke, Lt. Bruno Carloni and firefighters Gerald A. Burns and Albert D. Godfrey.

169 From Quincy Are Employed At Carney Hospital

Carney Hospital has some words of comfort for those who are complaining about the high cost of getting sick.

Costs are rising, admits Sister Frances Michael, administrator of the 336-bed hospital in Dorchester, but she adds:

"The average stay in the hospital is becoming shorter and shorter as care and treatment methods progress.'.

In addition, she points out, two-thirds of the hospital's 1,288 employees are local residents [including 169 who live in Quincy] and contribute their paychecks to the area economy.

Daily room rates at Carney are $71 and $68 for a private room, $62 for a semi-private room, and $60 for a four-bed room. The rates have increased about $4 a day recently.

Assault Ship Portland To Be Christened Here Dec. 20

The U. S. amphibious assault support ship Portland, named in honor of the cities of Portland, Me., and Portland, Ore., will be christened Dec. 20 at the General Dynamics Quincy shipyard.

The Portland is the first of four ships in the Navy's new dock landing ship [LSD] class to be built at Quincy.

Designated LSD-37 by the Navy, the Portland is designed to carry heavy landing craft, combat vehicles and a limited number of troops and to discharge them rapidly from her decks during amphibious assaults.

A unique feature of the vessel and her sister ships is a floodable well deck, similar to a drydock, which will permit small craft to sail into and from her interior for cargo handling and repair purposes.

The Portland is 555 feet long and has a beam of 84 feet. She will have a full-load displacement of 13,650 tons. Her keel was laid Sept. 21, 1967, in a building basin in which the Pensacola [LSD-38] also is under construction.

After the christening ceremony, the Portland will be brought to a shipyard outfitting pier for completion. She is scheduled for delivery to the Navy in 1970.

Jaycees To Distribute March Of Dimes Cannisters

As part of their program of service to the community, the Quincy Jaycees will assist this year's March of Dimes campaign by placing coin cannisters in stores throughout the city, announces Thomas Monaco, activities chairman for the Quincy Club.

"Throughout the year", he said, "The Quincy Jaycees try to help as many groups as possible with their own programs and as January is traditionally March of Dimes month, it is only fitting that we give them our help this time of the year".

Monaco noted that this year is especially significant to the March of Dimes as a result of the newly licensed German measles vaccine.

"More than 10,000 babies annually will now be spared the tradgedy of birth defects thanks to this vaccine and the March of Dimes", he said. "it was the impetus created by the March of Dimes that lead to its development and the March of Dimes feels confident that in the future more answers to the problems of birth defects will be found.

Taking A Bow . . .

UP FRONT--Taking its bow, a 67-tonner, is the U. S. Navy dock landing ship Portland, under construction at General Dynamics', Quincy Division. She will be christened in honor of the cities of Portland, Me., and Portland, Ore., Dec. 20. The 555-foot Portland is the first of four sister ships, designed to support amphibious assaults, to be built at the Quincy yard.

1,600 "Vandal Proof" Meters Sought

'No Fix' System Urged By Finn

Police Chief Francis X. Finn is recommending a "No Fix" parking violation ticket system and the installation of 1,600 "Vandal Proof" parking meters in downtown and other areas of the city.

In a communication to Mayor James R. McIntyre, Chief Finn declared:

–The present ticket system is "cumbersome and inefficient" leaving the city plagued with parking problems despite 12,000 citations issued last year.

–The new 1,600 meters to replace present "worn" ones would stop looting and jamming resulting in more revenue for the city.

"I am giving Chief Finn's recommendations very serious consideration," said Mayor McIntyre.

"Traffic is becoming one of our greatest problems and will increase with the construction of the MBTA rapid transit extension."

The Mayor said another major step to the problem would be the creation of a Traffic Commission.

"We have to have a Traffic Commission and give it power to cope with the enforcement and professional aspects of this problem."

McIntyre said the doubling of revenue in the 500 vandal-proof meters installed this year in the Ross parking area "justifies the purchase of these meters and more in the future."

"The entire city is plagued with illegal parking problems," Finn informed Mayor McIntyre. "Violations range from overtime in metered areas, violation of the corner laws and all night parking in violation of the city ordinance.

"We issued 12,000 parking citations last year and still the problem grows."

He said the ticket system now in use "is cumbersome and inefficient and should be streamlined."

The so-called visual "No Fix" system now used in Boston, Milton, Cambridge and other cities seems to be much more effective, he said.

Under that system, violaters are not required to bring the ticket to the police station.

Instead, they may either mail or bring the fine to the district courthouse.

"These tickets are strictly audited and the officers are held strictly accountable for all tickets issued to them," Chief Finn noted.

Mayor To Department Heads- 'Keep Budget Requests Lean'

Mayor James R. McIntyre has told his department heads to keep their 1970 budget requests "as lean as possible" to help next year's tax rate.

McIntyre, at a conference with the department heads, asked them to "prune your budgets to the core" before submitting them to him.

"I don't want any unecessary items," he said. "Keep it lean — No Fat".

The Mayor said he made the request to head off a possible high tax rate increase next year and because of the possibility of a court order to force implementation of revaluation figures.

He said he is also urging the School Department to recognize the present high tax rate of $116.40 — a $17.50 hike over that of 1968.

He said that almost $10.00 of the $17.50 hike was due to increased school department expenditures.

"The Mayor and City Council has no control over the School Department budget," he noted. "All I can do is ask the School Committee to keep the school requests to necessities."

The 1969 city budget is a record high of $34,594,682.

McIntyre slashed $2.6 million from the original department requests and the City Council's Finance Committee trimmed another $286,594.

New Quincy Registry Office Open For Business Nov. 17

The new Registry of Motor Vehicles Quincy Branch hailed as another major asset for the City, will open November 17.

"The new building will serve Quincy and 13 other South Shore communities," notes Mayor James R. McIntyre. "It will bring a lot of new business into the downtown area."

The self-paying building, located off Sea Street behind the Quincy Police Station, was built by the city at a cost of $227,000.

The Registry will lease it from the city over a 10-year period at an annual fee of $29,350.

"Over the 10-year lease," notes McIntyre, "the building will be completely paid for at no cost to the city. It will then return a profit to the city annually."

The old Registry Office on Hancock Street has long been cramped and out-moded.

"By constructing the new building," said McIntyre, "we have kept the Registry Office in Quincy and will bring more business to the city".

"Because of its modern construction, it will enable the Registry to better serve motorists from Quincy and the 13 other communities".

Zoning Hearing For 194 Dwelling Units Nov. 20

The Quincy Planning Board will hold a public hearing November 20th at 7:30 p.m. in the City Council Chamber at City Hall.

Purpose of the meeting is to consider a proposed change in zoning from land located on the southerly side of Quincy Shore Drive between North Street and Tirrell Street, reports Rev. Bednos Baharian, board chairman.

The Planned Unit Development proposed 194 dwelling units on about six acres of land, with 292 parking spaces.

'Bridging The Gap' Education Week Theme

"Bridging The Gap" is the theme of an Education Week exhibit by the North Quincy High School work-study group.

The exhibit, in the window of the Massachusetts Department of Employment Security, Quincy Center, depicts the transition between school and work.

Included are photographs and other materials showing the educational and vocational opportunities available to students in the program.

Among the photographs are those showing North pupils studying individually and in small groups at the Norfolk Downs Branch of the Thomas Crane Library, temporary location of their classes. Other pictures show the early entry into industry with pupils on the job at several Quincy businesses. Also on display are new instructional materials, work products and information about the pupuls' community projects.

The exhibit was designed by Deborah Wye, a senior at the high school.

Zoning Appointees By Mayor

Mayor James R. McIntyre has named a new alternate member to the Zoning Board of Appeals and has added two more members to a committee that is studying new zoning laws and land use patterns.

Anthony G. Sandonato of 11 Hitchcock Terrace, assistant construction engineer on structures for the State Department of Public Works was named to the Board of Appeals.

New members of the zoning study committee are Owen J. Eaton of 79 Whiton Ave. and James R. Hanlon of 45 Woodcliff Road. The Rev. Bedros Baharian of Quincy Point Congregational Church is chairman.

Sandonato, a native of Quincy and a graduate in civil engineering of Northeastern, has worked for the DPW since 1949. He was resident engineer for the Neponset Circle section of the Southeast Expressway.

Married with two children, he is on the board of directors of the Archbishop Williams High School Men's Association and is president of the St. John's Holy Name Bowling League.

Downtown Valuation $20 Million

The assessed valuation of the 90 acres of land that make up the downtown Quincy District business is approximately $20 million.

Actual value per lot ranges from 50 cents to $13 a square foot.

Dates Set For Christmas Mail Going Overseas

Planning on sending "civilian" Christmas packages, cards or letters overseas?

George K. Walker, Officer-in-Charge of the Boston Postal District advises that they should be sent by the following dates to assure delivery in time.

CANADA AND MEXICO - Surface packages, Dec. 5; Air packages, Dec. 16.

SOUTH AND CENTRAL AMERICA - Surface packages, Nov. 15; Air packages, Dec. 14.

EUROPE - Surface packages, Nov. 15; Air packages, Dec. 14,

AFRICA - NEAR EAST - FAR EAST - Air packages, Dec. 10.

Letters and greeting cards should be mailed no later than five days after the above dates for delivery in other countries before Christmas.

The above mailing dates relate to letters and packages sent to civilians only and are not to be confused with date deadlines published previously for mailings to Armed Force members overseas.

For further information on any of these mailing dates, call your local post office.

Sunbeams

They're off and running for the City Council presidency.

Six of the nine councillors are busy behind scenes trying to put together the necessary five votes for the honor of banging the gavel at the 1970 council meetings.

The contenders are present Council President J. Vincent Smyth, George B. McDonald, John J. Quinn, Arthur Tobin, Clifford H. Marshall and Albert R. Barilaro.

Several of them reportedly are considering themselves the "Compromise candidate" in the event no one can put the necessary five votes together come Inaugural Day, 1970.

Barilaro is looked upon as the "dark horse" candidate with Mc Donald, Tobin and Quinn the front-runners at the moment, and Marshall in strong contention.

Some City Hall observers think there will be a deadlock and that Smyth may wind up holding onto the gavel for another two years.

They can't remember, though, when a Council president succeeded himself.

* * *

HERE'S ONE: The telephone rang in the Quincy High School office the other day. On the line was an apparent working mother, with this request:

"Will you please dismiss my son—at noon today? Our kitten has worms and the doctor feels it is from malnutrition. Will you tell—to give him baby rice cereal and baby strained peas and milk? Tell him to be sure to serve it at room temperature."

Quite a request. But the school didn't have to make a decision to whether to dismiss him or not.

He had played hookey that day.

* * *

LOOKING AHEAD: Observers figure that Atty. William D. Delahunt who lost to Ward 5 Councillor Walter J. Hannon by a scant 46 votes last week, will make a bid against him for state representative next year.

* * *

OVER THERE: Pfc. Francis X. Moran, of Houghs Neck, in Vietnam with the 124th Signal Battalion, Civil Affairs Team, 4th Infantry Division, has appealed to friends here to send clothing and shoes to children in Vietnam.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Moran of 103 Darrow St., he recently sent a letter to The Houghs Neck Community Council Bulletin. An excerpt tells it how it really is over there:

"These children need shoes, socks and clothes. They need a start. They need to be taken out of the garbage heap and put among the ranks of God's children."

* * *

APPRECIATION: Adas Shalom Women can now say they've been in jail. The girls were invited to dinner at the Norfolk County House of Correction by Sheriff Charles W. Hedges in appreciation for donations of articles to inmates there. The girls, who were also taken on a tour of the jail were: Edna Canter, Evelyn Faunce, Martha Cohen, Sonia Atkinson and Priscilla Waters.

* * *

A MOUTHFUL: Quote from the South-West Community Council newsletter: "Better to try something...And fail in the deed...Than try to do nothing...And always succeed."

* * *

THE ONE AND only Bill Veeck breezes into town Nov. 25 to speak to residents at the 1000 Southern Artery housing facility. Veeck, president of Suffolk Downs and former owner of three major league baseball teams, is one of the most entertaining speakers you'll ever listen to. In fact, when he winds up his anecdote-spiced talk, you wish he would go on for another hour or so.

* * *

SPEAKING of 1000 Southern Artery, construction of the new South Wing has passed the 53 per cent completion mark. The exterior brick work is virtually completed.

The structure, in addition to providing more needed housing accomodations for the senior citizen set, will be a handsome addition to the Quincy Point scene.

* * *

OVERHEARD: "Trouble with most people who long for the good old days is that they assume they would still have hot and cold running water, electricity, television and today's salary.

Exam Dates Set To Fill 38 Firefighter And 8 Lieutenant Openings

Dates have been set for Civil Service examinations to fill openings for 38 firefighters and eight lieutenants to implement the Quincy Fire Department's new 42-hour work week next spring.

The dates announced by Deputy Chief Thomas F. Maguire, head of department personnel: Lieutenant, Dec. 13. Firefighter, Jan. 17.

Maguire said an examination for promotion to captain has also been set for Feb. 21.

This is being held to fill the vacancy that will occur when Capt. Daniel Munkley retires next year.

"There may be other openings due to retirement vacancies from which those taking these Civil Service examinations will be selected," Maguire said.

The 42-hour work week will go into effect next May. The department has been working a 48-hour week since 1948. Prior to that the department was on a 70-hour week.

'Christmas In Vietnam' Names Deadline Saturday

The deadline for Quincy's "Christmas in Vietnam" gift package campaign is Saturday.

Names and addresses of Quincy men and women in Vietnam must be submitted to the Veterans Services Department by then for them to receive fruit cake and hard candy gift packages for Christmas.

Veterans Services Director William L. Villoné, coordinator for the campaign, asks that names and addresses be sent to: Department of Veterans Services, 1245 Hancock St., Quincy.

Last year, 216 packages were sent to Quincy men and women stationed in Vietnam. But thus far the names of only 50 have been submitted to receive the packages this year.

City employees have donated $1 each to cover purchase and mailing costs for the campaign, the fourth annual held by the city.

The city has an airmail deadline of Dec. 1 to guarantee delivery of the packages in time for Christmas.

Here Comes The Bride

By Mabelle

The bride usually goes down the aisle on her father's right arm, although either arm is correct. By taking his right arm Dad can easily step into the pew beside Mom. This also avoids stepping over the train.

* * *

You may include the attendants fiancee' or spouse at the head table if it doesn't make the table too large or omit one of the attendants. Or you may have a special table for the mates.

Today the parents usually sit at a table of their own with the clergyman and special guests.

* * *

When sending your write-up to the newspaper be sure to give a release date.

Remember all brides, true to tradition, your bridegroom must leave no later than midnight the day before the wedding. In the case of a bride who comes from out of state the groom's parents may give a reception.

* * *

Champagne is the toast used most often. It is served through out the meal at the head table. But only for toasts at the other tables. The best man gives the first toast to the bridal couple. They do not drink the toast, but smile their thanks. A domestic champagne can be iced longer than French and few people can tell the difference.

Come, Let Us Reason Together

By Dr. William F. Knox
Personal Counselor

'Adjustments That Don't Stay Adjusted'

"What's happened?"...I asked "Things seemed to be going so well a few weeks ago...what went wrong?" I had seen this couple for several months...they had had real problems...she was a poor housekeeper...he was a drinker. Naturally they had relationship problems. Now she was back to see the counselor...heartsick.... feeling guilty but unable to get the relationship back on the tracks.

For a while her housekeeping improved significantly. He practically stopped his drinking. I didn't know which caused the other...her poor housekeeping or his drinking. Nor did I know which caused the improvement... her better housekeeping or his reduced drinking. It's often the question of which comes first... "the chicken or the egg."

In this situation we were dealing in each with a long standing problem. She never had been neat and orderly...she was sloppy as a little girl...lived in a sloppy home...it didn't worry her...she was used to it. I once went to this home. I literally had to step over the piled up bottles, the old newspapers and trash near the back door. Every room was really dirty. There was no semblance of order. Even the children were half clothed and dirty. It was a real mess.

He said..."It's awful to come home too.that's why I drink...I just can't stand the mess when I'm sober." Of course, we all know that an excessive drinker uses all kinds of excuses for himself...but this guy had a real one. ..."I'd drink too if I had to live in that mess"...said one of his neighbors.

Temporarily they saw things as they really were...a mess. The outward behavior revealed their inner condition of confusion... frustration and discouragement. We worked out a schedule for her housekeeping chores. As long as she followed that schedule her housekeeping got better.

We got him to take an interest in helping with the trash... the bottles...the newspapers..even to bathing the baby a few times ...to bowling with the older boy. For a time they got out of the defeating patterns. But...it didn't last. The adjustments didn't stay adjusted. Why not?

For one reason they changed against their wills...they changed to please the counselor. Their changes were his suggestions... not theirs. It was outward healing, not inward. They didn't really want to change.

For another reason.....these people had never learned to think...and you can't run a home or a marriage without thinking and seeing how your behavior affects your partner. Rather than taking the responsibility for their own actions, they blamed each other. That's a sure sign of immaturity. The "child" in each of them was dictating to the adult man/woman. They had not become "parent" to themselves. That's why they responded...like children they could "follow orders" but they couldn't think.

No two situations are alike... but something like this is happening to you...you recognized a problem...made an adjustment ...but then slipped back. And as the old pattern returned your marriage happiness diminished. So what do you do?

START OVER. Admit the temporary failure...take a hitch in your belt...ask your partner's forgiveness for the new hurts...' ask his/her help for a new adjustment. Then keep the controls on...whether your eating... your drinking...your housekeeping...your spending...your cutting tongue...whatever your inadequacy. Discipline that "child" within you. If he/she has his/her own way,' you can't have the warm adult relationship you cherish.

FOR YOUR COMMENTS: Call Dr. Knox at 326-5990, or 545-5947, or 945-9800, or write him at 628 High Street, Dedham, Mass. 02026

Inter-Faith Marriage Course Continues

"Why Belong To Any Church?" will be the subject of the third in a series of pre-marital courses for couples of inter-Christian religious affiliations Sunday at 4 p.m. at St. Ann's Youth Center, St. Ann's Road, Wollaston.

The discussion will be led by Rev. Frank E. Fairbairn of the Sacred Heart Church and Rev. Douglas M. MacIntosh, Memorial Congregational Church.

The program, held for the first time last spring, is designed for couples in the Quincy area who are planning marriage within the next six months. All couples of inter-Christian denominations who are planning marriage between now and July of next year are invited to attend the course in preparation for their marriage. Recently married couples are also welcome and are encouraged to attend and assist in the discussion sessions.

The final session in the series "What Is Christian Maturity?" headed by Rev. Edward P. Geary, Our Lady of Good Counsel Church and Rev. Bertil E. Hult, Salem Lutheran Church, will be held November 23rd.

Rev. Harold G. Landwehr Leaves Bethany Congregational Dec. 12

Rev. Harold G. Landwehr, Jr., associate minister of Bethany Church for the past two and a-half years, has resigned to accept a post in the team ministry of the Trinitarian Congregational Church of Scituate.

Rev. Landwehr's resignation, effective Dec. 12, was accepted by the Administrative Committee at a special meeting.

N.Q. Catholic Women's Club To Attend Memorial Mass

The Catholic Women's Club of North Quincy will attend a Memorial Mass, Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at Sacred Heart Church.

Mrs. Thomas Albison of 40 Virginia Road, president of the Club will conduct the business meeting following the Mass. Mrs. John Mullaney, chairman of the evening will present "Ceramics", by Mary M. McColgan and "Christmas Decorations" from Quincy Garden Center.

Refreshments will be served. The membership list is still open.

ORT Sabbath Observance At Temple Beth El Friday

The Jewish community will observe ORT Sabbath 1969 Friday, at Temple Beth El, 1001 Hancock St., at 8 p.m. with Rabbi David Jacobs as guest speaker.

In special services similar to hundreds of others throughout the nation, a tribute will be paid to the global vocational education and training program of ORT [Organization for Rehabilitation through Training].

Mrs. Barton Kramer is committee chairman.

Mrs. Arthur Andelman, President of the Granite Chapter said that ORT Sabbath:

"Is a time during which we offer our thanks for what the ORT program has been able to achieve during the nearly nine decades of its existence. ORT's networks have contributed to the rehabilitation of more than a million uprooted, deprived and persecuted Jews in many countries of the world. But in addition to the thanks we offer, we also rededicate ourselves to the challenges and tasks that lie before us.

"More than ever before," she continued, "the world sees the necessity for, and importance of vocational education and training. Through our schools, people dependent on charity are able to become free, secure and dignified citizens of the societies in which they live.

"ORT's more than 600 vocational installations in 22 countries on five continents, comprise a kind of international school system, a system that has trained more than a million people since its inception in 1880.

"ORT's operations build the lives of individuals and the economic fabric of nations alike ORT networks are proving instrumental in developing the most precious resource of all – the human."

Women's American ORT is the largest of the groups in 38 nations supporting the global ORT program. It has 85,000 members in nearly 700 Chapters throughout the United States.

Quincy Population Seen 100,000 By 1980

Quincy's population appears to be on its way to the 100,000 mark by 1980 bringing with it multi-million dollar extra purchasing power.

"I really think we will reach—or maybe even pass that figure in the next 10 years", says William A. O'Connell, executive vice-president of the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

He points to the fact that the population—now estimated at 88,500—has been growing at a 1,000 a year clip the past three years.

The 88,500 represent a total effective purchasing power of $283 million according to a survey by Sales Management Magazine. Per capita power is $3,020.

An additional 11,500 residents to bring Quincy to a 100,000 population would mean $34.5 million more purchasing power based on today's average wage figures, notes O'Connell.

But, he says, it should mean much more.

Many of those moving into the city will be in high income brackets, he explains, in top level jobs in some of the new industrial and commercial firms locating here.

Two such places, are the $6 million Hazeltine electronics plant now under construction at Echo Lake and the $100 million State Street South residential-commercial complex to be built by State Street Bank and Trust Co. in the Montclair Marsh area.

In addition to this, the MBTA Quincy extension will bring more luxury apartment construction and more residents in the upper income brackets.

"All of this could add up to an extra $100 million purchasing power in the next 10 years," says O'Connell.

In addition to this, of course, salaries of present residents are on the upswing.

The effective purchasing power of Quincy residents has been increasing at a $20 million per year rate the past three years.

"Growth is healthy," says O'Connell. "But it should not be done without planning. We should plan for a balanced growth."

New zoning laws, he says, should provide opportunities for "diversified living" in Quincy.

"Apartment construction should be in certain areas of the city with close availability to mass transportation," he says. "I don't believe in sticking apartments up all over the city."

Despite the current and future apartment building boon, O'Connell says Quincy will retain its image as a city of "single family" homes.

He estimates that approximately 1,000 acres of undeveloped land will be developed in the next two or three years.

State Street South, the new Quincy District Courthouse, Hazeltine, the huge multi-million dollar Jordan Marsh distribution center under construction at the old Squantum Naval Air Station, the MBTA and the proposed $15 million Government Center will all have a beneficial affect on Quincy, O'Connell says.

"This progress," he says, "has come about because of teamwork on the part of the present city administration, other officials and the Chamber of Commerce."

But as Quincy moves forward, he believes it should not lose link with its past:

"We have a great historic heritage here in Quincy. "It was passed on to us and we cherish it. Now we must leave something for the next generation."

One major thing to leave would be a growth in culture, he believes.

"We must broaden and develop our cultural base."

We must provide a greater appreciation of culture right here. We cannot continue to rely on Boston for this."

He thinks that a new civic auditorium planned as part of the Government Center would give Quincy the opportunity to become a cultural leader as a showcase for fine music and the other arts.

A museum also would give a greater appreciation of Quincy's historic past.

"The future looks bright," says O'Connell. "We have a lot to look forward to in the years ahead. But we must grow carefully. We owe that to ourselves and to those who will come after us.

'No Fix' System Urged By Chief Finn

[Cont. from Page 1]

Fines collected at the courthouse are turned over to the city.

"I strongly urge adoption of this method," he told Mayor McIntyre.

But, he said, new parking meters are needed to go with the "No Fix" system.

"The parking meters in the Hancock parking area, the Della Chiesa parking area, along Hancock, Washington and Coddington streets and throughout the whole of Wollaston and Norfolk Downs are in a deplorable condition," he said.

He pointed out that the type meter in these areas is no longer manufactured and replacement parts are not available.

The bearings in the clocks are worn and egg shaped and frequently do not mesh properly, he said.

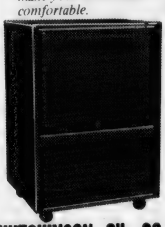
"The meters are easily opened by young people who use a simple filed down automobile key," he noted.

The Chief said that 27 meters in the Norfolk Downs area were recently found with broken automobile keys jammed in them.

Finn noted that 500 new meters have been installed in the Ross parking area this year and have doubled their previous receipts.

The new meters so-called "fool proof" are opened by a special key which is virtually impossible for looters to duplicate.

He said the old type meters are "very easy to open and to remove the money from them."



Finn added:

"I feel it [the old meters] is contributing to the delinquency of many youngsters who would perhaps not otherwise be involved in criminal acts."

He concluded:

"I strongly urge that with the adoption of a new "No Fix" parking system we replace the 1,600 worn meters in areas I previously mentioned.

"I feel that these meters would not only pay for themselves but would bring additional revenue into the city treasury if these recommendations are adopted."

Government Center Commission To Report Soon

The Quincy Government Center Commission is expected to report to the City Council soon on its studies of plans to build and tenant the proposed 14-story complex in Quincy Square.

"We're moving ahead," said Mayor James R. McIntyre. "This will be a catalyst for Quincy growth."

The five-member commission recently chose as its chairman Bernard V. Dill, executive director of the Massachusetts Purchasing Group. Other members of the commission named last month by Mayor McIntyre are:

The task of the commission is to formulate plans for building and acquiring tenants for the $10 to $15 million center and municipal auditorium which the Mayor envisions as self-supporting through rental of office space.

The Center would be adjacent to the present 125-year-old City Hall and the planned MBTA station. The first three floors would be reserved for the city of Quincy and the upper stories rented to other state and federal government agencies.

Now, just in time for the Holidays you can...

save on International flatware at South Shore National Bank

The pattern on the left: "Camelot," charmingly chivalrous in original Rogers silverplate. On the right: "Ventura," wonderfully contemporary in satin finish stainless. Both by International Silver of Meriden, Connecticut.

The catch: you've got to open a savings or checking account for $25 or more or add $25 or more to your present savings or checking account. Additional deposits of $25 or more, of course, allow you to buy additional place settings at the same low price.

The nice little touch: we give you your fifth place setting free. And after you've collected 12 place settings, we give you a set of six teaspoons free too.

"Completion Units" made up of things like serving spoons and butter knives, plus a beautiful storage chest are also available at similar savings with deposits of $25 or more. It pays to get your silver at our bank.

Former Drug Addicts Extend Helping Hands To Others

It is an exceptionally well written article for a young high school student on a subject of vital interest to his age group and to parents.]

By DONALD SWEENY

Ronald Riccardi, Christine Sharp, and Jud Rousseau have many things in common.

They are all in their 20's. They all enjoy working with people who need help. They are all living second, happier lives. They all belong to a Brighton self-help program.

And they are all former drug addicts.

Last Thursday the Willard School PTA held a meeting to discuss the drug problem in Quincy and the world today. The auditorium was full. Parents, teachers, high school and junior high school students were present to find answers to the many questions about drugs.

One thing learned at the meeting was that the Brighton YMCA is presently sponsoring a self-help program to aid people who want to get off the habit of usage of marijuana, hallucigenic drugs, and hard narcotics. The people who give aid to those who seek help are all former drug addicts or users. These people realize the great burden and hardship of trying to "split" the drug scene.

Riccardi, Miss Sharp and Rousseau are three people involved in the Brighton "Project Turnabout."

Riccardi, who has been off drugs for four years, is helping people such as Chris Sharp. She "cut out" of the drug world just the beginning of November, and is presently trying to put her life back together.

Jud Rousseau has been out of Bridgewater State Hospital since September, and he is now thinking of how fortunate he was to go to Bridgewater in preference to the State Prison. These three people were all at the Willard School that night; and they presented a very interesting program, which showed what it is like to live the life of a drug addict.

Here, are their presentations:

RICCARDI: "I am 29 years old. I used drugs for more than [illegible] years. I have been off [illegible] ur years. Between the [illegible] tting around [illegible] the Brockton streets, I drank when I was 12. My drinking led me on to trying grass [marijuana]. I liked it. I used it a lot.

"Soon I found myself shooting heroin and speed [methedrine]. I liked it and I became addicted. I don't know why I did. My brothers and sisters didn't. Most of the kids I hung with didn't.

"But I got hooked. When I first tried shooting heroin, I liked it. 'It was a cure all.' It cured my aches-emotional, physical, mental. It calmed me down. But then I got busted [arrested]. I went to jail 18 times. Then I faced going to prison.

"I was lucky enough to go to Daytop, a self help center. It was a place that taught me to grow up. To be a man. It taught me not to be stupid. Going to jail had been stupid. It [jail] was like running up to a brick wall, banging my head against it, falling down, and getting back up to do it again. And I did it 18 times.

"Sheer stupidity. Jail never helps you. Daytop helped me. I saw what I had been doing, and I smartened up. When I got out of Daytop, I started helping my father at his gas station, but I was bored. I wanted to help people with problems like mine of the past. I formed the Brighton "Project Turnabout" and have been happy ever since."

MISS SHARP: "I am 20 years old, and I used drugs for the past three years. I had been addicted to narcotics for 1½ years. Last week [Nov. 1], I went to "Project Turnabout" for help, and I found help there. I had been involved in cop raids, been put in jail, booked. It was scary to me, a suburban girl.

"I started everything with 'grass' in high school, and the grass led me on to try meth [methedrine] and heroin. I found that a heroin habit is a horror.

"Once you shoot heroin, and like it--you'll shoot it again and like it. There's no such thing as "only once". You do things for money you never thought you'd do. You steal, forge checks, sell dope, even turn to prostitution. All for a drug.

"I was getting deeper and deeper, and I knew I had to get out. I went to "Project Turnabout" and found that the people there understood me, and made sense to me. They knew what it was like. They gave me an easy, relaxed feeling. It's not like sitting on the coldness of a doctor's couch. It was a two-way street and I had to make a U-turn in the right direction.

ROSSEAU: "I am 21 years old. [illegible] started using drugs when [illegible] was 17. My [illegible] came just this September. That was when I got out of Bridgewater State Hospital. I got a job, but it didn't go well.

"After running the streets for a couple of years it's hard to get back to routine. I had had scholarships to 18 universities, but my addiction took care of my want for a college education. All I wanted was more dope. I was a junkie in the streets for more than a year.

"In February of 1968, I was arrested in a police raid which was what got me to Bridgewater. This was while I was really a heavy speed shooter. I was in a friend's apartment, and he had some 'grass'. I got arrested for presence. I was scheduled for an appeal in court but I ran scared. A year later I was in Bridgewater. While I was there I took a good look at what I had been doing. I did awful things that had come as routine.

"When you're addicted, you run the gauntlet from petty theft to armed robbery. And it's all natural. When I got out of Bridgewater, I wanted to talk to people - to make them realize the troubles drugs cause. I went to Brighton and joined Turnabout.

After the talks, the floor was open to questions.

To the question "What can be done in the schools to prevent it?", Rousseau answered:

"I think education is most important. Kids and teachers must know the straight out and out facts about drugs. I'm sure that with such an education one wouldn't turn to drugs.

"A lot of it goes back to the home. Parents and kids have got to keep the bridge over the communication gap intact."

Riccardi said that in discussing the problem, both sides must have open minds and respect for the other's opinion.

Another question posed was "Can a person be rehabilitated against his will?"

Rousseau gave a direct answer: "NO! By the time one gets out of prison or jail, he is physically cured. It only takes a week to get hard drugs out of the system. But it is the mental desire for drugs which must be cured. And you can't make people listen if they don't want to hear. It's a people problem.

"We must understand that the addicts are people, and not machines whose malfunction may be cured by easy methods."

Certainly this is the most important aspect of drug rehabilitation which we must realize.

Addicts and users are people. They deserve to be treated as people. Addiction is a sickness, just as alcoholism is a sickness.

Addicts themselves, of course, must try to better their situations, but it is the non-addicts who must give their aid to help their fellow man to lead a better life.

When everyone realizes that there are other people in this world other than themselves, all may find that the world can be a lot better than it presently is.

Four Quincy Residents Taking Special Course

The therapeutic elements of long-term medical care, the psychology of patient care and the principles of administration may be puzzling subjects to most of us but to four Quincy residents they mean a great deal.

Fred Bartholomew of Dysart St., Mary Ferguson of Newport Ave., Michael Minkin of the Quincy Nursing Home and Carl Awed of Furnace Brook Parkway are among 100 nursing home leaders taking a special training course at Babson Institute.

The special training institute being held to give specialized learning in the field of geriatrics is co-sponsored by the Massachusetts Federation of Nursing Homes and the Massachusetts Health Facilities Foundation for Education and Research. The latter is a subsidiary of Babson.

The 30-week course is being conducted in connection with federal licensing regulations.

The Additive Will Get You If You Don't Watch Out

Pollution abounds. Hardly a day goes by that we don't hear of another product or area of our lives that is "unfit for human use".

A humorous song that I have heard on the radio recently enjoins would-be tourists to the United States to "Don't drink the water and don't breathe the air".

They might add to that, don't eat the food. Food is polluted with everything from Strontium 90 in cow's milk to DDT in mother's milk. It would seem that the "Age of Aquarius" would be better named the Age of Contamination.

We have discussed recently the Cyclamate Controversy. To update that article, H.E.W. Secretary Robert Finch has asked that the restriction on Cyclamate be lifted as too severe. [Cyclamate can cause cancer in rats, y'know]. Maybe he feels that the human race would be better off if rats did get cancer.

Yes, it would seem that the only purity around anymore is entirely theological. Perhaps we could add to that the materials on the chemist's shelves, and maybe the "pure" trash we get from our public "servants" each autumn.

The most recent "impurity" in question is the food additive MSG. Don't-cha like the way everything is given abbreviations today? MSG stands for Monosodium Glutamate. This additive has been around for a long time, and is known to enhance the taste of foodstuffs. We used to put it on steak and chicken. My children have ingested it in their prepared baby foods. [Actually your steak would taste best if you were to spread the juice from a freshly squeezed garlic clove over it just prior to broiling it, and use no other seasonings. Sorry for stealing your thunder, Galloping Gourmet!!]

Recent research into MSG has shown that large doses given to newborn rats has caused high blood pressure, and, most recently, if given to a newborn monkey, can cause brain damage. The frightening factor that came out of this research is that the brain damage was induced even though the monkey was entirely without symptoms. Such subtle damage could be wide-spread. Could we all have these minor changes and not know it?

The problem with this research, as with other animal research, is that the damage was produced by excessively large doses of the MSG. Also the MSG was given by injection, rather than by mouth. [That might be our salvation, as even our teens haven't taken to mainlining MSG yet.] Another problem with this sort of research is that it was done on only one monkey. Reports such as this are very premature and may be proved wrong in the long run. Such reports are scare tactics, sort of McCarthyism revisited.

Baby food manufacturers are rushing to prepare their products without MSG. Whether this is economically or humanistically motivated is a moot point. It is probably safe to continue using foods with MSG at the present time.

If the idea of giving your six month old infant baby food with MSG frightens you, you might prepare food for the baby by putting table foods into your blender. That way, the only additives will be those you put in yourself. Most blender manufacturers give instructions on how to prepare foods for the baby.

Incidently, the Chinese have been flavoring their foods with MSG [Moo Sun Goop?] for years. The fact that there are 600 million or more of them still around would indicate that their experiment with MSG has good results. Perhaps we should ship our unused cyclamate to China, just to see what happens.

Anthony Venna Retiring, To Be Honored Nov. 19

Anthony J. Venna, who has directed public welfare in Quincy for the past 31 years, will be honored at a testimonial dinner, November 19th at The Surf, Nantasket Beach.

Atty. John P. Flavin, former city solicitor, will be the main speaker. Quincy District Court Clerk Dennis F. Ryan will be toastmaster.

Venna, who turned 70 on November 1st, is calling it a career, November 30th.

A graduate of Quincy High School, he worked at the Fore River Shipyard for 16 years before joining the Quincy Department of Public Welfare as an investigator in 1933.

He was assistant administrator of the Civil Works Administration and the Emergency Relief Administration from 1934 to 1936 when he took on four jobs helping the needy during the Depression.

From 1936 to 1938 he was Quincy administrator of the Works Progress Administration, director of the National Youth Administration, selecting agent for the Civilian Conservation Corps, and director of the Food Stamp Plan.

Venna was appointed Commissioner of Public Welfare for the city in 1938 and held the job through three title changes.

It became director of public assistance in 1959 and public assistance administrator last year when the state took over the administration of the welfare program in Massachusetts.

In 1941, the Federally sponsored parts of the welfare program was separated from the city sponsored parts and Venna's title for the federal section became Agent.

He is also a member of the Massachusetts Department of Welfare Advisory Board, director of the Quincy Family Service Society, Chairman of the Quincy Council for Aging.

During the 1920's, he was known primarily as a semi-pro baseball player for such strong local teams as the Fore River Baseball Club, the South Quincy Athletic Club and the Bigelow A.C.

He is married to the former Aileen Puskala and they have two children, Richard Venna, assistant chief probation officer of the Juvenile Division at Quincy District Court and Mrs. Shirley Jean Gilbody. There are four grandchildren.

Robert Manning is general chairman of the testimonial dinner and Joseph J. LaRaia is co-chairman. Both are welfare administrative assistants. Rita O'Brien is treasurer of the committee, which includes:

Walter Avery, City Clerk John M. Gillis, Leo J. Lamb, retired Deputy Fire Chief Thomas Maloney and Miss Edna Matta, supervisor of the Brockton regional office of the Department of Public Welfare.

Tickets may be obtained from the South Quincy branch of the Quincy Savings Bank and the Health Department in the John F. Kennedy Health Center.

After Chelsea Breeze

Presidents Face Title Test At Medford

Quincy's football team, seeking at least a share of the Greater Boston League championship, unleashed one of the most explosive attacks seen in years at Veterans Memorial Stadium last week and Hank Conroy was able to give the fans a preview of what to expect next season.

Quincy rolled over Chelsea, 52-22.

However, Conroy hopes the Presidents didn't use up all their offensive might in the game against Chelsea, as they face a major obstacle in their quest for league honors Saturday.

Quincy plays at Medford, one of the top league teams which is just behind Quincy and co-leader Malden and, except for a stunning 20-18 upset at the hands of Everett after leading, 18-0, the Mustangs would be leading the league. Game time is 1:30.

Medford is 4-1 in league play while Quincy and Malden are 4-0-1. The Mustangs also defeated Boston Latin in non-league competition.

"This will be one of our biggest tests this year and we will have to be at our peak if we hope to win and take an undefeated league record into the North Quincy game on Thanksgiving," Conroy said. "I'm glad I was able to give so many of our younger players a chance last week and give the starters a rest."

After being blanked by Weymouth, 6-0, the previous week, Quincy really exploded last week against winless Chelsea, with many long and spectacular runs.

Conroy used his third and fourth teams in the second half and even they joined the scoring parade with thrilling plays. John Joyce, who had seen very limited varsity action, played throughout the second half at quarterback after Kevin Ryan had sparkled in the first half and paced the Presidents to an overwhelming 40-6 lead.

Actually it could be considered a moral victory for Chelsea which, in going down to its 25th successive league defeat, scored its first points of the year in league play.

Conroy had words of praise for just about everyone, especially Paul Picarski, sophomore Steve McCarthy and Tom Daley, who combined for 200 yards and five touchdowns in the first half; Wayne Richards for his fine kicking and Ryan, who completed five or six passes in the opening half.

"These boys and all the other starters turned in an amazing offensive exhibition in the first half," Conroy stated. "And our subs did a great job as Joe Goguen, Roy Smith and Bob Bosader scored on long gainers and Joyce did an excellent job at quarterback. Our second quarterback, Steve Sullivan, has been sidelined all season and I had been forced to go all the way with Ryan. Joyce showed me something in the second half."

Among others who earned their coach's praise were John Provost for some fine punt returns, Cliff Mattson, who had a key fumble recovery to set up the first touchdown, Rick Pettiti, Rich Menchi and Bobby Sachetti.

Following Mattson's fumble recovery, Picarski put Quincy ahead when he took a Ryan pass for 12 yards and the first touchdown. Richards kicked the extra point.

Later in the first period Mc Carthy gave the fans the first of their many thrills with a 78-yard touchdown run and Richards again kicked the point.

Quincy added 26 points in the second period as McCarthy raced 62 yards, Picarski went 46, Daley ran 35 and Goguen added a 34-yard run. Picarski added two points on a pass from Ryan.

In the third period Bosader had his big thrill of scoring a varsity touchdown on a pass from Joyce and in the final period it was Smith who realized a dream by galloping 80 yards for his first varsity touchdown.

From what Quincy's third and fourth stringers showed, the fans have plenty to look forward to next year.

After Brookline Bomb

Raiders Host To So-So Somerville

North Quincy's football team returns to Greater Boston League competition Saturday after bowing to strong Brookline's Suburban League co-leaders last week despite a good showing.

Saturday's 1:30 opponent at Veterans Memorial Stadium will be defending GBL champion Somerville, which is having an in and out year.

North, following successive league wins over Chelsea and Everett, lost to powerful Brookline, 24-0, last week at Brookline but Coach Ralph Frazier expressed himself as pleased with the showing of the Raiders, especially the outstanding passing of quarterback Paul Lippens.

Somerville is 3-3 in league competition and 3-4 overall. In the league the Highlanders have beaten Everett, Revere and Chelsea and lost to Quincy, Medford and Malden while they were walloped by Suburban League co-leader Arlington in their season's opener.

"This will be another big test for us," Frazier said. "Somerville has one of the league's biggest teams and is capable of exploding at any time."

Lippens had a great day as he completed 14 of 26 passes for 102 yards but three interceptions and a rash of North penalties thwarted his and his team's hopes. North was hit with eight second half penalties.

Lippen's favorite receiver was end Dan Zink, who caught seven passes for 86 yards.

"We moved the ball well with 199 yards gained overall, but those interceptions and penalties ruined us," the new North coach added. "Brookline has a fine team but I wasn't disappointed with our showing.

Although pleased with his offense, Ralph admitted the defense was spotty. Brookline gained 248 yards and had a wide edge is rushing.

Also singled out for his work on offense was Jerry Mulcahy, who turned in another excellent performance.

Tom Fleming paced Brookline with two touchdowns, both in the second period when the Wealthy Towners scored 16 points. They added their final touchdown in the fourth period.

Giants In Home Finale Against Bulls Saturday

BY CHARLES LOWE

The Quincy Giants will close out their home season in Atlantic Coast Football League competition Saturday night at Veterans Memorial Stadium in an 8 p.m. arc-light game, as they face the Long Island Bulls.

The Bulls are the farm-team affiliate of the New York Giants of the National Football League.

This will be the second game of a home-and-home series with the Bulls. Last Friday night at the Bulls home field in Hempstead, Long Island, the Giants lost a heartbreaker in the final seconds 16-14.

Paul Weidl, released earlier in the season by the Atlantic Falcons of the NFL, and a left-footed kicker to boot, kicked a 30-yard field goal to overturn a Giants lead of 14-13.

It was the third of the field goals kicked by Weidl during the evening to personally account for nine of the 16 points put on the board by the Bulls. His other field goals were from the 17 and 20-yard lines.

Weidl will be one of the weapons in the Bulls arsenal Saturday night at Veterans Memorial Stadium. One of the last of the "cuts" made by the Falcons prior to the beginning of regular-season NFL play he has been of immense help to the Bulls.

Joe Lanzilli, former Boston College tackle continued to play exceptionally well for the Giants, and has been a bulwark in the defensive line for Coach Ross O'Hanley. He scored one of the two Giants touchdowns last week on a fumble recovery, rambling 29 yards into the end zone. Quarterback Don Allard [B.C.] scored the other with Gus Carias making both conversions.

Defensive line coach Bob Dee thinks Lanzilli may have all the tools and ability to try the major leagues. He said, "Lanzilli had speed, size ability and is agressive enough. I have a hunch that perhaps the Boston Patriots will invite him to camp next summer to give him a tryout."

If Lanzilli does receive an invitation, this is what minor-league football is all about: to develop players for the big-time units. Dee thinks Lanzilli "has a shot."

The Giants defensive unit will be bolstered by the return of John Cagle of Clemson, who was released again by the Patriots after playing two games last month.

The Giants will wind up the 1969 campaign a week from Saturday night when they journey to Bridgeport, Conn., to face the Jets, affiliated with the World Champion New York Jets.

Giants Find Saturday Nights Quite Lonely

There is a growing conviction among officials of the Quincy Giants that the present format of playing their home games on Saturday nights is not the best night for attendance purposes.

To paraphrase the song - Saturday Night Is The Loneliest Night In The Week - as far as putting fans in the stands.

After encouraging turnouts for the first two home games, fans have stayed away in ever-increasing numbers, to the dismay of the Giants.

Seeking reasons, front office personnel are wondering if Friday would not be a better solution and the only one.

There are very few other competitive athletic events held on Friday in this area, thus slimming down the race for the athletic "buck" available to be spent.

Saturdays are traditional football days hereabouts, and with the host of high school and college games played in Greater Boston and on the South Shore, the Giants are in a disadvantageous position come Saturday night to compete for the residue of cash left in many a wallet.

Bob Hotin, president of the Giants has already admitted that losses might go as high as $75,000 for this season. Coupled with the red ink bath the team took in Lowell last year, it has become a problem to find ways to approach the break-even point the team seeks.

Convincing city officials to allow the team use of Veterans Memorial Stadium on Friday nights will be a major stumbling block. Both Quincy High and North Quincy High use the stadium, playing on alternate Saturdays. Desiring the field in the best possible condition for the schoolboys is of primary concern, and any event played on Friday or Friday night that would leave the field in less than tip-top shape will be looked on with disapproval.

Hotin, vice-president Bob Dee, Coach Ross O'Hanley and public relations director Bill Coleman have a major selling job facing them.

YMCA Church League Opens Dec. 6

The Quincy YMCA Church School Basketball League will swing into action Dec. 6.

Team entries must register with Phil Keller on or before Nov. 17.

A referee school for those interested in officiating at the games is being conducted by Edwin Lappen.

The league last year had 107 teams with more than 1,200 players in action.

The league, as in past years, will have two divisions. The Quincy Division will play at the YMCA, Broadmeadows Junior High School and Atlantic Junior High School.

The Braintree Division comprising Braintree, Weymouth and Randolph teams will play at Braintree High School. Games are scheduled for Saturday afternoons.

The age brackets: Samson League, nine years and under; Daniel League, 11 years and under; Goliath League, 13 years and under; Jonathan League, 15 years and under and David League, 17 years and under.

Players must attend church school or regular service of the church he represents at least twice a month.

Members of high school or junior high varsity, private or parochial school basketball teams are not eligible to play in the league.

Quincy Girl Bowls On TV

A 15-year-old North Quincy girl will be making her sixth television appearance in bowling competition Saturday.

Ronnie Wier of 78 Hamilton Ave., a sophomore at North Quincy High School, will appear on "Winning Pins" at 1 p.m. on WHDH-TV.

A member of the Koch Club Seniors Bowling League, she will enter the competition with a 99.4 average.

Last spring she appeared on the same television competition for five weeks.

She is the second Koch Club bowler to appear on the program. Carol Morris was a three-time winner last February.

First Intra-Mural League

Boys, Girls Play Soccer At Snug Harber

Soccer has been included in the Quincy elementary schools' physical education program for some time but Peter Gallagher has come up with the first intramural league in the city at Snug Harbor School.

Gallagher's sixth-grade league includes four boys' teams and four girls' teams which play two and three times a week at the school field in Germantown.

"I felt there would be much more interest among the boys and girls if they had a league and the enthusiasm is wonderful," Gallagher said. "The kids really love to play and the competition has been keen."

The league got underway the week of Oct. 13 and the girls will finish up the week of Nov. 10. The boys, however, will continue playing until the end of November.

Action is fast and furious, and some of the youngsters show loads of ability. The boys will continue in junior high and in a few years will help the Quincy and North Quincy High teams.

Adding to the program at Snug Harbor is a soccer paper, put out by the pupils.

The Germantown Soccer News includes highlights of the school's games and also features news of an international nature, pointing to the highlights of soccer throughout the world.

The first issue included the rules of the game, field dimensions, and other pertinent facts.

"I have been supervising the publishing of the paper but the boys and girls have been taking it over more and more and soon they will be doing it virtually by themselves," Gallagher pointed out. "They get a big kick out of the paper and everyone wants a part in it."

Gallagher, who lives in Hull, played soccer at Milton High and in the service and is a graduate of Boston University. He hopes other schools will add soccer leagues and that a city-wide schedule will result.

"Snug Harbor is one of the biggest schools in the city enrollment-rise with only the two high schools and one junior high larger," Pete said. "And these kids haven't had much in the line of athletics. I am going to start a track program in the spring and have asked Ken Rickson [coordinator of physical education in the Quincy Schools] to see if it will be possible to have a city-wide meet."

RAMS--Diane Cravello, Kathy DeLong, Evangeline Dill, Joan Goldrick, Linda Lydon, Cynthia MacKenzie, Kathy McCall, Linda Morrison, Darlene Prescott, Michele Sachetti, Kathy Sweeney, Julia Whitman and Janice Veno.

Each home room has a team and each has a captain and one or more assistant captains. KICK COMING--Jim Wenners lines up a kick as Stephen Sylva, Paul Ferris and Gordon Maloney prepare to block it. Coming up from the rear are Kevin Sullivan and Mark Burke in this intramural soccer game at Snug Harbor School.

ENC Soccer Coach Takes Shower--With Clothes On

The unexpected bath came after the Crusaders defeated St. Francis College [Biddeford,Me.], 3-2, in a Colonial Intercollegiate Soccer Conference contest.

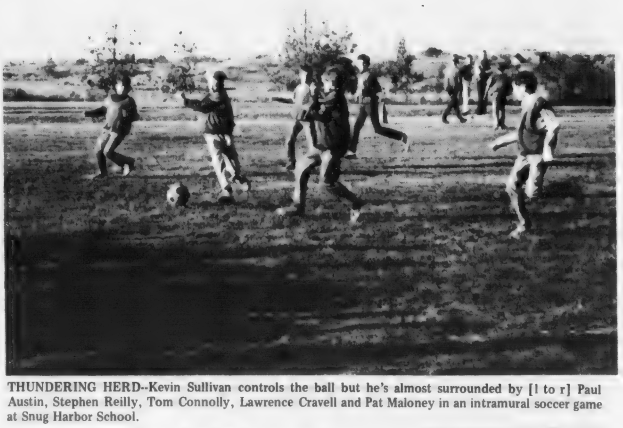
The reason for the bath was that the victory gave ENC a 7-6 record, the first winning slate in soccer's six year history at the college.

The Crusaders finished with a 4-3 record in CISC play to finish third behind Southeastern Mass. University and Barrington [R.I.] College.

"I wouldn't say the season has been fun," said first year coach Jack, "because it's been a lot of hard work, but it has been very enjoyable. This is the greatest bunch of boys I've ever worked with.

"The enjoyable part was watching boys like Del Bieber, Dean Stinson and Kern Dickinson develop. Watching a boy like Bob Neilson become a steady halfback and Wayne Mills become a good scoring wing.

"I wish the season was just starting and I think the boys feel the same way."



The 3-2 victory over St. Francis was hard fought. The score was 1-1 going into the fourth period. ENC's goal came on a second period penalty kick by Bob Mollica. Herb Lau scored the ahead goal in the fourth period on a pass from Bieber and then Bieber, on a pass from Rick Melder scored the winning goal. St. Francis scored its final goal with 50 seconds left on a penalty kick.

Mollica, who hit on 10 of 10 penalty kicks this season, led the scoring with 10 goals and one assist. Lau and Mills had four goals each. Melder had three goals and two assists, Bob Henning had three goals, while Bieber had one goal and three assists.

Because of the winning season Coach Jack has invited all 18 team members, plus the scorer and manager to a steak dinner.

Apache Dinner

The Apache Football Club will hold its fifth annual awards dinner on Nov. 14 at 6:30 p.m. in the Knights of Columbus Hall at Hancock St. and Hollis Ave.

New 'Toys For Tots' Drop-Off

"Toys For Tots" may be dropped off at the Marine Corps Recruiting office in the Quincy Post Office building, Washington St., Quincy Center.

Because of a personnel reduction, the Marine Corps this year will be unable to pick up donated toys at Quincy fire stations, the customary drop-off points in past years.

17,000 Christmas Lights On Nov. 28

It's later than you think.

The city of Quincy and its downtown merchants completing plans to brighten up the city for the Christmas Holiday.

About 17,000 amber and blue lights, most of them on trees, but many strung in garlands across the streets and others framing buildings, will be turned on November 28th, the day after Thanksgiving.

New features in the annual holiday lighting program will be eight skyline garlands of lights strung across Hancock Street, replacing the usual trees, and five garlands across Chestnut Street and Cottage Avenue.

Two "spectaculars" – tall cones of lights with strings of more lights radiating out from them – will brighten the intersections of Hancock Street and Chestnut and Granite Streets.

Other highlights on the merchants' part of the program include 5,000 lights on trees in the Ross Parking Area, herald angels and a Nativity Scene at historic Hancock Cemetery Square and 400 lights on two trees at the First Church.

More than 100 downtown business establishments have contributed to the program which is coordinated by the Merchants Division of the Quincy South Shore Chamber of Commerce. The contractor, for the fourth straight year, is Fremar Corp. of Hingham.

Chief features of the City of Quincy lighting program will be lights on City Hall, a 25-foot tree at the corner of Hancock and Elm Streets and a Nativity Scene in Hancock Cemetery.

The Thomas Crane Public Library will have two trees with lights and there will be between 30 and 36 trees placed on poles along Hancock Street from Maple Street to Huntly Road.

Also there will be five 6-foot trees along the fence in Quincy Square, lights framing the police box, and two trees with lights on the traffic island at Hancock and Washington Streets.

Retail Sales Over $170 Million

Quincy has grown tremendously as a retail trading center in the past quarter of a century.

Retail sales have more than tripled since the end of World War II.

In 1945, the figure stood at $50 million compared to $170 million in the latest compilation.

IS HEART DISEASE EVER IN THE MIND

BY ARTHUR MCMAHON, M.D.
Assistant Professor of Psychiatry
New England Medical Center Hospitals

Nearly everyone knows or has heard of someone who had a heart attack immediately after a sudden severe emotional shock. This has led to the common belief that psychological or emotional stress causes heart attacks.

One well-known example was former President Eisenhower's comment that his heart attack occurred when three successive phone calls interrupted a golf match causing him to be furious.

Despite these commonly held beliefs, there is no scientific evidence to indicate that emotional or psychological stress alone causes heart attacks. There is little doubt, however, that such stress can increase the demands on a heart already weakened by physical factors. It has been repeatedly demonstrated that emotions can affect a variety of bodily functions including heart rate, blood pressure, cholesterol levels in the blood, rate of blood flow, and even the viscosity [thickness] of the blood.

HORMONES A FACTOR

Modern clinical teaching emphasizes that many illnesses, from cancer to the common cold, are not isolated events, but rather occur as a result of a variety of interacting factors in the life of the individual, one of which is psychological. It remains to be understood just how the mind influences the body to contribute to the development of disease, but the best bets at the moment are through the endocrine system and/or autonomic nervous system. Current research has shown emotions to be one of the most powerful influencers of endocrine or hormone levels, which in turn regulate most of the body's chemical reactions.

Emotional stress plays a part in the life of everyone, and it would be impossible to organize one's life to avoid it entirely. In general, sudden overwhelming shock has different effects than moderate but continuous pressure. While the latter generally allows the individual more time to apply physical and psychological defenses for coping with stress, chronic prolonged stress can have physical effects over a period of time.

PERSONALITY A FACTOR

One important consideration in understanding the role of psychological stress is its highly individual nature. What is emotionally stressful for one person may be enjoyable for another. Therefore, both the physician and his patient should understand the meaning of particular events or situations for him in order to evaluate the role of stress in his illness.

It has been demonstrated, for example, that a vigorous disagreement can increase the work of the heart in certain individuals to the same degree as strenuous labor. Both the doctor and his patient should have a thorough understanding of the patient's particular response to different kinds of stress.

Psychological factors also play an important role in the success or failure of an individual's adjustment to heart disease after it has occurred. Many individuals are so frightened by having had a heart attack that they never achieve the level of physical activity or occupational adjustment of which their recovered heart is now capable.

An opposite but equally psychological complication occurs in individuals who react to the fear by denying that any disability has occurred, and refuse to alter their life style in accordance with medical recommendations.

Despite an increasingly informed public it is still all too common to see patients who have ignored chest pains for months before seeking medical attention.

["Living With Your Heart" is a public service of the Massachusetts Heart Association, which can provide further information on the risk factors involved in heart disease.]

2,000 Parking Spaces Needed In Downtown

Only a few years ago, downtown shopping areas, Quincy Center included, appeared to be on the ropes. Suburban shopping plazas seemed on the verge of delivering a knock out blow.

But the punch was never thrown and now it may be too late, thinks Bernard C. Moore, Jr., executive secretary of the Quincy Chamber of Commerce.

"The trend," he says, "is back to the downtown areas."

And the only problem that can retard the future development of the downtown area is the old one of parking.

"The dominance of downtown Quincy as a retail center developed in the late 1940s and early 1950s when we put in parking and widened the streets," says Moore.

"A lot of new chain stores came in or existing ones expanded their facilities. Sears and Raymonds tripled their's. Gilchrist's and Woolworth's doubled.

"Then in the 1960s, despite the recommendations of the Chamber of Commerce, we failed to provide more parking and so we face a critical situation now.

Unless we get more parking space soon – in the next year – or the City Council indicates its approval I'm afraid we may lose one or several key stores."

Moore figures 2,000 more downtown spaces are needed.

Recently, Brockton, Fitchburg and Salem lost Sears Roebuck stores, which moved out of the city but remained in the area.

"They left tremendous holes in the retail area," says Moore. "Downtown areas need large stores to generate traffic."

A seventh large generator store was lost a few years ago when Sheridan's closed down its Hancock St. outlet.

"The big stores are the ones that really need the parking space," says Moore.

For the record, downtown Quincy has 3,800 parking spaces – 1,930 municipal and 1,870 private – serving more than 500 individual businesses and stores.

By comparison, South Shore Plaza, the downtown area's biggest suburban competitor, has 6,000 spaces for more than 500 stores.

New downtown parking areas coming up are: a parking garage next to the new MBTA station [860 cars] and an underground garage at government center [200 cars]

"But" points out Moore, "almost all of those spaces will be taken up by commuters and government center workers."

But downtown Quincy has certain shopping advantages that often outweigh the parking problem.

The key advantage is the variety of merchandise and services available. The 500 stores in Quincy Center provide 150 different types of merchandise.

There are also eight banks, nine finance companies, 28 insurance offices, 10 real estate brokerage houses and five companies dealing in investments and securities.

Also 54 lawyers, 36 doctors, 25 beauty parlors and barber shops, 14 civic and social agencies, 13 dentists, 11 accountants, eight optometrists and opticians and two travel agencies.

Each one brings people in varying numbers to downtown Quincy.

"Quincy has more diversified transportation," says Moore. "The parking may be inadequate but there still is a lot of parking. There is also bus service and soon we will have the MBTA. That's three types of transportation downtown.

"It is important for the future to tie in the MBTA with the stores so that shoppers will be able to get downtown without too much walking or carrying of bundles."

Another advantage enjoyed by downtown Quincy is the fact that it serves as a functional center of the South Shore region, which extends from Boston to Plymouth to Brockton to Norwood.

It is the government, financial, legal, educational and employment center. More than 7,000 people are employed in downtown Quincy, making it the second largest employer on the South Shore. It's topped only by General Dynamics with its 9,000 employees.

"It has built-in traffic," says Moore. "Workers in downtown offices and other buildings spend money in downtown stores on their lunch hours. They also become familiar with the stores in the area."

About 900,000 people live in the retail trading area of which downtown Quincy is a part. The Metropolitan Area Planning Council estimates that there will be 400,000 more in the next 30 years.

"I think the trend is now away from the suburbs," says Moore. "More and more of the newcomers will settle in the immediate area of Quincy.

"There is a new $18 million apartment development planned for Quarry Street. Ledgewood Park near the shipyard will have 700 apartments. Weymouthport will have 1,500 apartments.

"New office developments mean that more people will work in downtown Quincy. Also more people will be going to those offices for some service. That means more potential shopping traffic for the downtown area."

Moore sees the Hancock Street Mall as a long range improvement.

"It depends a lot on the physical improvement of the downtown area. There must be better access to downtown. There must be wider access streets and more offstreet parking.

"The mall is the last step. More parking is the first."

Burke Pushes For Anti-Drug Education

Norfolk County Dist. Atty. George G. Burke has appealed to the State Department of Mental Health to implement immediately the educational provisions of the state's new anti-drug law.

Burke, a recognized authority on drug abuse who has been crusading for the establishment of a centralized statewide drug education agency, told the department:

"The basic answer as we have found it, going into our fourth year of combating the drug problem, is in making the young people aware of the factual dangers of using drugs.

"The first critical step then is to make sure that every young person in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts knows the factual dangers of using such drugs as heroin, LSD, marijuana, the amphetamines and barbiturates.

"Almost half of the serious crimes in our country in 1968 were committed by youths 18 years old and younger and drug abuse was a major contributing factor.

"To save the lives of young people who are turning to drugs more and more every day, at least these basic dangers of using drugs must be explained to them right now."

HELPING HAND--Miss Christine Lowry, a neighbor, pours a cup of coffee for Mrs. Michael J. Walsh, North Quincy widow of seven, whose family was burned out by a fire. With them are two of Mrs. Walsh's sons, Gerard and Joseph. Friends have launched a fund-raising campaign to repair the home in hopes of re-uniting scattered family there by Christmas.

Fund Started For Widow

Friends Hope To Reunite Fire Victims For Christmas

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

A roof over their heads, and the boys together for Christmas.

Those are goals of the neighbors of Mrs. Michael J. Walsh and her boys, left homeless by a Nov. 4 fire at their 30 Becket St. home in Montclair.

Concerned by the family's plight, Mrs. Rose Haskins, Mrs. Claire Doherty and Mrs. Patricia Boldec, all of Becket St., decided on action to aid the widowed mother of seven. Beginning with money of their own, they started the Walsh Family Fund to help reunite the family in their own home by Christmas. If possible.

"If we could only get a roof on, we could move back in and maybe set up a dormitory style of living while we cleaned up," said Mrs. Walsh, humbly grateful to her "wonderful neighbors."

The house, home to the Walsh family since 1953, has three large gaping holes in the roof. The interior is a shambles. One ceiling has fallen, others are sagging, with dirt, smoke and soot covering everything. The entire house wiring must be removed and replaced with new. Beds, bedding, much of the house furnishings are a total loss. A yard full of debris was carted away on Monday.

Living at home with Mrs. Walsh, whose invalid husband died last November, were her four younger sons, James, Gerard, Bryan and Dennis, now scattered and living with nearby friends. Mrs. Walsh herself is staying with the William Lowry family at 12 Montclair Ave.

In addition, Roque Diaz from Guatemala, sent by a mission to live with the Walsh family while completing his education at Cathedral High School, Boston, is now with Mrs. Walsh's sister in New Hampshire.

Joseph and Robert, the oldest boys, are married and do not live at home. Richard and his recent bride, the former Mary Lou Loux, are living at the Army base at Fort Bragg, N.C., where he is stationed. The young couple lost all their wedding and shower gifts which were in storage at the Walsh home.

Youth Council Seated Dec. 1

The new Youth Council – created to bridge the communications gap between city officials and the Youth of Quincy – will take office December 1st.

City Council President J. Vincent Smyth said the nine members will take their oath at special ceremonies at the regular council meeting that night.

Smyth, whose resolve established the first Youth Council last year, declared:

"This is a sincere attempt on our part to bridge the communications gap between city officials and the youth of our city by having them observe their government in action and giving them an official voice."

"We have problems and they have problems. By working together we will have a clearer understanding of these problems and be able to better solve them."

The nine Youth Council members will be invited to attend regular sessions of the City Council and to report back to their respective schools.

The Youth Council members also will have the opportunity to sit down with members of the City Council to discuss the needs of Quincy's youth.

"We want to have them seated as soon as possible," said Smyth.

He noted that delays prevented the first Youth Council from taking office unfil virtually mid-term last school year.

"This is a very important matter," he said. "We want to be able to start working together as soon as possible and for as much of the school years as possible".

The nine Youth Councils, elected at their respective schools on the day (November 4) of the city election are:

Alice E. Yuscavitch and James Small, North Quincy High School and Atlantic Junior.

Sandra Maddalena, Quincy High School.

Alfred Morrison, Quincy Vocational-Technical High School.

Judi McCall, Woodward School.

Donna Wallace, Broad Meadows, Junior High.

Timothy Folger, Central Junior High School.

Mary Cronin, Quincy Point Junior High.

James McKinnon, Sterling Junior High.

They were elected by classmates from a total field of 35 candidates.

The nine members in turn will elect one to serve as their "mayor".

Free Legal Service Sought For 3,000 Quincy Families

An estimated 3,000 low-income Quincy families would be eligible for free legal service beginning Jan. 1 if an application fo $112,390 in federal funds is approved.

"We feel these people should have equal justice available to them through legal representation," said Russell E. O'Connell, executive director of the Quincy Community Action Program.

The CAP filed the application with the Office of Economic Opportunity to set up a separate Quincy Legal Service Project to aid low-income families in civil matters.

"We are cautiously optimistic that it will be approved," said O'Connell. "We should know by Dec. 15. If it is, the program will start Jan. 1."

Letters have been sent to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, Sen. Edward W. Brooke and Congressman James A. Burke asking them to support and help expedite the project.

"If the application is not approved in December, we will keep the application alive and hope for approval in early 1970," said O'Connell.

The $112,390 would be used to provide five full-time attorneys and to establish an office to carry out the program.

It would be an annual term grant.

O'Connell estimated that approximately 3,000 Quincy families would be eligible for the service.

They include, he said, 650 families on welfare, 25 per cent of the city's 14,000 senior citizens who are 62 years and older, and low-income working people.

Eligibility guidelines are set by OEO.

Eligible, for example, would be a family of four with an income of $4,500. From then on, each dependent would graduate the figure by $500.

Under the program, eligible families would receive legal service in civil matters such as landlord-tenant and domestic problems, small claims and gen-

Permits For $224,264 Wiring In October

City Wire Inspector William H. Pitts reports that 151 permits representing an estimated $224,264 in wiring were issued by his office during October.

Fees collected for the permits amounted to $1,394. he said.

During the month, 148 inspections were made and 10 defects noted.

Major wiring projects for the month included:

–New addition to the Squantum School, Huckins Ave.

–A 64-unit apartment building, 1 Canton Rd.

–A new building for Hancock Bank & Trust Co., 21 Beale St.

–A 36-unit apartment building, 55 Elmwood Park.

–A 24-unit apartment building, 65-75 Elmwood Park.

–A new building for Bennett Electric Co., Oak Grove Terrace.

–A new rooming house, 29 Miller Stile Rd.

Quincy United Fund Goes 'Over The Top'

Quincy and 14 South Shore towns have gone "over the top" in the Massachusetts Bay United Fund campaign, it was reported yesterday.

The actual figures, however, were not immediately available.

The over-all Massachusetts campaign raised $14,214,757 or 98 per cent of its goal. It is the largest amount raised in the Massachusetts Bay five-year history and largest ever by a UF in New England.

Atty. Stephen T. Keefe, Jr. was general chairman of the Quincy drive and Richard S. Garvey, vice-chairman.

Retain Wollaston Golf Course

Editor, Quincy Sun:

We have noted, with real enthusiasm, that there is a possibility of the Wollaston Golf Course coming under the care and control of the Metropolitan District Commission.

By unanimous vote, this organization endorsed such a move at a regular business meeting held on November 6, 1969.

In addition to providing golfing facilities for the surrounding communities of Quincy, Milton and Dorchester, the Course offers many other advantages, particularly to the youth of the area. Many a boy, and yes - many a girl, have learned to skate, coast, ski, toboggan and use snow shoes on the water and hills of Wollaston.

North Quincy High School uses the Course as its "Home-Course" for their golf team.

The advantages of the course to youthful boys, particularly those of teen-age, are numerous. Caddies are allowed the use of the Course on "Caddy-Day". Many a good golfer has been developed at Wollaston and some from humble beginnings. Many boys have earned a part of their tuition for their higher education from money received by being a caddy, working for the Greenskeeper or working in the Pro-shop.

There has been a great deal of talk in recent years about the current membership moving to the Cote property, that many residents live in fear of the Course being sold to a private developer for the purpose of constructing high-rise apartments or even some kind of industry.

We believe that the course should be retained as a Golf Course to relieve the facilities at Ponkapoag and to preserve the open spaces for the generations to come. We believe this would be in the best interest of Massachusetts, the residents of the communities involved and of the Metropolitan District.

Carousel Christmas Fair At Adams Shore

A Carousel Christmas Fair will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Adams Shore Community Church.

Handmade articles, jewelry and packaged food gifts will be available.

Miss Marjorie McAllister is chairman of the fair, sponsored by the Older Youth and Young Adults group to benefit the Protestant Social Service Bureau's proposed home for boys.

6-Cent Stamps For Christmas Now On Sale

George K. Walker, Officer-in-Charge of the Boston Postal District, announces that the six-cent Christmas stamp has been placed on sale at all postoffices in the district.

All Christmas cards, whether sealed or unsealed, require six cents postage, he noted.

Reproduced on the stamp is a winter scene of bygone days by an unknown primitive artist. It is "Winter Sunday in Norway, Maine," an oil on canvas which was painted about 1870. The painting is the property of the New York State Historical Association.

The horizontal stamp, designed by Stevan Dohanos, a member of the Citizens' Stamp Advisory Committee, captures the ruggedness of New England winters.

Adequate stocks of the Christmas stamp have been placed in all offices and the public is requested to purchase their needs early in order to avoid a last minute rush.

Kramer Named Special Assistant By Burke

Atty. Thomas P. Kramer, son of Atty. and Mrs. Maurice Kramer of Quincy, has been named a special assistant district attorney by Norfolk County Dist. Atty. George G. Burke.

Kramer will assist in the preparation and prosecution of criminal cases.

A graduate of Thayer Academy, Georgetown University and Boston University School of Law, he was formerly an attorney with the John Hancock Life Insurance Company and Hotel Corporation of America.

He previously served as a legislative assistant to Burke. He is a member of the Boston Bar and American Bar Associations.

Kramer, who grew up in Quincy and attended Quincy schools, is married to the former Helen Howard. They have two children.

Seek Legal Service For Low-Income Families

[Cont. from Page 1]

eral legal advice.

"Our board of directors sees this as one of the crucial needs of low income people in Quincy," said O'Connell. "This program, we hope, will provide equal justice through legal representation.

"I've worked with low-income families for seven years. And I have seen with my own eyes people who need legal advice and services."

O'Connell said the Quincy CAP had a volunteer legal service and that the Quincy Bar Association has a voluntary legal service.

"But", said he, "there is a tremendous need for a comprehensive legal service for low-income families.

He stressed that under the program, civil matters only would be handled by the proposed legal service. No service in criminal actions is provided for in the program.

Legal representation in criminal cases, he said, is provided for by the Massachusetts Defenders or other lawyer's groups.

The program, he said, would be operated as a non-profit corporation with its own board of directors and by-laws.

Half of the board of directors must be lawyers who live or work in the city of Quincy.

"The board would have the hiring and policy-making power, and be autonomous," O'Connell said. "It will be a program entirely separate of CAP."

O'Connell noted that similar programs are already underway in Brockton, Boston, Lynn, Springfield, Cape Cod, New Bedford and Worcester, as well as in other parts of the country. The program started in 1965.

"These other communities have been flooded with clients," said O'Connell. "Not one of these programs has gone out of business for lack of clients. This certainly points up the need for this type of legal service."

Although an estimated 3,000 of Quincy's 28,000 families would be eligible for the service, O'Connell said there is no way of knowing how many of them would actually seek legal help.

"But the important thing is that the service would be there available to them," noted O'Connell. "I think, however, the program would be a very busy one. The need is certainly here."

The long-hair fad has been hurting barbers locally and across the country. Longer hair, fewer haircuts, less business.

Eddie Scolamiero, West Quincy's "Yankee Clipper" thinks colleagues are also hurting themselves by trying to fight it.

"Instead of fighting the fad," says he, "why not go along with it. Barbers should become hair stylists--setting long hair and dressing it up."

Eddie says he's doing it.

He also suggests that with all the long hair, barbers should also be offering a special shampoo service.

Instead of a $2.50 haircut, he suggests barbers style the long hair and toss in a nice shampoo for, say, $5.

"There's really nothing wrong with long hair," says Eddie, "as long as it's well groomed and clean."

She went off to New York by train shortly after graduating from Quincy High School in the so-called "worst class" of 1914.

Eddie found a photo for her showing the station as it looked when she boarded the train that eventful day.

YES, THERE ARE a lot of nice people in this world. Ask Quincy Deputy Tax Collector Louis Simons. He met three of them the other night in a rain storm in Lexington.

At 10:30 p.m., his car was suddenly disabled with not one--but two--flat tires.

He knocked at one door and a woman let him in to call a garage. Meanwhile, two men stopped at the scene to offer help.

"And, it was really pouring," says Simons. "We seldom hear about nice people these days, but these were really nice people."

Houghs Neck Girl Apollo 12 Witness

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

PAULA ROULEAU

"Fantastic!" is the description of the Apollo 12 launching given by 17-year old Paula Rouleau of 260 Rock Island Road, Houghs Neck, who witnessed the event.

Paula, a member of the Okidako Horizon Club, with Judy Everton of Hingham and Karen Shannon of Rockland, represented the South Shore Council Camp Fire Girls at Cape Canaveral. Mrs. Joseph Hanning, executive director, accompanied them on their three-day air trip.

"It gives you such a good feeling to really be there when something that important is happening," Paula commented. "We sat for three hours in the rain waiting for President Nixon, and the launching. It went off and disappeared right into a cloud."

"I was so excited to be really there when it was taking off, and to meet the President. We sat in the bleachers right beside the President. We didn't meet the Apollo 12 astronauts [Charles Conrad, Richard Gordon and Alan Bean] – they were too busy with last minute details," Paula continued.

"But astronaut Frank Borman sat next to the President, and Walter Cunningham and his wife sat right near us. It was really great!"

In addition to viewing the actual launching, the girls were taken on a tour of the Cape Canaveral Center and were able to take close-range pictures of the Apollo 12.

The three South Shore girls were among a group of 30 Camp Fire Girls from all sections of the United States invited with other youth groups to view the launching.

Paula, a 10-year member of the organization, was chosen particularly because she has been the only South Shore girl to select the "Aerospace" project for her individual Torch bearer award.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Rouleau, she is a senior at Woodward School for girls.

15 Floats In Santa Claus Parade

Fifteen organizations and businesses have notified Anthony M. Famiglietti, parade marshall for the 18th annual Santa Claus parade, that they will enter floats in the event scheduled for Sunday, Nov. 30.

Among the groups entered are Koch Club of Quincy, Curtain Call Theatre, South Shore Camp Fire Girls, Weymouth Jaycees, Kiwanis Club of Quincy, Quincy Park and Recreation Department; Quincy School Department, Greater Boston Boy Scout Council, Quincy Giants Football Team, State Street South, Di Tocco family and Reliable Fence Company, Bavarian Pastry, North Quincy; Wollaston Business and Professional Association, Covenant Congregational Church Boy Scout Troop.

In addition, a special Festival Committee float is being designed and constructed by the Quincy Neighborhood Youth Corps with a Space Age theme featuring Santa Claus' new mode of travel.

Trophies will be awarded to winning floats one hour prior to the 1:30 p.m. parade. Judging will take place in the Grossman's parking area from noon to 12:30.

The Father Thomas J. Tierney Trophy will be awarded as grand prize for the best overall float; Chamber of Commerce trophy, best theme; Festival Committee trophy, most original; Grand Marshall's trophy, best use of materials and color; Mayor James R. McIntyre trophy, outstanding participation by a Quincy organization.

Last year's float winners were Curtain Call Theatre, American Field Service, Weymouth Jaycees, South Shore Camp Fire Girls and the Koch Club of Quincy.

Any club, organization or business interested in entering a float or other unit in the 1969 Christmas Parade should call Bernard Moore, Festival Secretary at 479-1111, or register at the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce, 36 Miller Stile Road, Quincy.

Contributions have been made by the Morrisette Legion Post and other donors to help along. Anyone wishing to contribute may send cash or checks to the Walsh Family Fund, deposited in the Hancock Bank and Trust Company at 415 Hancock St., North Quincy, with John McGue as treasurer.

Mayor James R. McIntyre enthusiastically endorsed the fund-raising campaign and sent a donation of his own.

"This is such a warm-hearted effort," he said. "It is an opportunity for us to show the true spirit of the holiday season by extending a helping hand to this fine family."

Here Comes The Bride

By Mabelle

The importance of the usher's role is too often under-estimated. Today let's discuss their duties.

First let me point out that there should be at least one usher for each 50 guests regardless of the number of bridesmaids. The groom should appoint one as head usher and it is his duty to see that the remaining ushers carry out theirs'.

They should be at the church one hour before the ceremony starts. They stand at the left of the door within the church. As each woman guest enters they offer her their right arm, Ask "Are you a friend of the bride or the groom?" They escort her down the aisle and her male companion follows.

If more than one woman is in a party, each is escorted by an usher.

The groom also selects an usher to escort his mother to her pew in the front row on the right side. It may be another son or some other relative. If there should happen to be two sons in the bridal party, one may take her down the aisle and the other may go for her after the recessional.

The brides' mothers' escort is selected by the same procedure. Of course the brides' mother should be escorted down at the exact moment the ceremony is scheduled to start.

If you have a reserved section and plan to close it off with ribbons, then you must choose two other ushers to go to the last pew of the reserved section where ribbons have been carefully folded to draw them to the back pew. The ribbons must be placed over the tops of the pew just inside the pew head. The ushers, keeping pace, walk slowly to the back pulling the ribbon snugly. If the ribbon has been correctly measured, the loop at the end should fit easily over the last pew head.

Next, two ushers are selected to pull back the white canvas which is folded at the foot of the chancel steps. They start down the aisle with the left foot and again, keeping pace, walk to the canvas, each leans down and with his outside hand takes hold of the corner and turns.

The canvas is pulled gently but firmly to the back of the church. Now they step in to position in the bridal line and the head usher gives the signal to start the bridal march.

As soon as the ushers reach the end of the aisle in the recessional the bride's parents sit down. This is a signal to the guests to sit also. The usher who escorted the mother of the bride then returns for her, offers his right arm, and they proceed up the aisle with dad following.

As soon as they reach the end the usher who escorted the groom's mother goes down the aisle for her and the same procedure is followed. As soon as all the guests in the reserved section have been escorted out, the ushers who placed the ribbons must go and remove them. This is usually done one aisle at a time.

When all guests have left then they must go to the reception immediately for photographs. Their final duty is to mingle with guests and see that all are enjoying themselves.

CP Adult Class To Present Arts Exhibit Dec. 10

The Cerebral Palsy South Shore Area Adult Class will present an Arts & Crafts exhibition and fair Dec. 10 at Furnace Brook School from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Mrs. Marion Lutz, supervisor of the class, said the exhibition will feature wares created by the Cerebral Palsy Adults.

All of the articles to be offered for sale have been made by the severely handicapped cerebral palsied, and the full purchase price goes to the individual who made the article.

The fair, which is held once a year prior to Christmas, provides an opportunity for the cerebral palsied to earn some money for the holiday season. It also gives them a feeling of economic independence.

Mrs. Lutz said visitors and friends are cordially welcome to attend the Fair, purchase some of the articles and witness the accomplishments of the severely handicapped cerebral palsied who attend the Adult Class.

Blessing At First Parish Church

A blessing of "Things of very special meaning" will be a feature of the Thanksgiving worship at United First Parish Church, Quincy Sq. Sunday at 10:45 a.m., conducted by the Rev. Bradford E. Gale.

Members of the congregation will be invited to bring to the altar one thing of very special meaning to them. The pastoral prayer will call special attention to these as a reminder of current blessings. Articles may be collected at the close of the service.

INTER-FAITH pre-marital course at St. Ann's Youth Center, Wollaston, also offers opportunity for informal discussion. Here Steve Eisenhut of Marshfield and Kathy Danehy of Milton chat with discussion leaders Rev. Douglas MacIntosh, Memorial Congregational Church and Rev. Frank E. Fairbairn, Sacred Heart Church. Community Thanksgiving Service Sunday At Sacred Heart Church

The third annual Community Thanksgiving Service sponsored by the Quincy Clerical Association for Catholics, Protestants, Jews and Moslems will be held at Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy, on Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

"Spiritual Harvest – 1969" will be the subject of Rev. Bradford E. Gale, minister of United First Parish Church, who will deliver the sermon.

Taking part in the service, both clergy and laymen, will be Dr. Lawrence Creedon, superintendent of Quincy Public Schools; Rev. Dean Benedict of Quincy Centre Methodist Church; Rev. Garrett L. Barry of Most Blessed Sacrament Church, president of the Quincy Clerical Association; Rev. William Underhill of St. Chrysostom's Church; and Right Rev. Richard J. Hawko, pastor of Sacred Heart Church.

Rev. Mark Sheehan of St. John the Baptist Church, Quincy, will be the soloist. Fr. Sheehan, a student at the New England Conservatory of Music, has been a soloist at Boston Symphony concerts.

All members of the Quincy clergy have been invited to take part in a procession opening the service.

Arrangements for the community worship have been completed by Rev. Benedict in cooperation with Rev. Frank Fairbain of Sacred Heart parish, new program chairman for the Quincy Clerical Association.

Previous annual services were held at Bethany Congregational Church two years ago: at St. John the Baptist last year; and this year for the first time at North Quincy.

Former Boxing Champion Men's Prayer Breakfast Speaker Sunday

The annual Men's Prayer Breakfast sponsored by the South Shore Council of Churches will be held Sunday at 7 a.m. at the Quincy Armory.

Principal speaker will be Blair Richardson, undefeated retired middleweight boxing champion of Canada and the British Empire.

Soloist will be tenor Dean Wilder, artist-in-residence at Eastern Nazarene College, Wollaston.

Alexander Warmington is general chairman and Philip Henley, ticket chairman.

Russell Johnson is program chairman and Russell Peck, Braintree area chairman.

Tickets may be obtained through member churches of the South Shore Council of Churches.

Richardson, now director of a teen rally in Philadelphia called "Youtharama", says: "Instead of knocking people down, I've decided to help them up."

His ability to communicate with today's young people is evidenced by the fact he is in demand at church and youth rallies and is welcomed at high school assemblies because of his ability to challenge young people to uphold high moral standards.

He has a 15-minute weekly radio show, "Emphasis" carried by a network of stations in Canada.

Richardson won the Canadian middleweight title in 1962 and the British Empire championship in 1965.

He retired undefeated in 1967 to devote his time to helping youth.

He presently is completing his graduate studies at Emerson College in Boston where he is also a graduate teaching assistant in the undergraduate school.

Wilder has made numerous guest artist appearances among them with Robert Shaw, the National Symphony Orchestra, Washington, D.C.; Portland, Oregon Symphony Orchestra, Harvard University Choir, MIT Choral Society.

United Church Women Christmas Cards Sale Will Aid UNICEF

The United Church Women of Quincy are hoping that Granite City shoppers will not forget the less fortunate children of the world while hunting for Christmas presents.

Under their sponsorship, decorative Christmas cards and calendars will be sold at Bethany Congregational Church, Spear Street and First Presbytarian Church, Franklin Street beginning November 24th. The sale will continue Mondays through Fridays from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. until December 19th. All proceeds will go to UNICEF.

With the sale of UNICEF cards and calendars now providing about 10 per cent of UNICEF'S world-wide budget, the number of children assisted is directly related to the number of cards sold.

Mrs. Robert Jack and Mrs. Robert Imper are co-chairmen of the committee handling the cards and calendars.

Come Let Us Reason Together

By Dr. William F. Knox

'Excesses Can Lick You'

The heart specialist hooked up the electrodes of his machine to my body and the inked needle began to move in broken lines across the graph paper. When he finished he said to me...."Looks like a strong normal heart to me ....anything bothering you?" I told him.... "nothing unusual." "How much coffee do you drink?" he asked. I thought a moment and said...."not too much...maybe a dozen cups a day."

"A dozen!"....he exclaimed.... "Well, that's your palpitation difficulty....cut down on the coffee." I did and the heart stopped pounding. I was drinking coffee to excess.

When in Europe a few years ago someone told me...."You Americans like anything that ends with an "est"...biggest.... fastest....richest....best. I think he may be right. In almost everything we undertake we go to the excess.

Take our use of the words "always" and "never"...."He's always late to work"..."She never shows me any consideration"...."The boss is always yelling at me"..... "my secretary never writes a letter without errors" ....and the fed-up wife frequently complains.... "He's always drunk....I can never count on him." Do we think people will listen to us more if we say "always" and "never". They are strong words and seldom express the actual situation. We gear our language to excessive terms.... and often our behavior. Our driving habits....our eating habits ....drinking....spending....charging [I have 27 charge cards in my billfold]....gambling. Mothers over-do their mothering....fathers over-do their absence from the home....young people over-rebel ....politicians are most extravagant in promises....even more excessive in forgetting their promises....supervisors often press too hard for results from employees. Our whole way of life seems bent on excess.

Many of these excesses come out of our childhood. If your parents' attitude toward you was an excessive one of perfectionism, Dr. Misseldine says the effect on you as an adult may manifest itself "in endless, overserious preoccupation with physical, intellectual or social accomplishment." These adults are now victims of inner compulsions which cause them to act in excess in work....play....saving.... housekeeping [cleaning on clean] .... adherence to church rules whether they fit one's situation or not....there are so many forms of excess.

To rid ourselves of these destructive excesses so we can live with ourselves and other people ....we must first of all diagnose the condition. That's necessary for the "workolic" Superintendent as well as for the over-conscientious secretary [the ones who take work home at night to please the boss.] Why do you practice these excesses?

The next step is to bring your excess under control. Do what you must do to stop the excess. Some years ago I fell into the habit of getting my hands full of articles before doing something else which required the use of my hands....like picking up my books before putting on my jacket. It was compulsive. Over and over again I did this. At last I recognized this stupid and wasteful excess. One day I just threw everything in my hands on to my desk ....said some "disciplinary words" to myself [not suitable for print] ....put on my coat....took out my keys....then picked up my books. The old excess tries to creep back occasionally....but I think I have it licked now.

If you don't lick your excesses....they may lick you.

Mayor McIntyre To Head Quincy March Of Dimes

Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre will head the January March of Dimes campaign in Quincy.

His appointment was announced by Norfolk County Director William J. Corcoris.

McIntyre will coordinate the efforts of thousands of local volunteers during the campaign which opens Jan. 2.

The annual Mothers March will be held Sunday, Jan. 25, climaxing the fund-raising campaign.

"We are just now beginning to discover the fearful toll that birth defects take each year in this country," McIntyre said. "Not only are there 250,000 babies born annually with serious birth defects, but physicians are discovering that many disabling and even fatal ailments which crop up later in life are actually the fault of hidden birth defects.

"The March of Dimes, is supporting the work of many prominent scientists who are investigating these and other aspects of birth defects hoping to find the means of preventing them.

"In Boston alone the March of Dimes supports three centers and clinics that are furnishing improved medical care for victims of birth defects, making it possible for many of them to escape permanent disability."

The Mysterious Ring

One summer day the door bell rang. My brother went to answer it and no one was there.

Then the door bell rang again. He answered it again. No one was there. Well the door bell kept on ringing and my brother kept answering it. Still no one was there.

So finally it rang for the last time and for the last time my brother answered the door. He looked all around the stairs and finally found out who it was. He ran and told my mother and my father who it was. Then he told my sister and my brother. Then he told me.

It was our dog Tippy. He wanted to come in and no one would let him in so he jumped up and rang the door bell.

What Some Different Lines Suggested To Me

This is a female green-eyed, long-beaked, pointy-bodied, curly-backed, flabby-pawed, rainbow-colored messy outlined, money-spitting, freaky bippyosauriss admiring her feminine beauty. To make her give money, just pull her orange curl and bite the green one. Immediately the bite travels through her curls and her points down to her paws, then around the back and up through her green, yellow, orange, red, purple, and blue sections. Finally, when the bite hits her brain, she shrieks, "AAAAAK!", and a golden coin falls from her beak.

Stuck In A Hole

I took a trip down to Fall River, Mass., to see the U. S. S. Massachusetts. We walked around the decks and looked at the guns, and went down near the bottom of the ship.

We saw a store, Dentists office, Doctors, kitchen, diet kitchen, and the engine room.

Then we were about to leave. They have this gun you can look in at, you can see all the way to the end of it, and I stuck my head into the barrel too far and got my head stuck. It took my father about five minutes to get me out of there. We left the U.S.S. Massachusetts, and I never want to go on that boat again!

Our Safety Patrol

The safety patrol of the Gridley Bryant School is working hard to prevent accidents.

So far, we are doing very well. The safety patrols are taking the place of policemen. We are doing a very important and difficult job. We take an oath to be loyal and to care for the children.

Unfortunately, we can't all be trusted. The idea of being a trustworthy person gets into some of our heads as being a big bully. True, we do not always seem fair, but think, a lot of the children think that we are put on a post so that they can disobey us.

For instance, a child is running. You know he can fall. You ask him to walk and he orders you to, "Shut your trap." He wouldn't dare tell a policeman to shut up. I do not consider a patrolman's post a clutter place for youngsters, either. I have served on patrol already, and it is very interesting.

Sometimes, a child will be little goody two shoes" for about a week, and then ask to wear your patrol belt. When you explain why you can't have it, they become a big oaf. We do think it will be good for the children to be on the patrol for the last month of school so they will not be big shots when their turn comes.

The Gridley Bryant School is in good hands for safety. We hope the school will remain this way too, because we try to train the younger boys and girls before their turn comes. We are trying hard to give our school a good reputation.

Once there was a leaf. He was on ground and he got raked up into a bunch of leaves. He had fun.

Then he blew away far away. He landed. Someone picked him up and brought him in the house and kept it. It was real pretty so now he brought him in the house and kept it.

It was real pretty so now he brought it to school. The teacher liked it. He brought it home and let it go. The leaf flew away and it got raked up and got jumped on then he flew away and landed went in the barrel and was thrown away.

Sam's Trip

Just a couple of weeks ago we went to the new state park and brought our dog Sam. Sam is a big black labrador retriever.

He loved the forest very much. We took a hike in the forest and saw squirrels and chipmunks running around. We also saw some nice clear lakes. Sam saw them too and decided to go for a swim. When we were deeply into the forest, we decided to turn back.

My brother, Allen told Sam to lead us back to the car. We didn't think he would, but he did. When we got back to the car my little sister, Tammy, got hungry so my mother gave us all an apple. We ate our apple as we rode through the park.

When we were ready to leave we saw some horses passing. Sam started barking and growling at them. He thought that they were overgrown dogs!

On the way home my sister, Cyndi and my brother, Scott wanted ice-cream, so my father stopped and got us all an ice-cream cone.

My brother asked my mother if he could make a sandwich for David. We went on our trip. It took one hour to get there.

When we got there we played ball for a long time. After that we had lunch. For lunch we had meat and cheese.

After I ate one. I had one more. I ate a piece, I found it was soap in my sandwich. I ran for milk. I made my brother one, too!!

The Night

Pete went to bed thinking of his big trip to Polar Caves in New Hampshire. He went to sleep all excited.

The next thing Pete knew he was in the cave. He and his family and about fifty other people plus their guide.

The guide starts by saying the Polar Caves have corridors of 150 miles long. Pete was still all excited. The guide was showing them the little underground streams. For years they have been running. Then all of a sudden BOOM! Pete screamed, "What is that?"

The guide said, "I don't know." Dirt started coming from the walls. Stalactites fell from the ceiling. The guide, Pete and the fifty people ran for the front of the cave. They found the cave blocked. They all ran to another exit. It was blocked. They ran to the next exit; it too was blocked. The guide said, "That's all the exits left. We're going to have to stay here until they dig us out."

After about an hour Pete began to scream. His father said, "Stop crying." Pete kept screaming and yelling. His mother pushed him and yelled, "Wake up, Pete."

Pete said, "Where am I?"

His mother said, "You had a dream. You are still in bed!"

The Thick Fog

In Nantucket every morning the fog is thick. It is so thick you can not even see your hand in front of your face!

One morning Bill and John decided to go swimming even though the fog was thick. They knew the life guard would be there. They also knew the fog was too thick to swim in. But they didn't care.

When they got to the beach there was no one there. Not even the life guard. But they still went swimming. Yes they Did! The undertow was strong and the waves were high. But they still went swimming.

After a while John came out of the water. Bill yelled, "Ya going home?"

John yelled back, "Ya,"

Bill yelled, "Whats the matter you afraid to swim in the fog?" John just kept on going.

After a while Bill spotted a strange object. He started to swim to shore but the undertow was too strong. He tried and tried, but was just towed right out to sea!

Finally a boat saw him and picked him up. And he never went swimming alone again.

GBL Record Unblemished

Quincy In Best Performance Of Season

Quincy's football team turned in its best two-way performance of the year last week and the Presidents will take an unbeaten Greater Boston League record into Thanksgiving's finale against North Quincy.

A win on the holiday will assure Quincy at least a co-championship, depending upon the result of the Malden-Medford game. But North will have a lot to say about that.

"We know how high North will be for us, especially after last year," Coach Hank Conroy said. "They would have won the league title last year if they had beaten us but we knocked them out and give it to Somerville."

Quincy has a 5-0-1 league record and a 6-1-1 overall mark following last week's impressive 26-0 romp at Medford, which had lost only one previous game.

"That was the first time our offense and defense really jelled together," Conroy explained. "The defense, which has been strong all season, reached its peak at Medford and the offense also clicked well."

The defense held Medford to minus 39 yards on the ground and minus 12 yards overall, while Quincy gained 95 yards rushing and 99 passing.

The alert Presidents intercepted four Medford passes and also fell on four fumbles.

Paul Picarski was the big man on offense as he scored 20 points, scoring on short runs, three yards in the first period, and twice on two-yard plunges in the third period. He also rushed for two extra points.

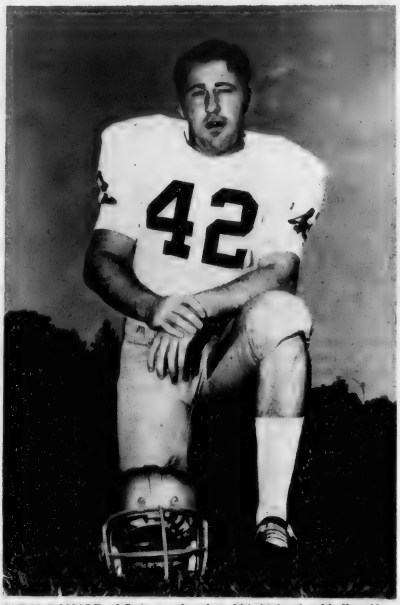
Sophomore flash Steve Mc Carthy scored the other touchdown in the second quarter on a 12-yard run.

The closest Medford came was to Quincy's 37 in the third period but fumbled into the hands of tackle Steve Shapiro.

Rich Menchi was just great as usual," Conroy lauded. "Kevin Ryan had another fine game and Menchi was terrific both ways. Cliff Mattson, Shapiro and Paul Hand also blocked well and all excelled on defense. Rick Pettiti and Dennis Waters are others who stood out."

Waters set up the first TD with a fumble recovery and others were set up by pass interceptions by Hand and Rick Graham. John Provost also had two interceptions as he continued to sparkle on pass defense.

Wayne Richards did some excellent punting and one 46-yard beauty set Medford back deep in its own territory.



QUINCY SCORING

	TD	PAT	Total
Picarski	7	6	48
McCarthy	6	0	36
Daley	4	0	24

Richards	0	2	2

In the final period Mattson grabbed a Medford fumble in the air on the Medford 40 and ran it all the way back to the Mustangs' 16.

Medford had just one first down while Quincy picked up 11. Ryan completed six passes for 99 yards.

It will be a glorious day for Quincy if it wins over North on the holiday, but the Raiders hope to make it anything but happy for their cross-town rivals.

JOE McDONALD of Quincy, who played his high school ball at Abp. Williams, is the starting fullback for the Boston College football team. Joe, who had a fine 1968 season, was off to a good start until injured, but returned to action in the Army game. Coach Joe Yukica rates the Quincy player as one of the Eagles' best offensive threats.

Bryan Leads Little Loop Bowling

The Bryan Post VFW is leading the Quincy Bowling Little Loop, now entering its fifth week of competition at the Wollaston Boulevard Bowladrome.

Mike Conroy with a 104.5 average is top bowler of the 14-team youngsters' league, followed by Tom Joyce, 100.6 and Paul Peckham, 98.0. Mike Joyce holds the individual high three score with 352, and Tom Joyce with 123 has the individual high single.

A memorial trophy in honor of Peter Gerry, former member of the league who lost his life in Vietnam will be awarded to the sponsor of the championship team at the annual May Banquet.

It's Quincy v.s. North Saturday--Soph Version

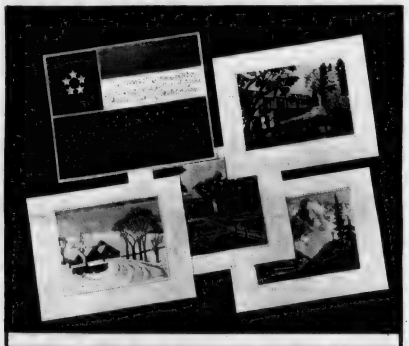
Although the Quincy and North Quincy varsity football squads are idle until their Thanksgiving Day classic, the fans can see a fine game Saturday morning at 10 at Veterans Memorial Stadium and get a view of both schools' future prospects.

Quincy's unbeaten sophomores, coached by Dave Burke, will meet Ted Sadowski's North sophs in a game expected to attract a good crowd.

Burke's Quincy soph teams have lost only once in three years and this year's club takes a 6-0 record into Saturday's games.

Quincy had its last two scheduled games with Medford and Scituate rained out and has wins over Brockton, Weymouth, Arlington, Brookline, Hingham and B. C. High.

The Quincy sophs were unbeaten a year ago and their last loss was midway in the 1967 season.



The North sophs have a fine 5-1 record, winning five in a row since losing their opener to B. C. High. They have wins over Brookline, Scituate twice, Hingham and Weymouth. Their scheduled game with Medford was rained out.

Several sophomores from both schools have played with the varsity squads this year. One, Steve McCarthy, is a starting back for Quincy and is one of the Presidents' top ground gainers and scorers. Another, Bob Bosader, had a long touchdown run in the varsity's romp over Chelsea.

Frazier: 'Boys Played Good Ball'

North Disappointed--But Full Of Heart

North Quincy's football team under new coach Ralph Frazier, will take a disappointing 2-6 record [2-4 in the Greater Boston League] into the Thanksgiving classic with Quincy, but a win over the Presidents would make the Raiders' season a marked success.

North, with only wins over Everett and Chelsea, dropped a 14-0 decision to Somerville last week but Frazier knows he will have no trouble getting his team up for Quincy.

"The boys have played good ball this year despite the record and have fought their hearts out," Ralph said. "Last year Quincy knocked us out of the league title and we would certainly like to repay them and knock them out of the championship on Thanksgiving."

Somerville got off to a fast start and took a 14-0 lead in the first half, scoring its first touchdown early in the game.

"That made us do a lot of things we hadn't planned on and we had to gamble," the North coach explained. "We played a much better second half and played them on even terms, but the damage had already been done.

"Although we moved the ball well at times, we had only one good scoring chance, reaching their four-yard line in the third period but then we stalled. In the second half they also had only one real threat when we stopped them on our 10."

Frazier singled out Steve Tomasetti for his running, saying he was North's best back, also hailed Tony Kelly, John Panarelli and Paul Lippens for their efforts.

"On defense there is no doubt about our outstanding player, it had to be Jimmy deVarennes," Frazier added. "He is only 5-7 and 155 pounds but hits like a 200-pounder and did a terrific job. Jim Sarruda also played well as did Dan Zink, who had a key interception."

Raiders To Play At Celtics Game

Another strong schedule of high school basketball games has been arranged as preliminaries to the Celtics' home games at Boston Garden.

Among the teams playing will be North Quincy's defending Greater Boston League champions, who will face Medford in a league game on Jan. 9.

All schoolboy games will start at 6 p.m., followed by the Celtics games at 8.

Giants End Season At Bridgeport

BY CHARLES LOWE

If the Quincy Giants of the Atlantic Coast Football League act lonesome Friday night, they have cause to be.

They'll be winding up the 1969 football season away from home without benefit of having treated the home fans to a victory.

The team journeys to Bridgeport, Conn., to play the Jets, affiliated with the World Champion New York Jets, in John F. Kennedy Stadium at 8 p.m.

In a previous meeting between the two clubs, the Jets eked out a 21-17 win over the Giants, at Veteran's Memorial Stadium last month.

The Giants [2-8] will be operating at a disadvantage as they will be without the services of their ace halfback, Paul Della Villa, the diminutive [5-9] running back. Della Villa has proved he has the potential for better things by his performances all season. He injured his knee against Long Island [Bulls] at Hofstra College Stadium two weeks ago and is done for the year.

His place is expected to be taken by Andy Heidelberg [Norfolk State, Va.] who is being converted from a defensive back.

Tom Tyler [Holy Cross] will get the nod from Head Coach Ross O'Hanley for the quarterbacking assignment with Don Allard [B.C.] as the backup man. Tyler received rib and back injuries in the game at Quincy against Richmond, Va., in a contest that saw a wild melee with 31 seconds to go, and never was actually concluded. He [Tyler] is now ready to resume play, having recovered.

O'Hanley said, "I hope we can end the season on a winning effort, because I really don't think that the team is as bad as our record. We've come very close to winning several of the games we lost and I think it would be a great boost for morale to win the last one."

The Giants will be playing one less game than the schedule calls for as last Saturday night's game against Long Island was cancelled because of the weeklong rains which left the Quincy stadium in questionable condition for not only Quincy High's gridders and North Quincy High players but the Giants as well. Instead of a 12-game schedule, the Giants will have played 11.

St. Joseph's Forming Men's Hockey League

St. Joseph's Parish is forming a men's hockey league open to men of the parish 14 years and older.

The league is using the Neponset MDC rink on Saturdays from 5:15 to 5:45 p.m.

Open skating for league members will be held this Saturday. League action will start Nov. 29.

Those interested in participating may obtain more information by calling Jack Marani at 773-4009 or Paul Erickson at 479-6532.

BUSINESS LEAGUE CHAMPS of the Quincy Babe Ruth League were sponsored by Local 444 of Pneumatic Scale. Left to right [front row] Bill Lewando, Jimmy Roberts, Dick Wheelock, Tom Wilkons [second row] Jack Rabel, Lou Fisherman, Joe Wilkinson, Dick Magnarelli, Mark Austin, John Pineau, Paul Coner [rear row] Manager Bob Foley, Steve McKinnon. 90 High School Students Make Reservations For Switzerland Ski Trip

Reservations for a February 14-21 ski trip to Geneva, Switzerland, have already been made by 90 high school students and 18 adult family members.

The trip, sponsored by John Pierce, senior class advisor at North Quincy High School, is open to students at both North and Quincy High Schools and members of their families.

The group will leave Logan Airport February 14th aboard a Trans World Airlines plane. They will start at Grand Hotel, deL'-observatoire, St. Cerque, Switzerland.

Students interested are asked to call Mr. Pierce as soon as possible as the trip is limited to 125 reservations. Additional information will be available following this week's preliminary meeting.

South Shore National:
when you need the money more than you need a friend.

Now just in time for the Holidays you can...

save on International flatware at South Shore National Bank

The pattern on the left: "Camelot," charmingly chivalrous in original Rogers silverplate. On the right: "Ventura," wonderfully contemporary in satin finish stainless. Both by International Silver of Meriden, Connecticut.

The catch: you've got to open a savings or checking account for $25 or more or add $25 or more to your present savings or checking account. Additional deposits of $25 or more, of course, allow you to buy additional place settings at the same low price.

The nice little touch: we give you your fifth place setting free. And after you've collected 12 place settings, we give you a set of six teaspoons free too.

It pays to get your silver at our bank.

Della Villa, Lanzilli Top Giants

Paul Della Villa, former Boston College running back, who has performed admirably as a running back [halfback] for the Quincy Giants has been named as the Most Valuable Player On Offense by a vote of the Giants Coaching staff.

The staff selected Joe Lanzilli, a graduate of Northeastern University, and a defensive tackle as its Most Valuable Player on defense.

The two will receive identical awards given by the General Dynamics Athletic League [Stan Kyller, president], at a banquet, Dec. 16, at the Viking Club. Quincy Ave., East Braintree.

According to Bob Dee, defensive line coach and Giants vice-president and a five-time American Football League All-League at defensive end for the Boston Patriots, "both have a good shot at getting tryouts with some major [either AFL or NFL] teams next year. They need only a little polishing to make the grade. Both have great desire and do have the ability.

Dee also thinks that Joe Thomas, another defensive tackle also deserves a tryout camp looksee.

Thomas, without any previous college experience, only high-school and Army service experience, has come on very well, and could, with the proper coaching nail himself down a berth with a big-league club.

In spite of its losing season, the Giants could contribute heavily, if three of its players did go on to either an AFL club or one in the NFL.

This is what minor-league football is all about.

A case in point is the fact that Tom Dempsey, now of the New Orleans Saints, who beat the New York Giants last Sunday with a field goal with five seconds to play. Two years ago he was playing with the Giants of Lowell.

–CHARLES LOWE

Graham To Speak At Quarterback Club

Ken Coleman, Voice of the Boston Red Sox, who grew up and played sports at North Quincy High School, and starred in C.Y.O. baseball for Sacred Heart Parish, will introduce Otto Graham, former All-Pro quarterback with the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League Monday night, at the South Shore Country Club.

The occasion will be the monthly meeting of the Quarterback Club, which will be held at South Shore Country Club, Hingham, at 7 p.m.

The affair has been a complete sellout for weeks.

Prior to coming back to Boston [Ken broke in with WJDA, Quincy, announcing schoolboy football] he was the play-by-play announcer for the Browns and the Indians [American League in baseball] and a close friend and neighbor of Graham in Cleveland.

Coleman returned to Boston in 1966 succeeding Curt Gowdy with the Red Sox at the microphone.

Coleman Christmas Seal Drive Honorary Chairman

Ken Coleman, "Voice of the Red Sox", will serve as Honorary Chairman for Norfolk County in the 1969 Christmas Seal Campaign, announced Dr. Donald A. Martin of Braintree, President of the Norfolk County Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

Coleman, a North Quincy native, now lives in Cohasset.

The 1969 Christmas Seal campaign will provide funds to fight tuberculosis, emphysema, other respiratory disease and to battle air pollution in the 28 communities of Norfolk County.

Coleman, one of the nation's leading sportscasters, joined the Boston Red Sox broadcasting team on WHDH-TV and WHDH-Radio in 19[illegible].

National Honorary Christmas Seal Chairman is television personality Mike Douglas.

The Christmas Seal campaign opened officially November 12 and continued through December 31st.

"Christmas Seals pay for a program that is one of our best chances to fight tuberculosis and to help control emphysema, other respiratory disease as well as to control air pollution," Coleman said.

"The Christmas Seal organization works throughout the year in every Norfolk County community providing community services, professional education and training, public health education, research and patient services", he noted.

"Physical fitness is a matter of life and breath. Use Christmas Seals generously to fight respiratory disease and air pollution", he said.

The Good Old Days

Much reference is made to the "Good Old Days". We are often confronted with problems in today's society and at times like this our mind plays a game and we wistfully recall these non-existent "good old days".

I suppose this is more or less of a safety valve than an escape. The problems and the difficulties are forgotten and the happier moments remembered more vividly. This is human.

The above expression is oft repeated when people talk about their old family doctors who made house-calls and whose charges were nominal compared to today's cost. What did medicine offer then?

A group of us at lunch recently overheard a woman say "my aunt lost three children in 11 days of black diptheria". No doubt the family doctor was there to watch each child choke to death, turning purple-blue and comforting the parents as best he could. No diptheria need exist today with the shots administered by private physicians or offered free in clinics. This is combined with preventatives for whooping cough (also fatal in infants in the "good old days") and toxoid to prevent tetanus.

Grandmothers today watch the bowels of infants and children. "Summer diarrhea" used to be a killer only two generations ago. Stoppage of the bowel was always feared. Probably due to a ruptured appendix with peritonitis. Early diagnosis and surgery helped some but today with anti-biotics even a ruptured appendix is no longer fatal – less than one tenth of one percent no matter what kind of an appendix.

Polio! Now two drops in the mouth periodically has wiped out this dreadful crippler and killer!

Antibiotics! What a world of help and hope they opened up. Pneumonia required a convalescense of six to eight weeks if you made it. Fifty percent of adults and fewer children recovered in the "good old days". Loss of income if Dad was sick. Not such whopping hospital bills then, but how many weeks were required for recovery and empyema (puss in the chest – practically never seen today). Antibiotics, penicillin, etc. made the difference.

Menengitis, the killer and crippler – antibiotics! Now, all this depends on accurate diagnosis followed by proper treatment. Not by just a look at the tongue or a sniff of the air. My old professor of medicine used to say, "you can snell pneumonia".

Skilled examinations with good light, proper instruments, and laboratory tests are required. This cannot be done at home. Rarely. An auto ride to an office is not a ride in an open buggy. Even then, many pneumonia patients were known to have their "crisis" and started recovery in the cooler air of an ambulance in the "good old days".

Many pneumonias can be treated in the office or home. Doctors had the time but little else to offer the patients in the "good old days". Time and attention was accepted as necessary medical procedure. We have practised before modern surgery and anti-biotics and believe us – there is a difference in patient recovery, survival and health – worth the effort and price by all concerned.

Weather Outlook 'Good'

Family Reunions, Services, Football Thanksgiving Menu

Thanksgiving, 1969 will be observed in Quincy with special church services, family reunions, traditional turkey dinner and the classic Quincy-North Quincy football game.

For some Quincy families, thoughts on this holiday will be far-away in Vietnam where loved ones are serving their country.

And on this day of feast, many will remember the hungry with special donations.

The weather outlook is "good"

Wollaston Baptist, Congregational and United Methodist parishioners will attend an 8 p.m. service Wednesday at First Baptist Church of Wollaston.

Also at 8 p.m. Wednesday, members of Union Congregational, First Church of Squantum, Memorial Congregational and Atlantic Methodist Church will join in a Thanksgiving Eve service at St. Chrysostom's Episcopal Church.

While Thanksgiving is a time for feasting, the hungry will specifically be remembered at two services.

The Thank Offering at the combined service at the First Baptist Church of Wollaston Wednesday night will be turned over to the NAACP Mississippi Relief Fund to help feed starving people in that state.

At St. Joseph's Catholic Church, the Christian Service Commission is sponsoring a special Thanksgiving Day Mass at 8 a.m.

Children will offer their thanks by donating canned goods, coffee, cereal and tea for the needy.

Adult parishioners will volunteer donations to be used for the purchase of turkeys.

Few Thanksgiving Baskets From Salvation Army

"Very few" Thanksgiving baskets will be given away by the Quincy Salvation Army this year, only in extreme cases, according to a report from its Quincy headquarters.

Instead, the organization is concentrating on Christmas baskets for which quite a few requests have already been received.

Last year the Quincy Salvation Army distributes 141 Christmas dinners, provided toys for 520 children, and visited 1,000 shut-ins during the holiday season.

Several Hundred Raised For Montclair Widow Fire Victim

"Several hundred dollars" have been received for the Walsh Family Fund, according to John Mc Gue of the Hancock Bank and Trust Company, fund treasurer.

Contributions are continuing to come in, however, for Mrs. Michael J. Walsh, widowed mother of seven, whose home at 30 Becket St., Montclair, was burned out by fire on Nov. 4.

Persons interested in helping may send checks or money orders to Mr. McGue at Hancock Bank and Trust Company, 415 Hancock St., North Quincy.

McIntyre Named To Cities Transportation Committee

Mayor James R. McIntyre has been appointed a member of the Committee on Transportation of the National League of Cities by Beverly Briley, president.

He will serve with two additional delegates representing Massachusetts on the committee, whose chairman is Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore, Md.

The League's purpose is to maintain city leadership in national urban policy development through a National Municipal Policy.

A Statement From The Quincy Sun. . .

Imitation, they say, is the highest form of flattery.

We are flattered that an outside group is planning to put out a new publication in Quincy.

But we are a bit concerned by the fact that there seems to be confusion in the minds of some that this new publication is being published by the Quincy Sun.

We wish to make it perfectly clear that the Quincy Sun has no connection whatsoever with the new publication.

It is NOT the Quincy Sun regular weekly newspaper.

And, it is NOT the Quincy Sun Shopping Special, our 30,000 circulation shopping publication delivered to every home in Quincy.

Advertising solicitors now in the Quincy area for the new publication are not associated with the Quincy Sun or the Quincy Sun Shopping Special.

Any impression that they are connected with the Quincy Sun or the Quincy Sun Shopping Special is completely erroneous.

The Quincy Sun also wishes to announce that it is moving from its present location at 7 Foster St. to new and larger quarters at 1601 Hancock St. in downtown Quincy, Dec. 1.

The Quincy Sun and Quincy Sun Shopping Special will occupy office suites 4 and 5 on the second floor of the Mutual Building above the Kincaide Furniture Co. and next door to Sears Roebuck.

Here, the Quincy Sun will expand its role as an independent community oriented newspaper, covering in depth news of Quincy's government, schools, clubs and organizations and its people.

We are sincerely grateful for and encouraged by the support of our readers and advertisers in the past year and pledge to continue our role in the community as Quincy's Own Weekly Newspaper.

'A Very Good Year'

Editor, Quincy Sun:

As Frank Sinatra sings, "It's been a very Good Year." 1969 certainly has been a very good year for the people served by Morgan Memorial Goodwill Industries.

For instance, over 2,000 handicapped and disadvantaged persons will have moved through Goodwill's doors this year. Over 300 people will have been placed in productive jobs in industry. 700 people are on the job daily at Goodwill.

This service is possible through our community knowing of and supporting Morgan Memorial Goodwill Industries ... and our community knows of Goodwill only because you have endorsed and publicized Goodwill.

You have done this in your columns many, many times and believe me, we are sincerely grateful.

THANKS-FOR-GIVING.

Traditional Holiday In Quincy

[Cont. from Page 1]

fresh vegetables and fruit for baskets to be given to needy families at Christmas.

Locally, the Salvation Army will distribute a few Thanksgiving baskets but the benevolent organization is concentrating more this year on the needy at Christmas.

Meanwhile, a fund-raising campaign to reunite a North Quincy widow mother of seven with her family for Christmas has raised "several hundred dollars."

Mrs. Michael J. Walsh was left homeless when fire gutted her Becket St. home Nov. 4.

Friends and neighbors started the fund last week to repair the burned out home so that the now scattered family can be reunited there for Christmas.

Donations may be sent to: The Walsh Family Fund, Hancock Bank & Trust Co., 415 Hancock St., North Quincy.

On a lighter note some 12,000 are expected to be on hand at Veterans Memorial Stadium Thursday morning at 10 a.m. for the 37th annual Quincy-North Quincy football classic.

Quincy will enter the game as a favorite with a chance to clinch or share the Greater Boston Football league title.

But in this game, "the records don't mean a thing" and North Quincy will "up" hoping to upset the favored Presidents.

And, if you are driving this Thanksgiving, there's a few words of caution from the Automobile Legal Association.

"Be chicken" on Turkey Day and ignore hitchhikers, the ALA advises.

Drivers risk being "robbed, slugged and even killed for being a good samaritan" the ALA warned.

Post Offices Closed On Thanksgiving

Quincy, Wollaston, North Quincy and all other post offices will be closed on Thursday, Thanksgiving Day.

No deliveries of mail will be made except for special deliveries according to George K. Walker, Officer-in-Charge of the Boston Postal District.

Mail will be collected only from the boxes located outside postoffices of the Boston Postal District on Thursday. This collection will be at 3:00 P.M.

B.C. Seniors Assigned As Practice Teachers

Four seniors in the Boston College School of Education have been assigned as practice teachers in the Quincy Public Schools.

They are Miss Dorothy Greene of Mattapan, elementary school teacher; Miss Melanie Drozdowski of Dorchester and Mrs. Winnifred M. Golden of Milton, both teaching mathematics; and Miss Helen C. Deschenes of 117 Reardon St., Quincy, teaching Biology.

The students work under direction of Quincy teachers and supervisors as well as faculty members from Boston College.

Sunbeams

There's a sad note to Thursday's 37th annual Quincy-North Quincy football classic.

Missing from the scene will be Walter Joly who made an historic contribution to the series.

Walter, who died recently, scored the first touchdown in the first game in 1933 to give North the first victory, 6-0.

"Walter will really be missed," says Pete Zoia who played in the same backfield with him.

HERE'S ONE: In this age of social security benefits, Frank Speranzo of 75 Columbia St., West Quincy, is somewhat of a phenomenon.

Frank, who immigrated to America many years ago, is 73--and holds down two jobs. He is a laborer for the Union Gear Co., on Penn St. and also helps out at the Liberty St. Auto Body Shop.

Ask him why he continues to work at his age and he'll just smile. Or say, "I like to."

* * *

LOOKING AHEAD: Former City Councillor Francis X. McCauley reportedly is eyeing a bid for Governor's Councillor next year.

* * *

HONOR: Mrs. Americo Cherubini of Quincy has been installed as First Supreme Guard of the Supreme Emblem Club of the U.S.A.

* * *

NICE-GESTURE-DEPT: The Adams Heights Men's Club will host a Christmas party for 50 children of Nazareth Dec. 14 at the Bower Rd. clubhouse. The youngsters will be treated to a turkey dinner, and movies and Santa will be there in person to distribute Christmas gifts. The committee includes Sam Galisi, Charles Johnston, William MacDonald, John Salvaggio and Nunzio Della Sella.

LOST AND FOUND: The Telephone Co. tells about a parakeet that went AWOL in Kansas and flew 12 miles away from his home.

A man found him and was quite surprised when the bird chirped, "Cal Mary, 521-4312". The man did and Mary and the parakeet were soon reunited.

The Telephone Co. notes that if a bird can learn his phone number, a child can, too. And if your youngster wanders away, he can tell whoever finds him to call his home.

* * *

A FEW WORDS of warning from the Automobile Legal Association: "be chicken" on Turkey Day and ignore holiday hitchhikers.

"Many tragis accidents during the past few weeks, both to the driver and hitchhiker, point up the great dangers to everyone concerned," says Philip C. Wallwork, ALA safety director.

"While we're sympathetic toward servicemen and students trying to get home for the holidays, they should realize the folly of getting into the car of a perfect stranger.

"And, on the other hand, the driver risks being robbed, slugged and even killed for being a good samaritan."

* * *

SMILE DEPT: From the Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Assn. news-letter via Hector Pelletier: "As we interpret the Supreme Court's guideline on police interrogation, if the motorcycle officer asks you where's the fire...insist on your rights...YOU DON'T HAVE TO TELL HIM."

Harry Beede To Retire Jan. 16 As Principal At Broadmeadows

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

Harry A. Beede, principal at Broad Meadows Junior High School, will retire Jan. 16 after more than 34 years as an educator in the Quincy Public Schools.

Mr. Beede, a Quincy native and a Quincy High School graduate, began his career as a general science teacher at North Quincy. During this time he was called to active Naval duty in World War II, serving from 1942-1946 as military officer in charge of harbor defence units at various ports, including Boston, Portland and Attu in the Aleutians. He was discharged with the rank of lieutenant-commander.

Returning to Quincy, he became assistant principal at North Quincy Junior High School and its junior high, and in 1949, he became principal at Central Junior High School.

Instrumental in the designing, plans and construction of Broad Meadows Junior High School, he was named its first principal when it opened in 1957.

Mr. Beede and his wife, Dr. Louisa Beede who retires from practice at the same time, plan to live at Barnstable for seven months of the year. They will spend the remaining five months touring warmer parts of the country in their trailer home. They may also visit Europe for the first time.

A faculty reception for Mr. and Mrs. Beede is being planned for mid-December with Miss Althea Sawyer, head counselor at Broad Meadows Junior High School, in charge of arrangements.

LADY OF DISTINCTION--Miss Kathryn E. Sullivan, first assistant clerk at Quincy District Court, was made an honorary member of the Quincy Police Department at the annual police ball for her many years of outstanding service to the department. Chief Francis X. Finn presents plaque with engraved badge to her as Mayor James R. McIntyre, Court Clerk Dennis F. Ryan and William O'Donnell, president Quincy Police Relief Association, look on.

Two Quincy Students Win Elks Contest Awards

Winners in the Quincy Lodge of Elks first Americanism Poster Contest for junior high school students have been announced by Richard J. McCormick, exalted ruler. The competition was a feature of "Know Your Americanism Week," Nov. 17-22.

First place winners, both from Quincy, were Richard Widman, 13, of 419 Highland Ave., a seventh grade student at Central Junior High School, and Jacqueline Ann Branch, 14, of 52 Lincoln Ave., a ninth grade student at Cardinal Cushing High School. They will receive $25. savings bonds.

Receiving honorable mention were Douglas Frazier and Karen Maikos of East Braintree, Donna Schindler and Linda Schindler, of West Roxbury.

William F. Ryan, Quincy Lodge chairman for the statewide contest has submitted the winning posters to Thomas M. Garrity, district chairman of the event. They will be considered also by the Massachusetts Elks Association, headed by Joseph E. Brett of Quincy.

OFFICIAL OPENING--City Council President J. Vincent Smyth snips ribbon marking the opening of the new Furnace Brook Medical Building, 1261 Furnace Brook Parkway. The building is owned by the Furnace Brook Realty. From the left are Edgar Wood, architect and treasurer; William A. O'Connell, executive vice-president Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce; Dr. Charles Djerf, president Furnace Brook Realty; Louis Cassani, director; Ward 4 Councillor Albert R. Barilaro, Smyth and Edward Anderson, vice-president. [Quincy Sun Photo By J. W. Ross]

Robert Johnston 1970 Heart Fund Sector Chairman

Robert H. Johnston of 310 Adams St., Quincy, will serve as the 1970 Heart Fund Sector Chairman in Region I, East Sector, it has been announced by Sen. William D. Weeks, Chapter Campaign Chairman for the Southeast Chapter, Massachusetts Heart Association.

Mr. Johnston will be responsible for naming key Heart Fund Chairmen for Quincy, Weymouth, Braintree, Randolph, Hingham, Holbrook, Hull and Cohasset, and coordinating their fund-raising activities.

He is president and director of the Johnston Funeral Home in Milton, married, and with six children. A graduate of Boston College and New England Institute, he is a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Co. of Massachusetts, Past President of Milton Kiwanis, and Norwood Lions, past and present exalted ruler of Milton Lodge of Elks, among other organizations.

Mr. Johnston, a long-time friend of the Heart Association, states: "I am confident that the people in these eight communities will respond generously to the urgent appeal of the 1970 Heart Fund, which is the annual campaign conducted by volunteers who collect contributions which make possible the nationwide program against diseases of the heart and blood vessels, and which is culminated on Heart Sunday, Feb. 22, 1970."

Miss Gail Ann Ougoorlian Bride Of Donald Nogueira

At Goddard Chapel, Tufts University, on Saturday, Miss Gail Ann Ougoorlian became the bride of Donald W. Nogueira Jr., She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ougoorlian of 155 Bayside Rd., Squantum, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Nogueira, Sr., of 221 Atlantic St., North Quincy.

The Rev. Willis Miller of Wilmington, performed the wedding ceremony, at which Armenian church music was combined with the traditional wedding music. A reception followed at the Sheraton-Plaza Hotel, Boston.

Miss Marsha Van Gemert of Lynnfield, the maid of honor, wore a full length gown of gold velvet with long bishop sleeves accented with brown velvet. Her old fashioned bouquet of yellow flowers was accented with pheasant feathers.

In similar gowns of gold velvet and carrying bouquets of contrasting fall flowers were the bridesmaids, Miss Mary L. Grady of Manchester, N.H.; Miss Nancy Nogueira of San Francisco, Cal., and Mrs. Bruce Atkinson of Abington, both sisters of the bridegroom.

Blake Martini of Cohasset was the ring bearer. Paul Nogueira of Quincy was best man for his brother. Ushers were Bruce Atkinson of Abington, a brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Richard A. Ougoorlian and Robert A. Ougoorlian of Squantum, brothers of the bride.

After a cruise to the Bahamas, the couple will live in North Quincy. Mrs. Nogueira, a fifth grade teacher at Willard School, is a graduate of North Quincy High School, Westbrook Junior College, and Plymouth, N. H. State College. The bridegroom is a graduate of Wilbraham Academy, a senior at Tufts University where he is a member of Delta Upsilon Fraternity.

Miss Kathleen E. Tribou Wed To Ronald J. Vachon

At Most Blessed Sacrament Church, Houghs Neck, on Saturday Miss Kathleen Evelyn Tribou, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Tribou of East Weymouth, became the bride of Ronald J. Vachon. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fernand A. Vachon of 47 Mears Ave., Quincy.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an empire gown of satin with chapel length train. The neck, sleeves and skirt were trimmed with crochet lace accented with embroidered satin rosebuds. Her elbow length bouffant veil of French silk illusion was arranged from a cluster of satin roses. She carried a white missal with cluster of miniature white orchids and streamers of white lace ribbon and stephanotis.

Mrs. Timothy Sullivan of Canton, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor, while Miss Anne Marie Tribou of Weymouth, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Their identical gowns were of coral peau de soie with mandarin collars and long chiffon sleeves. Their short veils of silk illusion were caught from a cluster of coral satin roses, and they carried crescent bouquets of coral, yellow and white chrysanthemums.

Also identically gowned were Miss Janet Buckner of Weymouth, bridesmaid, and Miss Cheryl Ann Tribou of Weymouth sister of the bride, who was the flower girl.

Timothy Sullivan of Canton was best man for his brother-in-law. Peter Mancuso of Quincy and James Blanton of Weymouth were ushers.

MRS. DONALD W. NOGUEIRA
[The Nourses]

Miss Gail Ann Ougoorlian Bride Of Donald Nogueira

At Goddard Chapel, Tufts University, on Saturday, Miss Gail Ann Ougoorlian became the bride of Donald W. Nogueira Jr., She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ougoorlian of 155 Bayside Rd., Squantum, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Nogueira, Sr., of 221 Atlantic St., North Quincy.

The Rev. Willis Miller of Wilmington, performed the wedding ceremony, at which Armenian church music was combined with the traditional wedding music. A reception followed at the Sheraton-Plaza Hotel, Boston.

Miss Marsha Van Gemert of Lynnfield, the maid of honor, wore a full length gown of gold velvet with long bishop sleeves accented with brown velvet. Her old fashioned bouquet of yellow flowers was accented with pheasant feathers.

In similar gowns of gold velvet and carrying bouquets of contrasting fall flowers were the bridesmaids, Miss Mary L. Grady of Manchester, N.H.; Miss Nancy Nogueira of San Francisco, Cal., and Mrs. Bruce Atkinson of Abington, both sisters of the bridegroom.

Blake Martini of Cohasset was the ring bearer. Paul Nogueira of Quincy was best man for his brother. Ushers were Bruce Atkinson of Abington, a brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Richard A. Ougoorlian and Robert A. Ougoorlian of Squantum, brothers of the bride.

After a cruise to the Bahamas, the couple will live in North Quincy. Mrs. Nogueira, a fifth grade teacher at Willard School, is a graduate of North Quincy High School, Westbrook Junior College, and Plymouth, N. H. State College. The bridegroom is a graduate of Wilbraham Academy, a senior at Tufts University where he is a member of Delta Upsilon Fraternity.

Miss Kathleen E. Tribou Wed To Ronald J. Vachon

At Most Blessed Sacrament Church, Houghs Neck, on Saturday Miss Kathleen Evelyn Tribou, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Tribou of East Weymouth, became the bride of Ronald J. Vachon. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fernand A. Vachon of 47 Mears Ave., Quincy.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an empire gown of satin with chapel length train. The neck, sleeves and skirt were trimmed with crochet lace accented with embroidered satin rosebuds. Her elbow length bouffant veil of French silk illusion was arranged from a cluster of satin roses. She carried a white missal with cluster of miniature white orchids and streamers of white lace ribbon and stephanotis.

Mrs. Timothy Sullivan of Canton, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor, while Miss Anne Marie Tribou of Weymouth, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Their identical gowns were of coral peau de soie with mandarin collars and long chiffon sleeves. Their short veils of silk illusion were caught from a cluster of coral satin roses, and they carried crescent bouquets of coral, yellow and white chrysanthemums.

Also identically gowned were Miss Janet Buckner of Weymouth, bridesmaid, and Miss Cheryl Ann Tribou of Weymouth sister of the bride, who was the flower girl.

Timothy Sullivan of Canton was best man for his brother-in-law. Peter Mancuso of Quincy and James Blanton of Weymouth were ushers.

Parents' Advisory Board Created At Broad Meadows

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

A Parents' Advisory Board to promote communication between parents and teachers has been formed at Broad Meadows Junior High School.

The Board, organized as a result of the summer QSCAP program at the school, includes representatives from each of the five elementary schools feeding into Broad Meadows.

Volunteers have been serving as an interim group since August. However, to provide more democratic representation, an election will be held in January. On the basis of population in the five areas, a regular and an alternate member will be elected by parents with one each from the Great Hill, N. S. Hunting and Merrymount Schools, two from Atherton Hough School, and four from Snug Harbor School.

Ballots will be distributed to students at all of the schools. Any interested adult will be eligible for election.

Faculty members have attended monthly meetings with the Parents Advisory Board, and the Board is represented at weekly meetings of the Principal's Advisory Committee by its secretary, Mrs. Patricia Short. Two students also attend these meetings. Problems concerning buses, curriculum, disipline and drugs have been discussed.

Representing the schools are Mrs. John Molloy, Merrymount; Mrs. Gerald T. Murray and Mrs. Martin Foley, Hunting; Mrs. George Sutherland, Mrs. Charles Shea, Mrs. Robert Denvir, Atherton Hough; Mrs. James Kenney, Great Hill; Mrs. John F. Morrissey, interim group chairman; Mrs. Short, Mrs. Norma Reilly, Mrs. Katherine Flynn, Mrs. Mary Murphy, Mrs. Eleanor Crowe, Mrs. Harry A. Ross and Mrs. Rosemary Wahlburg, Snug Harbor.

John Walsh, director of the summer QSCAP program, represents the Broad Meadows faculty at meetings of the Parents Advisory Board with William Long, assistant principal; James Sullivan, councilor; and other teachers attending on a rotating plan.

save on International flatware at South Shore National Bank

The pattern on the left: "Camelot," charmingly chivalrous in original Rogers silverplate. On the right: "Ventura," wonderfully contemporary in satin finish stainless. Both by International Silver of Meriden, Connecticut.

The catch: you've got to open a savings or checking account for $25 or more or add $25 or more to your present savings or checking account. Additional deposits of $25 or more, of course, allow you to buy additional place settings at the same low price.

The nice little touch: we give you your fifth place setting free. And after you've collected 12 place settings, we give you a set of six teaspoons free too.

"Completion Units" made up of things like serving spoons and butter knives, plus a beautiful storage chest are also available at similar savings with deposits of $25 or more. It pays to get your silver at our bank.

Three Wollaston Churches, Baptist, Congregational and United Methodist, will combine this year at First Baptist Church of Wollaston at 8 p.m. on Wednesday.

Rev. Joseph O'Donnell, interim pastor of Wollaston Congregational Church, will be the speaker. The Thank Offering will be given to feed starving people in Mississippi through "NAACP Mississippi Relief Fund".

At Wollaston Church of the Nazarene on Wednesday a prayer and fasting service is scheduled for 6 p.m. and at Covenant Congregational Church, there will be a 7:30 p.m. Thanksgiving service. Adams Shore Community Church will hold a brief service of prayer and meditation at 7:45 p.m.

Sponsored by the Inter-Church Council, parishioners of Union Congregational Church, First Church of Squantum, Memorial Congregational Church and Atlantic Methodist Church will meet with parishioners at St. Chrysostom's Church for an 8 p.m. Thanksgiving Eve Service.

Rev. Robert Bossdorf, new minister at Atlantic Methodist Church, will be the preacher.

The Junior Choir of St. Chrysostom's Church will sing, with adult choirs of the other four churches also participating. Mrs. Ottalie Scales of Union Congregational Church will be the soloist. Ministers of all the participating churches will take part in the worship service.

A 16-member Indian Children's choir will sing at the 7 p.m. Thanksgiving night service on Thursday at Glad Tidings Church. They are accompanying Rev. and Mrs. Harold Hanson, who have been working with the Pima and Maricopa Indians of Arizona for seven years. Rev. Hanson will speak and show slides, and there will be a display of Indian pottery and jewelry.

Z. Cranston Smith To Address Wollaston Methodist Youth

"A Journey through Europe" and "Great Cathedrals of Christendom," an illustrated talk, will be presented by Z. Cranston Smith Sunday, Nov. 30 at a 7 p.m. open meeting of the Youth Fellowship at Wollaston United Methodist Church.

Mr. Smith church lay leader, and Mrs. Smith have recently returned from a vacation in Europe. A free-will offering will be received for the Youth Fellowship Scholarship Fund and other programs. There will be refreshments.

Special Thanksgiving Day Mass At St. Joseph's Church

The Christian Service Commission of St. Joseph's Parish is sponsoring a special Thanksgiving Day Mass Nov. 27 at 8 a.m.

Parishioners will have the opportunity to express their thanks to God in a special offertory procession.

Children will offer their thanks by donations of canned goods such as soups and vegetables, cereal, coffee and tea for the needy.

Donations by adults will be used for the purchase of turkeys fresh vegetables and fruit for baskets to be given to needy families at Christmas.

Mrs. George MacLean of 44 Silver St., is chairman of the Christian Service Commission.

Assisting her in this special event are Sister Mary Celestine, Mrs. Maurice Harvey, Charles Howland and John Grant.

Sacrament Church Council Meeting Dec. 2

The first meeting of the newly-elected Parish Council at Most Blessed Sacrament Church will be held Dec. 2 at 8 p.m. at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall.

William Connolly has been elected vice-chairman; Miss Eleanor Pimental, secretary-treasurer; Matthew Finn, chairman of spiritual development; Albert Walsh, parish activities; Charles Dedian, administration; Mrs. Dorothy Laing, religious education; William Mullin, Christian service.

Kevin Dunn will be youth representative to the Council, while area representatives are John McMann, Mrs. Francis Donovan, Mrs. James Kenney, Mrs. Daniel Ryan and Robert Grenier.

Rev. James P. Hart, pastor, is serving as chairman ex officio, with Rev. Garrett Barry, assistant, also a Council member.

Come . Let Us Reason Together

By Dr. William F. Knox
Personal Counselor

'The Cost Of Emotional Conflict'

"I got into the office"....the man was saying...."but I couldn't work....I just sat staring....I couldn't keep my mind on my work....my wife's last words when I left the house kept ringing in my ears...'you're no man....get out of my sight.' I'm really up tight....what am I going to do?"

The man hours that are lost because of emotional stress at home can't be measured....but if they could, they would be astronomical. The loss of personal income....the countless errors....the misjudgments in major decisions....plant and highway accidents in large number are due to sending a man out from an unhappy home situation. Of course the pressure of supervisors for productivity continues....often doesn't take emotional stress into account. So the man is really in a bind.

The same thing happens to children in school. When they're unhappy....constantly pressured and coerced by parents about room care....eating habits....home work....all kinds of unhealthy behavior may result....dawdling ....daydreaming....procrastination ....lack of cooperation....little neurotic behaviorisms like twisting hair....fondling genitals....twitching....none of them deliberate habits but compulsive. Parents yell at children for such things ....failing to realize that their own emotional distresses are being reflected in their children.

I'm sure that some women will take issue with me on this ....but I firmly believe that it is the woman in the home who sets the emotional climate in which her family lives. The loving....gracious....calm mother and wife who creates a happy atmosphere in her kitchen....the recreation room....the living room ....the bedroom....for her husband and children does so because she herself is happy.... knows how to give and receive love.

Of course, there are many men who make it utterly impossible for a wife to create this happy home climate. All the courtesies which have helped make a man successful in business are too often ignored when he gets home. Some men seem to come home itching for a fight....ignore their manners ....take out their business frustrations on their families. That after-work "stopping off for a couple" often creates within some men agitation and ugliness which seem to be in full bloom when they walk into their homes. Little do these men know how much they steal away the happiness of their wives and children....and literally dispel the spirit of happiness.

What's the answer to emotional distress at home? First and foremost....find the cause. Sexual rejection by one or the other partner will create anger ....hostility....ugly dispositions.... undue pressures on children.... frustrations....quarrels and poor work at the job or for children in school. Over-drinking by either a husband or a wife will destroy their happy relationship. Non-communication will do it. So will laziness...."affairs" with third parties....interference by the mother of the wife....or the mother of the husband....or any other "well meaning" third party. Most often one or the other is living by the same teachings and conditionings that they had as small children....which may not work in adult marriage.

Secondly....get the conflict resolved. When you've found the cause....either by yourselves or with professional help....do what you need to do whatever it is to resolve the conflict. Your marriage should be your most prized possession....nothing should be allowed to interfere. There is nothing that you should not give up for the sake of your happy marriage relationship. Do your part to get your conflict resolved. You can't be your best self until you do. Insist upon it.

Until you do get the thing resolved, learn to compartmentalize your mind so that you can go to work without the conflict upsetting you. Put it on the back burner while you concentrate on your responsibility. Then....at the proper time take it up and move toward a solution.

Try this three-fold formula ....if it works let me know....it works for a lot of people who have problems just like yours.

SANTA AR

250,000 Expected T

More than 250,000 persons are expected to line Hancock St. Sunday for the 18th annual Santa Claus Parade, sponsored by the South Shore Christmas Festival.

Features of the parade include 41 giant balloon units, a festival prince and princess, at least 15 floats, 20 bands, 17 marching units and TV children's celebrities appearing for the Marine Corps' "Toys for Tots" campaign.

The parade, which traditionally opens the holiday season, will begin at 1:30 p.m. in the Parkingway, move down School St., then turn up Hancock St. to the reviewing stand in front of the Hancock Bank and Trust Co. on Beale Street in Wollaston.

TV personalities appearing in the parade include Miss Jean [Channel 5] , Willis Whistle [Channel 38] , Bunker Hill [Channel 56] and Major Mudd [Channel 7].

Collection stations for "Toys for Tots" will be set up along the parade route at Sears, Roebuck & Co., Child World, City Hall, Veteran's Memorial Stadium, and the reviewing stand on Beale St., Wollaston.

Anthony M. Famiglietti, Quincy cemetery superintendent, will be parade coordinator.

The giant balloons, sponsored by local businesses and organizations, will be the same ones that appear on national television on Thanksgiving Day in Gimbel's Parade in Philadelphia.

Sponsors and their balloon characters include:

A year ago Quincy's football team went into the annual Thanksgiving classic against North as the underdog but shocked the Raiders, 21-8, to prevent them from winning the Greater Boston League title and give it to Somerville.

On Thursday morning the situation will be reversed. Quincy can clinch at least a tie for its first league crown (depending upon the Malden-Medford result) and North will be out to gain revenge for last year and knock the Presidents from the top rung.

"Neither Quincy nor North ever need incentive for this game, but we all know how much North would love to knock us out of it after we did it to them last year," Coach Hank Conroy said.

"We are tied with Malden for first place and we want at least a share of the title but we know we can't afford any letdown and will have to be at our peak to win".

Quincy takes a 5-0-1 league record (6-1-1 overall) into the game and Malden has the same league mark. The co-leaders played to a scoreless tie for the only blemish on their league records.

"When the year started we had a lot of question marks due to graduation losses," Conroy said, "But I knew these kids had real good character and felt they had the ability to go with it. This combination has made the difference and we have a well-balanced attack with everyone helping each other out.

"We have not had to rely on any one individual thanks to this balance. Both the offense and defense have done fine jobs and when one or more key players were out of action, others took up the slack. The defense has been tremendous all season and, except for the Malden and Weymouth games, the offense has also clicked well."

One of Quincy's key men has been quarterback Kevin Ryan, who filled a big gap after the graduation of Steve McDevitt. "Kevin isn't as colorful as McDevitt but has really done the job", Conroy lauded.

"The fact we are the league's highest scoring team is proof of his fine work and not only do I think he is the best in our league but he also outplayed the Brockton quarterback and Tom McMahon of Weymouth, despite the fact Weymouth beat us, 6-0. He really gets the job done for us".

Conroy went on to praise the ball carrying of Paul Picarski, who scored 20 points against Medford and who has run well all year as well as a line backer. The Quincy coach feels he and Rick Pettiti are the league's best line backers.

"I can't say enough for Rich Menchi, whom I consider the finest end in the league and one of the best two-way players in the state", Conroy went on. "Also, I haven't seen any better tackles than Steve Shapiro and Cliff Mattson".

Quincy's secondary also came in for its share of praise from the Presidents' skipper.

"We have had numerous pass interceptions this year with John Provost especially outstanding in this department," he said. "No team has scored on a long bomb and no one has scored on a long breakaway run.

"We work very hard with the secondary every day and it has paid off. Another factor in our winning season is the fact most these boys played together on outstanding sophomore and junior varsity teams, so they are no strangers to each other.

Eight seniors will be in the starting offensive lineup on the holiday with one sophomore and two juniors.

Menchi (junior and Mike Paluzzi will be at end with Shapiro and Mattson tackles, Bob Sylva (junior) and Paul Hand, rated by Conroy as the team's most improved player, guards, and Bob McDonald center.

Ryan will be at quarterback with Picarski and sophomore flash Steve McCarthy, a good breakaway runner, at halfback and Tom Daley, at fullback.

On the starting defensive team will be Hand at right end, Mattson right tackle, Joe Maguire right guard, Dennis Watters and Shapiro interior linemen, Menchi at left end, Pettiti and Picarski line backers, Wayne Richards cornerback and Provost and Bobby Sacchetti safeties.

Conroy was high in his praise of his assistant coaches.

"Dave Burke has done a wonderful job scouting and his fine reports have helped us tremendously," Hank said.

"And Bud Mosher, Gene Macomber and John Bogan have all done a terrific job and much of the credit for our success must go to these men".

'Throw Away The Records, They Don't Mean A Thing'

The 36-game Quincy-North Quincy football series has been marked by numerous upsets with heavily favored teams being victims of shocking defeats.

Last year North was favored to win the finale and clinch the Greater Boston League title and, although upset by the Presidents, 21-8, this was not regarded as nearly as big an upset as many other games in the series whic' began in 1933.

On paper, Quincy enters this year's big game as a tremendous favorite, but, as usual, it will be a case of "throw away the records, they don't mean a thing".

While a North win which could knock Quincy out of the GBL title running would be regarded as another big upset, the Raiders and their fans are hopeful they can do it.

Quincy this fall, in compiling a fine 6-1-1 overall record (5-0-1 in the league), has scored 170 points and given up only 57.

North, with only a 2-6 record (2-4 in the league), has scored 70 points and the opposition 153.

. . .But North Has Revenge In Its Heart

North Quincy's Ralph Frazier, facing Quincy on the holiday for the first time as a head coach, doesn't go along with the feeling of many fans who say "beat Quincy and the season is a success regardless of the outcome of the other games".

"I don't believe in this philosophy at all", Frazier said. "I admit beating Quincy would be a very happy conclusion to our season, but this isn't now a one-game season by any means".

"As far as I am concerned we play a nine-game schedule and even if we upset the dope and defeat Quincy, people a few years from now will still say "they had only a 3-6 record".

North has tremendous incentive Thursday morning. A year ago the Raiders would have won their second Greater Boston League championship with a win but underdog Quincy's 21-8 win knocked them out of the running and gave Somerville the title.

A win this year would have special meaning for four North players in particular.

Craig Bogosian, John Hemphill and Jerry Mulcahy, offensive starters; and defensive starter Joe Bertoni all started against Quincy last season.

A few of the other North players also saw service in that game and are yearning to even the score Thursday and take the league title away from Quincy, but for the above mentioned quartet revenge would be especially sweet.

Despite North's 2-6 record Frazier has found something to smile about, particularly the rapid improvement of several of his players.

"We were pretty green at the start because we had lost virtually our entire starting offensive team and our second offensive backfield", Ralph said.

"These kids have really put out 100 percent in every game, so although we are all a little disappointed at the record, I can't fault the players in any way. They are a great bunch of boys who have never given up for one minute".

On defense the Raider coach has special praise for the improvement of Jimmy Sarruda, Jim deVarennes, John Mayer and Steve Murray.

North's starting offensive team on the holiday morning will have a line of one junior, Zink, at end, and six seniors, Bogosian and Kevin Racette tackles, Dick Constantine and Hemphill guards, Bell center and Mulcahy at the other end.

Three juniors will be starting in the backfield, Lippens, Kelly and John Panarelli and senior Tomasetti.

The starting defensive unit will have hemphill at left end, Bertoni at left tackle, Mike Martin left linebacker, Bell middle guard, Murray right linebacker, Joe Spavento right tackle, Mulcahy right end, Zink left cornerback, Sarruda right cornerback, deVarennes right safety and Tomasetti left safety.

"This will be a typical Quincy-North game and, although we are underdogs, we are confident we can give them a great game and the kids feel sure they can upset the dope and avenge last year's defeat", Frazier concluded.

Ralph praised his assistant coaches, Ted Sadowski, Jack Bowes, Bill Pagnano and John Pierce for their outstanding work.

Conroy Veteran, Frazier 'Rookie' In Coaching Roles

This is Hank Conroy's sixth year as Quincy's head coach but it is actually his 11th season facing North as a coach.

Before taking over the head coaching reins in 1964, Hank was assistant under Jack Garrity for four years and under Bill Sullivan for one season.

As head coach he has a 3-2 record against North, winning in 1964, 1965 and the big one last year, while losing in 1965 and 1966. While a Quincy assistant, the Presidents topped the Raiders only once while bowing four times.

Hank also played against North for three years winning twice and tying once in 1940.

However, Ralph was assistant under Cal Leone for three years and North won his first two seasons before losing in last year's upset which knocked the Raiders out of the Greater Boston League title.

Frazier starred for three years as a North lineman against Quincy but the Raiders lost each game.

Quincy Has Upper Hand

Thursday's game is the 37th in the Quincy-North series which began in 1933.

Quincy has won 19, North Quincy has won 14 and three games ended in ties.

The series record:

Five Officials For Big Game

Joe Berman of Hull will again be the referee at the Quincy-North game, according to Murray Lewis, commissioner for high school officials.

The other officials will be John Krikorian of Brockton, umpire; Al Benson of North Reading, head linesman; Edgar Stowell of Bedford, field judge and LeRoy "Curly" Rogers of Quincy, clock operator.

12,000 Expected To Take In Classic

With good weather it is expected that the crowd for the Quincy-North game will approach last year's turnout of 12,000, one of the biggest in recent years.

The record crowd for the series was 18,000 several years ago but no one expects that mark to be equalled.

Quincy fans have the incentive of a probable Greater Boston League championship, the school's first, while North fans will be hoping for revenge after Quincy knocked the Raiders from the league title a year ago.

School Gyms To Be Open Nov. 28

The Quincy recreation department will open school gyms on Nov. 28, at all the Saturday Centers where recreation is held for boys.

The gyms will be open from 8 to 2 p.m.

The time schedule is 8 to 10 for elementary boys, 10-12 for junior high boys and from 12 to 2 p.m. for senior high school boys.

There will also be a ceramics program at the Gridley Bryant School from 8:30 to 12:30 p.m. and at the Quincy School from 8 to noon.

Quincy, North Sophs In Thanksgiving-Like Setting

Anyone viewing last Saturday's football activity at Veteran's Memorial stadium might have thought the Quincy and North Quincy varsity teams were playing.

Except for a smaller crowd [although a fine crowd for a soph contest] , it looked very much like the annual Thanksgiving varsity classic.

The teams were decked out in regular game uniforms, the cheerleaders were out in full force and the electric scoreboard was in operation.

And, despite a one-sided 35-0 victory for Dave Burke's unbeaten Quincy eleven, the action was just as hot and heavy as the varsity game. Both teams were hitting hard and there was even an outbreak of fisticuffs late in the game which was broken up quickly.

"They have really dressed up this sophomore game," said Pete Zoia, a former North Quincy standout who starred in the Raiders' 6-0 win over Quincy in 1933, the first game between the cross-town rivals. "Only a couple of years ago the teams played while wearing dirty practice uniforms with no numbers, few watched it and there was little interest.

"I think it is great to dress the game up like this. After all, these kids will be playing varsity ball in another year so why not let them get used to the color of playing before a good crowd here at the stadium?"

It was a close game for a half, with Quincy, which has lost only one game in three years, leading by only a 6-0 count. But the Raiders couldn't stop the Presidents' terrific running backs, Joe Nicastro, Peter Daley Bob Malvesti and George Sisti, in the second half.

The last game a Quincy sophomore team lost was early in the 1967 season and they have had outstanding records for years. Last year's team was unbeaten and this season's powerful club finished 7-0-0, with two games rained out.

For Ted Sadowski's North team, it ended a fine season in disappointing fashion. After losing to B. C. High in their opener, the Raiders won five in a row, so ended with a 5-2 record, having one game cancelled. Actually the one loss was to the B. C. High junior varsity. Due to a schedule mixup, B. C. thought it would be facing the North Jayvees.

"The kids did an excellent job but I was worried for a while," Burke said. "North was hitting real hard and they were fired up for us. Our backs ran very well as they have all season and Jim Walker did a fine job at quarterback. The entire line was outstanding."

Burke praised Frank Catrambone, Bob McDermott, Dennis Sattorthwaite, Joe Conor, Jeff Hanlon, Joe Davis, Dan Spencer, Mark DiGuisto and Dave Coull in the line.

Sadowski was more distressed by injuries to six players, including both quarterbacks, Bobby McKay and Paul Chambers, than by the defeat. McKay and Chambers were racked up pretty well by the aggressive Quincy line and each sat out much of the game.

No doctor was present and the North injuries and one Quincy injury pointed out the need of a doctor at these games as well as at varsity games.

"The kids fought hard and were hitting well but we just couldn't contain their fast backs," Ted said, "I don't think all those injuries were necessary and I'm afraid some could be fairly serious."

North's backs didn't get much chance to show what they could do as they were bottled up most of the game. However, Kevin Egan played well, running several kickoffs and punts back for good yardage, and John Linnehan also ran well. McKay and Chambers both did some good passing with Dave Mahoney in particular excelling as a receiver.

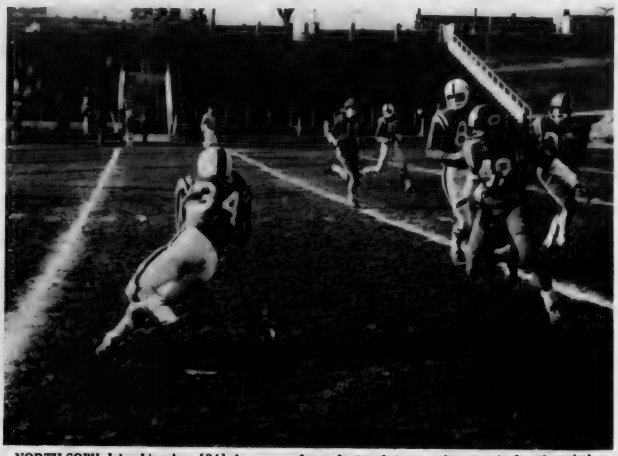
Malvesti broke away for 42 yards to the North 22 early in the game but North recovered a fumble to end the threat. Following a Raider punt, Quincy drove to a touchdown as Nicastro raced 24 yards to the North 16, Malvesti added 11 and on the first play of the second period, on third down, Nicastro scored from the one.

Following the kickoff a pass from McKay to Mahoney put North on Quincy's 22 and a jump pass to Mahoney Made it another first down on the 12. Here McKay was hit hard and forced to the sidelines and Quincy held, taking over on the 20.



Early in the third period Quincy's Charlie McKay fell on a fumble on the North 21 and on the next play Nicastro, who gave a brilliant running exhibition which must have made varsity coach Hank Conroy smile, went all the way for his second score. Malvesti rushed for the points.

A pass from McKay to Mahoney gained 25 for North but was nullified by a penalty and Quincy again held, taking over on the North 43 as Chambers also was racked up and forced out of the game. A few plays later Nicastro raced 20 yards for his and his team's third touchdown.

A little later Walker, on a keeper, went 15 yards to the North six and this time Daley scored for Quincy from the two and Walker added the 27th and 28th points on a keeper.

The final Quincy TD came after Malvesti, on a fake punt situation, raced 30 yards to North's 10 and Nicastro scored his fourth touchdown from the six. Bob Volpini kicked the final point.

North threatened late in the game but on another nice pass completion to Mahoney, Malvesti stole the ball, ending North's hopes of averting a shutout.

Quincy's Ski Program Starts Saturday

The Quincy Recreation Department's Instructional Ski Program for Quincy residents will get underway this Saturday, announces Recreational Director William F. Ryan.

The program is designed for all age groups. The four divisions will meet separately for a series of four indoor sessions at the Wollaston School Gymnasium, Beale Street and Taylor Street.

The first session will include a briefing and demonstration on purchasing ski clothing and equipment.

Mats will be used on the gym floor to check equipment for safety. Participants will then start to learn to walk on skis. A simulated ski slope running from the stage to the floor will enable them to get the feeling of skiing downhill.

Other indoor sessions will include instructions in basic ski fundamentals. Movies and other visual aids will be used by veteran instructors Bill Ellis, Don Holton, Bob Mitchell, Mike Benedict and Nancy Jennings.

The Indoor Sessions Schedule: High School Group, Wednesday 7:30 P.M. starting December 3.

Pre-School through Fifth Grade, Saturday 2 P.M. starting November 29.

Junior High Group, Saturday, 3:30 P.M. starting November 29.

Adult Group starting Thursdays, 7:30 P.M. starting December 4th.

Outdoor sessions will again be held on Heavenly Hill at the Furnace Brook Golf Course, South Central Avenue. Those interested may register for this free course during the indoor sessions.

A second series of four indoor sessions will be scheduled after Christmas.

Giants Seek Tie-In With Major Team

BY CHARLES LOWE

What does the future hold for the Quincy Giants of the Atlantic Coast Football League?

Even some hard looks into their crystal ball, brought forth no positive answers for the team officials now that the 1969 season has concluded.

Of prime concern, according to vice-president Bob Dee, is a firm affiliation with some of the 26 major league [either AFL or NFL] teams.

A closed-door meeting of Bob Hotin [President], Dee and head coach Ross O'Hanley, was held last week, and all it brought forth from Dee was this statement: "We're looking into our situation quite closely and have talked with several clubs."

It is rumored that some of the clubs they are contacting are the Detroit Lions [NFL] , Houston Oilers [AFL] and Pittsburgh Steelers [NFL] . As of this time none of these organizations are formally associated with any minor-league franchise.

It would be of great benefit to the Giants to tie-in with a team of major status. It does, according to Dee, several things:

Players who are only a year or two away from the major loops can be sent to the team for polishing and further coaching.

Financial arrangements can be made to pick up some of the overhead.

Players on the Giants will feel that if they perform well, they'll be given a chance to get a tryout with the parent club, thus boosting morale.

"It costs an awful lot of money to run even a minor-league team," sead Dee. "If we can get a big-league outfit to pick up part of the burden, we can field a better team, with better players."

Hotin fully expects to attend the meetings coming up soon of the two leagues, establishing a rapport with the two groups, In this way he hopes to be in a position to be quickly aware of the players released next summer who will be of value to the Giants.

He hopes to establish a try-out camp and invite all the free agents not signed by big-league teams, in the belief that one or more "jewels" can be found among these hopefuls.

Hotin, O'Hanley and Dee will attempt, between now and next season to reach as many groups of fans as possible, trying to sell the Giants on a season ticket basis.

Paul Della Villa [B.C.] a running back was voted the teams MVP on offense and Joe Lanzilli [N.U.] , a defensive tackle was voted the same award on defense. They will receive a trophy from the General Dynamics Athletic League, Dec. 14, at the Viking Club.

The Giants wound up the year with a record of two wins and nine losses. They were Shut-out at Bridgeport last Friday night 31-0.

MEMENTOS of John F. Kennedy's 1960 Presidential Campaign were displayed at the Koch Club's recent Fall Fair held at the Fore River Club House. Visitors to the booth included: Peter D. Cappola, Peter Cappola, Jr., Tommy Koch, John MacLeod and Richard J. Koch, director of the Koch Club. President Kennedy was an honorary member of the club. [Quincy Sun Photo By Robert S. Lavers]

Local Trackmen In NEAAU Meet

The 25th annual indoor track meet, sponsored by the NEAAU, First Naval District, and Boston Naval Base, will be held at Murray Hall, Navy Recreation [Fargo] Building, 495 Summer St., Boston, Dec. 30, at 1 p.m. Captain Hyde, USN, Commanding Officer, Boston Naval Base, will host about 3000 athletes.

In the past 24 years, 65,000 youngsters have competed in the Navy-NEAAU Meet, sanctioned by the Mass. High School Principals Association, according to Captain Ralph H. Colson, USNR, NEAAU chairman.

Several Quincy and North Quincy trackmen are expected to enter the meet. One of the meet officials for many years was the late Munroe MacLean, director of athletics, physical education and health in the Quincy schools.

Scheduled events for high school novices include the 60-yd. dash, 440, 880, and one mile run. A special 60 yd dash for 7th graders and another 60 yd event for 8th and 9th graders, [Frosh in high school]. A novice is one who has never won a prize in interscholastic competition.,

The Jack Ryder Trophy will be awarded the outstanding novice. Walter Brown Trophy will be awarded to the novice high school mile winner. NEAAU open events are scheduled for servicemen, college, AAU, and high school non-novice athletes. These include the 60, 440, 880, and one mile run. There will also be a special 60 yd dash and mile run for members of the Armed Services, and a 50 yd. dash for Service Women.

Rear Admiral Wylie, USN, Commandant First Naval District, will award the Admiral's Trophy to the outstanding athlete.

Athletes participating in open NEAAU events must be registered with Frank Rull, Secretary, NEAAU Office, 150 Causeway St., Boston, Mass.

Entries close midnight, Dec. 19, with Ralph Colson, Mass. Senior Supervisor of Physical Education, Health and Safety, 24 Holmfield Ave., Mattapan. School boy entries must be signed by school principal, track coach, or faculty manager.

Giachetti Again Top Receiver

Rich Giachetti, former North Quincy football star who holds all the Tufts University pass receiving records, wound up as the top receiver in New England for the second straight season.

Rich, who had 56 catches this year, edged Springfield's John Curtis for the receiving crown.

Giachetti is also one of the Jumbos' top baseball players and will be one of their key men next spring.

Quincy Blues Start Fast In Mass. Junior Hockey League

The Quincy Blues, new entry in the Mass. Junior Hockey League, made an auspicious debut in the league when they defeated the Weymouth Junior Bruins, the defending champions, by the surprising score of 5-1, at Weymouth Skating Club.

Scoring for Quincy, which is sponsored by Bob Colman of Colman's Sporting Goods, were Kevin Sullivan, Jim Sylvia, Brother of Quincy High coach Bob, Joe Mahoney, Mark O'Connell and Wayne Deschamp.

HEART DEFECTS FROM GERMAN MEASLES COULD CEASE WITH VACCINATION

By DONALD C. FYLER, M.D.

Associate Professor of Pediatrics
Children's Hospital Medical Center •

It is difficult for the generations born after 1920 to comprehend the ravages of diphtheria, and it is now almost forgotten that diphtheria produced serious heart damage which, if not fatal, was sometimes permanently crippling.

Subsequent to widespread immunization there were no more epidemics of this disease and nowadays diphtheria is a medical curiosity. The serious heart problems associated with this disease are encountered only in medical textbooks.

In the next few years we can expect the eradication of another form of heart trouble caused by an infectious disease. Vaccination against German measles is about to begin and we have every right to hope that infants born with crippling defects as a consequence of German measles during pregnancy will become only a vague memory. Hopefully, heart disease caused by German measles will take its place in the medical textbooks next to diphtheritic heart disease.

Prior to 1941 German measles was thought to be a mild disease of no consequence. Epidemics swept through communities and schools every four or five years. Students deliberately passed the three day measles from one to another and claimed their right to three days vacation.

VIRUS DURING PREGNANCY

In 1941 Dr. Gregg, an ophthalmologist in Sydney, Australia, saw a series of newborn infants with cataracts and blindness. Investigating the circumstances surrounding the births of these babies, he found that all of their mothers had German measles during pregnancy. Some of the infants also had heart abnormalities. Within a few years other physicians in Australia confirmed these observations.

It was learned that German measles early in pregnancy could result in blindness, deafness, mental retardation, or heart abnormalities in the baby. Scattered confirmatory reports from various parts of the world were published but the general medical profession was not alerted to these facts until 1947.

That year a Harvard professor, Dr. Conrad Wesselhoeft, who had made his life's work the study of infectious disease, visited Australia. During discussions with Dr. F. M. Burnet about the effects of German measles during pregnancy Dr. Wesselhoeft's interest was aroused and on his return to Boston, he wrote an article summarizing all the information then available. This article was published in the New England Journal of Medicine. Because of Dr. Wesselhoeft's reputation and the international circulation of the journal, the general medical profession was alerted to the problem.

Two years later Dr. John Enders and his associates at the Children's Hospital in Boston, reported their method for growing viruses in tissue culture. The way was opened for production of vaccines against a variety of diseases caused by viruses. Vaccines against poliomyelitis were developed and virtual eradication of this dreadful disease is now almost complete. Many researchers began to investigate other virus illnesses, and vaccines against the red measles [two week measles] and mumps became available.

The virus which causes German measles was finally isolated in 1962 and work was begun on the development of a vaccine. Several have been produced and tested, and a vaccine is now approved for general use.

SCHOOL CHILDREN KEY

It is anticipated that when school children are immunized, epidemics of German measles will cease. The possibility of acquiring German measles during pregnancy will be greatly reduced. Blindness deafness, mental retardation or heart abnormalities caused by German measles will be noted in medical textbooks next to diphtheritic disease as items of historical interest.

Unfortunately, most of the heart abnormalities found in newborn babies are not caused by German measles. Of the approximately 40,000 babies born with congenital heart disease in this country every year, only a few thousand are the result of German measles.

The Heart Association will continue supporting efforts to understand the causes and the treatment of these unfortunate babies. While surgical cures have been found for many, hopefully, further research will lead to more ways to prevent congenital heart disease.

["Living With Your Heart" is a public service of the Massachusetts Heart Association, which can provide further information on congenital heart defects.]

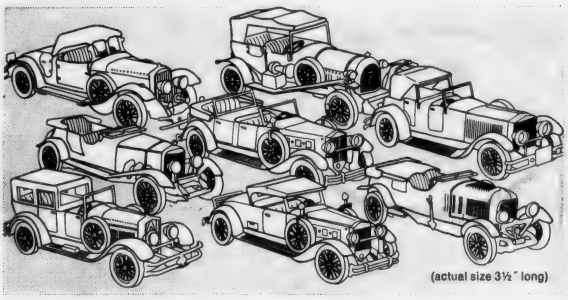
Capt. Richard Malvesti Wins Bronze Star For Heroism In Vietnam

Army Capt. Richard J. Malvesti, son of Fire Lt. and Mrs. Joseph Malvesti of 29 Shirley St. has been awarded the bronze Star with "V" Device for heroism in Vietnam.

Capt. Malvesti, whose wife, Carol, lives at Niagara Falls, N.Y. was 24 years old on Veterans Day, Nov. 11.

Capt. Malvesti received the Bronze Star for heroic action on June 7, 1969. While his company was providing security for a convoy, it was attacked by a numerically superior enemy rifle company. "With complete disregard for his personal safety," Capt. Malvesti led his advisory team to a point where he was able to fire upon the enemy with a vehicle mounted machine gun.



After successfully stopping enemy fire on supporting aircraft, Capt. Malvesti was driven from his position by an enemy hand grenade. He returned with the machine gun and continued firing until his ground troops were able to organize and dig in. His action was held primarily responsible for blunting the effect of the enemy's attack.

Me You Young Ideas She

Selections from the writings of Quincy's elementary school children.

[Ed. Note: Under a new law, Massachusetts parents are now financially responsible for willfull vandalism caused by their children.

The law applies to children over seven years old and under 17. Rep. Joseph E. Brett [D-Quincy] who filed the legislation thinks it will reduce juvenile delinquency considerably.

Sixth graders at the Gridley Bryant School have this reaction:

A New Law

I think this new law is a good one because if kids break the law their parents have to pay. This may sound all right to the kids between seven and seventeen but it's not. When they grow up and have children they wouldn't want to pay $300.00 for the damages that their own children did.

Donald Paluzzi

Vandalism By Children Blamed On Parents

We think it is an excellent idea for the Massachusetts Legislature to pass a law which will make parents responsible for damages done by their children. For too long a time children have shown little respect for other people's property. Under the new law we see that parent's will be required to pay for damage up to $300 dollars for acts of vandalism done by their children. This means that parents will be more careful where their children go and what they do, for this law applies to children ages seven through seventeen. Parents should teach their children to be good citizens and respect other people's rights.

Pamela West
Gridley Bryant School
Grade 6

Parents Are Now Liable For Children's Acts

I think that the new law about the parents having to pay for the vandalism their child has done is a very good law. If I was caught for vandalism, my parents would pay for the damage I caused unless I could find a job like getting a paper route. I would never destroy someone else's property on purpose because if I were caught my parents would find out about it and I would probably get beaten up all day. It would also go on my record and if it was only my first time I would probably be put on probation for one or two years. If it was more than the first time, I would probably go to reform school. We think that this new law will stop a lot of vandalism in the city of Quincy.

Paul Madden
Gridley Bryant School
Grade 6

Parents To Be Blamed For Children's Acts

Vandalism has been constantly sweeping the city. People have been trying to think of a way to stop it. Finally we came to a conclusion. The conclusion is that if a child, age seven through seventeen, commits any kind of vandalism, the parents are responsible. We hope this law will make boys and girls stop and think about how much trouble they are causing their parents before they destroy property. I myself think this law is a very good one. The highest that can be paid is three hundred dollars, but a child can also be put on probation even if the parents pay. In California this law cut down vandalism fifty percent. We hope it will do the same for our state of Massachusetts.

Kerrie Brennan
Gridley Bryant School

Parents Responsible For Vandalism By Children

We should be glad for the new law that has been made to reduce vandalism by children. The law applies to the parents of children from age seven to seventeen. If the children do any damage to anyone else's property, the child may have to go to court and sometimes are sentenced to a two-year probation and have to pay for what they damaged. Francis W. Sargent signed the bill June 26, 1969. The children are not only hurting themselves but are hurting their parents and the people they did the damage to.

Kathy O'Leary
Gridley Bryant School
Grade 6

Parents Now Liable For Children's Acts

We think that this law is a good one. Some reasons are that children sometimes do things without thinking. There is a friend I know who I never play with anymore because every time the team that he is on loses he goes over and starts throwing rocks at the boys house. Now, if he breaks something this law will be very good to have. Children like this will have to go to court and serve a sentence. The sentence we think should not have to be as hard as one a man would receive but it will most likely be like this. The child will be placed under probation and have to pay the cost of the damage. This law will help teach the children that vandalism is not right. We are sure!

If I Were

If I were the Aswan Dam I would block off the water. And then everybody would fuss over me and they would try to fix me up.

But what would they say if they could not! They would have to make me a brand new dam. Then I would be all new and everybody would look at me and say, "Isn't that pretty?" That is what I would do if I were the Aswan Dam.

The Magic Stone

One day I was taking a walk in the woods and I found a pretty pink stone. I brought it home to show my mother. On my way home I passed an ice cream palor. I wished I had enough money for an ice cream cone and all of the sudden I found ten cents. I bought an ice cream cone. My mother asked me where I got the money for the ice cream cone. I said I found it. The next day I wished I had a doll and a doll was on my bed. My mother said to through the stone away and none of my wishes came true again.

Me With Feet

When I up this morning, to my surprise, my feet had turned into wings! When I tried getting out of bed I flew out!

When I flew down the stairs my mother could not believe her eyes. She said "Thomas, where did you get those wings?"

I told her that I did not know. The next thing I did was to have breakfast.

I flew to school. Everybody was asking questions like, 'What is that thing a prehistoric bird or something? Help a monster! Everybody was running away from me!

Finally I got into the school. The teacher was going crazy! I told her what had happened. The teacher called in the nurse to examine my feet. She did not know what they were. She called a professional Doctor to get an appointment for me.

When I went home that very afternoon, my feet had turned slowly back into my feet. My mother said, "Thank goodness!" And everybody else was glad, too!

School Symphony

To create a symphony orchestra you have to have many people to make the music. Also you must procure instruments. Then together you play a song. But if one person makes a mistake, the whole thing can be ruined.

The same is true for a school. A whole school is something like an orchestra. If one person doesn't behave it can spoil the entire building. Here at Montclair let's all try to create harmony together.

Why I Would Rather Live In Quincy Than Ancient Greece

I would rather live in Quincy now because we would have to run or ride horse back. When now we can fly, ride cars or use other wonderful ways of transportation. Now people are not ruled by a king and have to bow to him. We have a president if people don't want him or if the majority of people don't want him then they won't have him. If they do they will. Now we live better lives working in jobs that best suit us.

Why I Would Have Rather Lived In Ancient Greece

I would have rather lived in ancient Greece because then I could enjoy watching one of their great plays. I could read or listen to one of their famous poems. I would love to watch the Olympic games. There were so many famous statues in Greece such as the Discus-thrower and the Winged Victory. There were so many beautiful buildings in Greece that I would enjoy visiting.

Why I Would Rather Live In Ancient Egypt

I would rather live in ancient Egypt anytime. Even though I might not have a dime, I could see the temples and the pyramids being built. Maybe I could write a word with hieroglyphics.

Robin Burns

Why I Would Rather Live In Modern Quincy

I would rather live in Modern Quincy than in ancient Greece, because anyone can go to school and have television, radios, running water, movie theaters, and a lot of other things. We also have faster transportation and new machinery.

Why I Would Rather Live In Quincy

I would rather lived in Quincy than ancient Egypt because it is a lot more civilized and there is a way of getting some place without running or riding a horse. Here there are schools and you can attend them. There you could not attend unless you were born on the same day as the King's Son.

A Door

I am a big blue wooden door. I have a black door knob on me. I live in my kitchen and I have two sides.

On one side I see my family and friends eating food I see people going in and out of the kitchen. I watch the two big black dogs that live in my house. At night I can hear them barking if something bothers them.

On the other side of me I see the out doors. I watch the leaves change color in the fall. I see the trees and sky. I see the ground covered with snow in the winter and I watch the children play when they come home from school.

When night time comes, I am really sleepy, because every one is opening me and closing me. I have a very busy life.

A Lucky Door

I am a door. I was built a week ago in the night time of course. I go in to a bakery. It's a good thing night goes by fast because right now I can smell cakes, pies, cookies and candy.

In this bakery people go in and out. Sometimes for birthday cakes or for party treats but not very often for things like phone calls. It's funny they never say "hi" to me.

As I wake up in the morning I can smell the fresh clean smells of all the bakery goodies. Then later on they start my favorite pies!

What i hate are those little smart-alec kids who ring the bell all the time, or push me too hard.

It's a good thing I eat only a little very day because I'd eat them out of house and home.

On the other side I see people walking up and down streets. I see cars passing by, children playing and yelling all day.

Thomas M. MacDonald of George F. Bryan VFW Post, was installed as commander of the Quincy Veterans Council at the 45th installation ceremonies Saturday at the Bryan Post Home. He succeeds Allen A. Kofman of the Jewish War Veterans Post.

Past Department Commander Edgar George of Dedham, installing officer was assisted by Joseph Burke as officer of the day with George F. Burke of the Bryan Post as sergeant-at-arms. Arthur G. McLean, adjutant of the Quincy Veterans Council, was installation chairman and master of ceremonies.

Other officers installed were: Roy Miller, Jr., senior vice commander; Anthony M. Famigletti, junior vice commander; Walter Johnson, finance officer; Herbert Bush, historian; John Wipfler, judge advocate; J. Henry Sullivan, chaplain; Albert McKinnon, assistant chaplain.

Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre was installed as state legislative officer, Ward 1 Councillor Edward Graham, city legislative officer; Past Commander Lawrence Perette, publicity officer; Lawrence Canali, grave registration officer; Past Commander Henry Williams, officer of the day.

Arthur G. McLean, adjutant; Past Commander Thomas B. Hanrahan, sergeant-at-arms. Ralph Paull, assistant sergeant-at-arms; John Gillis, parade chairman; Edward H. Roberts and Civil Defense chairman.

Members of the executive committee are Past Commanders Arthur J. Perette, Lawrence S. Butler, John Dineen, Paul W. O'Neill and Allen A. Kofman.

Speakers were, Council President J. Vincent Smyth, acting Mayor; Past Department Commander Edgar George, and Ward 4 Councillor Albert Barilaro.

Retiring Commander Kofman presented to Commander Mac Donald a gavel donated by the Quincy Jewish War Veterans Post to be the permanent gavel of the Quincy Veterans Council. In turn, a plaque honoring the retiring commander was presented to him by Junior Vice Commander Famigletti. He received also, from Adjutant McLean, a complete duplicate record of minutes resolutions and correspondence of his year as commander.

Brett Thinks Right Number Coming Up For 'Beano' Bill

The "Beano" bill, which failed to override the governor's veto by only seven votes, last year has been refiled for action in 1970 by the same four sponsors.

The four are: Representatives Joseph E. Brett [D-Quincy], Thomas W. McGee, [D-Lynn], majority leader of the House, Michael J. Lombardi, [D-Cambridge] and Alan P. Danovitch, [R-Norwood].

The new bill, according to Brett, contains the same safeguards as last year's approved in both the House and Senate. After the governor's veto of the bill, the vote in the House to override was 147 to 80, just barely short of the necessary two-thirds majority.

The proponents, Brett said, are optimistic that public pressure from thousands of "Beano" adherents throughout the state will see the bill carried through to victory in 1970.

A major point in favor of the new bill he said is the option which is given to each city and town to decide by ballot at their municipal elections whether they wish to have the game made legal in their respective communities.

This would be in line with true democratic principles, Brett concluded.

Biggest Profit In History

Quincy Hospital 'In Black' By $200,000 Net

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

Quincy City Hospital will show a 1969 profit of approximately $200,000, according to Richard S. Cole, comptroller.

Cole, who found the hospital $118,777 in the red in 1964 when he assumed his present position, leaves Jan. 5, to become controller of the heavily endowed privately run Cape Cod Hospital at Hyannis.

Quincy Hospital, deficit-ridden for 77 years, finally went into the black in 1967 with a profit of $26,910 and climbed to $189,505 in 1968. In 1966, it was $269,000 in the red.

Cole entered the employ of of Quincy Hospital in April, 1954 as inventory control supervisor. In 1956 he was advanced to statistician, and in January, 1964 was named comptroller.

At Cape Cod Hospital, he will start at a salary increase of $3,000 per year plus fringe benefits. His present salary of $12,159 is maximum for the position at Quincy City Hospital.

"I'm sorry to sever connections," Cole said, "But I have to go where efforts and capabilities will be recognized."

At Cape Cod Hospital, he will have as his assistants a four year graduate of Bentley School of Finance, an industrial engineer with a college degree, a purchasing agent and staff.

A graduate of Northeastern University with a degree in business administration, Mr. Cole has continued his education through courses in hospital management. He is a member of the Mass. Hospital Association and Hospital Assembly, Massachusetts Chapter of Hospital Financial Management Association, and Coordinator of the Massachusetts Hospital Association's shared computer system. He is also a member of the Quincy Lion's Club.

For the present Mr. and Mrs. Cole will continue to live at 46 Willow Ave., Wollaston, their home since July, 1939. Mrs. [Hope] Cole has been registrar at Quincy Junior College since it opened in 1956.

Local Christmas Clubs Total $2.8 Million

Some 20,664 Christmas club members at eight local banks have received checks totalling $2,853,036, according to figures compiled by the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

Chamber President Charles Peterson said the average check for depositors was $100.

"The $2,853,036 in Christmas club payments will add substantially to the Christmas shopping business in the area," he declared.

According to a national survey by Christmas Club Corporation, about 40 per cent of the money will actually be spent on Christmas purchases.

The rest of the money will go for such things as taxes, automobile insurance, winter vacations and bills.

Approximately $2 billion has been distributed to more than 15 million Christmas Club members by 10,000 banks and savings institutions on the national level this year.

Seven out of every 10 checks, it was noted, went to women who now handle 70 per cent or more of family banking transactions and Christmas purchasing.

The eight banks reporting local Christmas Club payments are:

Granite Co-operative, Milton Bank & Trust Company, Norfolk County Trust Company, Quincy Co-operative Bank, Quincy Savings Bank, Hancock Bank & Trust Co., Shipbuilder's Co-operative and South Shore National Bank.

McIntyre Files Bill To Take 90 Acre S.S. College Site

Mayor James R. McIntyre has filed a bill to acquire by eminent domain 90 acres of land near Echo Lake as the site for the proposed $15 million South Shore Community College.

The land near the Braintree line has an estimated value of $1,250,000, and has 14 owners.

He considers this a major step toward reality in constructing the 3,500-student, two-year college to be built by State funds.

"The inaction of the State Board of Community Colleges to move ahead is discrimination against youngsters of this area. The Board is moving ahead in other areas," Mayor McIntyre said, "but is at a standstill here, I feel there is no alternative than to take the land to bring the college into being."

"This will give us the site, or force the hands of the Board to select some other site," he said.

Memo From Post Office: Please Mail Early, Please, Please!

"Mail early!" Postal Supt. William Monahan urges Quincy residents. Christmas cards should be mailed by Dec. 15th.

"Put a return address on the envelope, use the correct address and ZIP code. Also, please use the receptacles in the Post Office, if possible, instead of street collection boxes. In that way we can more effectively handle the mail," he said.

During this week and next, Christmas kits will be delivered to each family. These contain bands for Quincy, Massachusetts and Out-of-State mail. Residents are urged to use these bands. All Christmas cards, whether sealed or unsealed, must bear six-cents stamps this year.

To assure delivery, Christmas cards for local and Boston addresses, should be mailed by Dec. 15. Local parcel post packages should be mailed by Dec. 13. Tuesday (Dec. 2) was the closing date for anything outside of New England.

All Air Mail items for the Armed Forces must be mailed by Dec. 13. The deadline for SAM and PAL packages has passed, but people may still mail them although effective delivery before Christmas decreases - as the holiday approaches.

International parcel post mail for Canada and Mexico have a deadline of Dec. 5; air mail, Dec. 5; although air mail to South and Central America and Europe have already passed the deadline.

Supt. Monahan does not expect to add extra help this year, relying on the present employees to handle the influx expected.

Quincy Gold Star Mothers Make It Real Holiday For Two Servicemen

Two Quincy mothers of servicemen made the Thanksgiving holiday a memorable one for two sailors aboard the USS Talbot in Boston Naval Shipyard.

Joining forces were Gold Star Mother Mrs. James Cavicchi of Phipps St. and Mrs. Carmen Bouchard of 17 Binnacle Lane, Germantown.

Mrs. Cavicchi's only son, Marine James Cavicchi, Jr., was one of the first Quincy men to die in Vietnam. Richard Bouchard, son of Mrs. Bouchard, is serving now with the Marines in Vietnam.

The mothers invited two men unable to get home for the holiday for dinner and the day at Mrs. Bouchard's home. They are James Kressler of Phoenix, Ariz., and Mark Brandwine of Long Island, N.Y.

The day was such a success that the men are being invited again to join the Bouchards, with their six children, and Mrs. Cavicchi with her daughter, for Christmas dinner.

Post Office Christmas Jobs Still Open

Officer-in-Charge George K. Walker announces that application forms for Christmas employment in the Boston Postal District are still available to those desiring to work during the 1969 Christmas season and in particular to those who have had no prior postal experience.

Applications may be obtained at Room 205, Post Office and Court House Building, Boston, 02109, during the hours of 8:30 A.M. to 4:45 P.M.

Walker said that, in accordance with the Post Office Department's policy, priority consideration will be given to: [a] veterans with compensable service-connected disability of 10% or more, [b] veterans with 5 or 10 point preference, and [c] all others. Rate of pay will be $2.82 per hour.

Walker said that Christmas Employment will generally be of a dual nature, involving clerk, carrier, or mail handler duties, and that assignments may be changed from day to day within all stations and branches of the Boston Postal District with possible varying tours of duty based on the service needs and shifting mail volumes.

Applicants must be available for duty during the Christmas period commencing Dec. 15.

Walker also emphasized that equal opportunity will be given to all applicants without regard to race, color, creed, national origin or sex. All eligible applicants are urged to file promptly in order to receive proper consideration.

The program by Goodwill Industries, "It's In The Bag," will describe articles donated by New England housewives and the handicapped workers who repair them for future sales.

STATE OF THE STATE

by Governor Francis W. Sargent

A MONTHLY REPORT TO THE PEOPLE OF THE COMMONWEALTH

I am today inaugurating a series of monthly reports to the people of the Commonwealth.

First as Lieutenant Governor, and now as Governor, I seek to fulfill a mandate I imposed upon myself when I first took office.

On that day I pledged to confront the crisis of confidence which plagues our state government. In this monthly report, which you will read in these pages, I wish to explore with you measures designed to make state government work for the people.

Confront A Crisis

To do this means we must turn from the old ways, the old system, the politics-as-usual that created the crisis.

As a first step in this direction, earlier this year I won legislative support for my massive modernization of our entire state government. Although it will not -- by Legislative mandate -- take effect until 1971, I believe the plan to be the most sweeping proposal of its kind ever made in American state government.

Today we have more than 300 state agencies and departments, and no fewer than 170 of these report directly to me. My reorganization plan will group all the dozens of departments, offices, commissions, boards and other units under nine Cabinet style offices.

Thus reorganization will serve as the cornerstone for my legislative designs aimed at making government work for the people.

People Problems

Government problems are basically people problems. And by that I mean service by people and service for people. One cannot perform the second without quality in the first. And it is the element of quality I seek to implant in state service.

This element of quality will be reflected in the legislative program I will submit before the 1970 Legislature.

My initial announcement for the 1970 legislative session is a proposal to establish an Environmental Quality Control Council.

Saving Ourselves

Increasingly all of us are aware that our environment is being poisoned daily. In human, or if you like, spiritual terms, the cost is incalculable. How does one assess the cost to the human spirit of the rape of man's environment?

In terms of money, the estimate is much simpler. The Federal estimate is that dirty air and dirty water is costing us 25 billion dollars a year.

Pollutants of the air cause annual property damage -- eating away at fabrics and metals -- estimated at 12 billion dollars a year.

I am talking about the obvious need for saving the world in which we live, and work, and play, from our own carelessness. I am talking about saving ourselves from a problem that is costing us an unacceptable, even unassessable, price.

To meet this problem I will file with the Legislature a major program of environmental control and protection. This bill would establish an Environmental Quality Control Council. The Council will be an agency of the people. Its job will be to make sure that our natural world, our environment, is considered in every action state government takes.

Serving People

- The Council will watchdog every state agency that affects our environment -- and blow the whistle when that agency threatens our well-being, recommending alternatives to me and the Legislature.

- The Council will serve as a clearinghouse whenever one agency decides for example to sell land for one purpose, when another purpose would make more sense for more people.

- The Council's activities will include direct contact with each of our 351 cities and towns. It will develop courses in environmental education in our schools, help with the formation of local and regional groups that focus public concern, sponsor meetings and debate on specific problems in this area.

- The Council will receive the complaint of any citizen claiming our environment is being damaged -- in whatever way. It will hear that complaint, and then act, or see to it that the responsible state agency acts.

Time For Action

The Council will not talk; it will act. It will have adequate full-time staffing and funding. In brief, the Council will serve as the advocate of our natural environment.

This Council will have a simple mandate: Protect the people; protect the environment.

Ten months ago, as your new Governor, I promised to make this government work.

Today I say anew: It must work for the people whose government it is.

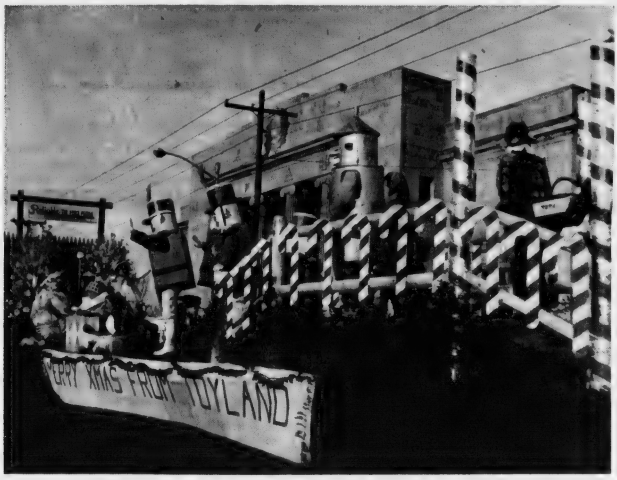
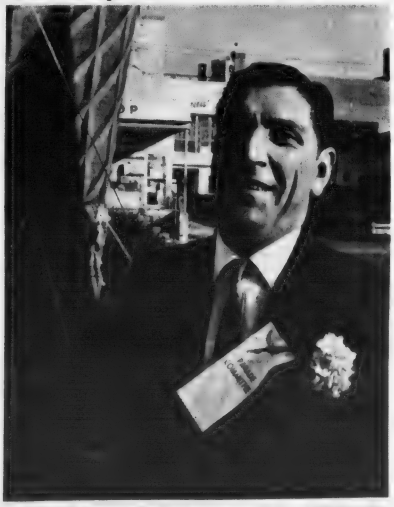
Everybody Loves A Quincy Parade



(Quincy Sun Photos By J.W. Ross)

A GREAT DAY for a parade and popcorn munching agree Peter, Laurie and Susan Bersani of Sea St. and Laurie Anson of Yardarm Lane. They were among the more than 200,000 persons who turned out for Quincy's South Shore Festival Parade.

PRETTY Lori Gynan tackles a tasty taffy apple while waiting for the big parade to start.



'BEST THEME' honors went to this "Toyland" float entered by the Reliable Fence Co., winner of the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce award.

HUCK FINN, king-sized version, sponsored by the Quincy YMCA was one of the 41 giant balloons featured in the parade.

ANOTHER HIT OF South Shore Christmas Festival parade was this float, "Ten Little Indians Pray For Peace" entered by the Blue Granite District Boy Scouts.

REMO

Come . Let Us Reason Together

By Dr. William F. Knox
Personal Counselor

'On Being A Patsy '

"I've just been a "patsy" and I'm tired of it"....the man was saying...."I run his errands....fix his squeeky office door....hold his coat....pick up his mail.... drive him to the airport....I'm at his beck and call all the time ....but when I ask for a small raise, he signs a deep sigh and makes me feel I'm a nuisance. I'm not going to be his "patsy" any more."

It's doubtful that he can quit being a patsy that easily....because being a "patsy" is a way of life. In the Service we called it "licking boots"....in schools it's called "apple polishing".... in the business world it's called "brown nosing." Wherever we see a person being a "patsy" for another person we feel disgust. He tries to make points with a superior....allows himself to be "used" usually by a domineering person.

Employees often try to get ahead by being a "patsy". Wives sometimes try to keep a husband's devotion by being a "patsy". Some mothers and fathers are "patsies" to their children. Children do it to each other.

There's a big difference in being to another person and doing for another person. The elder brother in the Parable of the Prodigal Son said...."Lo.... all these years I've served you." [Not I've loved you.] Serving another person and loving another person are two very different ways of life. We may get things done by serving, but loving puts heart into the work.... so that there's lustre to life.... and you yourself come through warm and buoyant. You're a free loving person....not a servant....not a "patsy".

What causes a person to be a "patsy"? It's usually a sign of weakness .... insecurity .... inadequacy within oneself. Often the "patsy" is trying to buy or trade his services for approval....for love. Such an attitude usually comes out of childhood. In the case of the man who got "tired of being a patsy"....his father had repeatedly told him he would never amount to anything....that he was no good....that he was lazy....that he would never make him proud as a son should.... and he would end up his "downgrading sessions" with "Why couldn't I have had a real boy.... not a pup like you." This childhood conditioning had stayed with him....he wanted to please his father....but couldn't. He's still trying with father substitutes....his boss particularly. His real problem is that he doesn't love himself.

His self-image is one of failure. He half believed what his father had said....that he's "no good" ....he's trying to prove that it isn't true by doing things not being a real man. So he strives for attention...approval...promotion....by "doing things" for a superior....hoping that if he does things to make his boss like him better that he will like himself better. Love of oneself is the first essential to being a person to another person....not just being a machine....or a housemaid ....or a clerk....or a "patsy".

Success in business....as a husband/wife....as a mother/father depends first of all upon our ability to love ourselves....not self-conceit...or egotism...but love of self. When you love yourself....in that measure you can love others without feeling that you're serving them....or having to earn your way with them... but just by being your best self.

Our Irish setter gave us five beautiful puppies last week. They are adorable....cuddly....very lovable. They'll make five families very, very happy. They do nothing to get our love....all they do is to be cute little puppies.... that's all....fulfilling their purpose in life just by being puppies. When we men learn to be men ....the best men we can be...when women learn to be women.... the best women they can be.... we won't have to be "patsies" to get attention and approval.

DELICIOUS FOOD -- NOT WILL POWER A KEY TO HEART HEALTH

By ROBERT B. McGANDY, M.D.
Department of Nutrition,
Harvard School of Public Health

The typical American diet leaves much to be desired -- at least for a society of people who are fairly inactive physically.

By worldwide standards, most of our American population has abnormally high levels of blood fats. This is especially marked in males from adolescence onward, less so in females until the late forties.

Most medical scientists agree that these high levels of fat in the blood [including blood cholesterol] are in part responsible for our current epidemic of coronary heart disease and stroke -- which account for two out of every three deaths in America today. [The other factors which are contributing to this epidemic are high blood pressure, physical inactivity, heavy cigarette smoking, and overweight.]

EVEN TEENAGERS

Programs of prevention ought to begin in the teenage years. By then [and sometimes even earlier] the process of gradual accumulation of fats on the blood vessel linings has already begun -- narrowing them and making them liable to being blocked by a clot. By middle age it may be getting too late to expect the most effective reversal of the process, and if the blocking comes in a coronary artery, a heart attack can occur, or if it comes in the brain, a stroke.

There are certain changes in the amounts and the types of fat in ordinary diets which can safely and effectively reduce the level of cholesterol in the blood.

We can eat less foods containing saturated fats [beef, pork, lamb. milk, butter, cheese, ice cream] and eat more foods containing unsaturated fats [veal, fish, chicken, turkey, skim milk products, cooking oils made of safflower, corn, soya, or cottonseed].

We can trim the excess fat off beef, pork and lamb. We can cut down on eggs, a major source of cholesterol. We can replace butter with a polyunsaturated margarine. And we can eat smaller portions of everything.

Although these guidelines are not hard to follow, it is recognized that they can pose a problem to those of us with less will power and more of a taste for steak, cheese, eggs, bacon, and ice cream than we would wish.

PLEASANT DIET

One national study has discovered a way to get a man to stay on a fat-modified diet, much less likely to cause a heart attack, while not depriving him of the tasty foods which some feel make life worth living.

This was the National Diet-Heart Study, participated in by Harvard's nutrition department, along with laboratories in Baltimore, Chicago, Miami and Oakland, California. The study involved some 2000 mid- aged men who had never had a heart attack. The object of the research effort was to find out if healthy men would stay on a low-saturated-fat, low-cholesterol diet for a period of one to two years.

It would have been difficult not to stay on this diet. A large array of foods were manufactured specifically for this investigation -- with all the necessary changes in type and amount of fat "built into" the foods themselves. The saturated fats were removed and replaced by unsaturated fats. More than a hundred different kinds of food products -- meats, baked goods, cake mixes, dairy products, special fats and oils, and powdered eggs -- were treated and made available to the study volunteers. Thus the men [and their entire families] could continue to eat pretty much as usual while they benefited from a diet which did in fact lead to significant, long-term reduction of blood cholesterol.

While some of these new products have been marketed in various parts of the country, most of them have not. Their availability to individuals on a fat-modified diet would help where will power has failed. In the meantime, fat-modified menu plans, which are very tasty, and specific recipes using currently available market foods can be obtained from your local Heart Association.

["Living With Your Heart" is a public service of the Massachusetts Heart Association, which can provide further information on diet and the heart.]

Dorchester Link Of MBTA Quincy Line Gets Go-Ahead

The Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority believes it has the judicial go-ahead at last to complete the Dorchester section of the South Shore rapid transit extension.

The green light was flashed by the U. S. Court of Appeals in New York when it upheld a lower court dismissal of a suit brought by a Dorchester firm to prevent the MBTA from cutting off its freight spur track.

The Harwick Chemical Co., 270 Freeport St., contended that neither the New Haven Railroad, with whom it had a spur track agreement, nor the MBTA had a right to interfere with its freight service.

Judge Robert B. Anderson of the U. S. District Court in New Haven, the railroad's bankruptcy court, ruled that the issue was moot because the New Haven had been taken over by the Penn Central.

The ruling also dismissed a similar suit brought by Quincy Oil Co., 56 Federal Ave., South Quincy, which sought to protect its spur track from being cut off when the rapid transit extends to Braintree.

Montclair Girl Is Author, Director Of Children's Play

Miss Patricia Haskins of Montclair has written, staged and directed "Puppet Tricks," an hour-long program for children, which has had its final performance Saturday at 11 a.m. at Suffolk University Drama Theatre, 41 Temple St., Boston.

Miss Haskins is a junior on scholarship in the College of Liberal Arts at Suffolk University, majoring in psychology. The 20-year old student is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Haskins of 16 Becket St.

During each of her three years at the University, she has been an officer of the Suffolk Drama Club. This season her play was chosen for the all-student production and at her suggestion, it is presented without charge to enable a greater number of children from Boston and the suburbs to attend.

The cast includes six puppets, eleven actors and actresses, plus stagehands and technicians. The scenery was made by students also. Previous performances were on Nov. 15 and Nov. 22.

For the Nov. 22 performance, an entire section of the 400-seat theatre in back of the State House was filled with underprivileged children bussed there through the METCO program. Audience participation arouses particular enthusiasm among the children, who usually range from about four years of age through sixth grade.

'East Europe' Subject Tonight Of United Nations Council

Dr. Walter C. Clemens, Jr., professor of government at Boston University, will speak on "East Europe in the 1970's" under the sponsorship of the United Nations Council of the South Shore, Dec. 4, at the United First Parish Church Hall.

The lecture, third in the 25th anniversary series of free public World Affairs Programs, will be preceded by a catered dinner in the lower hall starting at 6:30 p.m.

Dr. Clemens has traveled widely behind the Iron Curtain in the past 17 years and is currently involved in research on the future of Soviet foreign policy and the relation of Communist alliances to Western security.

Dinner reservations may be made by calling Miss Edith Coulman, 20 Woodward Ave.: Miss Vera Call, 55 Spear St.; or Mrs. Viola Ellis, 18 Terne Rd., all of Quincy. There are a limited number of reduced rate reservations for college students and high school seniors and juniors.

New England Electric Names Stevens Executive

New England Electric System announces the appointment of John R. Stevens as executive assistant to Chairman of the Board and Chief Executive William Webster, effective Dec. 1.

Stevens is a 1962 graduate of Dartmouth College with a B.A. degree in economics. He received his M.B.A. from Boston University in 1968.

Stevens joined New England Power Service Company in 1964 as a training student in Lawrence. He then moved to Lowell as a commercial sales representative.

In 1966, he became a public information representative in Boston, and was made managing editor of the company's internal publication CONTACT in 1967. He served the past two years as assistant to the director of residential sales and manager of residential promotion.

As executive assistant to Webster, Stevens will operate with offices in Boston and in Westboro.

Selections from the writings of Quincy's elementary school children.

Dear Quincy Sun

This is a poem that spell's the month of December down, this is the poem.

December is a kind of month,
Everyone gets some fun
Cheryl, Mike and Laural.
Everyone gets presents, in Memory of Jesus,
But remember we give
Each and everyone presents,
Remember Jesus.

You might not like it.

Yours truly,

On Thanksgiving Day

Thanksgiving is a holiday,
On which we say in a special way,
That we thank the Lord in heaven above,
For all his blessings and his love.

We feast on turkey and pumpkin pie,
And join our relatives and friends,
Just as the Pilgrims did long ago.
We thank the Lord for the gifts he sends.

What Do I See?

I am a door to Central Junior High School I am made of wood. I only have one window. I am a door to a classroom.

On the inside I see my sister working away at something I don't understand. Sometimes I wish I could be as smart as she.

Outside, I see teachers and students walking around and changing class-rooms. They are busy all day.

I like being a door because I can be alone at night to enjoy the quiet.

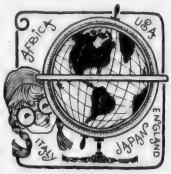
The Stubborn Black Cloud



Once upon a time there was a stubborn black cloud. He wouldn't move somewhere else. I couldn't see the parade because he wouldn't stop raining. All the other clouds stopped raining but he was a stubborn cloud. I couldn't go out to play because he wouldn't move. Then the cloud started running because the sun was chasing him. Then all the children went out to play and I was going to see the parade.

Halloween

It is fun on Halloween. You can scare yourself half to death.
Witches fly up in the sky.
Skeletons fall apart.
Pumpkins sit on someones front steps.
The moon even gets scared.
That isn't all there is on Halloween. But I couldn't finish all there is.

Veterans' Day

On November 11 we celebrate a special holiday. It is known all over the world. This holiday is to honor all the soldiers that have died in the World War I. This was all begun when Francis Ferdinand of Austria was assasinated. He was assinated in Serbia. Since he was assasinated near Germany, the people of Austria came to battle. The German people took over Belgium. After they had taken over Belgium they began to fight France. The people of England then came to defend Paris, President Wilson was not going to let America fight, but when German kept sinking our ships we had to. At first we sent food, clothing and ammunition to France. After a while we sent a million men. We had a million men in training too. Finally, we ended the war! In Washington, D.C. there is a tomb. In this tomb, there lies the Unknown Soldier. This soldier is an American which no one can recognize. He represents all the soldiers that have died in World War I. This is the story of Veterans' Day.

World War I

World War I started when Francis Ferdinand of Austria got shot in Serbia. The people of Austria got angry. They decided to have a world war. They named the war, World War I. Country's took their places. The countries were Belgium, France, England and Germany. But President Wislon did not want America to get in the fight. But German submarines kept sinking our ships. Then America sent ships over to Paris and they finally defeated Germany.

Veterans' Day

In 1914 a man was going to be a new heir of Austria. A man came to kill Ferdinand. He killed him to start a war. Wilson was the President that day. They had a long war. Bang, went the cannons. Many people were getting killed. The war ended on November 11, 1918. There was an unknown American Soldier who was buried in a large tomb in Washington. They had buried the unknown American Soldier who the people we pray for. He is a symbol of all the men who died. We pray for the people who tried to save our people. Veterans' Day was the day they ended the war. We have 2 minutes of silence every year on November 11, to honor these men.

School Symphony

A symphony is put together by a group of people in the same manner that a school is. Only a symphony is trying to make their song the most glorious while a school symphony attempts to make the school run smoothly like a beautiful school.

If a musical instrument in the symphony goes off tune, it ruins the music. When a boy or girl disrupts the classes, it spoils the school's reputation. So let's work together to make our school a tremendous success and we can all make beautiful music together.

The Magic Ribbon

One day Mary found a hair ribbon. It was pink. When Mary put the ribbon on, her hair would look like she spent a hour on it. One Sunday Mary put the ribbon on and her hair was just gorgeous, but her mother said to get a ribbon that matched her dress and throw the one she had on, out. So Mary did. The magic ribbon flew out of the trash can and dropped in a can of dye and dropped in Mary's drawer. Mary put it on and her hair looked lovely. At the church the ribbon saw a girl with hair like a rat's nest, so it went off Mary's head and on to the other girl's hair. The girl screamed and scared the ribbon so bad that it went back to Mary and never left her.

The Christmas Bazaar

At Adams School, every year we have a Christmas Bazaar. The Bazaar Committee helps make things for the bazaar. At the bazaar they have cookies, cakes, candy, plants, and many other different things. They also have many Christmas decorations. Each class goes at a different time. Other people may go if they wish. Mothers sell the items on sale. The Bazaar is on December 2, 1969. My father is president of the P.T.A. at Adams School. He gets together the Committee to help make a nice Bazaar. I think the bazaar is a very good idea.

The Saftey Patrol Of The Quincy Schools

The job of the safety patrol is that of a very important one.

Any boy or girl who takes on the job of the safety patrol should be responsible and should do their job faithfully. Children of the sixth grade are chosen each month to be on safety patrol. The cause of the safety patrol is to take the place of a policeman and to make sure the children are safe.

When you are assigned to safety patrol you receive a belt and badge. These things are worn when on duty. Most boys and girls have done a good job of serving the safety patrol, but some of them think they are a big boss and start yelling at everyone, yet most of them have done their job well and we hope they keep it up.

Veterans' Day

World War I started with the assasinating of Francis Ferdinand in Belgium. Austria joined with Germany. France, England and Belgium joined together. President Wilson wanted neutrality. He didn't want to be in the war. German submarines sand too many ships so Wilson sent food, clothing and ammunition to England, Belgium and France. And later, one million men. The war ended on November 11, 1918. When it was November 11, 1918 at 11:00, suddenly it was silent. In June 1954, President Eisenhower changed the day to Veterans' Day.

If I Were

If I were a stewardess I'd fly to all the places the plane went. I'd help people if they got sick and I'd make them all happy. I'd talk to them and make them feel at home.

I'd serve them meals morning, noon, and night. When the pilots got hungry I'd serve them too. When we landed I'd tell where to go, and the others where to sit. Then I'd start all over again.

Feelings

Feelings can be happy, feelings can be sad, feelings can be good, and sometimes bad.
Sometimes you are lively, and other times you're not.

Right now I feel happy,
How about you!

Why I Would Have Rather Lived In Ancient Greece

I would have like to have lived in ancient Greece because of all the things around. After you finish all your work and maybe your school work you might go up a mountain and look down on everyone. Original Poem On Sponges

(Unit on Animals)

Sponges are found,
Where the water is blue,
Sponges bud and lay eggs, too.
Sponges do not get eaten by other creatures,
Because of their smell, and features.
Sponges are large,
And some are small,
Some are flat,
But none are tall.

McIntrye Seeks To Widen Scope Of Flooding Study

Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre has filed legislation seeking to widen the scope of a special legislative commission, studying flooding conditions in Quincy Point and South Quincy.

McIntyre, who heads the commission, is asking that the study include the towns of Braintree, Randolph, and Holbrook and that the size of the commission be increased.

He said he particularly wants to include Braintree in the study because the Braintree Dam causes flooding conditions in Quincy when it overflows.

The dam, he said, in turn causes Hayward Creek in Quincy Point and Town Brook in South Quincy to overflow and cause flooding in those areas.

"Braintree Dam is an integral part of the Quincy flooding problem," he said. "As the commission is presently set up, it is restricted to a study of Quincy.

"I believe Braintree and the towns of Randolph and Holbrook should be included in the study."

He said he wants Randolph and Holbrook included because it is in the same water district with Braintree.

"Perhaps," McIntyre declared, "this could be a two-fold study of both flooding and drought conditions."

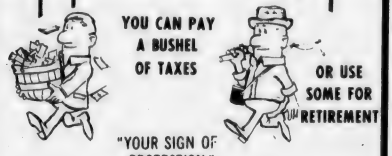
His bill, he said, would increase membership of the commission by one senator, two state representatives and two others appointed by the Governor.

He said the commission should also investigate the possibility of obtaining state and federal funds to help relieve both flooding and drought conditions in the area.

Harrigan, Beham To Exhibit Art At Quincy Libraries

Edward Harrigan of Rockland will exhibit his oil paintings during the month of December in the main hall of the Thomas Crane Public Library in Quincy, it has been announced by Carmen Ungar, art librarian.

Mr. Harrigan, who received First Award last summer in the Ogunquit National Show, studied portrait painting under Mrs. Emily Barnard and was a pupil of Emille Gruppe of Gloucester and Paul Strisik of Rockport. He is a member of the Copley Society and the Braintree Art Association. He teaches in both Rockland and Braintree. Among his works are portraits of Both Cardinal Spellman and Cardinal Cushing.



At the North Quincy Branch of the Thomas Crane Public Library from Dec. 1 through Dec. 21, paintings of Robert C. Benham of Bass Rocks, East Gloucester, will be on display. He is the son of a Gloucester skipper and has been familiar with the coast area since early childhood.

HOUSE CALL

By Dr. Charles Djerf

BABY SITTERS

Recently, at the YMCA, I had the pleasure of addressing about a dozen teen-age "Baby Sitters". Sound dull to you? On the contrary -- it was a challenging and interesting session. The girls were "on the ball".

A reliable person to entrust the care of your children on a night out - for business or for the "tired Housewife Syndrome" - is often a difficult solution.

When my two were youngsters, I allowed them to care for themselves at a very early age. Proudly I felt that they were properly disciplined and thoroughly self-sufficient. How wrong I was! To please me and keep up the image - they suffered in fear - but never complained - I missed the boat. Years later I learned of their true tolerance and courage - many years too late.

Among the reasons for attempting the experiment of allowing the children their own care was a succession of failures with teenage girls. Returning unexpectedly to find jazz sessions with a house full of adolescents - cigarette smoke suggesting a contest anticipating lung cancer in a decade - development of new profanities in the children even exceeding my own proficiency.

The climax at that time was the experience of a family who had the ideal sitter - their children were never a problem - slept well - no fighting, etc., until they discovered that in her ingenuity she narcoticized the "brats" with carbon monoxide from unlit gas jets - just enough to knock them out.

Getting back to our "Y" session. This group was a delight - attentive - bright - unashamed - poised - pertinent and probing. It was apparent that they had been well trained by their parents and the "Y" instructors.

We discussed all manners of problems which might arise - their management and anticipation. What to do in an emergency. Whom to call. The subjects covered were: burns, cuts, head injuries, bleeding, drug ingestion, falls, broken bones, splinting, croup, fever, first aid etc.

Every parent should have conspicuously placed the telephone numbers of their destination, reliable informed neighbors or relatives. Especially the police and fire department emergency telephone numbers for a frantic appeal.

We particularly discussed telephone calls from strangers or attempts to enter the house, and discretion in handling of these. A harrowing trial in a neighboring town by a maniac urged me to bring up this subject. Any suspicions should be told to the employer.

All in all it is refreshing to realize that such a course is available and so well prepared to cute - polite and capable girls. I recommend the "Y" if you are looking for a "Baby Sitter".

Conroy, Frazier Praise Players

Quincy-North Game To Be Remembered!

The 1969 Quincy - North Quincy football classic is history and the game won't soon be forgotten by players and fans of both teams.

The Quincy players, coaches and fans will remember the school's first Greater Boston League title [co-championship with Malden], the first unbeaten league season, 6-0-1, the best record since 1964 [7-1-1] and the most one-sided win in the series 37-year history.

The North players and coaches will, in the words of first-year coach, Ralph Frazier, "lick our wounds, try to forget this game and hope to rebound next year."

"These kids were tremendous all season long and gave me the finest season since I took over as head coach," Hank Conroy said following the Presidents' resounding 53-0 romp before 15,000 at Veterans Memorial Stadium. "They had character and the ability to go with it and it was a wonderful season."

Frazier took the walloping philosophically. "They took advantage of every break and really gave it to us," he said. "It is a bitter one, though and I really feel badly for the seniors. They deserved better and I feel sorry I couldn't have given them better. They are a truly great bunch of kids who gave me 100 percent all year."

There were murmurs throughout the huge throng of "piling it on," but Conroy denied it.

"I certainly didn't run up the score," he said. "How can I tell the kids not to pick up a fumble or not to intercept a pass? We made our breaks on defense and I couldn't tell the offense not to score.

"Some people thought we should have let North score [the Raiders reached the Quincy 10 late in the game but Conroy put his first defensive unit back and held them]. But the defense did not want anyone to score on them. We played every senior and had a lot of second and third stringers in toward the end."

Frazier also got all his seniors in the game.

Eight different players scored Quincy's touchdowns, four coming on passes from Kevin Ryan, who was still in there throwing the ball in the final period as the score continued to mount. Ryan also was four for four in extra point kicks as he completed an outstanding season.

Quincy recovered two North fumbles, intercepted three passes and two scores were set up by a blocked punt and another partially blocked. North, in turn, stopped two Quincy drives with interceptions.

Frazier paid tribute to his defensive players who, despite the big score, performed well at times. "We stopped their running game fairly well but Ryan's passes killed us and fumbles, interceptions and the blocked punt really hurt," Ralph said.

He hailed the defensive performances of Joe Bertoni, Bobby Bell, Mike Martin, John Hemphill and Jerry Mulcahy.

Conroy wouldn't single out any players. "Everyone did a fine job, just mention them all," he said.

Quincy scored early after recovering a fumble with sophomore Steve McCarthy scoring from the two and Ryan kicking the point.

Number two was scored by Rich Pettiti with a 42-yard return of a pass interception and the third TD of the first period came after a punt was partially blocked and Ryan passed to Paul Picarski for 21 yards and a score. Ryan's two conversions made it 21-0 after a period.

In the second quarter a North quick-kick attempt was blocked and, after Quincy took over on the North 19, Ryan passed to standout end Rich Menchi for an 18-yard scoring play and Ryan added his fourth conversion kick for a 28-0 half-time bulge.

In the third period John Provost took the kickoff and raced up the middle, escaped from several would-be tacklers and returned it 68 yards for another touchdown.

Later in the period Ryan threw his third touchdown pass, this one a 16-yarder to end Bill Maver.

On the first play of the last quarter Tom Daley crashed in from the three, capping a short drive that began when Menchi intercepted a pass on the North 10.

"This touchdown was an example of the team spirit and teamwork," Conroy said. "When we got down close, Ryan told Daley it was his turn to score. Tom is a senior and was one of five seniors to score."

A pass interference call led to the Presidents' final touchdown in the last period. Ryan threw to Picarski, who was hit before the ball arrived, putting Quincy on the North 35. Three plays later Ryan threw his fourth scoring pass, a 33-yarder to Joe Goguen.

Pettiti attempted the extra point on the last four touchdowns but made good only after Daley's touchdown. Ryan had another scoring pass, a 37-yard toss to Menchi in the second period, nullified by a penalty.

Schoolboy Finale For Many Q-N Players

Last week's Quincy-North football game marked the final schoolboy game for many players on both squads.

Quincy offensive and defensive starters who made their farewell appearances were Claff Mattson, Bob MacDonald, Paul Hand, Steve Shapiro, Mike Paluzzi, Kevin Ryan, Paul Picarski, Tom Daley, Joe Maguire and John Provost

Others graduating will be Tom O'Shea, Rich Graham, Bill Contino, Steve Galvin, Jerry Quintilliani, Lance Peterson, Bob Conte, Mike Hanratty, Tom Brow, Joe Goguen, John Sullivan and Bob Vincent.

From the starting offensive and defensive units North will lose Craig Bogosian, Dick Constantino, Bob Bell, John Hemphill, Kevin Racette, Jerry Mulcahy, Steve Tomasetti, Mike Martin, Joe Bertoni and Joe Spavento.

The Raiders also lose Colin Riley, John Walsh, Jim Horigan and Paul Beauchamp.

Conroy Takes In Army-Navy

For the second year in a row one of the happiest spectators at the Army-Navy football classic last week at John F. Kennedy Stadium in Philadelphia was Quincy Coach Hank Conroy.

A year ago Hank attended after upsetting North, 21-8, to take the Greater Boston League championship from the Raiders.

Last week he was on hand with his wife after shelling North 53-0, and winning Quincy's first GBL title [co-championship with Malden].

Quincy's 7-1-1 record equalled Hank's record in his first season as head coach in 1964. However, this was Quincy's first unbeaten league season [6-0-1].

In 1964 the Presidents were nipped by Everett's champions, 22-21, and tied by Malden, 8-8, finishing behind Everett which in those days was making a habit of winning the crown.

53-0 Biggest Series Score

Quincy's 53-0 win over North last week was the biggest score ever rolled up in the 37-year series.

The previous high score was Quincy's 44-20 win in 1955, while the Presidents had won 34-0, in 1941 and 31-6 in 1946.

North's biggest margin in the series was 18-0 in 1962 and the Raiders also won, 20-7, in 1953.

TURKEY DAY PANORAMA--Balloons of North Quincy fans rise colorfully in foreground at Veterans Memorial Stadium as Quincy team jogs onto field and Quincy band at right prepares to "March Down The Field To The Music." An estimated 15,000 fans jammed the stadium for the annual grid classic.

BIG JOB at a muddy field was keeping the football dry and clean. Doing the honors was "ball boy" Brian Nevins of Yardarm Lane who incidentally also does a nice job as a Quincy Sun carrier boy.

W-H-O-A, says North Co-Captain John Hemphill as he reaches for Quincy's Tom Daley who has just gathered in a pass.

RED ROSES from Mayor James R. McIntyre are presented to Quincy and North Quincy Queens by Acting Mayor J. Vincent Smyth. At left are Buddy Page, North Quincy Fathers Club; Smyth, and Quincy's cheerleader Co-Capt. Susan Spileos, Queen runner-up Jeannie Bishop; Queen Maureen Conley, runner-up Betsy Harold, cheerleader Capt. Sandy DeVincentis. At right are North Quincy's Queen runner-up Sue Kramer, Queen Patty O'Rourke, runner-up Gloria Perry and cheerleader Capt. Jayne Morris.

Quincy, North Icemen Begin League Practice

The Quincy and North Quincy hockey squads began practice Monday in preparation for their first Greater Boston League games on Dec. 19.

This is the first year for the league and it consists of the same schools as in every other sport, Quincy, North, Malden, Everett, Medford, Somerville, Revere and Chelsea.

Quincy, North, Malden, Everett and Revere moved from thenow defunct Met League.

Bob Sylvia's Quincy team last year qualified again for the Eastern Mass. tourney, bowing to Dedham in the first round. Although Bob Laing's North icemen had a losing season, they had many underclassmen and are looking forward to a good season.

Meanwhile, Marty Finnegan's Quincy basketball team and Bob Nolan's North quintet began practice two weeks ago but many players on both squads were playing football and didn't begin basketball workouts until this week.

Jr. College's Hoop Future Optimistic

Although the Quincy Junior College basketball team dropped its season's opener to Bristol Community College of Fall River, 83-79, new coach Earl Vermillion is optimistic.

"We are starting to jell and I think we will make a good showing in the Massachusetts Junior College Conference," he said. "In pre-season scrimmages we defeated Eastern Nazarene Jayvees and lost to Boston State freshmen and I thought we made a good showing against Bristol."

Quincy had several successful seasons under Bob Basiliere, now the QJC athletic coordinator, and last year made the league playoffs.

In the season's opener Paul Beston, one of only two returnees, paced Quincy with 31 points, but Bristol's Dennis Alves led all scorers with 36. Charlie Edgar, the other veteran, had 20 and Jim Broderick 12 for QJC. Quincy trailed, 40-35, at the half, then had a 44-43 edge in the second half.

Co-Capt. Beston, from Quincy, and Edgar from Abp. Williams, form the nucleus for Vermillion, former North Quincy High assistant coach.

"Beston is one of our top scorers, has a good shot and is constantly working to get open." Vermillion said. "Bob Basiliere rated him as one of his best last year.

Edgar is one of a set of twins who played for Williams. He is an outstanding offensive player who makes his moves instinctively.

Again the Collejuns' big weakness is a lack of height. The only big man, Ralph Jackson [6-5] played at North Quincy last year but didn't start. Vermillion rates him as a 'real good athlete, a good shooter and a fine rebounder.'

Ed Lambert of Needham and Luigi Eleuteri, one of last year's Quincy High standouts, are forward starters and rounding out the squad are Broderick of North Quincy, Ken MacLean and Dave Lindholm of Quincy, Co-Capt. Bill Yout of Dorchester, Glen Curran and Walt Introne of Braintree, Bruce Kagan of Hyde Park and Dick Plant from Don Bosco High.

None of the QJC sports teams have received much support in the past but it is hoped that things will change this year.

"The cheerleaders, student government and the hockey and basketball teams are trying to develop more interest," Vermillion explained. "The kids are really trying to make this thing go. They are planning video tapes of the games or movies and show them in the lounge after games. We are also setting up a bulletin board display."

Friday night QJC will host a special Meet the Team Night starting at 7 o'clock in the Quincy Vo-Tech gym, site of the team's home games. The program will start with an introduction of the hockey and basketball teams, cheerleaders and student government officers, followed by a varsity-faculty basketball game.

The QJC quintet meets Franklin Institute tonight at 8:15 p.m. at Boston Latin High School.

55 Southwest Quincy Students Take Swimming Instructions

Fifty-five students from Southwest Quincy took part in a recent program to provide swimming instruction and recreation for children in that area.

Initiated by the Blue Hill Girl Scout Council, cooperating groups were the Quincy Community Action Program, the Quincy YMCA and the John Hancock School.

The program was felt important because children living in Southwest Quincy have no place in the neighborhood to swim in safety, and the waterfilled stone quarries attract many. Also, swimming instructions have not been available there.

Mary Kay Goodwin, a field adviser to Quincy from the Blue Hill Girl Scout Council, was coordinator for the program. Nine Senior Girl Scouts from the Council were instructors. Included were Gail Fleming, Ellen Keating, Debby Maloney and Mary Ellen Tribble, all of Quincy; Patricia Sweeney, Milton; Maureen Healey, Cohasset; Cheryl Kessler, Janet Locke and Judy Van Schyndel, all from Randolph.

Children in grades three to six of the John Hancock School took part in the one and one-half hour program on Saturdays from October 4th - November 22nd at the Quincy YMCA.

Paul Hanlan and James Dean qualified as Red Cross Advanced Beginners.

Because of the success of the program, an attempt will be made to organize it as a continuing community program through cooperation of CAP, the YMCA, and the schools.

24 Named All-Stars In Youth Football League

Twenty-four players have been named to the Quincy Youth Football League All-Star Team for 1969.

The offense All-Star unit comprises:

Arthur Boyle, Bob Lane, Mike Conine, Houghs Neck Manets.

Paul Williams, Jim Evans, Rich Desmond, North Quincy Apaches.

Andy Sferruzza, Paul Donoghue, T. J. O'Sullivan, Quincy Elks.

Roger Johnston, Anthony Trubiano, Peter Pino, Quincy Point Panthers.

The defense All-Star unit includes:

Bond Doucette, Rick Howard, Bob Vecchione, Manets.

James Doherty, Mike Conroy, Ken Marsters, Apaches.

James Curran, Jerry Durante, Bill Kelly, Elks.

David Maggiani, David Goguen, Mark Walker, Panthers.

The Elks football banquet will be held Dec. 11 at 7 p.m. at the Elks Hall, 1220 Hancock St., Quincy Center.

ENC Icemen Start Slow But Show Improvement

Quincy Junior College's first hockey team is off to a slow start in the Mass. Junior College League but is showing steady improvement.

Coached by Don Salvucci, former Quincy High and Northeastern star, QJC, following a tie with Chamberlayne and three losses, hit the win trail last week with a 3-2 decision over Franklin Institute at Boston Arena, where most of the Quincy games are being played.

"This is a first year team and several of the other teams have been organized for several years and are more experienced," said Salvucci, who coached Brockton High hockey for five years and is still a teacher there. "We have some fine skaters and we are improving all the time. There is plenty of enthusiasm in the new sport and I think we will give every one a battle."

Salvucci is especially pleased with the work of goalie Gerry Connelly, from North Quincy, who is averaging '45 saves a game. But, as this figure proves, the QJC defense must improve.

In the win over Franklin, Chuck Abbate from South Boston, Pat Breen from Catholic Memorial and George Jakub from North Quincy scored.

Quincy's next game is Dec. 11 at 9 p.m. with Massasoit College at Brockton.

Houghs Neck To Enter Legion Baseball

There will be an added starter in Zone 6 of the American Legion baseball competition next summer.

Houghs Neck Post will join Morrisette and Quincy in the league and will be coached by Shorty Donovan, a veteran of the old South Shore League. He will be assisted by Jim Hannabury, another South Shore League vet, and Joe Driscoll.

"I had considered taking the Morrisette coaching job when Nick Malvesti offered it to me," Donovan said. "But when the Houghs Neck Post decided to sponsor a team, I decided to accept that coaching bid."

"I am happy we are having a team, as it means 18 more boys can play baseball during the summer."

Connie Carlozzi resigned as Morrisette coach following the 1969 season after winning the league title several times.

Brett Team In Top Spot In Little Loop

The Rep. Joseph E. Brett team moved into first place in the Quincy Bowling Little Loop with a 4-0 sweep of the Dist. Atty. George G. Burke club Saturday at Wollaston Boulevard Bowladrome.

The victory deadlocks the Brett team with the Bryan VFW post team, 18-6.

Captain Mike Lorman's 132 paced the Wollaston Boulevard Bowladrome team to a new season high single of 507 and team total pinfall of 1,384.

Tom Joyce has the league's top average with 100.9. Behind him are: Mike Conroy, 98.14; Paul Peckham, 97.5; Dick Hirtle, 96.17; Tony Kovalski, 95.2; Steve Levine, 94.12; Dick Magnarelli, 94.7; Mike Lorman, 94.4; Bruce Perry, 93.3 and Dick Carrol, 92.16.

15,000 Turnout One Of Largest

The perfect weather, Quincy's quest for its first Greater Boston League title and North's hopes of avenging last year's defeat which knocked it out of contention, combined to draw an estimated 15,000 fans, the largest crowd in years, to the holiday grid classic.

The record crowd was 18,000 several years ago but last week's was one of the largest in the 37-year series.

Voc-Tech Opportunities To Be Outlined Dec. 10

Opportunities for vocational-technical education in Quincy will be outlined at a "Vocational-Technical Fair" at Atlantic Junior High School, Dec. 10.

The event, sponsored by the Guidance Department of the Quincy Vocational-Technical School will begin with an orientation program in the school cafeteria at 7:30 p.m.

It will be followed at 8 p.m. by exhibits and demonstrations in the school cafeteria.

The staff and students of the Quincy Vocational-Technical School have prepared the exhibits illustrating career areas represented at the school. They will be present to discuss the opportunities offered.

The school's undergraduate programs for 10th, 11th and 12th grades include: metals and machines, power mechanics, food preparation, electro-electronics, general piping, graphic and commercial art and general woodworking.

Graduate programs, grades 13 and 14, include: practical nursing, computer-data processing, surgical technician, dental assistant, dental laboratory technician, and machine technology.

Regestry Open House Sunday

Registrar Richard McLaughlin and Mayor James R. McIntyre will co-host an open house Sunday at the new Registry of Motor Vehicles Quincy branch office.

Residents of Quincy and the 13 other South Shore communities served by the new office are invited to inspect the facility between 3 p.m. and 5 p.m., Mayor McIntyre said. Refreshments will be served.

The building, located off Sea Street, behind the Quincy Police Station, was constructed by the city at a cost of $200,000 and is being leased to the Registry at an annual fee of $29,350.

New Careers Begin For 10 Residents Young At Heart

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

A unique partnership between the City of Quincy and its Senior Citizens began on Monday when the Senior Service Corps went into action.

Ten Quincy residents 60 years and older began work in city offices.

Sponsored by the Quincy Council on Aging, the project has the enthusiastic support of Mayor James R. McIntyre and the backing of the City Council.

As far as is known, this is the first such city-funded program in the nation. It is planned as a demonstration effort with the hope that it may be expanded later if successful.

Members of the Senior Service Corps will not replace persons currently employed, but will provide additional needed services.

Donald Strong, executive director of the Council for the Aging, explained that one of the corpsmen will be a senior job recruiter who will seek positions in city offices and private business for persons over 60. This position is filled by Edmund Ferry of 85 Billings Rd., who will work at headquarters of the Council for the Aging.

Applications of the more than 100 people who applied for positions were reviewed by the Division of Employment Security, who recommended the best qualified applicants. Final selections were made by the Department heads and the Council Director.

Guidelines for the program were developed and approved by members of the Council on Aging, a majority of whom are representatives of the Senior population.

Among those starting work this week were former Fire Chief Thomas Gorman, assigned to the City Clerk's Office. Clarence L. Edwards, formerly of the Quincy Health Dept., who with Mrs. Olive Tompkins, is with the Quincy Recreation Department.

Lester Glasser is at the Quincy Junior College library; Christopher Delaney, Forestry Department; Paul Bartolini, treasurer's office; Anthony Venna, former Welfare Department head, in the Mayor's office; Mrs. Natalie Roberts, treasurer's office; Mrs. Mabel Atwood, assessor's office.

One position is yet to be determined.

Houghs Neck Lighting On Sunday

Mayor James R. McIntyre will officiate on Sunday at the annual Christmas tree lighting ceremonies of the Houghs Neck Community Neck Community Council.

The 5:30 p.m. program will take palce on the lawn of the Houghs Neck Fire Station at Sea Street and Manet Avenue, where a tree has been erected by the Quincy Park Department.

Clergy of the Houghs Neck Congregational Church and Most Blessed Sacrament Church have been invited to participate. Mrs. Abbie Sines will be soloist and lead the singing of carols. There will also be a neighborhood chorus led by Frederick Kussman, and an appearance by Santa Claus. John B Powers, president, will give the welcome.

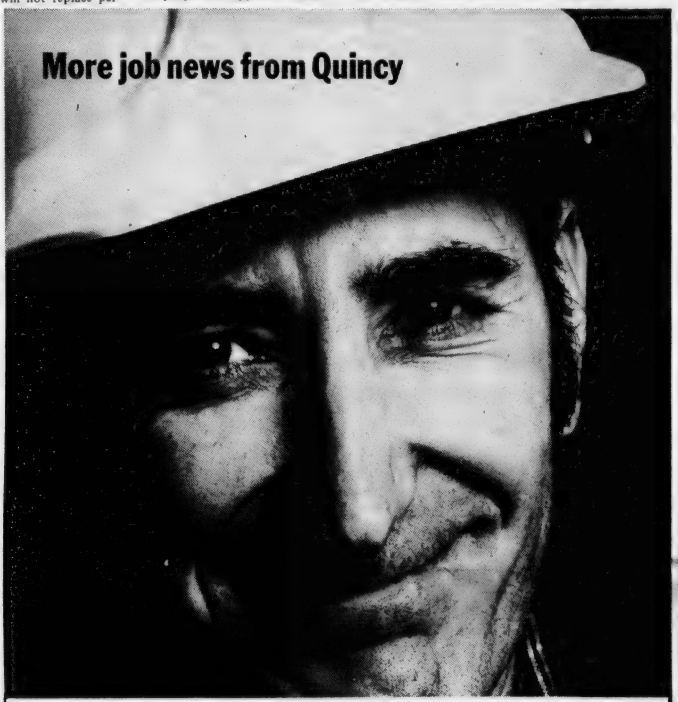
Doorway Contest Underway

The South Shore Christmas Festival is sponsoring a doorway decorating contest for Quincy-South Shore residents for the 1969 holiday season.

Suggested types of decorating are modern [Santa Claus type], traditional [wreaths, greens, etc.], religious, or lighted [can include any of the previous types plus lights within the display or illuminated by a floodlight. Lights should not extend more than six inches from the outside door frame.]



A color photo [Polaroid, Instamatic, snapshot or slide] should accompany an entry blank. Entries should be mailed before Dec. 24 to South Shore Decorating Contest, South Shore Christmas Festival, 36 Miller Stile Road, Quincy, 02169.

Preliminary selections will be made solely by the color photos. A panel of judges will personally inspect all finalists, and announce the winners during the week after Christmas. A final winner will be chosen for each South Shore town entered, and a grand prize for best overall doorway will also be awarded.

Further information may be obtained from Bernard C. Moore Jr., Festival secretary.

The "Little Professor" learned something about welding this week

You know his type. The one that has all the answers on everything from sports to the price of peanuts. He thought he knew every trick in the trade of welding. Then, he saw what we're doing at Quincy.

As he puts it: "When I came into the trade, we had to learn welding the hard way . . . grubbing a little know-how here and there from the pro's. Today, Quincy has a school that graduates or qualifies more than 40 welders a week in low hydrogen and mild steel procedures. Wow!"

The "Little Professor" isn't the only one that's learned something new at Quincy. Here, no matter what your trade, you can really learn it to its peak. Why? Because you won't be confined to run-of-the-mill, assembly-line work. Each day brings new problems to solve. And, you'll find a boss who's willing to let you tackle them personally.

If your trade means something to you, it can mean a lot more at Quincy.

We have immediate openings for:

Marine Electricians (Skilled & Unskilled)
Pipefitters
Shipfitters (Including Iron Workers & Carpenters able to read blueprints)
Riggers
Painters (Skilled & Unskilled)
Welders
Pipe Welders
Sheet Metal Workers
Sandblasters (Skilled & Unskilled)
Watch Firemen (1st & 2nd Class)
Chippers & Burners
Loftsmen
Inspectors (Ability to read structural piping or engineering blueprints 4th Class or higher)

Many Complaints From Residents

Mayor Seeks To Curb Jet Noise

DEAR SANTA--First letters to Santa are mailed by Douglas, 6, Donna Lee, 4, Kimberly, 2, and John Richardson, 7, from Santa's Mailbox in front of Barry's Deli, Wollaston. Richard J. Koch and Daniel Barry, co-chairmen of the South Shore Christmas Festival Committee's "Letters To Santa" project help get the mail off. [Quincy Sun Photo By Robert Leo Engl.

The roar of jets that has been bugging the people of Quincy for years may soon be a thing of the past.

Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre has filed legislation that would have Logan Airport comply with new Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) standards, which are expected to be announced soon.

"It would help a great deal toward resolving the many noise complaints that we have had from some sections of the city," said McIntyre.

Residents have not only complained of the noise as airliners pass over Quincy, but there have also been reports of cracked ceilings and even foundations in South Quincy and Quincy Point.

Quincy is in an approach zone for Logan Airport and McIntyre filed legislation that would make a start toward doing something about that, too.

One of his bills would authorize the governor to negotiate with the governors of Rhode Island and Connecticut on the feasibility of a tri-state airport on the border of the three states.

"Recently," he said, "I conferred with Senator Stanley of Connecticut and he was interested in a major international airport in his district, which is a rural area near the Massachusetts and Rhode Island border.

"With the new 747 already here and the supersonic transports (SST) in the near future we are going to have to have an airport in an area where there are few people."

Another McIntyre proposal would direct the commissioner of administration and finance to take over Otis Air Force Base on Cape Cod for a second international airport in Massachusetts.

"Few people realize that Massachusetts owns the land where Otis is located and the federal government is interested in getting out," said McIntyre. "It is in a sparsely populated area and only an hour and 15 minutes from downtown Boston. It is a logical site."

'New Equipment And Men

Quincy's Snow-Fighting Fleet Beefed Up, Ready For Action

Quincy's snow-fighting fleet – beefed up with new equipment and more man-power – is ready for winter action.

"We are in better shape for a storm than we have been in many years," said Public Works Commr. John M. Browne.

"We are ready but if we go through the winter without a bad storm, it wouldn't hurt our feelings."

Browne still painfully remembers last winter.

Going into February the city had escaped with a few minor ice storms that cost only $9,000.

Then, – wham – a big storm hit February 9, followed by one a week for several weeks which ran the city's snowfighting bill up to approximately $300,000.

"We hope we don't see that again this winter," says Browne. "That was a little too much."

Making its debut this year will be a new two-way radio equipped $16,000 International heavy all-purpose truck with 10-foot plow blade and large dump body for carrying sand and snow.

"It has a four-wheel drive to handle plowing on hills where we have had breakdown with other equipment," Browne said.

"You might call this a prototype. If it works out as well as we think it will, we will probably add some more of these vehicles in the future."

On order and expected to be delivered in January are four new Bombardiers – sidewalk plows – costing a total of $24,000.

The city already has six Bombardiers.

Other equipment includes: 10 Walters snow-fighters, two small Internationals, four sanding trucks and 15 other trucks for plowing.

Stockpiled are 10,000 tons of sand and 3,000 tons of salt for spreading on icy streets.

In addition to new equipment, Browne has also beefed up his snow fighting manpower.

Twenty-five non-city employees have been trained as snow equipment operators to augment city employees in emergency work.

Fourteen city employees who had never before operated snow fighting equipment have also been trained.

And 14 other city employees who had experience only in operating small equipment have been trained to handle heavy equipment.

The courses were given by six Public Works Department instructors who had undergone instructor training by the Quincy Vocational-Technical School with supervision by the state.

Adams, Granite Sts. Open To Traffic

All roads leading to Quincy's Shopperstown are open.

Saturday the MBTA completed resurfacing the Adams St. bridge which has been opened to one-lane traffic both ways.

The additional lanes will be opened as soon as blinkers and traffic signals will be installed.

The question as to whether the MBTA or the city of Quincy will make the installations is to be settled this week.

On Granite St., two lanes are open one way for east to west traffic with a rotary and temporary detour open, from west to east.

"Not much work is going on because we did not want to disrupt parking facilities until after the holidays," and MBTA spokesman said.

The bridge will soon be open to two-lanes in each direction. After the holidays crews will start excavation to build a rapid transit roadbed and the 100 car parking area will be gone.

The road bed is now built all the way up to Granite St.

On the south of School St. going north, the roadbed has been completed.

Approaches to the other half of Granite St. will be raised when work is resumed.

This will probably take six to eight months because of the expected cold weather, it is estimated.

City Election Cost About $1 Per Vote

Total costs for Quincy in the Nov. 4 election were $23,168.81, according to City Clerk John Gillis.

Of this amount, $15,427 went for personal services of workers, police, and janitors. Other expenses came to $7,741.81.

Since 23,526 persons voted, the cost per vote was roughly $1. each.

This figure does not include the amount spent for the two recountings necessary in the disputed elections for school committee and ward councilor.

Christmas Carols From City Hall Starting Monday

For the fourth year, carols and other holiday music will be broadcast from City Hall from Dec. 15 through Christmas.

The Quincy Shopper Makes Its Debut

It will be published monthly by The Quincy Sun Publishing Company, 1601 Hancock Street, Quincy, with a guaranteed 30,000 circulation--largest in the city.

The Quincy Shopper will be mailed free to every home once a month and will be available free at certain distribution points.

Like the Quincy Sun, now in its second year of publication, The Quincy Shopper will be a politically independent, community oriented newspaper covering in depth news of Quincy's government, schools, civic groups, clubs, organizations and its people.

The same high-quality photography that has been a Quincy Sun trademark, will also be a main feature of The Quincy Shopper.

The Quincy Sun Publishing Company proudly introduces The Quincy Shopper.

Now we are two.

The Quincy Sun, weekly.

The Quincy Shopper, monthly.

Two different newspapers--both dedicated to Quincy and its people.

Northern Hospitality

Editor, Quincy Sun:

After some years as the wife of a management executive, one of the most difficult adjustments to make is moving into a strange and unknown city. As our plans and ambitions materialize, we are constantly rearranging our lives to fit whatever position we might be in, our most recent being a move to Quincy from the deep south.

We scrambled around searching for shopping areas, supermarkets, pediatricians, dentists, and convenient routes to get to them not too hazardous for my southern-oriented driving skills. We eagerly anticipated the many advantages the Boston area would offer-museums, arts, the theater, restaurants, educational benefits, and so on and on. Thus far, we have succeeded only in visiting the Haymarket one cold and wet Saturday morning with a quick side trip to the Animal Rescue League for a puppy. [We must have a dog in our household. Is any home complete without one?]

After only five weeks in town, we have survived one tonsillectomy, one lost and found child, one parking ticket, a broken water pipe which flooded the cellar, one malfunctioning clothes dryer, and one sick washing machine. Two children have contracted chicken pox and one is suffering from laryngitis this morning.

In all this chaos, I have discovered New England hospitality. When our four-year-old visited the hospital, a kind neighbor volunteered to babysit. Another neighbor drove me all over town pointing out particularly good super-markets, bakeries, department stores and how to get to them. After a trying visit to a super-market where I tried to persuade them to take my personal check with no personal identification [which they finally did], I returned home to find another neighbor had baked some Swedish pastry and sent it over for no reason other than friendship.

I had been thoroughly warned how "aloof" and "unfriendly" New Englanders are and was prepared for a bleak, friendless winter. It's not so! New England hospitality has warmed my family through these first trying weeks, and their offers of friendship have banished the pangs of homesickness.

Thank you all.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Paul P. Stone
107 Utica St.

'Dear Santa' Mailboxes In Operation

Locations of Santa's Mailboxes in Quincy have been announced by George C. Fay, general chairman of the South Shore Christmas Festival.

The four locations at which children's letters to Santa Claus may be mailed are Child World, 1475 Hancock St. and Turnstyle Dept. Store, 132 Granite St., Quincy Center; between Barry's Deli and Woolworth's on Beale St., Wollaston; in front of Fashion Quality Cleansers, 67 Billings Rd., North Quincy.

These Santa Boxes will be out until Christmas to receive letters, Christmas lists, or other notes to Santa at the North Pole.

Drugs Subject Of SYF Program

"Drugs: Use and Abuse", a program for parents and teenagers, will be sponsored Sunday (Dec. 14) at 6:30 p.m. by the Senior Youth Fellowship at Atlantic United Methodist Church, 62 East Squantum St., North Quincy.

Lt. David Rowell from the Quincy Police Department will speak and display various types of drugs now in use. A film on drug use, "Hide and Seek," will be shown.

Al Farber from "The Second", will be moderator for an open discussion on the subject parents and teenagers. "The Second" is a group affiliated with the Cambridge YMCA which provides college-age moderators for subjects of current concern.

The program is planned as an educational venture, and is open

Sunbeams

The inauguration of a new city government is less than four weeks away and still no one has the slightest idea just who its No. 2 man will be.

Insiders say six of the nine members of the City Council want to be president of that body but none can rustle up more than three of the five votes needed, including his own.

The contenders are still (as they were a month ago) the current Council President J. Vincent Smyth, George B. McDonald, John J. Quinn, Arthur Tobin, Clifford H. Marshall and Albert R. Barilaro.

If the deadlock continues through inauguration day, Jan. 5, it's quite possible the Council will re-elect Smyth to another term in the prestigious post.

Old timers can't remember when a Council president last succeeded himself.

The post doesn't pay any more than the regular Council salary of $1,500 a year plus expenses, but the holder gets to sit in for the mayor and wield the gavel and appoint committee members.

Everyone talks about what inflation is doing to the senior citizen living on a fixed income but it took the Aluisy brothers, Gary and Steven, to do at least a little something about it.

The Aluisys, proprietors of the popular downtown Quincy restaurant, Roman Gabriel's, will serve a special full-course dinner for senior citizens from noon to 5 p.m. every Sunday.

The cost: only $1.95.

"We feel that these people have worked hard all their lives," says Gary, the Aluisy who usually takes the speaking role. "It doesn't seem right that they should be forced to sit at home on Sunday afternoon and watch television."

And, while we're on the subject of the haves doing things for the have-nots or the have-littles:

Mayor James R. McIntyre is sending another massive fruit cake to his old Marine outfit, the First Platoon, D Company, 1st Regiment, First Division, now fighting in Vietnam.

McIntyre, who commanded the platoon as a first looey in the Korean War, has been sending a Christmas cake to the current members for a number of years.

PROUD FACT – Joseph Whiteman, editor of the Quincy Rotary Club Bulletin, notes that Rotary Foundation has awarded 4,000 fellowships worth $9,300,000 through the 1969-70 academic year.

NEWS FLASH – One of Quincy's newest real estate brokers is Barbara Fontaine, wife of Herb Fontaine, news director of WJDA. Her official certification came through November 26.

THE FORMULA – Quincy Atty. Joseph McParland, who gets around the South Shore while representing police in labor matters, picked up this tid bit at the Milton Police Department's Youth Division. It's called "How to Raise a Delinquent" and it goes like this:

1. Begin at infancy to give the child everything he wants. In this way he will grow up to believe the world owes him a living.
2. When he picks up bad words laugh at him. This will make him think he's cute.
3. Never give him spiritual training. Wait until he is 21 and then let him decide for himself.
4. Pick up everything he leaves around. Books - shoes - clothes. Do everything for him so that he will be experienced in throwing all responsibility on others.
5. Quarrel frequently in his presence. In this way he will not be too shocked when the home is broken up.
6. Give the child all the spending money he wants. Never let him earn his own way. Why should he have things as tough as you had them?
7. Satisfy his every craving for food, drink and comfort. Denial may lead to harmful frustration.
8. Take his part against neighbors, teachers, policemen. They are all prejudiced against your child.
9. When he gets into real trouble, apologize for yourself by saying: I never could do anything with him.
10. Prepare for a life of grief. You are bound to have it, and How!

Children To Sing Carols At Nursing Homes

The young people of Quincy are planning to make the Christmas holiday a little brighter for the city's elderly.

Elementary school children will tour the city's nursing homes singing carols during the week of Dec. 15. Twelve schools will participate.

The musical tour is being organized by Donald H. Strong, executive director of the Quincy Council on Aging, Miss Frances MacDonald and Miss Eda Antonellis of the Quincy School Music Department.

Mayor James R. McIntyre, noting that the same program was conducted last year, said "it is to be hoped that all of our citizens will follow the lead of our children in remembering our older people."

City Fights For $100,000 Flood Damage Abatements

The question of state reimbursement to the city of Quincy for abatements granted for flood damage during the storm of March 17, 1968, now rests in the hands of Atty. Robert Quinn.

The attorney general was asked for an opinion by Tax Commissioner Cleo Jaillet, at the request of Mayor James R. McIntyre, after Jaillet denied a reimbursement bid for more than $100,000 made by the city.

Jaillet said he did not believe that the state can reimburse a city for this type of tax loss under the terms of a new law.

"I think he is wrong," said McIntyre. "We are prepared to grant abatements on a conditional basis pending grant of reimbursement by the state."

The property damage in the floods was suffered mostly in South and West Quincy along Furnace Brook.

Permits For $369,900 Wiring In November

A total of 95 permits representing $369,900 worth of wiring were issued by the Quincy Department of Wire Inspection during the month of November, reports Inspector William H. Pitts.

Major projects included in the total were an 18 apartment building at 35 Schlager Ave.; a 51 apartment building at 179 Presidents Lane; a garage for the Chevron Oil Co. at 594 Adams St.; and housing for the elderly at 600 Washington Street.

Fees collected by the city on the permits totalled $1,601.

Eastern Nazarene, Junior College Receive $46,191 In Grants

Two Quincy colleges have received approval of grants totaling $46,191 by the Department of Health Education and Welfare, it has been announced by Congressman James A. Burke and Senator Edward M. Kennedy.

Eastern Nazarene College will receive $31,360 and Quincy Junior College $14,831 for participating in the College Work-Study Program. Federal Funds provide 80 per cent of student payrolls, and the remaining 20 per cent are provided by the college.

The national schedule contains approval of 2,177 institutional programs, estimated to benefit 233,636 students. Total Federal Funds allocated for the program during Jan. 1 - June 30, 1970 is $66,112,530.

Seven PWD Employes Instructor Graduates

Seven selected personnel from the Quincy Public Works Department were graduated from an instructor training program which concluded Saturday.

The 30-hour program, held for the past 10 weeks on Saturday mornings, was conducted by Robert Breagg, a qualified teacher trainer from Quincy Vocational Technical School.

Here Comes The Bride

By Mabelle

Are you interested in wedding customs of other lands? I have just returned from a buying trip to Portugal where a wedding is so very different from ours.

In the first place, there are no bridal shops where a girl may go and try on and purchase a ready made gown. She must buy her fabric [the selection is small and expensive] and make it herself or hire a dressmaker. In the end the gowns are far more costly then a comparable gown here.

Flowers for the bridal bouquet are very often artificial, made of fabric such as organza. They are gorgeous. Then too, the brides have them to treasure for ever after as a momento of the most important day of their lives. I have imported some of these bouquets and soon you will see for yourself how lovely they are. I have also brought back a few exquisite baskets and trays used by the ringbearers in place of the tiresome satin pillow.

On the wedding day, for the sum of one dollar, a wedding director is hired. As the name implies he directs the wedding.

The bride is driven to the church in a flower bedecked car. Everyone, including the groom, waits for her outside the church. The groom meets her and they enter the church followed by the best man and maid of honor. Directly in back of them come the parents followed by all the guests.

The women line up in back of the bride and the men on the right move along in back of the groom down the aisle. With the exception of the maid of honor and best man all attendants are children. When the ceremony is over the bride and groom's car is the last in the procession to the reception.

Morrisette Plans Parties

Christmas parties on Dec. 18 and 20 at the West Roxbury Veterans Hospital are the next public service projects planned by the Morrisette Post Auxiliary.

Morrisette Auxiliary Officers for 1969-70 are Mrs. Doris O'Brien, President; Mrs. Agnes Barilaro and Mrs. Mildred Horrigan, both recently elected as senior and junior vice president, respectively, to fill vacancies; Mrs. Agnes Malvesti, secretary; Mrs. Eloise Spear, treasurer; Mrs. Rose West, chaplain; Mrs. Mary Faherty, historian; and Mrs. Rose Broadford, sergeant-at-arms.

Included on the executive board as Past President Gertrude Paakonen, with 35 years service to Morrisette Auxiliary; Mrs. Corinne Barton, Mrs. Jeanne Greene, Mrs. Irene O'Rourke, Mrs. Beatrice Peak and Mrs. Winifred Lavasseur.

Claire T. DiBona Is Wed To David L. Beland In Quincy

In a double ring ceremony recently at St. John the Baptist Church, Quincy, Miss Claire Teresa DiBona became the bride of David L. Beland. She is the daughter of Mrs. Lee DiBona of 29 Carter St., Quincy, and the late Mr. DiBona, while the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Beland of Abington.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Lawrence E. Pratt of St. John's Church, assisted by Rev. J. Franklin Rudderham of All Saints Episcopal Church in Whitman.

The bride was given in marriage by G.y Sacchetti of Braintree, her godfather. She wore a gown of ivory silkened satin with rounded yoke of pearl embroidered Alencon lace and wedding band neckline, elbow sleeves with wide flared cuff of lace.

Her A-line skirt with full back chapel train fell from an empire waistline. She wore a contour pillbox in beaded matching Alencon lace with bouffant veiling of imported silk illusion, and she carried a cascade of phaleanopsis orchids, stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Mary Jane DiBona of Quincy, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, while Miss Mary Ann Beland of Abington, sister of the bridegroom, was the bridesmaid. Their identical gowns were of satin serge in gold shade, banded neckline, contour waistline, slim bell skirt with swing back over elbow sleeves accented with double ruffle, and with a self button accent at the back bodice. They wore bows of moss green velvet and carried bouquets of yellow and white pompoms with moss green velvet bows.

Paul L. DiBona of Quincy, a brother of the bride, was best man while ushers were Peter M. DiBona of Quincy, the bride's brother; Fred Hutchinson of Randolph; Richard Sacchetti of Braintree, a cousin of the bride; and Charles Senechal of Brockton, a cousin of the bridegroom.

A reception was held at the Marriott Motor Hotel in Newton. After a wedding trip to Paradise Island, Nassau, The Bahamas, the couple will live in South Middleboro.

Mrs. Beland, a graduate of Quincy High School and Aquinas Junior College, is an executive secretary at the Menter Division of Codman and Shurtleff, Inc., of Randolph. Mr. Beland, a graduate of Abington High School, served more than four years in the Air Force, and is a projectionist at the South Shore Plaza Drive-In, Braintree.

save on International flatware at South Shore National Bank

The pattern on the left: "Camelot," charmingly chivalrous in original Rogers silverplate. On the right: "Ventura," wonderfully contemporary in satin finish stainless. Both by International Silver of Meriden, Connecticut.

The catch: you've got to open a savings or checking account for $25 or more or add $25 or more to your present savings or checking account. Additional deposits of $25 or more, of course, allow you to buy additional place settings at the same low price.

The nice little touch: we give you your fifth place setting free. And after you've collected 12 place settings, we give you a set of six teaspoons free too.

"Completion Units" made up of things like serving spoons and butter knives, plus a beautiful storage chest are also available at similar savings with deposits of $25 or more.

It pays to get your silver at our bank.

"THE DISCIPLINE", folk-singers, include Mrs. Mary Adair, former Merrymount resident; Miss Jean Long; Mrs. Constance Turley, formerly of Wollaston; Miss Maxine Manning in front, Mrs. Ruth Pelley, and Mrs. Carol Johnston, Houghs Neck native. The group was organized by Mrs. Johnston, wife of Rev. Robert L. Johnston, at Edwards Congregational Church, Saxonville.

'The Decision' To Appear At HN Congregational Church

Three former Quincy women, folk-singers with the six-member group "The Decision," will return here next week.

They will present their instrumental-vocal program Dec. 17 at the 8 p.m. Christmas meeting of the Houghs Neck Congregational Church Mothers' Club in Fellowship Hall.

The group was organized three years ago by Mrs. Robert L. Johnston, wife of the minister at Edwards Congregational Church in the Saxonville section of Framingham. Mrs. Johnston, who plays a guitar, is the former Miss Carol Schuerch, a Quincy Hospital Nurse and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schuerch of Bay View Ave., Houghs Neck.

With her will be Mrs. Mary Hudson Adair, formerly of Merrymount, Mrs. Constance Turley, formerly of Wollaston, and Mrs. Ruth Telley of Framingham, all mothers of young children. Miss Jean Long and Miss Maxine Manning were added recently to complete the group, originally known as "The Seekers."

In uniforms of gray and playing their guitars, bongo drum and brass violin, "The Decision" has gained a reputation with civic and church groups throughout the state. Their schedule this past week has included programs at Medford, Gardiner and at Bethany Congregational Church, Quincy.

Original songs by group members are included in the contemporary and folk music selections which tell of the Christian's role in today's changing world, the ghetto (one deals with Roxbury), and the special problems and possibilities existing now.

"It is easy for people to accept changes in the world," Mrs. Johnston said, "but they want the church to remain as it was 100 years ago."

Rev. Mr. Johnston, her husband who was an associate minister at the Houghs Neck Congregational Church, spent several months working among Negroes in Chicago. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Johnston of 328 Rock Island Road and the brother of David Johnston, principal of Adams School in Quincy.

Mayor Speaker Sunday At St. John's Breakfast

Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre will be guest speaker Sunday at the St. John's Holy Name Society Communion Breakfast.

McIntyre will discuss the MBTA rapid transit extension to Quincy and the effects it will have on the Quincy-South Shore area.

The breakfast will follow the 8:30 a.m. Mass at which members will receive Communion.

The Holy Name Society is planning a couple's retreat at Miramar in Duxbury for January.

Joseph Ciccolo, president, announces that the next regular meeting will be held Feb. 8.

Community Christmas Pageant Sunday At First Parish Church

A special Community Christmas Pageant will be held at United First Church, Quincy Sq, Sunday, at 7 p.m.

The pageant, a dramatic and musical recreation of the "First Christmas" will be performed by a cast of 70-80 members of the Curtain Call Theater. Bud Berlenbach, president of the theater group will direct the pageant, assisted by Priscilla Brayton; Costumes were made by Mrs. Edith Burke.

The pageant was planned and included in the South Shore Christmas Festival Program to help perpetuate the culture and spirit of Christmas. According to Bernard C. Moore, Festival Secretary, the committee hopes that the pageant will help to emphasize the original beginning and meaning of Christmas - P E A C E - L O V E - BROTHERHOOD - GOODWILL TOWARDS ALL MEN.

Although many individual churches hold their own services and programs, this pageant is an attempt by the Festival committee to conduct a community-wide, ecumenical type program for persons of all ages and religions.

After the pageant is over, a procession will be held from the First Church across the street to the Hancock Cemetery where "The Infant" will be placed in the Creche, or Nativity scene.

George C. Fay, Festival general chairman predicted the Christmas Pageant will become a very distinctive and memorable part of the Festival Program and holiday season.

There is no charge to the general public for this pageant. As a capacity crowd is expected, Fay suggests that those interested in attending make special ticket reservations by calling the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce office, 479-1111.

St. Joseph's Christmas Party Sunday

St. Joseph's Holy Name Society is sponsoring a Christmas Party for children of the parish Sunday at the Fore River Clubhouse, Nevada Rd., from 1 to 3:30 p.m.

George S. Folsom, chairman, said children up to 10 years of age are invited to attend. Movies will be shown and refreshments served.

Santa Claus will make a personal appearance to distribute gifts to the children.

Holy Name Society members raised money to finance the party by selling candles and other Christmas items during the parish mission last October.

North Quincy K. Of C. Christmas Party Dec. 16

North Quincy Council, Knights of Columbus, will hold their annual members' Christmas party Dec. 16 at 8 p.m. at the K of C hall.

Thomas Joyce and Stanley Radzik will be hosts.

Come . Let Us Reason Together

By Dr. William F. Knox
Personal Counselor

'Think For Yourself'

"Eat your spinach"....my mother used to say...."it's good for you." So were vegetables....Sunday School....Latin....not getting everything I wanted. One Christmas my father playing Santa Claus made a return trip to the home after delivering presents and asked if he could take the little horns to give to some little boys up the street who had no gifts. [Of course the horns were on the tree Christmas morning.] This too was supposed to be "good for us"....we were supposed to learn to be unselfish. I'm not sure how much the "treatment took" because I still try to get what I want.

The school curriculum is mapped out for us because educators know "what is good for us." Advertisers manipulate our minds and those of our children....make us think certain things are good for us whether they are or not ....cigarettes....military toys for children....and a lot of things that will have us paying for them way into February and March....long after the receiver of your Christmas gifts has forgotten who gave them. And by the way....just why do you send Christmas cards?

Isn't it about time we began to think for ourselves "what's good for us" instead of letting others think for us....those who have axes to grind? We start out in childhood having parents think for us....tell us what to do ....when to go to bed....to the toilet....how to use our money ....even what college they will pay for. The result is that we do not learn to think for ourselves.

What other kids do....wear and say....are often ways of rebellion against parents....but often not the result of thinking for oneself.

Men go into the Army....are told what to do....not to think for themselves....just follow orders....even if it means shooting down women and children in a Vietnam village.

In business it is refreshing to find employees....so my business friends tell me....who can think for themselves and make valid decisions. These fellows are in demand....they usually go to the top.

Of course....one of the most outstanding preventions of thinking for ourselves is religion....so much religion discourages rational thinking....saying in effect.... these are the rules of the church ....this is your "faith"....and often there is the built-in element of fear of present or eternal punishment "if you don't." I don't think this kind of religion is "good for people"....not twentieth-century people.

It is so much easier to have someone else think for you....a husband....wife....parent....boss... church....lieutenant. It's so much easier to follow an order....or a rule....or a group. But every order and every rule may not be "good for you." Think for yourself.

If you're going to move into the new and higher level of "think for yourself" living, you'll need to learn the power of personal discipline. I remember when I found my dog hung on the fence he had failed to negotiate ....was I to leave him to go get a shovel and bury him? A tough decision. I buried him.

As an Air Force Chaplain when the call came of a crash nearby the base....would I jump into my jeep and go to the crash or go to a more pleasant duty? A tough decision. I always responded to the crash calls.

To smoke or not to smoke.... that's a big question for many right now. You have to decide. ....not the Surgeon General.... not parents....YOU. It takes personal discipline.

Your perpetual tardiness..... your sour attitude in the morning....your badgering other people at work and at home....you can change these....but you'll have to make these changes by your your own personal discipline.... your own thinking.

It takes personal discipline to think and act for yourself. If you didn't learn it as a child.... get with it now. 1970 will soon be here and you're going to need to think for yourself in the 1970's.

FOR YOUR COMMENTS: Call Dr. Knox at 326-5990, or 545-5947, or 945-9800, or write him at 628 High Street, Dedham, Mass. 02026

A total of 173 people were returned to active, productive community life by the Quincy District Office of the Massachusetts Rehabilitation Commission fiscal 1969.

Commissioner John S. Levis reported to the legislature recently that his commission rehabilitated 3,650 persons throughout the state. This is 358 more than the previous year.

$47,020 Awarded To Quincy Voc.-Tech. For Training Program

A $47,020 award to Quincy Vocational-Technical School by the federal government will insure continuance for 29 weeks of its pre-vocational training program.

These funds are available under the Manpower Development Act which has provided training for more than 85,000 adults since 1962.

For the past 26 weeks 24 adults have attended six-hour sessions weekdays, 3 to 9 p.m. at Quincy Vocational Technical School. The program was directed by Edward Hannon, coordinator of adult education.

Teachers, with classes limited to 12 students, were from the Quincy Public School System. Thomas Owens and Ann Kooiman were mathematics instructors; Richard Hutchison, and Gerard Reed, Jr., English; Ralph Younie, industrial arts; and Dorothy Willis, home economics. James Roche was full-time substitute teacher, and John Murphy served as guidance councillor.

A real desire to learn and to locate themselves in a satisfying occupation has been the students' goal. Recommended by the Division of Employment Security in Quincy, some of the students are attempting to support families with from one to four children on a small paycheck. Under the MDTA, each student receives a stipend based on themselves and their dependents.

Of the present group, one student has entered the computer training program at Bryant and Stratton, and a woman is attending Quincy Junior College. Three students are to take an examination which, if they pass, will entitle them to an equivalency high school diploma. Three men have acquired better paying jobs.

Under the new program allocation of $47,020, a total of $21,268 will go for training allowances, and $25,752 for trainee stipends. Materials and teaching processes are geared to the adult level.

An evaluation system has been added which provides for a progress report every two weeks. The students will be tested quarterly by a guidance councilor to aid them in staying on the right track toward their goals. Results will be reported to the Division of Employment Security which will help students secure full time employment.

"The spark that must be created is built around confidence and togetherness," Mr. Hannon said, "The adults must feel this flame by each learning process."

Isadore Zack MIA Secretary

Isadore Zack of Quincy has been elected secretary of the Military Intelligence Association of New England, an organization of former members of the U.S. Army Counterintelligence Corps.

Named to the 12 member board of directors were Arthur G. Henderson, John F. Gough and John H. Greeth Jr., all of Quincy.

Ralph C. Wilde of Randolph was chosen president.

Dist. Atty. Burke Area Cancer Fund Chairman

Norfolk County Dist. Atty. George C. Burke of Quincy has been named South Norfolk Area chairman for the 1970 Massachusetts Cancer Crusade.

Community Chairmen will be appointed under District Attorney Burke's direction in the communities of Quincy, Braintree, Weymouth, Cohasset, Holbrook, Randolph, Avon, Stoughton, Sharon, Wrentham, Norfolk, Franklin, Plainville and Bellingham.

Burke, who has been cited for leadership in state drug education legislation and the establishment of a county drug education bureau, called cancer control, "one of the nation's most compelling issues."

He commended "the distinguished medical leaders and community volunteers who provide the tools of life-saving research, education and service.

"The expansion of cancer research centers has produced major gains and more than 25 useful drugs," he said. "The thrust of this program is provided by thousands of volunteers who are joined in an immediate goal of saving 313,000 lives a year, or half of those persons who develop the disease."

The annual Cancer Crusade is conducted in April each year.

Quincy Elks Christmas Party For Cerebral Palsy Sunday

The 14th annual Cerebral Palsy Christmas Party, sponsored by the Quincy Lodge of Elks, will be held at the Elks Home, 1220 Hancock St., Sunday, at 1:30 p.m., and more than 500 cerebral palsied children and adults, together with their parents, brothers and sisters, will be in attendance.

George C. Fay, chairman of the committee for 14 years, is also a member of the Board of Directors of the Cerebral Palsy organization.

Entertainment, group singing and refreshments will be furnished, culminating in the presentation of gifts by Santa Claus for each CP child and adult and their younger brothers and sisters.

Dr. Charles D. Merrill, President of the CP organization, and Arthur Ciampa, Executive Director, will be present. Mayor James R. McIntyre, who is Second Vice-President of the organization, will bring greetings from the City of Quincy.

Every cerebral palsied child or adult living in the South Shore area is invited to attend the Christmas Party and enjoy the festivities.

Children Learn What They Live

Christmas is fast upon us. In so many ways, Christmas is a time for children. It is a time of happiness and giving of gifts. I am impressed by the size and cost of gifts given to children in these days - quite a change from 25 years ago. But I think we are still missing the boat.

In this day of hostility and condemnation on every hand, the greatest gift we could possibly give our children would be to teach them of love.

Ross Laboratories has provided the following prose, which I think that parents should read every day, then see how they are measuring up:

If a child lives with criticism, He learns to condemn.
If a child lives with hostility, He learns to fight.
If a child lives with ridicule, He learns to be shy.
If a child lives with shame, He learns to feel guilty.
If a child lives with tolerance, He learns to be patient.
If a child lives with encouragement, He learns confidence.
If a child lives with praise, He learns to appreciate.
If a child lives with fairness, He learns justice.
If a child lives with security, He learns to have faith.
If a child lives with approval, He learns to like himself.
If a child lives with acceptance and friendship, He learns to find love in the world.

Two different pictures come into my mind as I read this, and both are frightening. The first picture is that of a vast army of children in this area, some approaching adulthood, who will never show love, because they have never received any.

These children, very often born out of wedlock, to teenage mothers, some to older mothers not living with their mates, are raised in an atmosphere of hostility, often sensing from early infancy that they are neither wanted nor loved. Some of these mothers are incapable of showing love, either because of their early home life, similar to the one in which she is raising her own children, or a hopelessly destroyed self image.

The spectre of this army, numbering in the thousands in this area alone is sobering, to say the least. Neither social nor religious leaders have been able to give really adequate answers to this problem. Yet the beat goes on, and on, and on.

Equally as frightening is the picture of bigotry on the South Shore. There is absolutely no question that both racial and religious bigotry are present in our area. Some of the biggest offenders are those who, like me, claim to be followers of Christ.

In this season we are supposedly worshiping the LOVE of a Heavenly Father, who, out of LOVE, sent His Son into the world. In addition, the Son, Jesus Christ, stated that while the greatest commandment is to LOVE God the Father, the second commandment is equally important, that we LOVE our neighbor as ourself.

It seems that many "Christians" don't measure up too well. They know their theology, but don't love; and their children, by example, won't love either. It seems that the religious leaders are so strangely silent on this issue. One wonders if they are scared to speak out.

I can envision our world being devoured by the monster of hate, because parents neither loved nor taught their children to love.

Amidst all the noise and glitter of this holiday season, why not pause and think about your children, in light of the above statements. Our problems would be fewer if we loved more.

How To Insure Getting Your Social Security Check On Time

You've been receiving a social security benefit check for some time and you depend on getting it on time. What can you do to insure that your checks will continue to arrive on time?

The Social Security Administration District Office in Quincy advises:

The most sensible course of action is to keep the Social Security Administration informed of any change in your address or any change in your working arrangements that may affect the payment of your checks.

As soon as you know when you're moving, you should notify social security right away. If your notice is given early enough in the month, your next check should arrive at your new address on time. It also makes good sense to advise the post office of your move in case social security doesn't have enough time to catch your check before it's sent to your former address.

If you're leaving the country for over 30 days, you should let social security know the date you'll leave. And if by any chance your business will take you into an "Iron Curtain" country, you should let social security know ahead of time, no matter how long you're planning to be gone. Treasury regulations prohibit the sending of checks to certain Iron Curtain countries.

A second way to keep the benefit checks coming on time is to let us know when you're working, even if it's only on a part-time basis. Your total yearly earnings and the number of months you work determine the amount of benefits that can be paid to you. You may earn up to $1,680 a year and still receive all your social security benefits. Even if your annual earnings are more than $1,680, you may still be eligible for some benefits.

Let social security know when there is a significant change in the amount of your earnings. If you earn less than you expected, you may have more benefits coming to you. If you made more, it's better to have benefits withheld, Also, complete the earnings report form that social security will mail you at the end of the year.

If you've ever wondered what you could do to insure that your benefit checks arrive on time, now you know.

Air Pollution

Air pollution is smoke coming from cigarettes and burners and cars. Air pollution is very bad for your lungs and people can die from it. It kills crops and animals. It can cause cancer and harms people with asthma. It also is bad for your eyes and makes it hard to breathe. We need clean air to survive. If the government does not find something to stop the pollution we will all suffer.

The Royal Color

What is the color?
The royal color,
Worn only by kings
Bravest and bold.
The ruler, the leader, the hardest of workers,
So gallant, so proud, so great
I have been told.
The color of victory
When wars were fought – and won.
It is the color all over,

The color is purple.

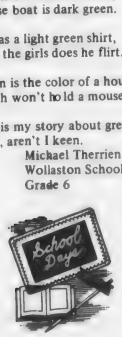
Green

The color I like best is green,
It reminds me of a queen.

Green reminds me of St. Patrick's Day,
When things are so bright and gay.



My uncle's name is Gene,
Whose boat is dark green.

He has a light green shirt,
With the girls does he flirt.

Green is the color of a house,
Which won't hold a mouse.

This is my story about green,
Now, aren't I keen.

Red

Red is the color of my sister's bed
Red is the color of my mother's gingerbread
Red is the color of devil's eyes,
Red is the color when a person dies.
Red is the color of leaves in the fall,
Red is the color of my sister's ball.
Red is the color of my new pen,
Red is the color of my Uncle's hen.
Red is the color of my English book,
Red is the color of my very new hook.
Red is the color of my cook's hat,
Red is the color of my plastic bat.
Red is a color and that is that.

'Green Thumb' Room

For several years our class has been interested in raising many different kinds of plants. Now we have about twenty varieties.

About three years ago we cut the top inch off a fresh pineapple and scooped out the inside. Then we planted the top in soil. After four months the top began to sprout. This plant is now about three feet high and nearly three feet wide in diameter. It is so large we have put it on the piano in the auditorium. We also have one that is about two years old. The larger plant has very sharp-edged leaves. The smaller one has smoother edged leaves so we think we have two different kind of pineapples.

Another interesting plant is our miniature orange tree. We have had this for nearly four years and have had two crops; the first had six oranges and the second sixteen. The largest orange was about one and a half inches in diameter. We tried eating them but they were very sour.

The Mexican Hat has leaves with tiny seed balls around the edges. When the seeds fall off they grow wherever they land.

Maybe some day we will have coffee beans from our coffee plant. This plant came from the Maxwell House Coffee Company.

The Deerfoot Fern is very delicate. The end of each stem looks like a deerfoot so that is how it got its name.

Our window boxes are filled with many kinds of coleus. They are shades of red, green and yellow.

The small hothouse has helped us grow many of our plants. Two acorns in it have sprouted and the oak seedlings are about three inches high. We put the spider plant which was almost dead in it and it is surviving.

Last spring we started an avocado pit and it finally sprouted and is about four inches tall. It is supposed to get real big.

The Angelwing begonia has lovely pinkish blossoms--some male and some female. This plant can grow very tall. The Calla begonia looks like a Calla lily and that is where it got its name.

We also have philodendron, English ivy, three different kinds of cacti, Patient Lucy and a small rubber plant.

The terrariums which we have just planted have mosses, ferns and running pine. If we keep them covered we don't have to water them.

Because we have watered, fertilized, trimmed and started new plants we have had good luck and lots of fun with our plants. That is why we are called the "Green Thumb Room".

Why I Would Have Rather Lived In Ancient Greece

If I had lived in Ancient Greece I would have seen the Olympic games. I would have seen the buildings that were built long ago. I would live at the foot of Mt. Olympus or on the coast of the Aegean Sea. I could see the big ships come in and unload the cargos of goods from other countries.

Veterans' Day

In France they were shooting their cannons. It was 1918 at five of eleven. At 11:00 o'clock the war stopped. There was silence. They came back together. They had it in paper and they had parades and they had flags everywhere. Everyone was full of Joy!!! Francis Ferdinand was going to rule Austria, but before he got there somebody killed him for no reason!!! The Germans took over Belgium and now they were heading for Paris and the men from England came to Paris to defend Paris.

The Americans sent food, clothing, and ammunition. But the submarines sank the ships, Then the Americans came over there. There was a unknown man that got killed and they put a tomb over him. No one knw who he was but God. On June 1954, President Eisenhower changed Armistice Day to Veterans' Day, and every year on Veterans' Day at 11:00 o'clock we have silence for 2 minutes.

World War I

World War I started with the assasinating of Francis Ferdinand in Belgium. Austria joined with Germany. France, England and Belgium joined together. President Wilson wanted neutrality. He didn't want to be in the war. German submarines sank too many ships, so Wilson sent food, clothing and ammunition to England, Belgium and France. And later one million men. The war ended on November 11, 1918. When it was November 11, 1918 11:00 suddenly it was silent. In June, 1954 President Eisenhower changed the day to Veterans' Day.

"IT CAN'T HAPPEN TO ME" -- THE AVERAGE AMERICAN AND HEART ATTACK

By Elliot G. Strauss, M.D.
President, Massachusetts Heart Association
President, Medical Staff, Lynn Hospital

The average American will probably tell you he eats too much, exercises too little, smokes to excess, and rarely has a medical check-up.

He can very likely also recite the familiar Heart Association statistic that the death rate in this country from diseases of the heart and blood vessels is over a million a year -- taking the lives of more people than all other causes combined.

He might even be able to explain that an individual's chance of a heart attack increases if he eats too much, exercises too little, smokes to excess, and rarely has a medical checkup.

So the Heart Association, it would seem, is doing its job of keeping the public informed on the ways to lower the risk of heart attack.

But there is a "catch". The average American doesn't think he's the average American. He prefers to believe that the warnings and pointers are for the other fellow -- the it-can't-happen-to-me syndrome at work once again.

This means that the messages on heart disease must be more frequent and forceful, so that the well-intentioned, but ostrich-like average American will be persuaded that heart disease can hit him.

The guidelines to reducing the risk of a heart attack remain proper diet, moderate exercise, non-smoking, and regular medical checkups. Surprisingly, none of the guidelines are particularly difficult to follow.

Proper diet, for instance, calls for only a slight modification of menu for most Americans and it involves no great sacrifice of interesting or attractive meals.

The goals in maintaining proper diet are:

1] Replace saturated fats, found in meat, butter, cheese, cream, and whole milk, with polyunsaturated fats, found in liquid vegetable oils, fish, and poultry. Skimmed milk and skimmed milk cheeses are highly recommended.

2] Eat less food that is high in cholesterol, that is egg yolks, shell fish, and organ meats, such as liver and kidney.

An excess of cholesterol and other fatty materials may become embedded in the inner walls of the coronary arteries, interfering with the circulation of blood. An interruption of the blood supply to the heart can bring on a heart attack.

The best over-all rule for proper diet is to control weight, or, in a phrase, eat less. A good rule of thumb is to gain no weight after the age of 22.

For specifics on menu planning which combine wisdom in eating with interesting ideas in preparing meals, write the local chapter of the Massachusetts Heart Association for free pamphlets, such as "The Way to a Man's Heart" and "Recipes."

By moderate exercise we mean, for a good start, simply walking instead of riding whenever possible. If you live too far from work to walk, park your car a half-hour away from the office and walk the rest of the way. Also, avoid elevators and use stairs. Dr. Paul Dudley White, dean of cardiologists, advises, in a pamphlet written for the Massachusetts Heart Association, that an hour a day of walking is a required minimum.

"Vigorous leg muscle exercise," says Dr. White, "is probably one of the best methods known to prevent the formation of blood clots and gives the heart muscle a rest from having to pump the blood through the rest of the body."

Another way to exercise is to emulate Dr. White himself and use a bicycle for transportation whenever it is feasible.

What about smoking? It has been increasingly apparent in recent years that there is a correlation between heavy smoking and heart disease. The evidence uncovered by researchers on this score is voluminous. Here are two interesting statistics. The heart attack rate in heavy smokers is twice as high as in non-smokers or ex-smokers. Death rates from heart attacks average 70 percent higher among men who smoke.

All that is required on the part of Mr. Average American is enough will power to forsake a habit which is admittedly risky and hazardous to his health.

Two important reasons for medical checkups on a regular basis involve the early detection of high blood pressure or diabetes. Both these conditions, often present in middle-aged overweight people, can go undetected for years, but if spotted early enough, proper medical treatment can bring them under control. Also, medical checkups, if sufficiently thorough, can detect high levels of cholesterol and other fatty substances in the blood, a condition which can often be reversed through proper diet and medical care. Chances are a medical checkup can also be the time when a doctor will warn the average person of being overweight and recommend ways to correct the condition.

It should be noted that the death rate from heart and blood vessel diseases has decreased 20.1 percent for those under 65 in the last twenty years, due in part to advances in heart research and also because many average Americans are following the advice of heart specialists and their Heart Associations. But the fact remains that the death rate from heart and blood vessel diseases for those in the prime of life is still a staggering 250,977 per year.

["Living With Your Heart" is a public service of the Massachusetts Heart Association, which can provide further information on reducing the risk of heart attack.]

Mrs. Dorothy Sanderson Winner Of South Shore National Bank Award

The South Shore National Bank announces that Mrs. Dorothy Sanderson of 156 Lincoln St., Hingham has been awarded the 1969 William Winward Grieves Award for outstanding service to the Bank.

The award, given in memory of retired Assistant Vice President William W. Grieves was established by the bank in 1966, and is presented annually to a non-officer employee who has demonstrated unselfish cooperation and dedication to the Bank.

Bank President Robert L. Blair, in praise of Mrs. Sanderson said,

"She embodies all of the principles of the award, unselfish service to the bank which is considered outstanding in terms of consistently showing that extra effort over the years. In addition, her cooperative spirit of working with and teaching fellow employees has been just as outstanding."

Mrs. Sanderson has been with the bank since November, 1948. She has previously served in the following capacities: head of the Central Information Department, head of the Stenographic Department, Platform Assistant, and Secretary to the President. Currently she is Supervisor of the Student Help Loan Program at the Bank.

Mrs. Sanderson will receive an additional week's pay, a one-week all expense paid trip for two, and an inscribed Revere Bowl.

Elks To Donate $45,000

The Massachusetts State Elks' Association will distribute over $45,000 from its charity fund to 22 separate organizations, it was announced by State Elks' President Rep. Joseph E. Brett of Quincy.

Approved by the association at a regional meeting in Chicopee, the awards will begin with $13,000 to the Massachusetts Elks Scholarship Fund which provides grants and non-interest loans to aid deserving students seeking higher education.

A grant of $5,000 was made to the Elks National Foundation, which is known across the country for its multitude of benevolent activities.

Cardinal Cushing's Charity Fund will be the beneficiary of a $3,000 grant from the association and $3,000 will go to Suffolk University for scholarship aid to worthy students.

President of Suffolk University Judge John E. Fenton, who will handle the scholarships, is a Past Grand Exalted Ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

Other awards are as follows: Kennedy Memorial Hospital for Handicapped Children, $2,500; Catholic Charities of Worcester, $2,000; Jewish Family and Children's Service of Boston, $1,000; St. Coletta's School for Exceptional Children, $1,000; Jimmy Fund, $1,000; Sea Haven Camp for Cerebral Palsied Children, $1,000, Boston Industrial School for Crippled Children, $1,000.

Also Our Lady of Providence Home for Children in Holyoke, $1,000; Guild of the Holy Child Home for Unwed Mothers in Westfield, $1,000; Don Orione Home for the Aged in East Boston, $1,000; Rose Hawthorne Hospital in Fall River, $1,000; Family Counseling and Guidance Centers, Inc., $1,000; Boston School for the Deaf in Randolph, $1,000; Beverly School for the Deaf, $1,000; Clark School for the Deaf in Northampton, $1,000; Wrentham Ass'n. for Retarded Children in Taunton, $1,000 and the Fernandi League for Retarded Children, Inc., in Waltham, $1,000.

Emergency grants will be made, according to need, Brett said.

Quincy Basketball Team Eyes 'Comeback'

Quincy's basketball team won only two games a year ago for the worst season in Marty Finnegan's long coaching career.

This year Marty hopes to not only improve but to give everyone trouble and make a creditable showing in the Greater Boston League, as it has most years.

"The sad part about that frustrating season was that I never had a harder working group of boys," Finnegan said. "They gave me 100 per cent at all times and lost some tough games. We have to do better this year and I think we will."

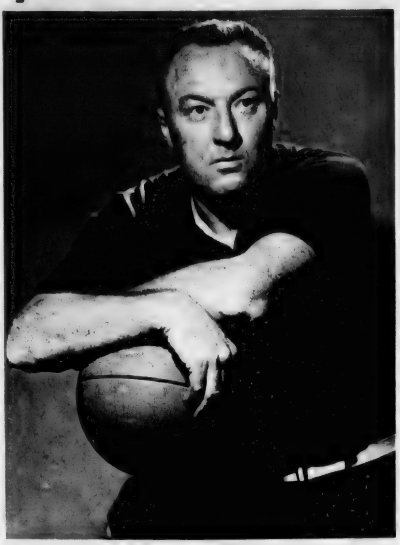
The Presidents' coach has only two boys who played regularly for the varsity last year, Kevin Ryan, a fine backcourtman, and George Davey, 6-5 center, who is expected to be a standout this winter, especially, in Finnegan's words, "If he just gets tougher under the boards."

Another who would have been a starter but was sidelined for most of the season with an injury is Jim Furfari.

"We really missed Jim last year and I expect a lot from him this season," Marty said. "He is a good solid player who can do just about everything."

Seniors are Furfari, Ryan, Richie DiCristofaro and Bob Uhlar, reserves last year; and Roy Smith.

Most of the others are up from Fran Conroy's junior varsity team including juniors Billy Maver (6-3), Bob Pike (6-2), Joe Sterling, Joe Goguen, Bobby Sacchetti, Jim DuBois, Rich Raymond and Herb Gustafson.



Finnegan has high hopes for Rich Menchi, a 6-3 junior and standout end in football, who is out for the high school team for the first time.

"Rich played in junior high and he can really jump," Finnegan said. "He is a natural in football and I think he will be just as good in basketball."

Finnegan stressed that all positions are open and there is keen competition for all. He explained that Davey, Maver, Pike and Menchi are battling it out for the three big men's spots and Furfari, Ryan, DiCristofaro and Raymond for the back court posts.

"Furfari and Raymond can play either forward or guard and will be key performers," Marty said. "We have had several scrimmages and have looked pretty good and are improving all the time."

The Presidents open their season at home Dec. 23 against B. C. High, host Weymouth on Dec. 26, meet the Alumni on Dec. 30 and open their GBL season at home against North Quincy on Jan. 2. Their first five games are at home.

Quincy's 1970 Grid Prospects Excellent

Quincy's football team won its first Greater Boston League championship [co-titlist with Malden], had its first unbeaten league season [6-0-1] and its best overall mark since 1964 [7-1-1] this fall.

Coach Hank Conroy loses many of his starters and other varsity players by graduation but, thanks to experience gained by varsity players and another undefeated sophomore team, next year's prospects are far from dim.

The 1970 prospects indeed are excellent, especially in the backfield where Conroy will inherit some outstanding runners from Dave Burke's high-powered soph team [7-0-0].

"We lose some outstanding players and there will be some gaping holes, especially in the line, but I think we will be in good shape," the Quincy coach said. "The sophomore club is sending us some outstanding players. Dave Burke did another great job with them this year."

Kevin Ryan, one of the finest quarterbacks in Class A this fall, will leave a hole but Conroy expects John Joyce, who saw a little service there, or Steve Sullivan, out of action this year with an injury, to fill the spot capably.

Also, Jim Walker was an excellent quarterback with the sophs and Kevin Shea also played well there.

The only starting back returning will be Steve McCarthy, a tremendous sophomore and one of the Presidents' top ground gainers this fall.

Others returning from the varsity squad are Wayne Richards, an excellent punter who also ran well on occasion; Bobby Sacchetti, an outstanding defensive back; Dennis Waters, who did well when called upon; Steve Lewis, Bob Gallo, Frank Pellegrino, Bob Bosader, Roy Smith, John Alfano, Tom Barrett, Mike McGunagle and Doug Rand.

Conroy also will be hit hard in the line but he has one of the finest ends in the state, Rich Menchi, coming back. Conroy said he hadn't seen a finer all-around end this year than Menchi.

Most of the other returnees saw little varsity service but Bob Syiva played regularly and was a standout and Billy Maver played regularly at end and did well.

Others coming back include Bob Tarbox, Mike Craig, Dave Omar, Dick Mastropietro, John Milkowski, Bill Hebert, Allan Colby, Paul Fanning and Joe Russo.

Burke will send up three brilliant running backs, Joe Nicastro, Pete Daley and Bob Malvesti, while George Sisti also ran sell, especially in the romp over North Quincy.

Other sophomore backs include Bob Smith, Dan Pettiti, Tom Hamill, Jack Warren, Pete Cacicia, Jim Hanlon, Pat Cochrane, Joe Conor, Connie Driscoll, Steve Laneau, Nick O'Neil and Jim Oliverio.

The sophs also had some terrific linemen and coming up to the varsity will be Frank Catrambone, Bob McDermott, Dennis Sattorthwaite, Jeff Hanlon, Joe Davis, Dan Spencer, Paul Spargo, Dave Infascelli, Dave Encheollo, Reino Nurmenniemi, Mike Suikola, Al Aimola, Bob Volpini, Mike Guadiano, and Mike Magmonte.

Hirtle Leads Hennessey Team To Top Spot In Little Loop

Capt. Dick Hirtle paced the Hennessy Plumbing Supply team to a 4-0 win over Quincy Lodge of Elks and Quincy Bouling Little Loop leadership on Saturday with a high three of 325 and high single of 126.

Hennessy Plumbing Supply Co.'s high three for the week was 1,341, with 474 the team high single.

Quincy Junior College Basketball Team Bounces Back

The Quincy Junior College basketball team under new coach Earl Vermillion bounced back from a close opening night defeat to win two in a row and last night played one of its toughest foes, Wentworth Institute, at home.

QJC will face strong Massasoit Community Monday night at 7 at Quincy Vo-Tech and next Wednesday will host Newton Jr. College at 7 also at Vo-Tech.

Paul Beston has been QJC's spark in every game. He scored 31 in a losing cause opening night, added 34 in a 76-52 win over Newbury Business School and poured in 26 in an 83-65 decision over Franklin Institute.

Quincy had a huge 39-14 halftime lead over Newbury and Vermillion was able to clear his bench in the second half. Ken McLean had 15 points and grabbed many key rebounds.

Against Franklin Quincy had a 44-36 halftime bulge as Charlie Edgar scored 20 points and 10 players scored.

QJC's first hockey team, coached by Don Salvucci, goes for its second win tonight against Massasoit in a 9 o'clock game at Asiaf rink in Brockton, one of the few games not played at Boston Arena.

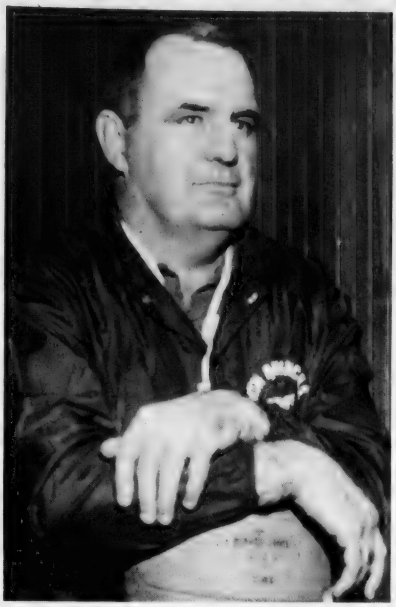
North Hoopsters Face Difficult Encore

Bob Nolan is beginning his fifth year as North Quincy's basketball coach and he faces a difficult task trying to equal last year's 16-4 record which brought the Raiders their second Greater Boston League title in his four years.

North also made the Tech Tourney for the third time in four years under the popular Nolan but its Tech hex continued as it was again eliminated in the opening round.

"I lost 10 seniors from that fine team and my only letterman is Dan Zink, a 6-3 center who should have an excellent season," Bob Said. "We have some other returnees from the varsity squad but I will have to depend to a good extent on members of last year's outstanding junior varsity which also won the league crown under Joe Amorosino, in his first season as coach."

Leading the returnees with Zink are Co-Captains Don McKay (5-10) and Bob DeRosa (6-0). Zink looks like the starting center with McKay a guard and DeRosa a forward.



Other guards are 5-9 Joe Orlando, Jim Small (6-0), Brian Donahue, Bob Flaherty and Chet Walker.

Forwards, in addition to DeRosa, are Rich Sanderson (6-0), Craig Bogosian (6-3), Ken Baker (6-3), Leo Papile (6-3) and Tony Kelly (6-0).

Tom Carnes is a 6-6 sophomore center who shows promise of helping out with a little more work. "He has never played any organized basketball and I will bring him along slowly," Nolan said. "But I hope he can give us some help on the boards as the season progresses."

Bob has a large number of promising sophomores who will probably play with the jayvees.

"For any success I have had I thank my junior high coaches," Nolan said. They include Bill Willoughby at Atlantic, Mike Casale at Central and Ron LaQuaglia at North, who also helps Amorosino with the high school jayvees.

BOB NOLAN

North has had several scrimmages including those with Boston Tech, Braintree and Stoughton. On November 21, 22 and 23, the squad visited Kimball Union in Meridan, N. H. and spent two nights there.

"It was a wonderful weekend for the boys and the coaches," Bob said. "My assistants and I drove the boys up and we scrimmaged Kimball Union, Mount St. Joseph's and another New Hampshire School. They have a beautiful campus at Kimball Union and they treated us wonderfully. They put us up for the two nights and we visited the Dartmouth College campus. It was a terrific experience for the boys."

North opens its season Friday night at Brookline, is home to B. C. High on Dec. 30 and opens defense of its GBL championship on January 2nd.

Nolan's Graduates All College Timber

Bob Nolan, North Quincy's successful basketball coach, points proudly to the fact that in his four years as coach he has 100 per cent placement of his graduating players in college, junior college and prep school.

From his first team, 1965-66, Scott Healey attended U. of Massachusetts, Larry Grazio, Boston State; Dick Wanless, U. of Maryland; Dave Zink, U. of Wisconsin; Dick Starsiak, U. of Massachusetts; Alan Mosher, Hobart; and Pete Varney, Harvard.

From the 1966-67 Squad, Dick Trubiano went to American International, Ken Sheaff, U. of South Carolina; Paul Donahue, Norwich; Frank Santoro, Quincy Junior College; Dick Serafini, Suffolk; Ed Miller, Boston State; Dan Marini, Penn State, and Steve Martinson, Quincy Junior.

From the 1967-68 team Bob Schuler went to Boston State, Ron Bradley, Eastern Nazarene; Jum Ducey, Bridgton Academy, and Bob Baker, Mass. Maritime Academy.

And seniors on last year's Greater Boston League champs have gone to the following schools:

North Quincy's Grid Future Looks Bright

North Quincy's rookie head football coach, Ralph Frazier, had rough sledding this fall with only a 2-7 record capped by a 53-0 humiliation at the hands of Quincy.

But things look much brighter for next year and Frazier and his aides feel the Raiders will bounce back with a much better record.

"I started three juniors in the backfield and many other underclassmen played more or less regularly," Frazier said. "We'll have them working on weights, and I think we will do well next fall. Our sophomore team will be sending up some fine players."

The sophs, coached by Ted Sadowski, were 6-2 but lost only to one sophomore team, unbeaten Quincy. The opener actually was played against the Revere junior varsity due to a schedule mixup.

Frazier will be hit hard in the line but has some fine prospects back. The only senior backfield starter was Steve Tomasetti. Paul Lippens, who developed into an excellent quarterback, Tony Kelly and John Panarelli, fine running backs, are juniors and should form a standout group next fall.

The other top returnees will be Jim deVarennes, John Panarelli, Steve Murray, Jim Sarruda, Dan O'Malley, Lee Davis, Jerry Gray and Scott Gillespie.

Bob MacKay and Paul Chambers were fine quarterbacks for the sophs and other fine backs coming up from that team will be Bill Mathews, Walter Collins, Mike Polvere, Bill Fong, John Linnehan, Bob Guerriero, and Kevin Egan. John Salenius and Bob Welch, juniors, also are fine prospects for next season.

In the line Frazier lost most of his starters but Dan Zink was an excellent end and John Meyer played fine ball at tackle. Other varsity returnees will be Mike Tracey, Bruce Riggins, Tom Dowling, Bill Morgan, Frank MacIsaac, Leo Papile, Bob Graham, Ken Baker, Dan Doherty, Dave Carter, Jay Griffin, Bill Hoey and John Graceffa.

Several of the sophomores saw some service with the varsity and gained valuable experience.

Craig Wins Varsity Letter At Norwich University

Greg Craig, a 1967 graduate of Quincy High School, has been awarded a varsity letter in football at Norwich University in Northfield, Vermont.

Craig played defensive tackle on the Norwich club that finished with a 6-2 record and fourth place in the Lambert Bowl ratings. In addition, the Cadets are third nationally in total defense among college-division teams.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor H. Craig of 29 Broady Ave., Quincy, Craig is an English major at the Vermont Military College.

Wood GOP 'Search' Chairman

Roy A. Lawson of Wollaston, chairman of the Quincy Republican City Committee announces the appointment of Edgar H. Wood, Quincy architect, as Chairman of the Republican Candidate Search Committee.

Purpose of this committee will be to seek and encourage potential Republican candidates for State and County offices in the 1970 State elections.

Lawson in announcing the formation of this committee said:

"The strength of our democratic society depends on an active and vigourous two party system, and an informed electorate that has a real choice between candidates. This system can only be as vital as the quality of candidates that each party presents to the people for their consideration and choice. This committee will insure that Quincy citizens will have a real choice on the Republican line."

Grateful Family Thanks Neighbors For Kindness

Germantown neighbors who gave more than sympathy to a young neighbor are today receiving a public thank you.

Through the Quincy Sun, the older children of the late Mrs. Catherine Lewis of 40 Quarterdeck Rd., are expressing their appreciation to the neighbors.

Many of them are unknown who wanted to help the youngest son left without parents through the death of his mother. His father died two years ago.

A collection was made for 15-year-old Michael Lewis and has been placed in a bank for his education.

Through kindness of the Quincy School Department he has been permitted to continue his education at Broad Meadows Junior High School in Adams Shore where he is a ninth grade student.

John Curran Assistant District Attorney

Dist. Atty. George G. Burke, announces the appointment of John B. Curran of Quincy, as Special Assistant District Attorney. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Curran of Milton.

Curran graduated from Georgetown University and Suffolk University Law School. While attending Suffolk University Law School, he was active in the legal internship program at Burke's office and the Moot Court program.

Curran is associated with his father, who has been a practicing attorney for the last 30 years in Boston and the South Shore area.

City Employees To Hold Christmas Party Dec. 17

A 6 p.m. Social hour will be followed by a roast beef dinner and dancing to Frank McCabe's orchestra. Tickets may be obtained by employees in the City's various departments.

Christmas Tree To Be Presented To Health Center

A Christman tree similar to those sold annually by the Quincy Jaycees will be given today [Thursday] to the South Shore Mental Health Center, for pleasure of children visiting there.

Mayor James R. McIntyre will make the tree presentation to Dr. David Van Buskirk of the Center.

Saturday through Dec. 22, the Quincy Jaycees will sell Christmas trees at the A & P parking lot on Southern Artery. Proceeds are used each year to buy gifts for underprivileged boys and girls in Quincy. Norman Lundin is 1969 chairman.

McIntyre Rules Out Inaugural Reception

There will be no inaugural reception and ball for Mayor James R. McIntyre and the City Council when they assume new terms of office January 5.

Mayor McIntyre has ruled out the social event this year in an austerity move.

"Because of the dim fiscal situation I have decided against a reception and ball," said McIntyre.

The affair, started by him in 1966 for his first term and held again in 1968, drew thousands of residents to the Sheraton Motor Inn, North Quincy. It cost approximately $1,000 each year.

"I held the event in 1966 and 1968 mainly to give Quincy residents the opportunity to meet their elected officials," said McIntyre.

"But because of the city's bleak financial picture and the fact that the same mayor and city council are returning to office, I felt that we could do without the affair this January."

"But Inaugural Day, 1970 will not be a complete social blackout.

"We will have a modest collation," McIntyre said.

Bernard Warshauer Asst. Harbormaster

Bernard Warshauer of 27 Upland Rd. has been appointed an assistant harbormaster for the City of Quincy, by Mayor James R. McIntyre.

The appointment is effective immediately and will continue through Feb. 2, 1970.

All-Night Parking Committee Asks More Study Time

A special three-member committee investigating the feasibility of all-night parking on some Quincy streets has filed an interim report asking for more time to complete its study.

"The matter is so controversial, it would be wise first to discuss our findings with several citizens who would be affected by the implementation of the proposed changes," wrote Committee Chairman John E. Tormey Jr.

"Reaction of people contacted made it evident that the committee must hold further discussions ..."

The committee was appointed last March 20 to study the proposal that the city allow all-night parking on alternate sides of the streets. Current ordinance prohibits parking between 2 a.m. and 5 a.m.

The proposal was made to help automobile owners who live in apartment houses that were built before requirements were added for tenant parking off the streets.

The City Council last Nov. 3 deferred action on the proposal pending receipt of the committee report.

In addition to Chairman Tormey, the committee consists of Public Works Commissioner John M. Browne and Police Capt. Roy Cavicchi.

South Shore National Plans Adams Shore Branch

Plans for a branch bank at 495 Sea Street, Adams Shore, are announced by the South Shore National Bank.

The bank has applied to the Comptroller of the Currency in Washington, D.C., for permission to open the branch office. It would serve Adams Shore, Germantown and Houghs Neck residents who do not have banking facilities in their geographical boundaries.

The land at the corner of Braintree Ave. and Sea St. is now used as a parking lot by the Adams Shore Supermarket, located just across the street.

While plans for the new facility will not be drawn up until after approval is received from Washington, it is expected that it will include a drive-in facility, according to Winthrop Sargent, bank official.

Construction should take approximately six months.

$75 Million Bill Would Help Modernize 30 Quincy Schools

FIRST SNOW of season wasn't enough to shovel but it did give these youngsters a chance to try out their aim. They are Kathleen, 4, Sheila, 3, Terry, 8, and Marty, 9, children of Mr. and Mrs. Martin O'Toole of Davis St., Wollaston. [Quincy Sun Photo By Robert Leo Eng]

Virtually every school building in Quincy would be eligible for modernization if a $75 million bond issue bill filed by Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre is approved.

The legislation would provide funds for the state to finance 40 per cent of the cost of renovating and modernizing existing school structures in Massachusetts communities.

A bill passed in 1968 gave the state the authority to do this but did not provide the funds.

"We need state assistance to modernize old schools to meet the educational standards of the 1970's," McIntyre declared.

"This bill would allow communities to modernize still structurally sound old school buildings instead of having to spend huge sums to construct new schools. Millions of dollars could be saved throughout the state."

The state now provides 40 per cent of the cost of constructing new schools. The legislation would allow the state to allocate that same share for modernization of old schools.

Quincy School Supt. Lawrence P. Creedon gave McIntyre's bill an enthusiastic reception.

"Essentially every single school in Quincy needs some modernization," he told the Quincy Sun.

The city has 30 school buildings.

"Five of them," Dr. Creedon said, "were in service prior to 1900, two or three were built between 1900 and 1920; 16 were built between 1920 and 1950; a few since 1950," Dr. Creedon said. "School use and school construction have changed so in the past five to 10 years that really all of our buildings are dated."

Dr. Creedon cited as an example North Quincy High School, built in the 1920's and early 1930's. Its original purpose was for use as a junior high school. It became a six-year high school in the 1930's and "we are trying to make it do in 1970 as a high school.", he noted.

He called "totally inadequate" its science, art, library and music facilities.

"The science lab may be adequate and good, but not against what we ought to have in

Police 'Riding Shotgun'

Quincy police are "riding shotgun" to guard banks, stores and other businesses from holdups during the holliday shopping season.

Capt. Paul LaHive, head of the police department's Detective Bureau, reports three extra unmarked cars are cruising the city's business areas day and night.

In each car are two plain clothesmen, armed with a shotgun, rifle and other weapons.

"I call it our Shotgun Detail", says Capt. LaHive. "The men will continue these duties until the shopping season is over.

"We are watching all the business areas but are giving special attention to places with a great amount of cash and are thus vulnerable to a holdup."

Men assigned to the detail are familiar with known potential suspects, notes LaHive.

"But if something does happen, it gives us more personnel to handle the situation," says LaHive. "And the detail has certain procedures mapped out in advance which will increase our chances of apprehension."

In addition to the "Shotgun Detail", Captain LaHive has plain clothes walking detail assigned to downtown Quincy as "spotters".

They keep an eye out for known criminals or other suspicious persons and follow them or alert the "Shotgun Detail."

Point Senior Housing Facility Opens In May

The new 266-unit south wing of the Quincy Point Congregational Church's senior citizens facility at 1000 Southern Artery is scheduled to open May 1.

Irving D. Potter, Jr., president of the board of trustees of Quincy Point Congregational Church Homes, Inc., reports that the new building already has applicants for more than 90 per cent of the units.

The south wing will be connected to the present 216-unit structure by an overhead mall.

The mall, Potter said, will have a barber shop, beauty parlor and other service shops.

A feature of the south wing, he said, will be a 400-seat auditorium for civic activities, movies, lectures and plays.

The non-sectarian, non-profit facility is for senior citizens age 62 and older.

It is the largest of its type in the U.S.

$2 Million-Plus Still Owed City In Taxes

The city of Quincy is still owed $2 million-plus in 1969 real estate and personal property taxes.

Mayor James R. McIntyre is appealing to those who have not paid their taxes to do so on or before Dec. 31.

"The city again faces a tax rate increase in 1970," the Mayor said. "The more 1969 taxes collected prior to Dec. 31, the lesser the impact will be on the 1970 tax rate."

Tax Collector-Treasurer David R. Houston reports that $2,092,053 was still owed the city at last check.

This alone, he said, represents approximately $10 on the present tax rate.

Collected so far is $20,352,705 in real estate taxes and $1,512,015 in person property taxes.

Editor, Quincy Sun:

Want to let you know how the High School children and all enjoy your paper - it really has helped to fill their sports scrapbooks.

Thursday doesn't come quick enough and if the grown-ups don't get the Quincy Sun first well just forget reading a "whole" paper.

Keep up the good work.

'God's Christmas Gift' Sermon Sunday At Wollaston Methodist

"God's Christmas Gift" will be the subject of Rev. Ronald W. Ober at Wollaston United Methodist Church, 40 Beale St., at the 10:45 a.m. worship on Christmas Sunday. There will be Christmas music by both choirs, and a reception of new members.

At 4 p.m. the Church School Family Program and Pageant will include a visit from Santa Claus and refreshments. Each child is to bring a gift for a child, and these gifts will be given to a social service agency for use in their Christmas projects.

Two Christmas Sunday Services At Houghs Neck

Worship services will be at 9 and 10:30 a.m. on Christmas Sunday at Houghs Neck Congregational Church, led by Dr. Peter V. Corea, minister, and Rev. M. Alicia Corea, associate minister.

"Let Earth Receive Her King" will be the sermon by Dr. Corea. Music will include "Christmas Introit", with choir anthems "Christmas Hymn" by H. Jungst and "Sing Gloria" by K. Davis. Congregational hymns will be "Joy to the World," "Oh Little Town of Bethlehem" and "The First Noel".

There will be a service of baptism.

Times really have changed.

Former City Manager Edward [Red] Lewis was recalling at the Elks the other day when he was administrative assistant to City Manager William J. Deegan in 1953.

"The total city budget that year was between $11 and $12 million and we were pretty concerned about where the money was coming from," he remembers.

This year's school department budget alone is $15 million and the city budget $34 million-plus, he notes.

SPEAKING of Lewis, Republicans reportedly are trying to interest him in running for state representative next year in the Wards 2-3 district.

FOR MOST ADULTS, rock 'n roll has long been a pain musically. It's also a pain, physically.

The Norfolk County Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association passes along the results of recent research into the effects of rock music on the ear.

At the University of Tennessee, Prof. David M. Lipscomb played rock music to guinea pigs, turning up the volume to the same intensity as that measured in a nearby discotheque.

For four hours a day, the guinea pigs heard "hard rock". At the end of three months, the results were disconcerting.

Twenty-five per cent of the cells of the inner ear of the guinea pigs were completely destroyed.

Glenn Miller never did that.

QUINCY'S George G. Burke has had an outstanding career as Norfolk County's District Attorney. His cases have ranged from simple assault to narcotics and murder.

But, quite obviously, he also knows his way around a courtroom in a civil action, too.

Burke, the other day, won a $50,000 award in Suffolk Superior Court for Mrs. Irene C. MacDonald of Braintree Highlands.

Burke originally represented Mrs. MacDonald's mother, Mrs. Tekla Ashmanskas in a suit against the estate of Peter Bukota of Boston.

Mrs. Ashmanskas had sued to recover money for room, board and laundry given Bukota over a four-year period.

When Mrs. Ashmanskas died, Burke brought the suit in behalf of Mrs. MacDonald as administrator of her mother's estate.

Two of Bukota's brothers, living in Russia, contested the action.

Burke thus not only won $50,000 for his Braintree client but kept the money from going to Russia.

POLITICAL TIDBIT: Quincy may have a couple of contenders in the race for Norfolk County Register of Deeds next year.

Both Atty. Charles N. Ross, present assistant register, and Atty. Thomas F. Brownell reportedly are "very interested" in running.

Ross, son of late Mayor Charles A. Ross, is a Republican. Brownell is a Democrat. His father is Deputy Sheriff John Brownell, a Republican.

Everyone is expecting Register L. Thomas Shine to retire--but he hasn't officially said he will.

ANYBODY seen "Chubby"? She's an eight-months old black and white kitten missing since Dec. 10.

Debbie misses her. If you see her pet, Debbie would appreciate it if you'd call 471-5979.

"Chubby" is half-Siamese with a white front and a black nose. And, as we noted, she's pretty special to an 11-year-old girl.

Dr. Djerf Keeps Word, 'Matches' $100 For Willard School Books

Dr. Charles Djerf, Quincy school committeeman, pediatrician and Quincy Sun columnist kept a promise this week.

As a result, the Willard School Parent-Teachers Assn., has $100 extra to purchase books for the school's new library.

About five weeks ago, Dr. Djerf told the PTA:

"I will match anything up to $100 that the PTA can raise for books for the new library.

The PTA went right to work.

President Edison MacLeod and Mrs. Frederick Shepard contacted the manager of the Stop & Shop on Adams St., and asked permission to hold a cake sale in the supermarket.

"You certainly may," they were informed.

A committee then contacted by telephone every family with children in the school soliciting cakes for the sale. Not one refused.

The committee included:

Mrs. Agnes Shepard, Mrs. Beverly Buckley, Mrs. Ruth MacLeod, Mrs. Lois Reed, Mrs. Janet Manning, Mrs. Yvonne Carrera, Mrs. Josephine Fantucchio, and Mrs. Rosemarie Vallatini.

The sale was held. Net proceeds: $162.

This week, Dr. Djerf stepped across the street from his new medical building on Furnace Brook Parkway and happily presented his check for $100 to Mrs. Carol Rosenshein, media specialist and librarian at the Willard School.

For him, it was something dear to his heart. In addition to all of his other activities, he is also director of the Quincy Great Books Discussion Group.

Principal Beltrando Brini gratefully expressed his thanks to the PTA and to next door neighbor, Dr. Djerf.

Local Business Division 'Over Top'

The Quincy business division in the Massachusetts Bay United Fund Campaign, "went over the top," with better than 100% for the first time in the fund's five year history.

Richard P. Garvey of the Paul Hurley Insurance Co., Quincy, was the local business and Quincy vice-chairman in the campaign.

Working with Mr. Garvey throughout the six wards in the city, in addition to many who have taken an active part in the campaign in previous years, was his father, John D. Garvey of Cohasset, a former Wollaston resident. He was in charge of Ward 5 and he also brought his area "over the top".

Also working with Mr. Garvey were: David Leitch, Ward 1; John Latak, Ward 2; J. Brooks Robbie, Ward 3; David Montani, Ward 4 and John McGue, Ward 6.

Here Comes The Bride

By Mabelle

The question asked most often here at the bridal shop is "How far ahead should I order my gown and my attendants gowns?"

I am aware the bridal magazines say two months is plenty of time. Apparently the writer does not realize the delivery time from the time the order is received until it is processed and delivered to the shop is now six to eight weeks with the majority of manufacturers. Then time must be allowed for alterations after fittings. Therefore the minimumtime is three months for ordering.

Of course, if you are the perfect size chances are you will not run into the problem. You can buy from the dresses in stock. We have over one hundred gowns in different styles and sizes. If the style you desire is not available in your size then it must be altered to fit perfectly or ordered.

Bridesmaids gowns must be ordered well in advance. Bridal shops and department stores carry only one sample gown from which you select your sizes and colors from swatch cards. Again, you must allow time for fittings and alterations.

Please, brides, for your own peace of mind allow yourselves plenty of time.

Do you know brides wore red in medieval times? It was Anne of Brittany who first wore white when she married Louis X11. Bridal veils have been worn for so long the original significance is lost. In ancient days people believed the bride should be completely hidden from her husband with veil until after she was married, when it was his part in the ceremony to lift her veil and gaze upon her face for the first time.

Once upon a time the bride was supposed to be "kidnapped" by the groom and his friends after a struggle. Of course the bride had to pretend to defend herself so she selected friends to help her and "rescue" her from the men.

Naturally the groom always won, but their friends became known as the bridesmaids and grooms men.

ENGAGED--The engagement of Miss Mary-Jane Bracchi to James H. Comeau is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett T. Bracchi of 66 Plymouth St., Quincy and Newbury, N.H. Mr. Comeau is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Comeau, Sr., of Newton Junction, N.H. Miss Bracchi, a fourth grade teacher in Weymouth, graduated from Archbishop Williams High School, attended Bridgewater State College and received her degree in elementary education from Curry College. Mr. Comeau graduated from Haverhill Schools and attended Ventura College, Calif. He is employed by Purity-Supreme Markets. A June 13, 1970 wedding is planned. [Miller Studio]

'Fulfillment' Bethany Theme For Christmas Sunday

"Fulfillment" will be the theme for Christmas Sunday worship at 11 a.m. at Bethany Congregational Church.

Rev. John D. Banks will use for his sermon the theme of Matthew's gospel, that Christ came to fulfil prophecy concerning God's intent for mankind.

"Brother James' Air" by Wright will be played by Lambert Brandes, organist and choir director, for the prelude. "O Come Little Children" by Davis will be sung by the Cherub Choir, directed by Mrs. Lois Brandes, and "While the Herds Were Watching" by Willan, by the Junior Choir.

The offertory anthem by the Chancel choir will be "Infant Holy, Infant Lowly" by Willcocks. "Noel XII" by Daquin will be the postlude.

Mrs. Jean Bettinson and Christopher W. Lindbloom are soloists.

The special offering on Christmas Sunday will be divided between the Veterans of the Cross [retirement fund for ministers] and the South Shore Protestant Social Service Bureau.

Christmas Eve gifts for the Christchild, a tradition at Bethany Congregational Church, again this year will be placed in a cradle in the church narthex preceding the two scheduled services.

Layette items and money will aid the City Missionary Society, which the church helps support. Money left in offering plates at the rear of the church will be used by the Material Aid Committee of the Women's Union to purchase additional layette items and clothing for small children.

A family service will be held at 7:30 p.m., with Rev. Mr. Banks giving a Christmas meditation on "The Star of God." Young people and adults will share in the service, to be closed by a candle-lighting ceremony.

Music will include "Christmas 1913" by Regar as the prelude; "Once in Royal David's City" by Gauntlett and "Coventry Carol" by Shaw, carols; "In the Bleak Midwinter" by Darke as the offertory; and "Wake, Awake for Night is Flying" by Bach as the postlude.

At 11:30 p.m. in the chapel, there will be a brief midnight service of carols and candle lighting conducted by Rev. Mr. Banks assisted by laymen. This will conclude shortly after midnight.

'An Adult Christmas' Sunday Sermon At Adams Shore Church

"Wishing You An Adult Christmas" will be the subject of Rev. William L. Newcomer, pastor, at Christmas Sunday's 10:45 a.m. worship at Adams Shore Community Church.

"Christmas Fantasia" will be the prelude by Miss Marjorie McAllister, organist and choir director. Senior Choir anthems will include "A Christmas Gloria" and "As Lately We Watched." Stanley Spink will play a trumpet solo.

Christmas Eve at 7:15 o'clock selections will be played on the Julia Pohlson Memorial Chimes by Miss McAllister until opening of a Family Service at 7:30 p.m.

Excerpts from "Night of Miracles," a cantata, and the anthem, "Let There Be Peace on Earth" will be sung by the Senior Choir, with narration by Rev. Newcomer. Miss Christine Eckblom will be soprano soloist, and Stanley Spink, trumpeter.

'Healing And Wholeness' Christmas Sunday

Sermon At Atlantic Methodist

"Healing and Wholeness" will be the sermon by the Rev. Robert E. Bossdorf at the 11 a.m. Christmas Sunday [Dec. 21] worship at Atlantic United Methodist Church.

Miss Emma Jean Maxwell, organist and choir director, will play for the prelude "La Navite" by Jean Langlais and "Es ist ein Ros' ensprongen" by Johannes Brahms.

"A Virgin Unspotted" by William Billings will be the choir anthem, while Miss Judith Reid, soloist, will sing "The Virgin's Slumber Song" by Max Roger. "Break Forth, O Beauteous Heavenly Light" by J. S. Bach will be the Introit.

Congregational hymns include "God Rest You Merry Gentlemen," "There's A Voice in the Wilderness Crying" and "There's A Song in the Air."

A Christmas Eve Communion Service is scheduled for 11 p.m. "Set Aside" will be the sermon by Rev. Mr. Bossdorf, and music will include congregational singing of Christmas carols.

Morgan Memorial Santa Will Visit Friel Nursing Home

The Friel Nursing Home, Beach St., Wollaston, will be among more than 80 in the Greater Boston area to be visited by the Morgan Memorial Santa Claus for the 11th consecutive year.

Christmas packages, each holding 10-12 separately wrapped gifts, will be distributed to Senior Citizens in Nursing Homes by members of a corps of volunteers traveling in a quarter-mile caravan of cars from Morgan Memorial in Boston.

Paul Miller CEC Chairman At Bethany

Paul Miller has been named chairman of the Christian Education Committee at Bethany Congregational Church.

Miss Mary Lou Glaman is its representative to the Administrative Committee, and Mrs. Jean Smart is the Superintendent of the Church School.

'Christmas Love Gifts'

Christmas provides temporary respite from the emotional and relationship problems which have plagued many people. It is a sort of relief to get caught up in the shopping crowds....the buying of gifts....decorating rooms....songs....laughter and excitement of children. Our relationship problems may be put on the "back burner" for the season....not resolved....just moved to a lower priority. Even in business relationships there is often an easing of pressures.

Of course, for great numbers the holiday season is the most painful season of the year. Loneliness grips many as they hear the carols....see friends gathering and laughing....feel left out ...sthwarted....victims of circumstances....boxed in on every side. You can't imagine how deserted the streets are on Christmas morning.

Maybe you're the kind of person who lives only for the pleasure of the immediate....so you're on a spending binge....which will catch up with you....[or your husband]....in the first months of next year. You ignore reason....spend beyond your resources....and create financial problems for the family.

Some people compare costs of gifts. One man asked his wife.... "How much did you spend for my mother....compared to your mother's gift?" For people whose relationship with each other is not adjusted, anything can trigger a quarrel....Christmas not excluded.

There are several kinds of Christmas giving....one kind is "tit-for-tat" giving. This is gift-giving which tries to match the cost of what one received last year.

Then there is "guilt giving"....where one seeks to wash away some guilt with a Christmas gift to a person he has mistreated.

In the "look-at-me" gift....one person is seeking attention from the one to whom he's giving the gift....hoping usually for some favor as a result.

Of course there are the "need motivated gifts"....the children need underwear and the wife needs a fry pan. These "practical-giving" men seem to have lost all the romance they ever had....if indeed they ever had any. I never liked sending Christmas baskets to the "needy" because the needy were so soon forgotten afterward....just salves consciences of such givers....how about their needs in January....February....March?

The best gifts are the love gifts....the gifts which we don't have to give....the gift of a child who with paper and glue and toothpicks makes something and gives to daddy and mommy just because he loves daddy and mommy. The "real love gift" has thought behind it....it's personal....it's special....it's something she's desired for a long time....like the disposal in the kitchen sink. The love gift must have one prime characteristic....it must be an expression of love from one heart to another. A love gift cannot be real unless it is both given and received in love. This means that love must be ruling in each life.

I know a man who last Christmas gave his wife a fur piece which cost $425....a bottle of perfume which cost $30.00....and a gown which cost $40.00. Her thank-you was...."All you gave me only cost $500." She cut out his heart....his love gifts had gone amiss because love was not in her heart to receive.

One must learn to love....both to give love and receive love. It is not automatic....like breathing. If one hasn't learned to love in a home as one grows up....this is sad....but one can learn to love at any age. Really....I guess that's what Christmas is all about...."God so loved the world that He gave His only Son"....but the gift of God's love falls unwanted....unappreciated ....unless somewhere....somehow we have learned to receive love gifts....as well as give them.

Church Women United Hold SHARE-IN Project

Church Women United in Quincy are conducting a SHARE-IN project, part of a nation-wide program which began this year in Massachusetts.

The program was designed especially for working women unable to attend the three special days observed annually, World Community Day in November, World Day of Prayer in March, and May Fellowship Day, but who believe in Church Women United purposes and wish to participate in its projects.

Five dollars buys a share in the SHARE-IN program, part of which will be used to help the Quincy organization's budget. In addition, the share holder will receive a subscription to "The Church Women," official publication of Church Women United.

Mrs. John Smith, Quincy president, has named Mrs. Richard Gilliland of 39 Newbury Ave., North Quincy, as local chairman. Interested women may call her for information.

Quincy Man President Of Nursing Homes Federation

Lawrence Warner of Quincy has been re-elected president of the South Shore Chapter of the Massachusetts Federation of Nursing Homes.

Warner is the Administrator of the John Adams Nursing Home, Franklin St.

The South Shore Chapter represents more than 100 nursing homes and extended care facilities.

Other officers re-elected at the annual program were Edward Finn of Quincy, vice-president; and William Roland of Brockton, Treasurer.

If I Were A Toy

If I were a toy I would like to be a doll because most girls like dolls.

One night when everyone was sleeping but me, I saw someone sneaking around trying to get in the stores. First he tried to get in the clothes department. Then he tried to get in the food department. Then he came in the store I was in. He didn't get into any other store but he got into the store I was in. Then I started to fall and when I fell he ran away!

The Story Of Hanukkah

Well, there was a wicked King call Antiochus who took the place of another King who ran away. Antiochus took his army of fierce soldiers and entered Jerusalem and went into the temple itself. He didn't care at all that the temple was most precious, the dearest thing the Jews have.

They marched in and took the golden altar and all the things that were made of gold because it would make them rich and also because Antiochus was very greedy.

Judea Maccabee finally drove out Antiochus and he became the hero of Israel. After they restored the temple Judea needed some oil for the menorah. Finally he found a jug of oil which he thought would only burn for one day, but to his surprise it burned for eight days and thats how we got Hanukkah, the festival of light.

I'm A Little Christmas Tree

Once I was a lonely little Christmas tree in a parking lot. One night three little children and their parents came and picked me out from all the other trees. They took me home and put me in the parlor and decorated me and I looked pretty. The next week was Christmas and the children got lots of toys, and they were very happy to have me as their Christmas Tree.

Hunting Caribou

The Eskimos hunt caribou mainly in two ways. One way is that they get in a position and head the caribou off and then they can kill them with a knife [and] or a bow and arrow.

Another way to hunt caribou the Eskimo use is to set up inukshuks which are big piles of rocks used to scare the caribou and have people called beaters scare the caribou. [also] These beaters and inukshuks scare the caribou and try to direct them into the water. On the shore of the body of water are men with kayaks who, when the caribou is driven into the water by the beaters and inukshuks, go into the water with spears and kill the caribou. The reason this is a good idea is that because caribou on land can travel much faster than man but in the water man in a kayak can travel faster and kill them easier. I think this form of killing caribou is better than the first one.

Halloween

Last night I had a nightmare Boy! Was it scary. I was the fiend. I went with witches, ghosts and one goblin.

They went to prowl. I did too. We got by Dead Man's Bluff by witchcraft.

We heard a coyote howl. I shuddered in my sleep and also trembled. I even shivered and shook. Boy! was it gruesome. Then I heard a moan. It was ghastly and ghostly. Then a scream. It was spooky. Someone came down the creaking stairs. A shreik came, Then I saw a coffin. I opened it. A hand old and wrinkled came at me. I fled up stairs. Upstairs there was a man looking in the window. I screamed in my sleep. I woke up.

There WAS a man looking in the window! He was showing me his teeth. It was the same one that was in the coffin. Nobody believed me but it was true.

One minute before eleven, cannons were going off and guns were shooting and men were dying. At eleven o'clock there was complete silence. They put it in newspapers and had parades and put up flags. On Veterans' Day at eleven o'clock everybody is in complete silence to honor the dead soldiers.

Morrisette Post, Auxiliary Donate Flagpole To St. Mary's

Commander Florentino M. Campitelli and a delegation of officers representing Morrisette Legion Post and the Women's Auxiliary participated recently in the dedication of a flagpole and flag donated to St. Mary's School by the post.

A patriotic program, was presented by the student body of the school.

Commander Campitelli charged the boys and girls of St. Mary's with the task of loving and caring for the flag in the name of all the brave men who have died for it and are dying for it now.

Accepting the flagpole and flag in the name of St. Mary's was the Rev. John, pastor.

Following the dedication ceremony, a mass was held for the deceased members of the Morrisette Post.

Among those attending were Ward 4 Councillor Albert Barilaro . Doris O'Brien, President Morrisette Auxiliary, Past Commanders Nicholas Malvesti and Harold Bertoni, and Past Auxiliary Presidents Gertrude Paakonen and Agnes Malvesti.

CHOLESTEROL: HOW IT HELPS CAUSE HEART ATTACKS

By William B. Kannel, M.D.
Medical Director
Framingham Heart Study

The role of cholesterol in the development of coronary heart disease has been debated for years.

But one fact about this wax-like substance in the blood has been established beyond dispute: persons with high amounts of cholesterol in their blood die of coronary attacks at a strikingly higher rate than do those with lower amounts.

Cholesterol is a normal and vital constituent of the body. It is obtained from the foods we eat, and it is also manufactured by the body. Even if we took in no cholesterol or fat at all, the body would make all the cholesterol it required. Foods which help promote higher blood cholesterol values are pork products, fatty beef, eggs, and saturated dairy products such as fatty cheeses and butter.

When the concentration of cholesterol builds up in the blood it causes fatty deposits to line the arteries -- and the lethal process of hardening of the arteries [atherosclerosis has begun. Eventually the flow of blood in the arteries to the heart muscle is obstructed and a heart attack results.

At this point, it is important to stress that, while cholesterol is a very important cause of heart attacks, a combination of factors are involved.

PRIME CORONARY CANDIDATE

In comparing groups of adults who developed heart attacks with those who remained free of attack the Framingham Heart Study [known in scientific circles as the Heart Disease Epidemiology Study] came up with a portrait of a prime coronary candidate.

He has one or more of the following traits: sedentary living habits [lack of physical exercise]; excessive smoking and eating of rich foods; flabby obesity; high blood pressure; a tendency to diabetes; and a high level of blood fats [including cholesterol]. He walks about with a sense of well-being and without symptoms, yet often already he has abnormalities of the heartbeat or an enlarged heart. He may even have sustained a previous heart attack which went unrecognized. In any event, he is usually completely unaware of the impending disaster.

NORMAL CHOLESTEROL LEVELS

Cholesterol levels are considered "normal" when in the range of 150 to 250 mgms% per 100 ml. of blood. But there is evidence that even these levels are very high and not safe, as judged by the rate of coronary heart disease in this country. Men with a cholesterol level of 250 mgms% or higher develop heart attacks at a rate double that of the general male population; those with a level below 200 mgms% have only half the general rate.

The cholesterol levels observed in some other populations, Japan, Greece, and India, for example, are only about half that found in the United States, and when persons migrate from such countries to affluent countries such as the United States, their cholesterol levels may almost double.

Those countries with blood cholesterol levels similar to that of the United States [Scandinavia, British Isles, Western Europe, and Australia] have high coronary death rates while those with lower average values have proportionately lower mortality.

There is much to suggest that the high levels of blood cholesterol so common in this country are a consequence of faulty eating habits and weight gain as a result of failure to use up calories consumed. Americans consume between 35 and 40 percent of their calories in the form of fat. In populations where fat intake is not so enormous, the relationship between dietary habits and blood fats is quite good.

Researchers have been able to induce a high blood cholesterol level in animals which, in turn, caused hardening of the arteries. They also have found that this process can be reversed by limiting the fat, cholesterol and carbohydrate content of this diet.

HEART HEALTH GUIDELINES

There is every reason to expect that lowering the cholesterol content in humans by altering the diet will reduce the risk of coronary attacks. In persons who have already had coronary attacks there is evidence that the likelihood of recurrences and premature death may be reduced by changes in the diet but even without consulting a physician there are several measures which can be taken:

--Become better informed about the nature of coronary heart disease so that you won't fear it needlessly.

--Avoid overweight or reduce if you are already overweight.

--Learn to walk again, but do not overdo it too soon. [Undertake more vigorous exercise such as jogging and competitive sports only on the advice and consent of your physician.

--Use fruits for desserts rather than sweets.

--substitute poultry and fish for pork products and beef wherever possible.

--Avoid eggs and saturated dairy products such as fatty cheeses and butter.

--Cut out cigarette smoking or take up a pipe or cigar without inhaling if giving up the tobacco habit entirely is untenable.

--Have frequent periodic medical checkups so that your blood pressure, blood sugar, or blood cholesterol can be checked and corrected if found to be abnormal.

["Living With Your Heart" is a public service of the Massachusetts Heart Association, which can supply further information on the risk factors involved in heart disease.]

Have A Merry--And Safe--Christmas

The Quincy Fire Department wishes you a Merry–and safe–Christmas.

But you'll have to do your part to make it so.

Capt. Francis Daly, head of the department's Fire Prevention Bureau, cautions residents against the "extra hazards" of the Christmas-New Year holiday season.

The hazards include the traditional Christmas tree, unsafe toys, over-loaded electric circuits and the "relaxing" cigarette after a party.

Capt. Daly offers the following advice:

CHRISTMAS TREES: Select a fresh one. Keep stump in water until the tree is taken into house for use. Then make a fresh cut and set tree up on a stand which firmly holds stump in water. Keep water level constant.

Set the tree in a safe place–not near radiator, not in path of exit or doorway, not near electric appliances that may arc or spark.

Remove tree as soon as possible after Christmas–sooner if the needles brown up or show any signs of drying out.

"The Quincy Fire Department," notes Captain Daly, "does not recognize so-called flame proofing of live Christmas trees as being effective in all cases. And the department does not wish to promote a false sense of security by encouraging this procedure in place of the proven precautions.

DECORATIONS: State regulation prohibits all flammable decorations in places of public assembly. This includes Christmas trees and other evergreens.

ELECTRICAL: Make certain all appliances have been approved by a recognized agency such as U.L., Electrical Testing Laboratory. Check string of lights to be sure there are no bare wires, loose connections, short circuits, etc.

Use only "outdoor" lights outside.

Don't overload electric circuits, extension cords, outlets. If fuses blow out, reduce the load on that circuit. Never increase the capacity of the fuse.

Be very careful about placing fancy plastic collars, rosettes and similar articles around light bulbs. Some of these may melt and ignite from the heat of the bulb.

TOYS: Give your children only safe toys. Beware of electrical toys for children too immature to understand and avoid the possible fatal hazards connected with electricity.

CHEMISTRY SETS: Some experiments require heating by a flame–bunsen burner or candle. Some experiments can form flammable or explosive compounds, etc. Be sure the child is mature enough to understand and avoid these hazards. In any event, supervise all experiments.

"Give your child," says Captain Daly, "the chance to grow up with all his vision, fingers and hands."

'GOOD CHEER': Don't let it spoil the rest of your life. Beware of that last "relaxing" smoke after the party and after the crowd has gone when you are alone at last.

"The smoke," says Capt. Daly, "might be your very last."

Mrs. Rachael Saganov Is Mothers' March Chairman

Mrs. Rachael Saganov, 274 Beale St., Wollaston, has been appointed Mothers' March chairman in Quincy.

Her appointment is announced by Mayor-Sen. James McIntyre, chairman for the 1970 March of Dimes campaign.

The annual doorbell-ringing campaign by women volunteers to raise money for the March of Dimes will take place from Jan. 25 to Feb. 1.

"We need more volunteers," Mrs. Saganov said. "The need is urgent if Massachusetts Bay Chapter is to match the goal achieved in other years."

"Since 1958, the March of Dimes has led the way in overcoming an age-old feer of every mother, she said. "During those years, it has established more than 100 Birth Defects Centers that offer help to present victims of birth defects and hope, through research, to unborn generations.

"Through its nationwide public health education programs, the March of Dimes carries on year-round activities designed to inform the nation of the severity of the birth defects problem," Mrs. Saganov added.

All of this needs grass-roots support, however, and that can only come if enough women realize that the fight against birth defects is their fight, too, she noted.

"Surely, as mothers," Mrs. Saganov said, "each of us can afford the effort of giving up time on one day of the year to ring doorbells in our neighborhoods."

Boston May Be Site For South Shore MBTA Line Storage, Repair Yard

A proposal to have the MBTA acquire the Dover Street yards of the Penn Central Railroad has been endorsed by the State's Special Legislative Commission to Investigate and Study the MBTA.

Rep. Joseph E. Brett [D-Quincy] offered the motion, approved on a 5 to 4 vote, at a recent meeting of the Special Commission.

Acquisition of the Dover Street yards would enable the MBTA to establish its storage yard and repair shops for the South Shore rapid transit line at that location. This would preclude the possibility of their establishment in the Milton-Mattapan area or at some South Shore location, Brett said.

Voting with Brett and Sen. George V. Kenneally [D-Dorchester] who seconded the motion, were Sen. James R. McIntyre [D-Quincy], chairman of the Special Commission; Sen. William D. Weeks [R-Cohasset], and James Rawson, a gubernatorial appointee to the Commission.

Portland To Be Christened

Mrs. Leonard F. Chapman, Jr., wife of the commandant of the Marine Corps, has been selected to christen the USS Portland Dec. 20 at the General Dynamics Quincy shipyard.

Mrs. Emily Chapman will break the traditional christening bottle of champagne against the bow of the 562-foot amphibious assault support ship at the conclusion of a ceremony in which her husband, four-star Gen. Leonard F. Chapman, Jr., will make the principal address.

Portland, the first of four in the Navy's new dock landing ship [LSD] class to be built by General Dynamics, is named after cities in Maine and Oregon.

As her matron of honor for the christening ceremony, Mrs. Chapman has chosen her sister-in-law, Mrs. Joseph S. Ford of Selma, Ala.

Mrs. Chapman is a native of Birmingham, Ala., and attended Peabody College and Vanderbilt University. Typical of Marine wives, she is active in several organizations that assist members of the armed forces and their families, and she also participates in numerous family and church groups.

During her years as a Red Cross volunteer, Mrs. Chapman has worked at Marine posts throughout the United States and Japan and now is a frequent visitor to hospitalized Marines at Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital. While in Japan she earned a teacher's certificate in Japanese flower arranging and since has given instruction in the art to many groups of Marine wives.

Mrs. Chapman is honorary vice president of the Soldiers, Sailors, Marines and Airmen's Club in Washington, D.C., and is active in the programs of the Friendship Settlement House and the Altar Guild of Christ Episcopal Church, both in the Nation's Capital.

Gen. and Mrs. Chapman are the parents of two sons, Marine Captains Leonard F. Chapman, III and Walton Ford Chapman, both Vietnam combat veterans. The two officers also are graduates of Duke University.

Gen. and Mrs. Chapman live in the historic Commandant's House, the oldest official residence in Washington, D.C., and located at the Marine Barracks there.

Christmas Concert At North Quincy High

Seldom heard musical composition will be included with the traditional carols sung Monday at the 8 p.m. Christmas Concert of the Music Department at North Quincy High School.

"Christmas Cantata" by Honegger and "A Ceremony of Carols" by Britten, both little known, are included in the program by 200 student members of the Concert Choir, the Mixed Glee Club and the Ninth Grade Girls' Glee Club. Maurice Carbonneau, director of Music, will conduct.

Soloists will be Marcia Freedman and Lewann Carter, sopranos, and Gary Burnhauser, bass. Mrs. Marion Clancy, well known Quincy church organist, will accompany some of the compositions on her own Allen organ.

The program will include the familiar "And the Glory of the Lord" from the Messiah; "Gesu Bambino," "Carol of the Bells" and "The Little Drummer Boy".

Tickets are available in advance from students and will be sold at the door.

N. Q. Boosters Launch Drive Tonight To Convert Teel Pond

The North Quincy Boosters Club will meet tonight [Thursday] to launch a campaign to convert the Teel Pond area as a physical education field.

The meeting, open to individuals and organizations interested in the development of new athletic and physical education facilities for North Quincy, will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the North Quincy High School cafeteria.

GENERAL MANAGER E. H. 'Pat' Pasqualucci reigns over a kingdom of beautiful holiday decorations at Quincy-Adams Garden Center, 12 Penn St., South Quincy.

In place of what you'd normally expect - pruning shears, pitchforks and fertilizer - Quincy Adams' General Manager, E. H. "Pat" Pasqualucci, has stocked the entire inside of his Garden Center with a holiday assortment of just about every type of Christmas decoration you could ask for.

Why? To help people give expression to their creativity, for only in such a well stocked decorator's haven could you expect to find: just the right dried seed pod or cone, tiny fruits on wire to spruce up a miniature, wreath or tree, every conceivable shape of styrofoam ball and ring, glitter paints, glue, wire and more.

Another feature at the Quincy Adams Center is the cone decorating classes offered by Mrs. John Hedman.

The Centers' owner, Robert Cherubini, president of Quincy Adams Coal and Oil Co., extends a welcome to all to, "Come visit our center and let us help you put some beauty into your home!"

Standing behind Robert Cherubini's offer and ready to welcome visitors to the Quincy-Adams Garden Center are General Manager "Pat" Pasqualucci, Store Manager C. A. "Cliff" Packard, and Cliff's son Dave Packard. So, in this holiday season, when you start thinking about decorations, visit the Quincy-Adams Garden Center, 12 Penn Street, Quincy.

Squad Inexperienced But--

Raiders After Better Hockey Record

North Quincy's hockey team last year won only two games in the Met League but Coach Bob Laing, despite an inexperienced squad, has hopes of improving this record in the new Greater Boston League this season.

With the opening game set for Friday night, a league game against Chelsea at 6:30 at Boston Arena, Laing still is undecided on his lineup but is satisfied with the steady improvement shown by his club in scrimmages.

Following the Chelsea game, the Raiders will face a strong Weymouth team [a Suburban League entry] Saturday at 6:15 p.m. at Weymouth Skating Club, followed by a game between Quincy and Thayer Academy. They return to league action Tuesday at Boston Arena with a 9:15 game against Everett. Most games will be played in Boston but the Quincy game Jan. 12, the Everett game Jan. 19, the Weymouth game Jan. 24 and the Medford contest Jan. 26 will be played at Ridge Arena in Braintree.

North now faces the same teams in hockey as in other sports with Quincy, Somerville, Malden, Medford, Everett, Revere and Chelsea in the GBL. Quincy, Malden, Everett, Revere and Chelsea were North foes in the Met League.

North's most experienced player last winter was goalie Kevin Colleran who, despite the poor won-lost record, turned in some excellent performances. Laing has four boys trying for his spot, Bob Guerriero, Bill Sheehan, Bob Colleran and Bruce Riggins.

"I have no idea who will be my goalie but all these kids have been looking good," the veteran coach said. "I hope our defensemen can give the goalie some protection and give them some needed confidence."

The top defensemen are Tom O'Malley, a regular starter last year; Tom Quinn and Bobby Golden, who saw some service, and Al Stracuzzi.

Laing has some experienced forwards in Pat McCormack, Billy Gardner, Bob Frizzell, Al Struzik and Neil Cronin, all of whom are expected to play regularly this season.

Wayne Fick, Keith Losordo and Bill Cameron are juniors with a good deal of promise.

"I have a good looking group of sophomores who have looked good and will be seeing a lot of action," Laing said.

They include Bob Palma, a defenseman; Steve Leofanti, Danny Gilfeather, Mike Delaney and twins Walter and Bill DeSchamp.

Laing has a new junior varsity coach in Ralph Younie, who starred at Quincy High under former coach Bill Hutchinson.

BOB LAING

North and Quincy will play separate junior varsity schedules and Laing explained that the Raiders have seven games scheduled and hope to add more.

Munroe MacLean Trophy
A Coveted GBL Award

Greater Boston League athletes in all sports [including Quincy and North Quincy] are shooting for the Munroe MacLean All-Sports Championship Trophy this year.

The award, named for the late Quincy director of athletics and physical education, will be presented annually to the school compiling the most points in all of its sports beginning this school year.

Football, basketball, baseball, crosscountry, hockey and spring track will be considered, with eight points awarded for a first place finish, seven for second, six for third, etc.

Fractions of points will be given when teams tie for a position. For example, Quincy and Malden tied for the football title this fall and each was awarded 7½ points.

Each sport is rated equally with as many points in track and cross country as in football and baseball.

At the end of the football and cross country seasons North Quincy had 9½ points [second in cross country and tied for sixth in football], and Quincy had 8½ [tie for first in football and eighth in cross country]. Malden leads with 15½ points and Medford is second with 11½.

QJC Basketball Team Now Rolling

The Quincy Junior College basketball team, under new coach Earl Vermillion, has been rolling along following a close opening night loss to Bristol Community College.

QJC won its next game over Franklin Institute and turned in its finest performance of the year to upset highly rated Wentworth Institute, 88-77.

"This was a big win for us," Vermillion said. "We were concerned about them and now we have high hopes for a good season."

As usual Paul Beston took scoring honors for Quincy with 36 points. He is averaging more than 30 points a game. Ken MacLean scored 16, Jim Broderick 13 and Luigi Eleuteri 12.

The Quincy club will play Northern Essex Community College Friday at 7:30 p.m. at Haverhill High School and Monday will be home to Franklin at Quincy Vo-Tech gym.

Several Veterans Return

Quincy Icemen Eye Three 'Goals'

A year ago Quincy's hockey team finished its final Met League season with an 8-3-2 record, qualified for the Eastern Mass. tourney and was eliminated in the opening round by Dedham, the surprise of the tourney which went all the way to the semifinals.

This year Coach Bob Sylvia, starting his fourth season as the Presidents' coach and no stranger to tournament play, has several veterans and, if his goalies can come through, the team could chieve the three goals set by its coach.

"First, we want to finish in the first division of the new Greater Boston League, then we want to make the state tournament and finally, we want to go beyond two rounds of the tourney," Sylvia said.

Bob has one big question mark and that is in the goal. He had an excellent goalie last year in Tapio Juvenon, who graduated.

There are three seniors, Mark Erickson, Mike Albrecht and Paul Hand, and a promising sophomore, Art Boyle, trying out for the spot and all had a chance to make the starting berth for Friday night's opener against Everett at 6: 5 at Boston Arena.

"They all look good but lack experience and I hope the team backchecks well enough to let them gain their confidence in early games," Sylvia said. "If we can overcome our inexperience in goal we'll be in good shape."

The Presidents have a strong group of defensemen in veterans Russ Barry, Kevin Grogan and Harry Bertoni, all seniors; juniors Ken Kearney, who played some at forward a year ago, and Bob Cataneo and sophomore Richie Patten.

Sylvia designates his lines by colors rather than by number, a system used by his former Boston U. coach, Jack Kelly. Bob feels it is good for organization and morale.

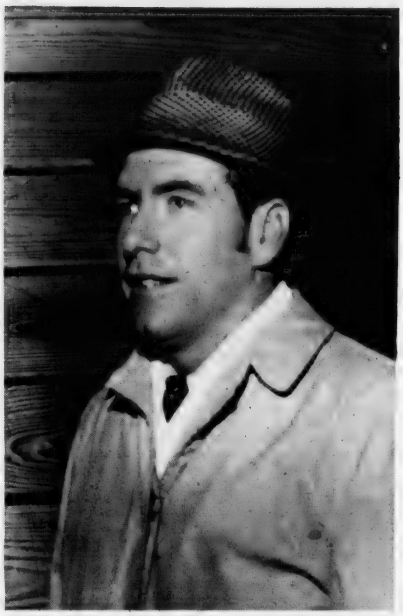
Others striving for starting spots are Bob Bosader, Harry Gilcine, Tom Hamel and Colen Kearney.

"I'm fairly optimistic," Sylvia admitted. "We have experience at every spot except goal and have good depth and I think we should have a good season. We enjoyed playing in the Met League but are looking forward to playing in the Greater Boston League against the schools Quincy faces in every other sport. It looks like a strong league. Malden was unbeaten last year, Everett had a young club which came along and North Quincy always gives us all we can handle."

The GBL consists of Quincy, North, Malden, Everett, Medford, Revere, Somerville and Chelsea, Malden, Everett, Revere and Chelsea played in the Met League with the two local clubs.

Jack Scanlan is the new junior varsity and assistant coach and he is being aided by Bob Lindblom, a probable starter for the Presidents who will miss the season due to an injury. "Bob could easily have sat out the season but wanted to help in some way," Sylvia said. "He deserves a lot of credit."



The Presidents' boss had good words for the Friends of Quincy Hockey, a group of fathers and other boosters which now includes more than 300 men.

The Friends of Quincy Hockey have done a lot for our program . have awarded scholarships and staged banquets for the team and are a very dedicated group," he said. "We video-tape our practices and show the films to the Friends at their meetings."

The Friends recently held their fourth annual "Face Off Dinner" at Walsh's Restaurant where Sylvia, Scanlan and Junior High coach Ray Brown were guests. Video tapes of the team's practices were a highlight of the meeting.

Following Friday's league opener, Quincy plays Thayer Academy Saturday at approximately 7:30, at Weymouth Skating Club following the North Quincy-Weymouth game. Tuesday the Presidents return to league action against Chelsea at 8:30 at Boston Arena. Most games will be played at the Arena but games with North on Jan. 12, Chelsea Jan. 19 and Malden Jan. 26 will be played at Ridge Arena in Braintree.

Last week the Presidents met Barnstable and Dennis Yarmouth in a jamboree at Yarmouth and, after tying Barnstable, 1-1, defeated D-Y 3. "It took us a while to get our skating legs but when we did, we looked good against Dennis-Yarmouth," Sylvia said. "We skated well and the work of our defense and goalies pleased me."

BOB SYLVIA

Quincy, North Trackmen In Opener

The Quincy and North Quincy winter track teams have been working hard in preparation for their opening Met League meets Saturday at MIT's Rockwell Cage.

Quincy, coached by Gene Macomber, and North, coached by the veteran Bob Gentry, again are competing in Division Two with Milton, Rindge Tech, Somerville, Newton South, Arlington and Randolph. Randolph is the defending champion.

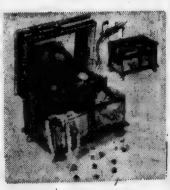
Weymouth, Newton and Natick all tied for the Division One title a year ago and Needham took Division Three honors.

League officials have encountered the usual scheduling program since the league lost Commonwealth Armory, but have come up with three sites this winter.

Following the Saturday openers at MIT, the meets on Dec. 24, 27, 30 and Jan. 3 will be run at Northeastern's Cabot Cage and the Jan. 17 meets will be at Harvard's Briggs Cage.

No home has been found yet for Feb. 7 but, with the Greater Boston Intercollegiate Meet, all facilities except Harvard should be idle.

Re-elect Locke President Salt Water Club



Frank Locke has been reelected to serve his 14th year as president of Harvey's Salt Water Fishing Club at Houghs Neck.

Robert Allan was elected vice president; Harold Johnson, treasurer; and Donald "Sacco" Sartori, secretary.

The 150-member group each year provides a "Vets' Day" of salt water fishing for disabled veterans from Chelsea Soldiers Home and the West Roxbury Veterans Hospital. A dinner, refreshments and prizes are also part of the day's program.

North Wins Brookline Thriller; Quincy Ready For B.C.

North Quincy's basketball team doesn't play again until Dec. 30 when it faces Boston College High at the North gym, but Coach Bob Nolan has his team working hard after a thrilling last-second 61-59 win over Brookline last week in a non-league game at Brookline.

Meanwhile, Marty Finnegan's Quincy team is prepping for its season's opener next Tuesday night at Quincy Vo-Tech gym against B. C. High.—On Friday, Dec. 26, the Presidents are home to Weymouth.

North Quincy, defending Greater Boston League champion, which has only one returning letterman, in Dan Zink, made a fine comeback to edge Brookline's Suburban Leaguers. At one point in third period At one point in the third period the Raiders trailed, 40-28.

After a period North led, 12-10, but trailed at halftime, 28-24. Brookline widened its lead to 12 points in the third period but North narrowed the gap a bit to 49-42 going into the final quarter.

Here North kept battling back and tied the count at 59-59 with 50 seconds remaining. Then Rick Sanderson stole the ball and, with just 16 seconds left, passed off to Brian Donahue, who had replaced Co-Capt. Don McKay, and Donahue scored the winning basket. McKay had fouled out.

The game ended on a hectic note as a foul was called on a North player at the final buzzer but the officials ruled that time had run out and North had its first win.

"This was a really fine game and every one of our boys did a good job," Nolan said. "We had to dig and scrap all the way and I think we'll have to do this throughout the season. Both my co-captains, Don McKay and Bobby DeRosa, fouled out but DeRosa, after picking up early fouls, stayed in there and didn't commit his fifth until late in the game."

Nolan in praise of Jim Small, who had 22 points for scoring honors said, "He has very good moves and did a tremendous job." He also lauded the 6-3 Zink for a fine all-around game. Sanderson for his constant hustle [he had 12 points], McKay [15 points] and DeRosa, Donahue for his winning hoop. He also had good words for Tom Cairns, 6-6 sophomore who worked well on the boards and who should help as the season goes along.

"I am bringing him along slowly as I don't want too much pressure put on him," Nolan said.

"We pressed very well and this had a lot to do with our coming from behind," the popular North coach concluded.

Joe Amorosino's North junior varsity dropped a 43-39 decision as Bobby Torino and Dave Nelson led the Raiders' scoring.

While North plays B. C. High on the 30th, Quincy will be meeting the Alumni the same night. Then the cross-town rivals flash on Jan 2 at Quincy in the GBL opener for each.

Montclair Men's Club To Honor Petrocelli, Garrett

Rico Petrocelli, chosen as the most valuable Red Sox player by the Boston Baseball Writers and Carl Garrett, picked by his patriot buddies in a similar category, will be honored by the Montclair Men's Club, at the organizations annual awards dinner, Jan. 10 in the clubhouse, Holbrook Rd., North Quincy.

Petrocelli's 40 homers set a new mark for American League short-stops and he equalled Phil Rizzuto's record of only 14 errors for a season. His 48 straight errorless games is also a new Red Sox first.

The 26-year-old shortstop, in his fifth major league season, topped all vote-getters in the American League All-Star balloting, over .300 for most of the season, Rico finished with a .297 average and drove in 96 runs.

Garrett the sensational running back of the Patriots out of New Mexico Highland College has fulfilled his promise to out-shine Heisman Trophy winner O. J. Simpson of the Buffalo Bills as "Rookie of The Year" in the American Football League. The 5-11 210-youngster from Denton, Tex. has all the attributes of a super star.

• Former awards winners have been; Johnny Pesky, Frank Fallon, Milt Schmidt, Bob Feller, Mike Holovak, Bobby Doerr, Tommy Collins, Ellis Kinder, Bill Sharman, Harold Connolly, Frank Malzone, Dick Donovan, John Gillooly, Pete Runnels, Pres Hobson, Jack Donahue, Jim Colclough, Bob Dee, Butch Songin, Munroe MacLean, Sam Mele, Dick Radatz, Gino Cappelletti, Bill Sullivan, Joe Foss, Ken Coleman, Jim Nance, Nick Buoniconti, Don Gillis and Bill Veeck.

Andrew A. Orrock, club president will be toastmaster. Joe Gillea, assistant press steward of the Patriots is perrenial chairman for the 19th year.

Tickets for the affair are at a premium according to Dick Post reservations chairman.

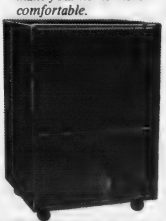
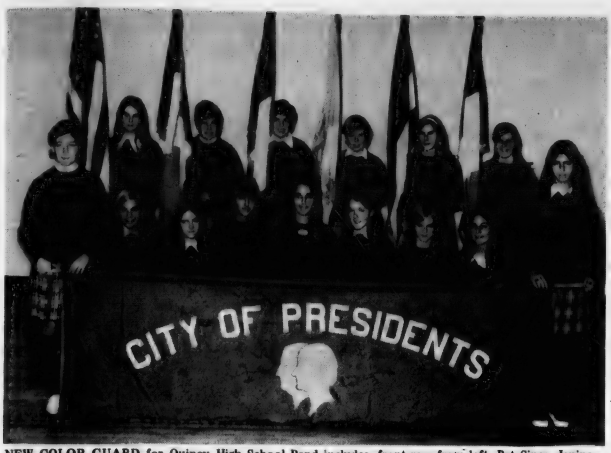
Junior High Schools Enter Hockey Loop



Quincy and North Quincy high school hockey coaches a year ago lamented the lack of a competitive junior high program.



Both lauded the work done by junior high coaches Ken Hayes and Ray Brown, but felt a junior high program with regular games was a must to insure the success of the high school teams.

Coaches Bob Sylvia of Quincy and Bob Laing of North have no complaints this year as a junior high school league has been formed in the Greater Boston League with weekly games at Boston College's McHugh Forum.

Brown will coach the Quincy team which includes Cent , Sterling, Broad Meadows and Point Junior Highs.

Alumni In Good Semi-Pro Start

Quincy has a new semi-pro basketball team - the Alumni - this winter in the strong Cranberry League.

The team, coached by Paul St. Louis, formerly of Quincy and now residing in Hingham, lost its opener to the league's perennial powerhouse, the Easton Huskies. But the club came back to defeat the Wholey Club of Hull and in its last game topped the Weymouth Alphas, 101-81.

The Alumni squad, which plays its home games at Atlantic Junior High, is sparked by two neighboring coaches, Skip Mortimer, Hingham varsity coach, and Jack Osgood, successful coach of the Norwell High junior varsity. In the win over Weymouth, Mortimer had 21 points and Osgood 20. Osgood had 23 in the losing effort against Easton.

Also in the Weymouth win, Bob Mina scored 13 points, Bill Grant 10, Gus DeBoer nine and Mike Donnell, Hingham High's junior varsity coach, eight. Bob Gullickson, Osgood and Grant excelled off the boards.

Quincy, North Schedule New Weymouth South Grid Team

The North Quincy and Quincy football teams will be the first two opponents next fall for the new Weymouth South team.

The Weymouth South schedule was announced at the annual banquet and lists North Quincy at Quincy Veterans Stadium for the Sept. 19 opener and Quincy at Weymouth's Legion field on the 26th.

Both local schools remain on the Weymouth North [the current high school] schedule with the Raiders hosting the Maroons on Oct. 3 and the Presidents hosting the Weymouth club on Oct. 31.

No coaches for the new Weymouth South team have been named as yet. The school will open next fall and both Weymouth teams will be rated Class A.

Wollaston Basketball Clinic May Be Repeated Next Year

The Wollaston Basketball Clinic has been completed and because of its success plans are being formulated for a new clinic early next year.

The Blacks finished in first place and the Blues were runners-up. The Reds were third and the Greens fourth.

In the final games for boys 11 to 13 years old played at the Quincy Vocational-Technical High School gym the Blacks defeated the Blues 21-17 and the Reds turned back the Greens 13-9.

High scorer for the Blacks was Bob MacIntosh with nine points, while M. Shepherd, Dever, and Fallon also scored. Warren Jordan, with 11 points, was high scorer for the Blues with assistance from Kelly and Messinger. High scorer for the Reds was Jackie Rabel, who had five points, with help from C. Shepherd, Benson and Kelleher. Jackie Browne and Ken Parlee were high scorers for the Greens, with four points each, plus help from Sherlock.

The clinic was run by volunteers with the free use of the gym at Union Congregational Church of Wollaston under the direction of Robert W. Jordan. Coaches for the teams were William Roberts, William Baker, Robert Jordan and David MacIntosh.

Assisting in the program, also, were referees Donald Messinger, Robert Brubaker and David MacIntosh, Jr., along with scorers John Browne, Carl Benson and Linda Jordan.

Each of the 28 boys in the program received certificates from their coaches. They are:

QJC Icemen Find Offensive Power

Quincy Junior College's first hockey team is still seeking its second win of the season but Don Salvucci's team showed offensive power last week in coming from behind to tie strong Massasoit Community, 7-7, at the Asiaf Rink in Brockton.

Quincy's Mike Bruno scored four goals and had an assist and Pat Breen assisted on two goals and was outstanding.

QJC was scheduled to take on Bryant and Stratton last night. The next game is against Burdette College Jan. 6 at 10:30 p.m. at Boston Arena.

Junior College Hockey Schedule

Dick Magnarelli's 331 Keeps Hennessy Team In Little Loop Lead

Twelve-year-old Dick Magnarelli put together strings of 100, 120 and 111 for a weekly high three of 331 to keep Hennessy Plumbing Supply Co. in first place in the Quincy Little Loop.

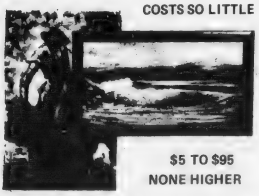
The Hennessy team now has a two-point lead over runner-up Wollaston Blvd. Bowladrome.

A new attendance mark in the 16-year history of the league was established as all 70 bowlers of the 14 teams were present. Of the 12 alternates, only one was absent.

Bill Gerry rolled the high weekly individual string with a 133. The Bowladrome had the high team single with 1,341 and the George G. Burke team racked up the high team single with a 482.

Mike Conroy is pacing the league with the top average of 99.11. Close on his heels are Tom Joyce, 98.20 and Paul Peckham, 98.4.

Behind them in the top 10 are:



John Repobb, 97.6; Dick Hirtle, 97.5; Steve Levine, 96.3; Magnarelli, 95.21; Mike Lorman, 95.17; Tony Kovalski, 94.18 and Kevin Gildea, 93.2.

Quincy Toastmasters Help You Face An Audience

If your hands sweat, your tongue thickens or your stomach flops at the thought of standing up to speak before a crowd – there is a group of men meeting Monday nights in Quincy which is tailor-made for your troubles.

Quincy Toastmasters, a nonprofit organization of men over 18 is looking for members interested in building their self-confidence by improving their speaking ability.

The club is the second oldest still active in New England and is marking its 20th anniversary this year as part of an international organization of more than a million men who have benefited from its activities.

Membership is limited to a maximum of 40 to enable each member to enjoy frequent opportunities to speak, preside over a meeting, or help evaluate another member's efforts. There are no occupational, educational, racial or religious bars.

"We have had plumbers, police chiefs, accountants, lawyers, clergymen, sign painters, used car salesmen and a variety of junior and senior executives," says Quincy Police Sgt. William F. Murphy of 135 Sea Avenue, Houghs Neck, currently the club's president.

"Each joins for the same reason – to learn to express himself by actually doing just that – in front of an audience of fellow learners. Encouragement, not embarrassment, is the keynote of the club and its success is measured by the scores of successful alumni throughout the South Shore," he says.

Graduates include such well-known South Shore figures as Quincy Police Chief Francis X. Finn, Richard O'Brien of Weymouth, executive with H. P. Hood & Sons; Louis J. Tangusso of Braintree, owner of the Prince of Pizza Drive-In; the Rev. William Carrigg, a former curate at St. Ann's Parish, Wollaston; Quincy Attorneys Milton I. Sobol and Sidney M. Ober; and Abdo Hassan of Hassan Brothers, Inc.

Among the club's present membership is James Collins, Chairman of the Norfolk County Commissioners; Henry Bates, former Quincy Librarian and presently head of the Newton library system; Quincy Police Lt. William Daley; William Connor of Weymouth, a Boston school executive; Daniel Shea, a Boston Business executive and one of three former Toastmasters District Governors from Quincy; and Edward T. Martin, former Boston newspaperman and Public Affairs Officer for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

A Toastmaster is not merely a man who presides at a banquet and rattles off funny stories in-between the introductions of head table guests.

"He is a person who has gained enough self-confidence and poise to get on his feet at a public hearing and make his point clearly and effectively," says Sergeant Murphy. "Even if he seldom is called upon to make a formal speech, a man must be able to express himself in a variety of situations, from company staff meetings to union hall gatherings, or simply selling a product, or selling himself to a prospective employer.

"In this intense age of communication, the ability to speak is more and more in demand. We have school teachers, for example, interested in increasing their ability to reach their students through the spoken word. There are few jobs today where good oral expression is not required. This, too, is a requirement around the dinner table, especially in a large family," Murphy adds.

A typical Toastmasters meeting includes a brief business session, an informal topics session and a program of prepared five-minute talks. During the topics session, members are given suggested subjects to discuss within a two-minute time limit.

Each speaker is evaluated by a more experienced member who may identify a shortcoming and suggest ways to improve such things as gestures, appearance and voice delivery. Most beginners share the same faults. They stand like frozen blocks of granite, stare glass-eyed into space, and string together a litany of "ers and ahs" between stumbling sentences.

"I have seen beginners so nervous they physically tremble on the way to the front of the audience and have trouble putting two words together," Sergeant Murphy says. "In a few weeks they develop so much confidence we have trouble sitting them down."

There is no classroom atmosphere, although each Toastmaster is offered a training series prepared by Toastmasters International which leads him through basic and advanced training and into a program called "leadership through speech." The pace of the training is the choice of the individual.

"The training equips them to communicate to one or two people, or a thousand," says Sergeant Murphy. "But more important, they learn from each other."

The weekly meetings are held at the Knights of Columbus Hall at 25 Foster Street at 7 p.m. Interested men may drop by unannounced to observe, or contact Sergeant Murphy at 472-6196 or Robert Watts at 773-9181.

It is a club which is fast making "unaccustomed as I am to public speaking" a no-no phrase on the South Shore.

Hernia

A hernia today is approached and treated with greater expedition and less concern than a generation ago.

A hernia by definition is a protrusion or escape of abdominal wall lining or even bowel, if it is large, through a hole which ought to have been closed by nature in its usual efficient way. Of course I am referring to the Inguinal hernia in the groin, by far the most common site for this defect.

Interestingly herniae [or ruptures] as they were once called, tend to run in families. This does not mean that they are inherited but that some members of a family have this defect along the way. This implies that there is apt to be no consistent or mathematical recurrence.

The groin hernia occurs far more frequently in males than females and can have mere fibers or whole bowel descend into the scrotal sac. There may be no pain but the mother notices a swelling which may come and go. We recently had an infant who had constipation as a symptom and who, while straining, caused a noticeable bulge.

The weakness could well interfere with normal evacuation. The danger of any hernia may be incarceration or strangling of bowel because of a very tight ring! This is obviously a dangerous condition requiring either immediate reduction [return of the bowel to the abdomen] or surgery.

The round olive-sized lump found in the groin or lower abdomen, in girls with ruptures, is the ovary.

Once a hernia of the groin, in boys or girls, is diagnosed, repair is recommended. The day of the yarn truss has long gone. The ingenuity employed and the care given with trusses was a tribute to the devotion of the parent and the family practitioner.

Today, however, the ease and skill of the pediatric surgeon and the short hospital stay required after the repair of the hernia, is amazing. A child goes into the hospital in the afternoon - is repaired the following morning, thru a tiny incision with absorbable sutures, and goes home the next morning - children bounce back so quickly with no apparent discomfort that it never fails to astound the parents and me.

Age or size of the child has very little to do with the time for repair. Even premies have had surgery without "batting an eyelash" [really I've never observed this phenomenon].

Umbilical, or "Belly Button" ruptures, very rarely need to be operated on because, although they are homely and unsightly, they are asymptomatic [without pain] and very rarely obstruct. It is surprising how well they eventually disappear as the abdominal muscles strengthen and unite - usually by four years of age.

My associates, Jessica Etsten, Robert Mann & I, and our entire office staff wish for you a Merry Christmas and a pleasant holiday.

GET OFF THAT HOOK!

Are you one of those guys that have swallowed the bait of a secure but mediocre income? Do you really want to spend years just trying to make ends meet and looking forward to a gold watch when you're put out to pasture? Kind of scary, isn't it?

Why don't you get off the hook? There are a lot of people who were just like you, who did something about it. They became their own bosses as Holiday Magic Distributors. A heck-of-a-lot of them are making more money than they ever thought they would. And having a ball doing it. They're involved in one of the largest industries in the world that's been around for a long, long time. It's also an industry that has a history of being recession-proof, with a growth record that's hard to beat. And with all the people being born every day, there isn't much chance it will ever go out of style. That's security.

Get on the other end of that hook and line. Fill out the coupon and mail it. Or better yet, satisfy yourself now—phone. You might just get off that hook and we'll be glad to help you do it.

I want to find out more about Holiday Magic Distributors. Please contact me. I understand there is no obligation.

Project PLAN Observed By San Mateo, Baltimore Groups

Quincy's Project PLAN, Project ABLE, and the reading teachers involved in the Capuchino Summer Reading Institute were visited this week by two ES '70 groups.

Representing San Mateo, Calif., are Troy Nucklos and George F. Outland, while a group of four headed by Dr. Ben Whitten represent Baltimore, Md. They were in Boston for the American Vocational Association Convention held at the Prudential Tower this week.

Quincy Post Distributes 1,000 Flags

Over 1,000 small flags were given out during the recent Christmas Festival Parade, reports Commander Ernest Milks of Quincy Legion Post 95.

Special permission was granted by the Christmas Festival Committee of the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

The miniature American flags were passed out to children along the parade route in Quincy. Robert Fisher, Americanism Officer, assisted by Miss Marion and Cynthia Milks and Billy James, pulled the small cart directly behind the Post colors.

Purchase of the flags by the post, was under the flag-education project of the Community Service program. Originally scheduled to be passed out on Veterans Day and due to the cancellation of that parade the post was granted approval to pass out the flags at the Nov. 30th Christmas parade.

order to offer a quality program in science today", he declared.

There is much that can be done to modernize Quincy's older school buildings, he said.

"Many of our older buildings, oddly enough, lend themselves to more flexible use than some of our newer buildings, even though newer buildings cost a lot more than old," he said.

Adams School should be a subject for modernization, Dr. Creedon said.

"Although a lot has been done in that building with City of Quincy money in the past three or four years, with State aid we could do a lot more."

Dr. Creedon pointed also to Central Junior High School, built in 1886, with an auditorium that was used very little. By removing the old chairs and with considerable remodeling, the auditorium is now a busy learning center.

Sources of federal funds are very precarious right now, Dr. Creedon noted, because the present administration had not seen fit to fund many of the federal laws enacted during the past three or four years. There are sources of funds on the books, but there are no moneys available at the present time.

The Model Cities program is a source of funding. Quincy applied but was denied these funds. Science facilities is the past [illegible] years [illegible]e been remodeled under the MDEA [National Defense Education Act].

"We have always gotten in line to get our share," Dr. Creedon said, pointing out that the funds were distributed on a "first come, first served" basis.

Z. Cranston Smith Re-appointed To Metropolitan Area

Z. Cranston Smith of 16 Neponset Rd., Merrymount, has been reappointed by Mayor James R. McIntyre to a three-year term as representative of the City of Quincy to the Metropolitan Area Planning Council. The appointment effective Dec. 10 will expire on Dec. 9, 1972.

In thanking Mr. Smith for his years of faithful service to Quincy, Mayor McIntyre added, "I trust that your ensuing three years with the Metropolitan Area Planning Council will be as successful as they have been in the past."

Kelly Seeks To Protect School Officials In Suits

School committee members Paul C. Kelly of Quincy and Patricia Small of Somerville have filed a petition at the State House seeking legislation to require cities and towns to indemnify certain school officials for expenses or damages incurred in defending claims arising from their official decisions.

Miss Small cited the recent incident in Monson where school committee members were each sued for $2,500 because they fired a teacher who wore a beard. She believes the legislation is necessary to safeguard rights of school committee members and enable them to perform their duties "in caring for the well-being and the education of the students, without fear of reprisal."

Quincy Mayor-Sen. James R McIntyre who sponsored the bill, is urging all school committee members to actively support the measure, Senate 605, to be brought up in the 1970 legislative session.

"If this measure is adopted by the legislature, cities and towns would be required to accept this section by vote of the Board of Selectmen or City Council, subject to the provisions of its city charter," McIntyre said.

Weymouth Bank Breaks Ground For New Branch

The Weymouth Savings Bank broke ground recently for its first branch office in Bicknell Square, North Weymouth, at the corner of Bridge and Standish Streets.

Architects for the new building are Kenneth F. Parry & Associates, Inc., of Quincy.

The new branch, scheduled for opening in the spring of 1970, will feature such new services as a drive-up window, walk-up window, night depository and the latest electronic data processing system.

The main office of the Weymouth Savings Bank is located in Washington Square, Weymouth Landing. The bank was chartered in 1833 and is Weymouth's oldest bank, with assets of $34 million.

The "Little Professor" learned something about welding this week

You know his type. The one that has all the answers on everything from sports to the price of peanuts. He thought he knew every trick in the trade of welding. Then, he saw what we're doing at Quincy.

As he puts it: "When I came into the trade, we had to learn welding the hard way . . . grubbing a little know-how here and there from the pro's. Today, Quincy has a school that graduates or qualifies more than 40 welders a week in low hydrogen and mild steel procedures. Wow!"

The "Little Professor" isn't the only one that's learned something new at Quincy. Here, no matter what your trade, you can really learn it to its peak. Why? Because you won't be confined to run-of-the-mill, assembly-line work. Each day brings new problems to solve. And, you'll find a boss who's willing to let you tackle them personally.

If your trade means something to you, it can mean a lot more at Quincy.

We have immediate openings for:

Marine Electricians (Skilled & Unskilled)
Pipefitters
Shipfitters (Including Iron Workers & Carpenters able to read blueprints)
Riggers
Painters (Skilled & Unskilled)
Welders
Pipe Welders
Sheet Metal Workers
Sandblasters (Skilled & Unskilled)
Watch Firemen (1st & 2nd Class)
Chippers & Burners
Loftsmen
Inspectors (Ability to read structural piping or engineering blueprints 4th Class or higher)

Creedon Commends Firefighters

Quincy firefighters responding to the Nov. 26 alarm at North Quincy High School have been commended by Lawrence P. Creedon, Superintendent of Quincy Schools.

"The quick response from Engine 2 and Ladder 5 prevented a serious fire loss at the school," Mr. Creedon wrote. Deputy Chief John Menz directed the action.

Koch Club Collecting School Supplies For Vietnam Youngsters

Two special projects for others are being conducted this year by the Koch Club.

Clarence Smith, A Vietnam veteran, is chairman of a program to send elementary school writing supplies to school children in South Veitnam. Sgt. Steve R. Hartford, now in Vietnam, will receive the materials and distribute them to the schools and children there.

Needed supplies, pencils colored or plain, crayons, writing paper, coloring books or reading materials for elementary school children, may be left with Richard J. Koch, executive director.

The Koch Club's annual Christmas Basket Fund is now underway. Members wishing to donate canned goods or non-perishable foods may leave them with officers of their respective leagues, Anthony Delmonico at Broad Meadows; Bernard Cotter, Houghs Neck; Alexander Nihill at North Quincy; or Mr. Koch.

Money toward the purchase of turkeys given with each basket may also be given. The deadline for donations is Monday [Dec. 22]. Thomas F. Nestor is chairman.

Last year the Koch Club provided 20 food baskets with turkeys for needy families throughout the city.

Montclair Fifth Graders Present "Unexpected Guest"

The fifth grade at the Montclair School celebrated Thanksgiving by presenting the play, "Unexpected Guest," under the direction of Mrs. Pamela White.

In verse form, the play portrayed the Pilgrims' preparation for the Thanksgiving feast, and their desire to share their abundant crop and good fortune.

They invited the Indians as a gesture of thanks for peace and friendship. They expected 10 Indians, and were astonished and worried when 100 Indians appeared. Their fear of not having enough to share disappeared when the Indians brought "Deer-meat aplenty" for everyone.

The cast included: John Minukas, Stephen Keches Thomas Timmins, Susan Cook Michelle Callahan, Pamela Henry, Heather MacMillan, Jane Nicholson, Robert Sehovey, Karen Camai, Michael Piazzola, Richard Kennedy and Michael McCarthy.

The Montclair School Sixth Grade Glee Club, under the direction of Mrs. Mary kay Burton sang four Thanksgiving selections.

General Dynamics Names Randall Planning Director

John Randall has been named director of planning at the General Dynamics shipyard here, General Manager Lloyd Bergeson announced.

In the newly created position, Randall will be responsible for all Quincy division planning and the analysis of performance.

For the past 14 years Randall had been with the Electric Boat division of General Dynamics, Groton, Conn., in a broad variety of shipyard managerial and planning assignments. Earlier, he was an applications engineer with the General Electric Co., working in the utility power area.

Randall is a graduate of Brown University, with a degree in electrical engineering, and also holds a master's degree from the Harvard Business School.

A former United States Navy officer, he served tours of duty at the end of World War II and during the Korean conflict.

He and his wife, the former Velma Keefe, are the parents of five children. The family has been living in Mystic, Conn., but expects to soon make its home in the South Shore area of Massachusetts.

Everyone likes to give surprise Christmas presents.

But few can top the one the Edward F. Powers of 334 Rock Island Rd., Houghs Neck, gave his wife, Pat.

She opened the door the other night to find her mother, Mrs. Mary Nolan of Liverpool standing there with a big smile.

The two hadn't seen each other for two years.

Mrs. Nolan will visit with the family until May--a present from Ed to Pat.

If SANTA is wondering what to bring Norfolk County Commission Chairman James Collins, he wouldn't mind a few thousand head start votes to be opened next November.

Collins hasn't made an official announcement yet, but close friends report he will definitely make a run next year for Norfolk County Registrar of Deeds.

* * *

SPEAKING of presents, Richard Sutherland of Gay St. received a well deserved one the other day: a handsome plaque from the Quincy Power Squadron "in appreciation of meritorious services rendered."

Dick is owner of the charter boat "Irene". For the past seven years he has been taking pilot school students on educational tours of Massachusetts Bay to familiarize them with channel markers, light houses, buoys and other visual aids to navigation.

They get the chance to use a compass, ship-to-shore radio, fathometer and other aids under actual sailing conditions--both at day and night.

As far as anyone knows, this is the only squadron in the nation that actually gets the chance to learn at sea--away from a classroom.

NICE GESTURE DEPT: Six youngsters from the Rock Island Rd. section of Houghs Neck prepared 150 tray favors and presented them to patients at the Quincy Nursing home.

The youngsters used their own money and materials.

Delivering the favors and singing carols for the residents were Sharon and Susan Powers, Mary McClelland, Joan Carol, Kathy Morrell and Sheryl Shaw.

* * *

AND, we would like to thank six-year-old Brian O'Leary of 44 Stedman St., West Quincy, who called the Quincy Sun office the other day to sing "Jingle Bells" to us and wish us a Merry Christmas. Brian said he forgot what he had asked Santa to bring him....but we know Santa won't forget.

HOLIDAY TIP: The Automobile Legal Association urges motorists to "speak out" during the Christmas-New Year's holiday season.

The key words, says Safety Director Philip Wallwork should be: "No, thanks. I'm driving."

Wallwork explains that studies indicate that about half of all traffic fatalities involve excessive drinking and the number of highway deaths continues to rise each year.

And, notes he:

"With the traditional partying during the holiday season, many drivers are faced with a difficult decision--to drink or not to drink.

"In far too many cases, the results of the decision will appear in the next day's news accounts of the latest highway deaths.

"The ALA hopes that each motorist will think twice when offered drinks by an overzealous host and that he speaks out and says: 'No thanks. I'm driving.'"

* * *

AND, to each and everyone of you, from each and everyone of us at the Quincy Sun, a very Merry Christmas.

Thank you for taking us into your home this past year.

Elks, Salvation Army, Koch Club Deliver 250 Christmas Baskets

Quincy organizations, large and small, this year are again spreading holiday cheer to the needy through Christmas baskets and gifts.

Quincy Lodge of Elks has prepared 125 baskets, valued at $2,000, to be given to 125 needy families, according to Richard McCormick, grand exalted ruler and Thomas V. Morrissey, Jr., who heads the committee in charge of this project.

The Salvation Army has already filled 104 baskets with a complete holiday dinner and toys for the children. More requests are expected before Christmas Day.

In addition, visits have been made to patients at Quincy City Hospital and the many nursing homes throughout the city, with 940 gifts distributed.

The Koch Club, headed by Richard J. Koch, will provide not only a Christmas dinner but sufficient food for the entire holiday weekend. Twenty of these baskets, valued at $25 each, are to be distributed.

Four shut-in children received visits from the Koch Club Santa Claus on Saturday, and visits will be made up through Christmas Eve. Parents desiring a visit to their year 'round shut-in children should call Mr. Koch to arrange hours. One hundred children, 10 years and younger attended the Saturday Christmas party at the Fore River clubhouse.

Quincy Woman's Honesty Makes Two Families Happy At Christmas

"Honesty is the best policy."

That time-tested truth means a happier Christmas for two families, one in Quincy and one in Dorchester.

Last week Mrs. Ernest Caddy of 239 Washington St. found a wallet containing $295 in a telephone booth near the Bargain Center on Hancock St. Unable to read well because of failing eyesight, she took the wallet home and waited for her daughter, Mrs. Alfred DiCarlo of 55 Freeman St., to help.

Detective work by Mrs. DiCarlo and her husband revealed that the wallet belonged to a Dorchester man, recently moved and without a telephone. They drove there, learned the wallet had been dropped by a son attempting to make a phone call and hampered by too many bundles.

"It was a very Merry Christmas for them because they had children, too," Mrs. DiCarlo said. "And it will be a Merry Christmas for us because my mother was so worried about it."

Mrs. Caddy accepted a reward reluctantly, because she has children also.

Her older son, Ernest Caddy, Jr., was killed in World War II, and she is the aunt of William R. Caddy for whom Caddy Memorial Park on Wollaston Boulevard is named.

Youngsters On Gift Spree--For Others

Forty children from needy families in the Greater Quincy area went on an unselfish shopping spree in Kresge's Saturday, courtesy of the Quincy Jaycees.

They weren't shopping for themselves. They were selecting gifts to present to other members of their families.

Each child was supplied with money for the one hour [8 a.m. to 9 a.m.] shopping spree by the Jaycees from proceeds of their annual Christmas tree sale.

The youngsters, selected by the Visiting Nurses Association, were picked up at their homes and returned by volunteer members of the Jaycees.

Chairmen of the event were James R. Bach, 192 Billings St., North Quincy, and Barry Green of Randolph.

Amvets Christmas Party For St. Coletta Children

Children at St. Coletta's School in Hanover were guests at a Dec. 14 Christmas party given by Quincy Amvets Memorial Post No. 7, and St. Coletta's School at Braintree received ice cream through the Post.

Donations to the party were received from the Quincy Auxiliary Police Association.

Henry P. Schaffer, Sr., was chairman for the event, with Anthony M. Famigletti as co-chairman. Assisting were Edward Roberts, Arthur Perette, John Daniels, Walter Johnson, Roger B. Whitcomb, Henry J. Williams, Thomas Hanrahan and Henry Williams.

Quincy Soldier 'Santa' For Vietnam Orphans

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

Spec. 4 Raymond D. Crombie hasn't been home for Christmas in three years.

He won't be home this year, either.

He won't join brothers Robert, Richard, Ronald, Randy, Russell and Roy and sisters Jeanne, Judith, Janet and Joanne and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Crombie around the Christmas tree at 1276 Sea St., instead, Ray will be playing a starring role in South Vietnam. Ray needs a lot of padding to take over the part, too.

RAYMOND CROMBIE

Because of his knowledge of the Vietnamese language and his love for children, Ray has been chosen to visit six orphanages as "Santa Claus," on Christmas Day.

Ray, now on his second tour of duty with the Army in Vietnam, is a member of the "Kit Carson Scouts," working with the 25th Infantry Division in Cu Chi. Part of his work is to visit villages and hamlets to work directly with the people, finding out what they need and supplying them with materials so they can repair their churches, schools, homes and public buildings.

In a recent letter Ray wrote: "I returned from Vietnam in June for a 30-day leave. I had finished one year in Vietnam. It was hard for me to believe all the things I had taken for granted before seeing Vietnam. We have so many things that we do not consider luxuries but actually are....how do you explain a war torn country with millions of children parentless, homeless, without smiles."

He wrote again, this time to Mayor James R. McIntyre. And the folks back home responded. In October, Mayor McIntyre personally took two tons of clothing to South Weymouth Naval Air Station, to be forwarded to Ray and a fellow serviceman, Francis Moran, also of Houghs Neck. The clothing hadn't arrived, as of Dec. 8, but the boys know it is coming. . .

These articles will be distributed to children and people in the hamlets who are not under the care of orphanages or the church. They will go to those who really are in need, because there is no one to care.

No, Ray will not be home for Christmas, 1969–and no one is sure just when he will return. His second tour of duty was to end this month. He asked to have it extended until February so that he could receive his discharge in Vietnam.

He has a job waiting for him there. He is going to teach English in a Saigon High School, one of the few Americans to be permitted to work for the Vietnamese government. Nearly all servicemen discharged in Vietnam are required to work for American firms there.

"We didn't want him to do this," Mrs. Crombie said of her son. "But he feels that he can do more good over there than by coming home and getting a job here. He is in complete agreement with Nixon's policies."

"No, it didn't surprise me particularly," she continued, "My children are no different from many others that come from a large family–their main concern is for the children. Anything they can do for children, they would really want to do."

Ray obtained his future position as teacher through the editor of the Saigon News. He had taught his son to speak English. The son is attending the University of Saigon, where Ray is helping to send four boys through college by paying their tuition [about six dollars a month].

How long does he plan to remain in Vietnam.

"As long as he is needed," his mother says.

Servicemen In Vietnam Thank City For Gifts

Major Gordon R. Sullivan, and Spec. 4 Tom Malvesti [with "25 days left"] are two Army men grateful for the Christmas packages sent to Vietnam by Mayor James R. McIntyre for the City of Quincy.

"Most appropriate", Major Sullivan termed the items sent. "However, more important than practicality or appropriateness is the meaning of your gift. Your kind words help greatly as we face each task and day."

"Everyone here in the 1st platoon, C Company, 187th Infantry, really enjoyed it," Malvesti wrote. "Packages....don't last very long around here. Whenever we get one everybody takes part in it."

As shepherds watched, the angels came to tell of Christmas glory. Our personal greetings to you, and may many blessings be yours.

CONGRESSMAN And MRS. JAMES A. BURKE

ENGAGED--The engagement of Miss Delia DiCesare to Thomas J. Rupp has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francesco DiCesare of 39 Elm St., Quincy. Mr. Rupp is the son of Mrs. Elsa H. It's Nice To Give, And Receive, Too

Some 250 Hancock School youngsters received a special Christmas gift this week for doing something nice for someone else.

The youngsters created six Christmas trees, and wreaths of green rings of paper to help Manager Robert Conrad decorate Friendly's ice cream parlor in the Presidents Plaza.

They also made a number of decorative Christmas cards.

On Monday, Conrad turned around and treated them to 25 gallons of ice cream for their school Christmas party.

Christmas Day

On Christmas Eve everyone waits till it is time to go to sleep so we can get up early.

When it was about 6:30 in the morning everyone got up and went to church. When we came home from church we opened our presents. Everyone sat down some place, then one person passes out all the presents. We all have fun opening them. But before we opened all of them we ate our fruit that was in our stockings. After we opened all our presents my sister and I showed each other what we got. Then the whole family has to clean up the room and put our presents back under the tree. After we had cleaned up all the mess we started to either put our clothes away that we got or played with our toys.

Christmas Eve

On Christmas Eve our father hangs our stockings on our fire place. Then he sets up our Christmas tree and decorates our house and the tree. We went to bed. All of a sudden we heard people singing. I jumped out of bed looked out the window. There were 8 little angels standing beneath our window singing. I threw 50 cents out the window to the little angels. They said, "Thank you and have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!" The next day we went down stairs to see our toys. We had more toys than we expected to have.

Santa's Visits

"Ho! ho! ho!," chuckled Santa as he stepped into the kitchen.

"Go ahead and sit down in the living room," offered my mother.

"Come sit on my lap," requested Santa to Janet. Gladly Janet sat down and began telling Santa a few last minute things she wanted for Christmas.

This may seem like a normal visit from Santa Claus. But it wasn't. For that was the second Santa we had that night.

A Wonderful Christmas

Long ago in a distant land there lived a group of people old and poor. Those people were much too poor to have a Christmas. They had no money nor any food. Every year those people tried to make the best of Christmas by sitting near a blazing fire singing. As they were singing they were suddenly stopped by the sound of horses hoofs. All the people of the group ran out of the cabin and saw a young girl get off her shiny black horse. She immediately went to the people and shouted, "I have come to give all you old and poor people this money I have saved, I think it will be enough for a Christmas tree, some trimmings and a big feast." The old people shouted with joy and had a wonderful Christmas after all.

Christmas

Christmas is a very happy time. When you get up in the morning you feel like a new person. When you see the Christmas tree, and all those presents! You have to be excited! After we open our presents we go to church. Then we come home and have our breakfast. Then we fool around with all our presents. For a big present this year I want a tape recorder. I really hope I get it. I hope we go visiting this year. It's fun.

Christmas

Christmas is a very joyful holiday. The idea of Christmas gifts were brought by the "Three Wise Men." The idea of the Christmas Tree came from Germany. The word Christmas means Christ's Mass. Most of the Christians all over the world go to church on Christmas morning. I go to church on Christmas morning at 7:00. I hope to get a bicycle and a pair of bell bottom slacks. On the night before Christmas my family and I decorate our Christmas tree. We hang our stockings on the stairs. The next morning my brother wakes me up at 5:00. So we go downstairs and sit around the tree.

The Night Before Christmas

It was the night before Christmas. It was time to go to bed. We went. My sister and I were talking to each other for awhile because we couldn't go to sleep. We were up in our beds and heard my father come in from work. After my father came in my mother and father went to bed. After they went to bed we heard someone coming up the stairs to our bedroom But he or she went into another room and my sister and I saw that it was only someone in a red suit bringing the presents down the stairs to put them under the Christmas tree. All of a sudden there was a bang. The guy in the red suit had dropped the pile of presents. He was coming up and down the stairs and sometimes he dropped some presents down the stairs. My sister and I heard my father down stairs. We went down stairs. There was my father taking pictures of the Christmas tree. We saw that Santa Claus had already come. All of a sudden my brothers got up. My father told us to go back to bed. My sister and I finally got some sleep. We got about 2 hours sleep. About 6:00 or 6:30 we all got up and woke my mother and father up. We opened our presents. We had a very Merry Christmas!!

A Christmas Story

One morning December 25, 1969 years ago, a little baby was born. He was born in a stable in Bethleham. This baby was out God, the baby Jesus.

Up above this stable was a beautiful star. It was all colors. This day brought joy to almost everybody.

Three wiseman came to see the baby Jesus. They brought gifts to the baby. The brought gold and silver. They brought meat and fruit.

This baby was our Savior. He died on the cross for us.

All the diciples ate at the last supper the day before Jesus was crucified for us. He saved us from evil.

The Noise

One year I was in Canada at my cousins two weeks before Christmas. Every night about the same time we heard a noise. Bob and I told my father. He listened for it, but it had gone. My father said it was an animal. When we looked for tracks the new snow had covered them.

The next night Bob and I were home alone. At about seven o'clock the noise came back, Bob looked out the window and saw nothing.

The next morning when I went out I saw marks on the tree.

When Bob saw it then he said, "I know what it is." Then he hooked up a spot light and said, "Tonight I'll show you what it is." When the noise came again Bob turned on the light. When he did we saw a reindeer run off. He told me the reindeer was scratching his antlers!!

Christmas

Christmas Eve everybody hung their stockings and I hung up my dog Touche's stocking. Everybody had put their gifts under the tree. At 9:30 everybody went to bed. At 5:30 my brother Ricky came running into my room and said, "Come on down stairs it's Christmas." So I went down and first we looked in our stockings. I got about 10 things and Touch'e got 5 bones and a leash and collar. My twin sister Jeanne and I got a dog radio. Jeanne's was shaggy and mine was a black poodle. We all went to church. After that we came back and opened some more presents. It was a very nice Christmas. We sent a lot of cards. We hope everybody has a nice Christmas.

Christmas Eve

When I was about five years old I thought Santa Claus would skip me, and I would have no toys. So on Christmas Eve, I went to bed. When everybody was asleep I snuck down and nothing was there. I thought he skipped me. So I decided to hide behind the chair. I fell asleep, I woke up about an hour later, and all the presents were under the tree. I couldn't understand it, I didn't hear anything. But it didn't matter. I opened all my presents anyway.

The Christmas Story

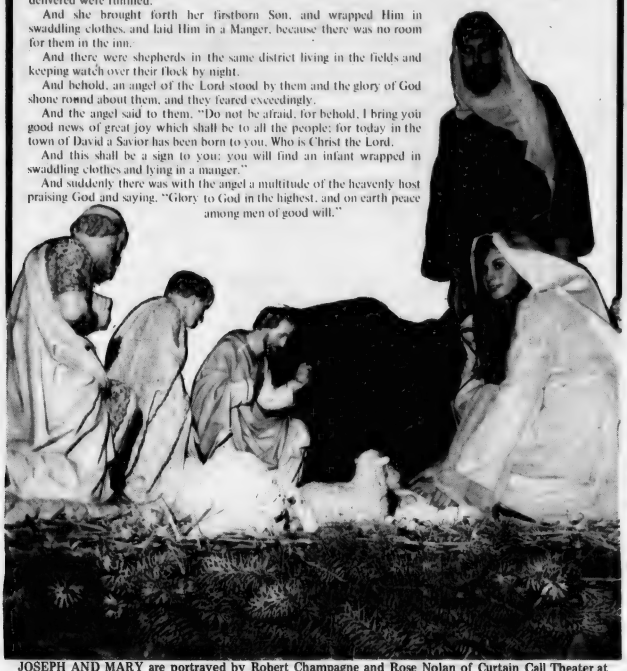
Luke, 2, 1-14. At that time, there went forth a decree from Caesar Augustus that a census of the whole world should be taken. This first census took place while Cyrinus was governor of Syria.

And all were going, each to his own town, to register.

And Joseph also went from Galilee out of the town of Nazareth into Judea to the town of David, which is called Bethlehem– because he was of the house and family of David–to register, together with Mary his espoused wife, who was with child.

And it came to pass while they were there, that the days for her to be delivered were fulfilled.

And she brought forth her firstborn Son, and wrapped Him in swaddling clothes, and laid Him in a Manger, because there was no room for them in the inn.



And there were shepherds in the same district living in the fields and keeping watch over their flock by night.

And behold, an angel of the Lord stood by them and the glory of God shone round about them, and they feared exceedingly.

And the angel said to them, "Do not be afraid, for behold, I bring you good news of great joy which shall be to all the people; for today in the town of David a Savior has been born to you, Who is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign to you; you will find an infant wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger."

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among men of good will."

Five Faiths In Christmas Eve Peace Service At Jewish Center

An Ecumenical Peace Service, first of its kind in Quincy, with participants from five faiths will be held Christmas Eve at 8 p.m. at the Jewish Community Center, 10 Merrymount Road.

Traditional Christmas Eve and Christmas Day services are scheduled at all Christian Churches in the city.

Christmas Eve midnight masses are planned for the Roman Catholic Churches. On Christmas Day in most cases the Sunday schedule of masses will be followed.

Taking part in the unique Ecumenical Peace Service will be Samuel Hassan from the Islamic Mosque; Rabbi David Jacobs of Temple Beth El; Dr. Bradford E. Gale, minister of United First Parish Church; Rev. Frank Fairbairn, curate at Sacred Heart Church in North Quincy; and a representative from the Greek Orthodox Church.

The program will focus attention on the tension spots of the world today-Vietnam, Biafra and the Middle East. It is sponsored by the Citizens for Participation Politics headed by John L. Gillis.

Human Relations Minister To Speak At Adams Shore Church

Rev. T. Landon Lindsay, special minister of human relations for the New England Conference of the United Methodist Church, will discuss the Fund for Reconciliation at the 10:45 a.m. worship Sunday, at Adams Shore Community Church.

He will speak particularly on the issue of Black economic demands on the churches.

A sermon dialogue and refreshments will follow the worship service.

Student recognition day will be observed with college students taking part. They include Miss Laura Eckblom of Adams Shore, a student at Iowa State College; Miss Laurel Wainwright and Gregory Stevens, Quincy Junior College students. Music will be by the Adams Shore Singers.

BETHANY CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

At 7:30 p.m. Christmas Eve family service will be held with Rev. John D. Banks giving a Christmas meditation on "The Star of God." Young People and adults will take part in the service which will close with a candle-lighting ceremony. Layette items and money, a tradition at Bethany, again will be placed in a cradle as Christmas Eve gifts for the Christchild.

At 11:30 p.m. in the chapel a brief midnight service of carols and candle lighting will be conducted by Rev. Banks assisted by laymen.

ADAMS SHORE COMMUNITY METHODIST CHURCH

A program of giving and receiving will be held at the 7:30 p.m. Family Christmas Eve service. As adults make their Christmas offerings, children will receive boxes of candy.

Excerpts from "Night of Miracles", a cantata, and "Let There Be Peace on Earth" will be sung by the choir, with narration by Rev. William L. Newcomer, and Miss Christine Eckblom as soloist. A recital of Christmas carols on the Julia Pohlson Memorial Chimes will be given by Miss Marjorie McAllister preceding the service at 7:15 p.m.

ATLANTIC UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

"Set Aside" will be the sermon by Rev. Robert E. Bossdorf at the 11 p.m. Christmas Eve Communion Service.

Music will include congregational singing of Christmas Carols.

FIRST UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The Christmas Story in pageant, scripture and song will be retold at the 7 p.m. Christmas Eve Service. Holy Communion will be distributed at the manger by the church elders. Older Sunday School students and young people will take part in the pageant. Rev. Stephen W. Brown will conduct the worship service.

WOLLASTON CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

A Christmas Eve service of Holy Communion at 11 p.m. will be led by Rev. Joseph E. O'Donnell, Jr., interim minister. Francis Williams will sing "O Holy Night" by Adam and "What Child Is This?" Edward B. Whittredge, minister of music, will play "Pastoral Symphony" from the Messiah as the organ prelude.

UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Rev. Walter J. Ralston will lead the 9 p.m. traditional Watch Night Service, concluding with Communion at midnight.

HOUGHS NECK CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

A service of church membership will be included in the 11 p.m. worship on Christmas Eve. "Star of Light" will be the sermon by Rev. Dr. Peter V. Corea.

The choir, directed by Arden Schofield, organist and choir director, will sing "The Song of the Angels" by Hughes and "Gentle Jesus" by Moats. "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Silent Night," and "Joy to the World" will be congregational hymns.

QUINCY POINT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

A 10:30 p.m. Christmas Eve Candlelight service will be held, with all choirs singing. "The Story of the Christmas Guest" will be the subject of Rev. Bedros Baharian.

ST' CHRYSOSTOM'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH

A Family Christmas Eucharist will take place at 7 p.m. Christmas Eve. At 11 p.m. there will be a Festival of Music followed at 11:30 p.m. by a Christmas Eucharist.

Christmas Eucharist on Christmas Day is scheduled for 10 a.m. Rev. William D. Underhill is minister.

WOLLASTON UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. Ronald W. Ober will conduct an 11 p.m. Christmas Eve Candlelight service.

May your Christmas be a time of great family joy and contentment. Best of the best, and we hope the days glisten like the brightness of the Yuletime candle?

Come . Let Us Reason Together

By Dr. William F. Knox
Personal Counselor

'The 70's...Learn To Relate'

The 60's were marked with broken promises....loss of respect of adults by young people....racial conflict based upon prejudice ....increased unhappiness between husbands and wives....pretenses and phony cover-ups of personal weaknesses....bad philosophy about goodness, greatness and rightness which has locked us in an unjust war in Vietnam. The decade is about to close with our great problems of war, poverty, injustice still unresolved. Our biggest problem in the 60's was our inability to get along with one another.

The 70's will see many changes in our living patterns....new fast public transportation....more leasing and less owning of private cars....new government health insurance for all....better birth control techniques....legalized abortion....cures for cancer, heart disease, arthritis....greater conservation of our forests, waterways and the air we breathe. The four-day work week will be instituted ....with more leisure time....more seashore and mountain retreats ....the twenty or more credit cards in your wallet will be displaced with one Master Credit Card....smoking will become as unpopular as snuff or chewing tobacco. But none of these will bring human happiness....unless we learn to relate to each other.

In education, fewer class room examinations....grades will become obsolete as new practical and meaningful measures of performance will be found....the curriculum will become more relevant as students are taught to THINK....not merely parrot back answers from a book, or chalk board or an adult. The biggest part of education must be the learning to relate to other human beings.

In business the 70's must see a concentration upon better relationships between clerks and customers....between employers and employees....instead of discourtesy, impatience and inefficiency.... each seeking to get all they can get and give as little as they can get away with. The likelihood of a business slow-down next year is great....businesses which show the warmest concern for their customers will fair best. This means business people must learn how to talk with customers....how to be concerned with giving satisfaction not only in the product but in the personal service.

In the 70's our greatest concern must be learning the art of one to one relationships. To make this possible, let me suggest three personal questions. First, "Do I really love myself?" Only when the answer is YES can you be much to other persons or be concerned with their welfare. Said a 35-year-old wife...."I hate myself....I know I'm ugly...so anything my husband does for me I despise because he must be doing it in pity." You see....this guy can't win....not until she learns to love herself....then and only then can she be receptive to her husband. Love yourself....forgive yourself....care for yourself....cherish your body....discipline your mind....know your personal needs and how to meet them. Thus, you equip yourself to love and relate to other people.... because you've learned how to love and relate to yourself.

Secondly, be concerned with the question, "How can I be pleasing to you?" This is a basic question in any relationship. Between a husband and wife....about the clothes she wears....about the hours he keeps....their sexual relationship....their everyday dealings should be marked by "How can I be pleasing to you?"....not to the children....not to the PTA....or the Church....but "to my husband/wife." This principle may well be applied by the telephone operator....the gas station attendant....the department store clerk....or the Good Samaritan who comes upon one in trouble. "How can I be pleasing to you?"...."How can I meet your needs?"

Thirdly, "What is stopping me from pleasing others?" Maybe there is a deep-seated hatred which you haven't recognized....toward someone who hurt you or let you down years ago....a father....a peeping Tom....a business partner. Or, perhaps a childhood hang-up prevents you from being pleasing. Recognize the handicap in yourself....get that thorn out of your flesh....only then can you love instead of hate....only then can you be happy within yourself ....only then can you relate to other persons.

That's the need we all have for the 70's....learning to relate. But remember....we must first have related to our inner selves.

Discrimination Chamber Subject

Mrs. Glendora M. Putnam, chairman of the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination, will speak on "Institutional Discrimination and the Employer" at a special dinner meeting of the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce Jan. 14 at Valle's Restaurant, Braintree.

The meeting is sponsored by the Chamber's Personnel Managers' Group with Everard Dixon and Edward Hart as co-chairmen.

"Periodically," said Dixon and Hart, "the Personnel Managers' Group prepares a program which we consider of such great importance that we extend an invitation to all Chamber members.

"The Personnel Managers consider this subject [job discrimination] so important that we established a special committee to deal with it."

Avon HS Band Award

The Avon High School Band has received a special award from the Quincy South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

It was presented for the band's participation in the annual Christmas Festival parade, and marks the second year the band has traveled to Quincy for the event.

HOUSE CALL

By Dr. Charles Djerf
Pediatrician

Bewildered

One of the most dramatic pictures I have seen in many years was that of a great man in tears, dejected, crying "They won't listen!"

My reference is to Dr. Letwin when he pleaded for discussion or debate and reason at M.I.T. To see a man of dignity andintellectual "stature" beaten down and ignored by revolting youth is a bit overwhelming.

Though I feel with youth in his causes, I do not agree with his immature pursuit of answers, nor his distain for his elders nor his disregard for the experiences his parents have suffered.

To turn from such a serious problem as our youth's emancipation and his sudden lofty understanding of ethics and morals, which have lain dormant and ill understood for many years, and then to talk about smoking may seem mundane and picayune, but to me it presents the dilemmas and incongruities of the time.

To be in the heavens with solutions and yet use stupid habits in the avenues reaching it is not good common sense. The truth is that youth would rather accept the dumb habits of his parents as justification for his own usage - yet deny them their wisdom from experience.

Really, now, can anyone justify smoking? Yes, says one, it relieves my tensions. - Answer: Nail biting does too, and it is far more cleansing, cheaper, and more easily available. Which of these habits is held in greater esteem?

Any Machiavellian method for sales promotion of tobacco in achieving its ends is considered admirable, even if the end result can be life-endangering, and yet youth avidly buys this nonsense! Where is the mature capacity to reason here?

I admit that to assail the freedom of choice is not my privilege, but to try giving sound advice and to have it ignored is no incentive for me to recognize youth's capacity as any different than his predecessors.

Add to this the challenge that drugs are justified or any inference that the parents or elders are responsible is not purchasable.

Does it mean anything to youth that over 600 have died in New York City from overdose of heroin this year and that a champion was made last week in this ignominy - a 12 year old boy addicted for two years! There is no question that he started his downhill course after smoking - a benign habit leading to cross-bones.

You can't take the country out of Salem but the witches were burned - why not the habit!

Leone To Succeed Nilsen As City Engineer In July

Quincy City Engineer Henry F. Nilsen, will retire in July, 1970, and be succeeded by Edward A. Leone, present assistant City Engineer, Mayor James R. McIntyre announces. The job pays $15,729 a year.

Nilsen, who reached the mandatory retirement age of 70 Dec. 16, is being retained and additional six months in the best interests of the city because of his close working association with the construction of the MBTA Quincy line Mayor McIntyre said.

Nilsen, city engineer since April 14, 1952, has been employed by the city since 1930 when he was first "on loan" for special survey projects. In 1943 he received a civil service appointment as clerk of the Zoning Appeal Board, and has filled that position since then.

Leone, assistant city engineer since 1964, has been employed by the Quincy Engineering Department since 1933, and has gained additional experience as engineer at the Quincy Water Department.

Both men are Quincy-born and Quincy-educated, Quincy High School graduates. Nilsen received engineering education at Franklin-Union and from State University extension courses in advanced engineering. Leone studied at Northeastern University, with additional courses at M.I.T. and most recently at Boston College.

During Nilsen's 17 years as City Engineer, the city has accepted for construction in whole or part 172 streets, an estimated 16.24 miles.

Leone, married and the father of 19-year old Edward, Jr. and 16-year old Diane, is the uncle of Carl Leone, physical education director for Quincy Schools and former North Quincy High School coach.

A Reliable Directory Of Goods And Services

SHEA'S Formica Center, the first such one in the U. S., has been serving the Quincy-South Shore area for 12 years featuring 155 different color Formica in 24 waste saving sizes.

"Why Formica?" asked Bill Shea of Shea Formica Center at 809 Hancock Street. "The answer is simple. There's no other product that can touch it."

Bill Shea should know, he's been a Formica dealer for 12 years now and, in fact, his dealership was the first in the United States.

Twelve years ago Bill's first advertisement included the slogan, "Your labor plus Formica will give you a new kitchen and bathroom," and [with today's growth of do-it-your-selfers], this slogan becomes more and more true.

Remarking on the ease of installing Formica, Bill said, "What most people don't realize is that we stock 155 different colors of Formica in 24 waste saving sizes.

"This means that a person wishing to Formica a counter top can buy a sheet with the least amount of waste and therefore the greater savings. Plus, and this is a big one, we will cut the piece to our customers exact specifications free of cost right here in the store."

Recently appointed an Associate Distributor of Formica, Bill Shea also rounds out his bathroom and kitchen products by also offering a large selection of Tappan Ranges and Whirlpool appliances.

Bill Shea and his Formica Center are good names to remember if you're thinking of remodeling your bath or kitchen.

Christmas Day Deadline For Doorway Contest Entries

Christmas Day is the deadline for entries in the decorated Doorway Contest conducted by the South Shore Christmas Festival Committee.

Pictures, either in black and white or colored, should be mailed or brought in person to the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce office at 36 Miller Stile Rd., announces Bernard Moore, contest chairman.

Preliminary judging will be made from the pictures. On Monday night [Dec. 29] judges will view the doorways themselves, and winners will be announced next week.

Prizes will be presented at the annual Christmas Festival Awards program on Jan. 12 at Sherry's Restaurant.

Charles Condos Accepted At Bowdoin

Charles G. Condos of 59 Merrymount Rd. a Quincy High School senior, is among 20 Massachusetts students accepted as members of Bowdoin's Class of 1974 under the College's Early Decision program.

They will enter Bowdoin College at Brunswick, Me., as freshmen next September.

Richard W. Moll, director of admissions, said the College accepted 80 of the 240 students

Raiders Face Newton South

Harriers Give North Trackmen Extra Zip

North Quincy enjoyed one of its finest cross country seasons in history this fall and Bob Gentry, who coached that team, expects several of the harriers to help his winter track team which opened last week with a 49-37 win over Quincy in a Met League opener at MIT.

"Several members of our Cross country team are running for me and will give us some strength in the distance runs," Gentry said. "We also look pretty strong in other events and, with a fine turnout of 36, I feel this team is as strong as any we have had at North."

Paul Affsa, defeated only once in cross country, runs the mile and also will run the 300 and 600. North has good depth in the distances with Paul Bonoli, Matt Clancy, Jay Griffin and Steve Little all in the mile [they may also try other distances], Paul Salamaa a fine prospect in the 1000 and Jeff Strungis, Chris Kennedy and Bill Fong in the 600.

Richie Yee and Dan Coughlin are the hopes in the 300, while Peter Davis, Joe Marini and Jeff Calvert are running the 50-yard dash.

In the hurdles Bill McCall, Don Montford and Don Gilliland are the top hopes. John Panarelli, Paul Day and John Graceffa should score in the shot put, while Affsa, McCall and Gilliland are fine high jumpers.

The two-mile is in good hands with two other cross country stars, Kevin Henry and Andy Hughes, competing.

Jack Laverty, a former North track and cross country star, is assisting Gentry on a volunteer basis. He is a substitute teacher at North.

BOB GENTRY

"We have a rugged schedule with five meets in the space of 15 days," Gentry said. "Due to a lack of track facilities, it was necessary to schedule the meets during the holiday vacation. The four meets through Jan. 3 are at Northeastern. Some boys usually go away over the holidays and this could make it a little rough for most of the teams."

North's winners in the opening victory over Quincy were Salamaa in the 1000, Strungis in the 600; Gilliland, tied in the high jump; Panarelli, shot put; and the relay team.

Seconds were taken by Affsa, mile; MacGregor, 1000; Kennedy, 600; Coughlin, 300; Henry, two-mile; and McCall, hurdles.

Placing third were Griffin, 1000; Yee, 300; Graceffa, two-mile; and Gallagher, hurdles.

The Raiders face Newton South today [Wednesday], will meet Somerville Saturday at 10 a.m. and will take on Randolph, defending Division Two champion, Tuesday at 2 p.m., all at Northeastern.

ENC Hoopmen Having Troubles But Team Spirit Running High

Although Eastern Nazarene College's basketball team is off to a slow start, Coach Carroll Bradley is pleased with the hustle and desire shown by his young team.

ENC last week snapped a five-game losing streak with a come-from- behind 100-94 win over Unity College in a consolation game in the Governor's Cup Tourney at Nasson, Me., College. Nazarene trailed, 56-40, at the half but staged a tremendous second half comeback, outscoring Unity, 60-38. The win gave ENC a 2-5 record.

North Quincy's Ron Bradley scored 28 points to maintain his average of 30 points a game to spark the ENC quintet.

"We have a young team with a lack of size and most of our losses have been due to our lack of height and experience," said Bradley who in his first 10 years at ENC, all winning seasons, had a great 125-46 record but has fallen on lean times in the past three years.

"I am not pleased because we are not winning, but I can't blame the players. They've been giving us everything they have. So far the boys haven't been discouraged because of losing. I keep trying to impress upon them that if they can stick it out, we'll turn around and beat a lot of these teams in the second half of the season."

Sparking the ENC attack is sophomore Ron Bradley, a former North Quincy High star under Coach Bob Nolan, who is averaging 30 points a game and is hitting on 51 percent of his field goal attempts. He scored 41 points with a 68 percent shooting average against Bentley, only three points below the school record of 44 set by Ray Baltz in 1963.

ENC turned in one of its best performances in the first round of the Governor's Cup tourney at Nasson College in its latest outing, but lost, 77-73, thanks to some tremendous foul shooting by Framingham, Me., State.

Bradley scored 26 points and put on a third period spurt to cut the gap to a point after ENC had trailed by 11. The number two scorer was Constantine with 14.

Other members of the ENC varsity are Jerry Hoch of Hull, Reggie Clark of Foxboro, Don Kauffman of Glassboro, N.J., Bob Peters of Kenneth Sq., Pa., Ray Shannon of Southington, Ohio, Bob Rose of Gibsonia, Pa., Jack Schmitt of Owego, N.Y., and Milt Teasdale of East Providence. The only seniors are Clark and Schmitt and the only tall man is Schmitt at 6-5.

There are no Quincy players on the junior varsity squad but several from nearby towns including Ken Amback, Don Bambrick, and Scott Willy of Weymouth, Gerald Cook of Braintree and Steve Bell of Abington.

Eastern Nazarene's next game is Jan. 9 at home against Eastern Baptist College and the following night the Wollaston College will be home to Husson.

MDC Rinks Closed Christmas

MDC skating rinks, including the William Shea in West Quincy, will be closed Christmas Day and also for the evening sessions on Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve.

The rinks will operate on a normal schedule Jan. 1.

During the school vacation period the twice-weekly high school hockey sessions, usually held afternoons and evenings, will be scheduled from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. on the two days normally assigned to hockey practice.

Recreation Director James F. Whalen said the hours were changed so that the rinks would be available to youngsters during the afternoon and evening sessions.

Quincy, North Hockey Teams Hope To Rebound

The Quincy and North Quincy hockey teams are off to slow starts and Coach Bob Sylvia of the Presidents and Bob Laing of the Raiders hope their clubs will rebound and begin clicking in Greater Boston League play.

Quincy, upset by Everett, 7-1, in the GBL, and 4-1 by Thayer Academy in a non-league game, played Chelsea Tuesday night, meets Somerville at 6:30 Friday and Malden at 12:30 in the afternoon Monday at Boston Arena in league games.

North, topped by Chelsea, 4-1, in its league opener, and 5-0 by Weymouth in a non-leaguer, met Everett Tuesday, plays Revere at 9 Friday night and Medford Monday at 6:45 at the Arena in league contests.

Sylvia was disappointed with his team's showing in the league opener but vowed the Presidents will bounce back and be a title contender.

Quincy skated well in the opening period and had many shots but was foiled by the strong goal tending of Alan Niedrwicki, There was no scoring in the period.

Everett then scored three times in the second period and four times in the finale as Quincy could get only a goal from Chuck Condos in the second period with Chuck Peterson assisting.

"We just played terrible and I have no excuses," Sylvia said. "We know we are a much better team than we showed and we have a lot of tradition here at Quincy and it is a winning hockey tradition. We are going to come back.

"Condos missed a couple of shots early and was a bit frustrated. We started to press in the second period and it hurt us. I don't want to take anything away from Everett, though, they just outplayed us and I guess it was their turn after we had beaten them pretty badly in the past."

Sylvia's number one problem is in goal and it was evident against Everett. Sylvia used Mark Erickson and Mike Albrecht and in the game the following night against Thayer, he started Paul Hand.

"We have a problem there and I still don't know who our number one goalie is," Sylvia continued. "We have four boys, Erickson, Albrecht, Hand and a promising sophomore, Art Boyle, who will also bet plenty of chance to play.

"It is going to be a case of the best player getting the job and staying there until someone else proves he can do the job better. It will take a few games before I can make up my mind."

The Presidents' coach praised Kevin Goguen on defense and also had good words for sophomore Steve Cedrone.

North lost its opener despite a fine performance in goal by Bobby Colleran and this makes an interesting story.

Bob is a senior and did not try out for hockey last year because his brother Kevin had the inside track on the job and he didn't want to fight him for the position. Kevin went on to become one of the finest goalies in the Met League despite North's 2-7 record.

This season, with Kevin having graduated, Bob went out and earned the starting job.

"He just didn't want to battle his brother for the job," Laing said. "I thought he turned in a remarkable performance for a boy playing in his first hockey game. He was a bit shaky at first but finished up strong."

North took a quick lead on Bob Frizzell's goal in the opening period with an assist from Al Struzik, but that was the only Raider goal.

Chelsea tied it later in the opening period and then scored three goals in the second period. Colleran was outstanding in the final period as he shut the Red Devils out.

"I was impressed with Pat McCormack's play," Laing added. "He's a real digger and goes all out when he is on the ice. We are young and inexperienced and I thought we played some pretty good hockey. I think we can make it tough for some of the teams in the league this season."

Quincy, North Hoopmen In Return To Action

North Quincy's basketball team, idle since nipping Brookline, 61-59, back on Dec. 12, will return to action Tuesday night at 8 when it faces Boston College High at the North gym.

Bob Nolan's Raiders will then open defense of its Greater Boston League title on Jan. 2 at Quincy.

Marty Finnegan's Quincy team, hoping to rebound from a 2-16 season, opened Tuesday against B. C. High and Friday night will face strong Weymouth of the Suburban League at Quincy, the jayvees starting at 6:30.

The Presidents will play their annual game with the Alumni Tuesday night before opening the GBL season at home against North.

Presidents Meet Milton

Quincy Winter Track Team Optimistic

Interest in winter track is on the upswing at Quincy High with more than 30 boys turning out for this year's squad.

And, despite an opening day 49-37 loss to North Quincy last week, Coach Gene Macomber feels the Presidents will make a good showing in the strong Met League.

"I was pleased with the fine turnout, because you usually have to go out recruiting for winter track," Macomber said. "Many of the boys look good and I was pleased with our showing against a good North Quincy team."

Three of Quincy's best scoring hopes are Peter Laing in the two-mile, Bobby Ciano in the mile and Larry Finneran in the 300 and the 50-yard dash.

Ciano, only a sophomore, upset teammate Laing in every cross country meet this fall and suffered only one loss during the Greater Boston League season. Laing is one of the better two-milers in the area.

Other top ranking candidates include Wida Sahlin, a transfer from Weymouth, in the shot put; Jim Bucchianeri in the shot, Steve McCarthy in the 50-yard dash, and Pete Daley, 50 or 300.

Other candidates include Paul Spargo, mile and shot; Ken Fernald, 300 and 50; Marc Carnathan, 1000; Larry Butler, 600 and hurdles; Brian Feeney, mile; Paul Wahlberg, 1000; Ray Sullivan, shot; John Dempsey, hurdles; Scott Brand, 600 and hurdles; Bob Foley, 1000; Mike Davis, shot; Frank Hickey, 300; Joe Russo, 1000; Paul Morse, two-mile; Roy Smith, 50 and 300; Joe Goguen, 300; Ed Mariano, two-mile; Tom Plante, mile; Bob Simpson, 1000; Frank Petrilli, 50; Dave Omar, shot, and Frank Aldoupolis, shot.

Like North Quincy coach Bob Gentry, Macomber is not happy at the schedule, which finds the first five meets coming within 15 days. "I know nothing else could be done because of lack of facilities, but it makes it a little tough on the boys," Gene said.

"I'd like to see if we couldn't find a location here in Quincy for a track which could handle the Met League. We are centrally located and it would be no trouble for any school to get here."

The Presidents had six winners in the loss to North, while the winning Raiders had five, including the relay. However, North came up with six second places to only two for Quincy.

Winners were Ciano in the mile, Goguen, 300; Laing, two-mile; Dempsey, hurdles; Metcalf, tied in the high jump, and Petrills, 50.

Taking seconds were Aldoupolis in the shot and Finneran in the dash, while Feeney was third in the mile, Carnathan in the 600, Goguen, high jump; Bucchianeri, shot, and McCarthy, 50.

Quincy meets Milton today [Wednesday], will meet Rindge Tech Saturday at 10 a.m. and Arlington Tuesday at 2 p.m., all at Northeastern.

GENE MACOMBER

N. Q. Boosters Spark Drive To Acquire Teel's Pond Land

A drive started by the North Quincy Boosters Club to acquire a parcel of land at Teel's Pond to make into a much-needed physical education and recreational facility is underway in earnest following a meeting last week at North Quincy High School.

Although this drive was begun by the Boosters Club, it is also being undertaken by many other residents of North Quincy.

North Quincy athletic teams are in need of a physical education area and a central site for the teams to practice. The football and track teams now use Cavanagh Stadium, the baseball team uses Welcome Young Field and Montclair Field and the soccer team uses Montclair Field. On occasions, other fields have also been used.

At last week's meeting Charles Munson, past president of the Boosters Club, presided and those present spoke in favor of the project, which actually has been in the making for at least 25 years.

City Councillor Walter J. Hannon spoke in favor of the plan and promised, after Joseph N. Gildea of the Park and Recreation Dept. suggested the city pay for the filling in of the area, to meet with Mayor McIntyre and other councillors about the plan.

Others speaking in favor were John Hemphill, vice-president of the Boosters Club and an abuttor of the area, and William Shea of the Lions Club.

Mrs. Munson, secretary of the Boosters Club, served as secretary at the meeting and gave Ralph Frazier, North Quincy High football coach, much of the credit for the present drive.

"We want to emphasize that this will not be for only the high school teams but a recreation area for all the boys and girls of North Quincy," she said. "Ralph Frazier explained the great need for the high school teams and did much to get this project underway.

"There are four acres of land, much of it marshland and it is felt that the filling in of this land will also end a health hazard. There are hopes of getting even more land in the area.

We plan to have other meetings in the future and hope more city officials will attend. We appreciate Walter Hannon's presence at last week's meeting and his efforts to help us acquire the land."

8 Quincy, 2 North Players On GBL All-Star Team

Quincy's Greater Boston League football co-champions dominate the league all-star team with eight selections, while North Quincy had two players chosen.

Tackle Cliff Mattson, guard Paul Hand, quarterback Kevin Ryan and running back Tom Daley are Quincy's players on the offensive unit, while tackle Steve Shapiro, middle guard Joe Maguire, linebacker Rick Pettiti and halfback Paul Picarski made the defensive club.

All players on the star club are seniors.

Conroy Paces Little Loopers With 100.11

Capt. Mike Conroy of the Dist. Atty. George G. Burke team upped his Quincy Little Loop bowling high average leadership to 100.11 with a weekly high three of 321.

But the law makers dropped a 3-1 verdict to eighth place Hutchinson Oil Co.

Dick Hirtle's 302 triple paced Hennessey Plumbing Supply's 4-0 win over United Commercial Travelers, giving them a five point lead over Bryan VFW Post, runners-up.

Charles McCarthy rolled 123 for the individual high single., and Rep. Joseph E. Brett's team held the weekly team single of 495.

Hourly Evening Bus Service For Quincy-Holbrook Line

The MBTA announced today that with the Winter Timetable changes that become effective Saturday, [Dec. 27], hourly evening bus service will be instituted on the route between Quincy and Holbrook.

The new hourly service will be operated from Quincy Sq. to Holbrook from 6:10 p.m. through 11:10 p.m. and from Holbrook Sq. to Quincy from 6:40 p.m. through 11:40 p.m.

Present service operates from Quincy Sq. to Holbrook at 6:10 p.m., 7:10 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. and from Holbrook to Quincy Sq. at 6:33 p.m. and 9:55 p.m.

The improved service on an hourly basis will result in the dropping of the present 9:30 p.m. bus from Quincy to Holbrook and the 9:55 p.m. bus from Holbrook to Quincy.

Also being eliminated will be the 7:30 p.m. bus from Quincy Sq. to South Braintree and the 7:50 p.m. and 10:05 p.m. buses from South Braintree to Quincy.

Minor changes in scheduling on routes from or through Quincy Sq. to Fields Corner will be made in an effort to improve service that is encountering traffic congestion difficulties in the North Quincy area where the Metropolitan District Commission has a multi-million dollar highway and bridge construction project underway.

'Live A Little For Others In 1970'

Editor, Quincy Sun:

The old year of 1969 is gone, never to return, but our acts and deeds, of omission or commission, are written in the scroll of time and reflect our success or failure. The New Year of 1970 is beginning with clean, blank pages on which will be inscribed the results of our aspirations, our hopes and ambitions. May they be worthy of the opportunities which are given us.

We are all inclined to be more or less selfish in our daily striving. It is the human element, the personal equation which we deem so important. Living for self alone may be the means of acquiring much of the world's goods and gold, but these things, apparently so vital, are evanescent and are not guaranteed to bring happiness. In 1970, live a little for others. Seek out those less fortunate and lend a helping hand. A kind word of encouragement to one, an interest in the problems of another may bring you more happiness than given. A little service here and there make a barren life less bare. May the Lord preserve you and yours during the coming year.

Public Service Commended

Editor, Quincy Sun:

On behalf of the Social Security Administration, I wish to thank you for your generous and wholehearted cooperation in helping us to inform the public of the various benefits provided by our programs. We appreciate it sincerely. This year our message was brought to the public, especially in the news media, in a volume which exceeded all previous records. Without your willingness to help in every possible way this could never have been accomplished.

Your public service is to be commended. May we take this opportunity to extend to you and the staff of The Quincy Sun our very best wishes for a joyous holiday season.

Mailgrams Debut In January

MAILGRAM, a new telegram-letter service which the Post Office Department has developed in conjunction with Western Union, goes into "live" operation early in January, Postmaster General Winton M. Blount announces.

MAILGRAMS sent by business subscribers in 12 cities through the Western Union Telex network will be delivered by mail anywhere in the 48 continuous states. Formal approval of temporary rates and the procedures governing the use of this service was requested by Western Union from the Federal Communications Commission for the two-year experimental program.

Initially, MAILGRAMS will be accepted from Telex users in 12 cities:

Charlotte, NC., Detroit, MI., Miami, Fl., Newark, NJ., Seattle, WA., Washington, DC., Atlanta, GA., Boston, MA., Cincinnati, OH., Dallas, TX., Denver, CO., Kansas City, MO.

The Telex subscriber desiring to send a MAILGRAM will dial the number shown in a special directory and enter his message. The text will be printed out in a post office near the addressee, inserted into a special MAILGRAM envelope by a postal employee and delivered along with regular mail. The sender will pay normal Telex rates, which vary with distance and message length, plus a flat rate surcharge. Western Union will reimburse the Post Office at the rate of 25 cents for each message entered into the mails, to cover postage and handling costs.

This message-mail service will be available to Telex and INFOCOM subscribers in the 12 listed cities as this two-year experimental phase starts.

If there is sufficient public interest during this experimental period, the service will be opened to additional cities, and ultimately, to the entire nation.

James F. McCormick, Sr. reportedly has the inside track on the vice-chairmanship of the Quincy School Committee.

The board meets New Year's Day to organize for 1970. McCormick, according to insiders, has enough votes among colleagues to be elected vice-chairman.

He will succeed Mrs. Alice Mitchell in that post.

It's a sort of turnabout. McCormick served as vice-chairman in 1966 and 1967 and was succeeded by Mrs. Mitchell.

McCormick, a board member since 1959, reportedly will make this his final term.

Sources close to him say he is seriously considering a mayoralty bid in 1971 when incumbent James R. McIntyre is expected to bow out as chief executive.

* * *

INSIDERS say Arthur Tobin has--or is about to-- put together the necessary five votes for the City Council presidency Jan. 5.

That gives him the second most powerful political job in the city and the "springboard" to the most powerful--the mayor's office.

Quite interesting. A possibility of the City Council president and the vice-chairman of the School Committee tangling as mayoralty contenders in 1971

* * *

TIME MARCHES ON: Mayor McIntyre who will be inaugurated to his third term Jan. 5, is now "pushing 40". He'll reach that milestone in mid-May.

It seems like only yesterday [actually 1959] when he ran against Amelio Della Chiesa for mayor and was edged by 2,100 votes. Back then he was 29 and some people thought he was too young.

Actually, when he did become mayor in 1966 at age 35, he was the fourth youngest to hold that office since Quincy became a city in 1888.

The three youngest: Russell A. Sears, 27, Charles Francis Adams, 29, and Thomas S. Burgin, 33.

* * *

MCINTYRE is the first Democrat to hold the office in more than a half-century. The first since William T. Shea who served from 1901-1911.

* * *

AND, a Marine thrice wounded in Korea, McIntyre is only the second war veteran elected may of Quincy. The first was Civil War veteran Charles H. Porter, the city's first chief executive.

* * *

* * *

NICE-PEOPLE-DEPT: Twelve-year-old Jimmy Purpura of 7 Bedford St., worked at various jobs during the year--including selling the Quincy Sun--to build a $25 Christmas Club. But he lost the check. A kind woman found it and returned it to the Quincy Savings Bank. Jimmy and the check were reunited the day before Christmas. Jimmy wants to say a great big "THANK YOU ' to the woman through this column.

* * *

SMILE DEPT: Jack Golden, the Quincy printer, tells about the woman who couldn't get to the big department sale because of the flu. So she sent her husband, with this advice: "Remember, if you have trouble fighting your way to the counter, act like a lady!"

McIntyre Calls Meeting Of Flood Control Commission

As a result of flooding conditions in Quincy and surrounding areas this past weekend, Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre has called a meeting of the state's Special Commission on Flood Control for Tuesday, Jan. 6, at 4 p.m. at City Hall.

McIntyre, chairman of the special commission to study Quincy flooding problems, heads a committee including Senators George V. Kenneally [D-Dorchester], William D. Weeks [R-Cohasset], Representatives Clifford H. Marshall, Arthur H. Tobin and Walter J. Hannon, all of Quincy, and Rept. Barry T. Hannon of Braintree.

The overflowing of Braintree dam is also a source of flooding in the City of Quincy.

Appointed to the commission by Governor Francis Sargent are Robert G. Davidson, Metropolitan Area Planning Commissioner; George H. MacLean, President of the Ward 2 Civic Association, and Earl P. MacLeod, president of the Southwest Community Council, both of Quincy.

"We had in Quincy approximately 300 homes that were flooded in some respect, either cellars or backyards," Mayor McIntyre reported. "I want to commend the Public Works Department, the Fire Department and Civil Defense workers for pumping out cellars and working long hours over the weekend to alleviate flooding conditions."

"The serious problem area was in West Quincy," Mayor McIntyre continued. "We made a tour of the West Quincy area with Congressman James A. Burke and the Army Corps of Engineer representatives to try to get them to reconsider their decision adverse to the City on qualifying us for substantial flood relief."

"There was no determination then, but I believe they were impressed by the damage and by the flooded conditions found."

"I have sent a telegram to the MDC asking them to expedite the Black's Creek project because of the extreme seriousness of the Furnace Brook flooding to the City of Quincy as each year goes on," Mayor McIntyre said.

Quincy has appropriated approximately $1,500,000 to improve Wollaston Beach and also to alleviate flood conditions at Furnace Brook. One culvert is now being constructed at Newport Avenue and Furnace Brook. Plans are completed for another at Armory St., and should be ready for bidding in the spring, the Mayor said.

"The Black's Creek project has been stalled, and we hope by sending this telegram to the MDC to get some response and to get them moving on this project which would mean twin culverts at Wollaston Beach and allow Black's Creek to be drained for storage of water," Mayor McIntyre stated.

McDonald Seeks Federal Funds To Fight Floods

City Councillor George B. McDonald, concerned by flooding conditions in Quincy, will present a petition signed by several hundred residents to Congressman James A. Burke when he returns to Quincy on Saturday.

The petition asks Congressman Burke to "intervene in Washington with the Department of the Army and have the Army Corps of Engineers come back into the city and institute a new survey."

McDonald is seeking federal funds for flood control in Quincy. Following a survey made four months ago by the Army Corps of Engineers which resulted in an adverse decision, he introduced a motion in the City Council terming it a "lackadasical survey".

Army Engineers, he said, surveyed only the main lines and did not look into the feeder lines of the four main drainage systems.

"We are trying to alleviate the situation as best we can by matching funds with the State," McDonald said. "Quincy has appropriated $200,000 and the state, $200,000 to improve Wollaston Beach."

The Army engineers inspected Furnace Brook and found no great damage, he said. However, Alrick Rd., Sheldon Rd., Robertson St., Plymouth Ave. and Unity St. were flooded, with water almost completely covering parked cars, McDonald stated.

To be eligible for federal funds, damage must reach a certain monetary value, McDonald said. "This is the wrong approach to it."

McDonald pointed out that when homes were flooded, families had to evacuate with their children. Anything of value in cellars was ruined, washing machines, dryers, machinery.

"Anything we can do to alleviate this condition which has existed too long in this city, we must do, and unfortunately, it is going to cost a lot of money to do it," McDonald stated. "We have to turn to the federal government for their assistance in this project."

McDonald added that natural water shed areas in Quincy have been lost through land development, and there are no longer large ponds and marshes to absorb potential flooding conditions.

"The federal government is spending a tremendous amount on moon space travel," McDonald commented. "All we want is a small portion to alleviate a problem that certainly will accomplish a great good. The money is the main thing."

Mayor Sees Bright 1970's For Quincy

"Quincy has, in my estimation, a very positive atmosphere going into the '70's," Mayor McIntyre said of the New Year.

"The introduction of Massachusetts transportation facilities has increased land values in Quincy and the potential for Quincy is great as far as development.

"The zoning that the Council will enact next year must be done so that the quality residential areas will be left intact.

"We have very many material assets including beautiful parks and coast line, and the easy access to business with mass transportation facilities will guarantee, in my estimation, a decade of sound economic development in Quincy for the '70's."

Serposs Clinic On Revised Schedule

A revised schedule of hours has been set up for the Serposs Dental Clinic which reopened Nov. 25 at the Atherton Hough School.

The Clinic is open Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 6 to 9 p.m.; Thursdays from 1 to 5 p.m.; and Saturdays from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The Clinic did not reopen in September due to the death of Dr. Isidore Mandell, full-time staff dentist. The Clinic Board of Managers, unable to locate a full-time successor, obtained the services of two graduate students of Tufts Dental School on a part-time basis.

Dr. Marzban Patel of Bombay, India, has charge of the Clinic on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Saturdays. Dr. Jean Benassy of Paris, France, staffs the Clinic on Thursday afternoons.

In accordance with the will of Ervant Serposs, the Clinic is available only to Houghs Neck residents, without charge. The Houghs Neck area begins at Peterson Road.

Residents desiring to make appointments should call Mrs. Joanne Towle at her home, 479-0037, or during Dental Clinic hours at 479-1837. Because of the many requests for dental care, it is imperative that appointments be kept.

Burke To Meet With Quincy Residents On Saturday

Congressman James A. Burke [D-Milton] will meet with Quincy residents to discuss matters of interest dealing with the federal government or legislation at the Quincy Post Office on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and from 2 to 4:30 p.m.

Here Comes The Bride

By Mabelle

Warmest of all weddings is the home wedding. However, a mistake often made is to over simplify.

As much thought and care should go into planning the home wedding as a large formal church wedding. You do not have the formal structure of a church such as aisles pews and altar therefore, you must plan your own.

First, select a place where the ceremony is to be performed. Preferably as far from where you will make your entrance as possible, and not directly in front of a window.

With the help of your florist plan a background of ferns and flowers as high or higher then those participating in the wedding. If it is after dark tall candelabras are a lovely addition. A prie-dieu will add to the picture also. This is a kneeling bench and would be covered with white satin.

Now you must plan an aisle and a definite place for your guests to stand. This can be simply but attractively done with standards, with wide white satin ribbon suspended between them. The standards may be decorated with flowers and fern or left as is.

The bride's guests stand to the left of one row of standards and the groom's to the right of the other. In between is the aisle. Be sure to leave an opening at the front for the parents of the bride and groom. There must also be a space left at the back on each side for the guests to enter.

Seats are usually not provided at the home wedding. There is no recessional. Therefore, the standards [aisle posts] must be quickly removed by someone appointed to this task. The families of the bridal couple congratulate them and then the receiving line forms in front of the decorative background.

Refreshments may be served in another room or in the same room, depending on space.

An outdoor wedding is planned the same way. However do have an alternative in case of inclement weather.

RETIRING after 35 years as a Quincy educator, Harry A. Beede principal of Broad Meadows Junior High School, receives best wishes from Miss Mary F. O'Brien, his first grade teacher at Quincy School in Atlantic. Looking on are Miss Althea P. Sawyer, reception chairman; Dr. Louisa Beede, his wife who is also retiring from practice; and Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, superintendent of Quincy Schools. [Quincy Sun Photo by Robert Leo Eng]

First Grade Teacher Among Those Honoring Principal

Several hundred friends, relatives, and Harry A. Beede's first grade teacher attended a Christmas retirement tea in his honor recently at Broad Meadows Junior High School.

Mr. Beede, retiring Jan. 16 after nearly 35 years as a Quincy educator, began his association with the local school system as a student of Miss Mary O'Brien's first grade class at the Quincy School. A number of years ago he attended Miss O'Brien's retirement party.

He has been principal for 12 years at Broad Meadows Junior High School, which he helped to design. Previous positions were as principal at Central, assistant principal and general science teacher at North Quincy. Mr. Beede and his wife, Dr. Louisa Beede, will note their 35th wedding anniversary on Dec. 26.

Carl Deyeso, coordinator of language arts and social studies for Quincy Schools and a former Broad Meadows teacher, was master of ceremonies. In addition to a proclamation from Governor Francis Sargent and a telegram from Senator Edward M. Kennedy, Mr. Beede received citations or gifts from the Quincy Teachers Association, Massachusetts Teachers Association represented by its president Miss Helen O'Brien, Massachusetts Junior High School Principals Association and its Neighborhood Branch, students and parents.

Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, Superintendent of Schools, was among the speakers which included Theodore Silva, Arnold Rubin, Chester Young, school principals, Robert Basiliere, QTA president; Warren Madden, PTA president; Kenneth Rickson, coordinator of physical education; Viva Darrow and Susan Carnes, students.

Miss Althea Sawyer was general chairman for the event. Music was arranged by Frank Bono, decorations were made by students of Charles Hickey.

Pourers included Miss Josephine Hinckley, Miss Nancy Anderson, Mrs. Ellen Joseph, Miss Mary Bair, Miss Lydia Randall, Miss Stella Krupka, Miss Ena Fredette, Mrs. Fletcher Partridge, Mrs. Ralph Hutchinson, Mrs. Richard Blake, Mrs. Joseph Wine, Miss Pauline Tisell, Miss O'Brien, Miss Mary Catherin Iannoni, Mrs. Mary Sullivan, Mrs. Richard Wainwright, Mrs. John Morrissey. Mrs. Walter O'Brien had charge of the "guest book" Christmas tree.

Quincy Shipyard Begins New Year With New Name

Quincy's famed shipyard will start the New Year off with a new name–it's seventh in its 85-year history.

Lloyd Bergeson, general manager, and corporate vice-president announced that the huge facility will be officially known as the Quincy Shipbuilding Division of General Dynamics, effective Jan. 1.

In 1917, the shipyard was renamed Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corp., Ltd., and on January 1, 1964, it became the Quincy Yard of the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics.

It was named the Quincy Division of General Dynamics on March 8, 1966.

Since March 8, 1966, it had been the Quincy Division of General Dynamics.

The name change will occur on the shipbuilding center's sixth anniversary as a General Dynamics facility.

Bergeson said the work "shipbuilding" has been added to the name to provide stronger employee, public and customer identification with the 181-acre shipyard's professional mission–building United States Navy and merchant ships.

Since it was acquired by General Dynamics on January 1, 1964, the Quincy Shipbuilding Division has grown from a facility with essentially zero employment and business to a work force of 8300 with a business backlog extending into 1972.

In six years, the shipbuilding center has produced a wide variety of ships, including four nuclear attack submarines, three electronic instrumentation ships to support the Project Apollo moon program, and four Navy supply ships.

It is currently working on Navy and merchant contracts valued at $405 million.

Employees of the Quincy Shipbuilding Division come from 300 communities throughout Massachusetts and many other cities and towns in Maine, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Connecticut. The shipyard buys equipment, supplies and services from more than 2700 companies in Massachusetts alone.

The Quincy Shipbuilding Division and the work which it places with suppliers generates an annual payroll of approximately $170 million, and the division, its suppliers and employees pay approximately $17.5 million annually in state and local taxes.

Since it was founded in 1884 as the Fore River Engine Co. by Thomas Watson – Alexander Graham Bell's associate in development of the telephone – the shipyard has undergone a series of name changes.

In 1901, the shipyard's name was changed to the Fore River Ship and Engine Co. Two years later it became the Fore River Shipbuilding Co.

Headaches

If you watch television, and who doesn't, headaches are about as common as hunger and perhaps more easily relieved. No recommendations for solving social stress is given-except to drive a popular quiet car or go to the country for that reprehensible cancer-producing habit.

So mankind is really up a tree with increasing stress - pollutions included, and his nerves are becoming more fragile and a headache is his most common complaint.

Children are not to be excluded in this status-symbol complaint. We hear about this daily. However, children are to be considered more seriously - respected more, that is. For headaches in children should always be considered pathologic until proven otherwise. [Like the Internal Revenue who considers you guilty before proving you otherwise].

What is the approach in ascertaining the causes of headache? Firstly, the age of the child - when does the headache arise? - that is, time of day. Which part of the head is referred to? - How long does it last? - Is it relieved by aspirin? - Is nausea, dizziness or sleepiness associated with it? Is there a time factor in it, such as weekly or monthly recurrence? - What is the family history? [In July we wrote about Migraine, which is often familial and recurs often monthly, especially with stress].

Severe progressive headaches usually localized, with behaviour and personality changes, associated with neurological signs as dizziness, visual symptoms, dropping objects, etc., require investigation for brain tumor. X-rays, brain waves and a neurologists opinion and cooperation are needed here. Brain infections, blood vessel abnormalties and injuries also require his advice. Post traumatic headaches can occur in children even after a mild concussion and are not serious but should require your doctors reassurance.

Sinusitis - inflamation of the sinuses in the forehead, cheek bones or about the eyes can be elusive yet definitely involved. Forehead headaches with an obvious running nose or nasal speech with or without a temperature may require an approach using antihistamines as Benadryl, nose drops, hot or cold applications and aspirin for relief.

Sinus x-rays may prove the presence of this infection. Remember, though, that the sinuses develop at different ages. For instance, the air sinuses in the cheek bone may be present at two years of age, the ethmoids in the nose near the eyes at four years and those in the forehead at six to nine. But infections can still take place even when the sinuses are immature. Penicillin works wonders!

Cold, such as ice-cream may produce forehead headaches [in older people alcohol coffee, etc.] which might be the so-called Histamine headache - proven by allergists with a skin test.

Children can mimic their parents with "functional" or feigned headaches. But they are as a rule not fakers and should be, again, considered to be telling the truth and investigated if the symptom keeps coming back.

Epilepsy may have episodic headaches but is not the major symptom for this disease.

The eye as a cause of headache is not too common. Yet an Opthomologist is one of our most important consultants in determining the cause of headaches.

After reading this article you yourself might have a sympathetic ache in the head - better there than elsewhere.

County Advisory Board Sought

Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre [D-Quincy] has introduced a resolve in the state legislature to set up a County Advisory Board.

The Board would include the Mayors and Selectmen of the various cities and towns to familiarize them with the county budget.

The total cost of county government is paid by cities and towns, McIntyre said. The average mayor and selectman know little of the county budget, he noted.

Bethany Church Appoints Rev. Harris Assistant, Curtis Youth Director

Two new members of the staff of Bethany Congregational Church, were named at a meeting of the congregation recently.

The Rev. Pierson P. Harris was appointed assistant minister with special responsibility for pastoral visitation. Formerly minister of the First Parish of Westwood, Rev. Mr. Harris is pastor emeritus of that church. He and Mrs. Harris reside at 1000 Southern Artery, Quincy.

In addition to serving Presbyterian and Congregational churches during his ministry, Rev. Mr. Harris has been an instructor in speech in Haverford and Upsala Colleges, Drew and Boston Universities, and Union Theological Seminary.

Arthur R. Curtis of 10 Berkeley Street, Quincy, will be youth director at Bethany Church. A graduate of Eastern Nazarene College, he is now a senior in the Boston University School of Theology.

Mr. Curtis has served in a similar capacity in the Second Church in Dorchester. He has engaged in field work at Boston State Hospital and at "The Place", a center in Boston for young people away from their homes and schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis and their daughter, Jean, will be living in the second parsonage of Bethany Church at 34 Ridgeway Drive, Quincy.

FOLSOM'S MARKET

Adams Shore Minister Receives Memento Brick

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

A gift-wrapped brick and a wood splinter were presents Rev. William L. Newcomer of the Adams Shore Community Church found under his Christmas tree this year.

They represent the remains of the Sea Street building where the Adams Shore Church had its beginning more than 50 years ago.

In 1916, the wood structure now completely torn down, was known as Folsom's Seafood Market. It was in Folsom's Hall above the market at the corner of Sea and Lee Streets, nearly opposite Post Island, that Sunday School met and services were held.

In 1919 the present church, now United Methodist, was built by the parishioners at Albatross and Pelican Roads.

The Sea Street building has been a landmark dating back to about 1910, according to realtor Samuel Tuttle, a Quincy resident since that time. It was first opened as a seafood restaurant. The Folsom family took over as a sea food and variety business several years later, selling out about 1928.

George Reviere of Mead St., a nearby neighbor, recalls that the Folsom family moved to Florida where one son, Earl Folsom, Jr., later became mayor of Daytona.

While the "Folsom Seafood Market" sign remained above the door up to its demolition a month ago, several other short-lived enterprises were housed there. A restaurant serving shore dinners occupied the premises, and a "clam shucking" business at one time employed a number of women. A chlorinating plant was contemplated, but the idea abandoned.

Living quarters were remodeled from the hall above. In recent years the building has been unoccupied and allowed to become dilapidated.

The property was bought recently by Thomas Healy of Merrymount from the estate of Arthur Hanrahan. A four-family brick apartment building is now planned for the area.

Mrs. Richard Aramian Area Chairman For Channel 2 Auction

Mrs. Richard Aramian of 50 Moffat Rd., Adams Shore, has been named an Area Chairman to organize the 1970 Channel 2 Auction, scheduled for May 30 - June 6 at WGBH-TV.

The annual event is the major fund raising project for the educational channel which each year attracts an audience of more than one million who watch the week-long auction when 6,500 different items are sold.

It is estimated that nearly 3,000 volunteers will work on the 1970 Auction by the time it is under way in June.

Merrymount First Graders Enjoy 'Astronauts' Breakfast

(Quincy Sun Photos by Robert Lee Eng)

Astronauts and the foods they eat while on board the space ship has been the concern of first grade students at Merrymount School, prompted by the recent Apollo 12 flight.

Mrs. Sandra Bachman, teacher, and students after discussing the need of good nutrition, developed a game to encourage pupils to eat a good breakfast each day.

To land a rocket ship on the moon, pupils by groups, were awarded points for what they had for breakfast. The group with the most points would move the rocket ship one step closer to the moon.

Recently the group planned and ate a good breakfast together in the classroom: fruit juice (freshly squeezed and instant for comparison), milk (fresh and powdered), pancakes with maple syrup and rolls.

Not only did the pupils learn the value of good nutrition, but they had practice planning, preparing and cleaning up after a meal – plus a practical application of good table manners.

COOKING IN OUTER SPACE might not be possible, but Mrs. Sandra Bachman, teacher, gives Marcia Cunniff an idea of what might be taken along, in a prepared flapjack.

HOMEMADE BUTTER for their astronaut's breakfast is prepared by Patricia Sullivan, Thomas Canavan and Brian Tobin.

Seven Quincy Schools Receive Federal Funds

Four Quincy public schools and three parochial schools are receiving federal funds through participation in Project DARE.

Project DARE [Diagnostic and Remedial Education]is an effort to give a particular type of handicapped child a better chance.

Through federal funds, it provides financial assistance to local education agencies for the education of children of low income families.

This includes special programs for educationally deprived children in districts where these families are concentrated. In Quincy, students at Snug Harbor, Great Hill, Daniel Webster and John Hancock Schools are receiving this help, together with parochial school students at St. John's, St. Joseph's and St. Mary's, in kindergarten through third grade.

The Title I, ESEA Project known as "A Team Approach to the Diagnosis and Correction of Language Learning Disabilities" has received $35,000 to be applied to the program.

STATE OF THE STATE

by Governor Francis W. Sargent

A MONTHLY REPORT TO THE PEOPLE OF THE COMMONWEALTH

This month, three subjects concern me seriously.

I can, in limited space, only highlight the extent of my concern. The three topics are consumer protection, welfare, and housing.

Consumer: A VIP

Across America, the consumer has become a VIP.

This State's Consumers Council has been a model for America.

The Council should take the forefront in an even more important area: the education of the consumer to some of the pitfalls that unfortunately await him in the market place.

I will, next year, double the budget of the Consumers Council.

I will file legislation to broaden unit pricing in Massachusetts – a sort of truth in pricing system that will permit shoppers to know the price per unit of measure, the price per pound, the price per gallon, the price per standard numerical count. The day will end when the housewife will need a computer to compare.

Consuming Cycle

One of the major consumers in Massachusetts is the welfare recipient. He consumes, it must be said, a major part of the state's revenue resources as he attempts to make ends meet in a cycle of poverty that ever tightens.

The system today, basically the federal program of Aid to Families of Dependent Children, has been tottering near collapse for years. President Nixon has recognized that fact and proposed replacement of AFDC with a so-called "Family Assistance" Plan administered under Social Security. I support it.

It sets as a goal the liberation of the poor family from the poverty cycle. Welfare aid, this new approach proclaims, should promote self-improvement, not self-despair.

The fact is, however, Massachusetts cannot wait for congressional approval of the Nixon plan. I am ordering Welfare Commissioner Ott to install a "standard budget" or "flat grant" system based on the number of members of a family. This will guarantee a fairer method of distribution.

I am ordering the reallocation of special need payments for furniture and clothing. All such money now so distributed should be used to raise the level of direct payments to all recipients.

The Sneak Thief

Hand in hand with the welfare crisis goes the housing crisis, and it is even more severe.

The housing shortage is the sneak thief in our economy. It drains the income of the poor as well as the resources of the middle class because its very shortage inflates its price.

For the poor, it is calamitous, and the result is a kind of imprisonment in sub-standard housing.

New Horizons

This Commonwealth must have a new housing program.

Its goal will be the production of 23,000 housing units every year for the next ten years.

Its vehicle will take the form of legislation proposed to the lawmakers of this Commonwealth when they reconvene. It shall be known as the Replacement Housing and Community Development Corporation.

It shall have the power within a community to replace housing demolished by public action. And it will have the power of eminent domain to do its job.

We are now destroying habitable housing without a plan for replacement. I shall make it our policy that no such demolition shall occur in the future unless there is an accompanying construction program. This policy shall apply to all state action programs and this Corporation shall be the vehicle for the achievement of that goal.

I shall file legislation to allow our cities and towns to impose rent control ordinances. Some do not need to. Others do – and should – and must, if they are to serve the people who are their own.

Cities and towns will be free to make their own judgements. I hand down no fiat from on high. I move merely to permit those who see a need to meet that need.

Promise Ahead

The year ahead is rich with promise for Massachusetts and heavy with the burden of responsibility.

I mean to realize that promise and I pledge to bear that responsibility.

I wish you, and our Commonwealth, well in this year of a new decade.

Francis W. Sargent

Armed Forces Assn. Will Meet Jan. 7

Branch One of the Retired Armed Forces Association, Bay State Chapter Two of Quincy will meet Jan. 7 at 8 p.m. at the C.P.O. Club, South Weymouth Naval Air Station. Bartlett N. Davenport will preside. The organization's annual report will be given by the outgoing president.

Persons who are retired from any branch of the armed forces are invited to attend.

Latin American Expert Speaker At UN Council

"The Hemisphere In Focus" will be the subject of the fourth in the 25th anniversary series of free public World Affairs Programs sponsored by the United Nations Council of the South Shore Jan. 8 at 7:30 p.m. in the parish hall of the United First Parish Church, Quincy Sq.

Speaker will be James Nelson Goodsell, Latin America Editor of the Christian Science Monitor.

Mr. Goodsell has lived in several Latin American Countries. He received his M.A. from Mexico City College and a Ph.D. in Latin American history from Harvard University.

He has been associated with the Monitor since the early 1950's when he worked as a stringer in Latin America while serving as a correspondent for New York and Chicago newspapers. He later became assistant city editor and assistant American news editor for the Monitor.

Mr. Goodsell won the Sigma Delta Chi award for foreign correspondence in 1965 for his coverage of the revolution in the Dominican Republic, a citation from the Overseas Press Club for his 1966 reporting on Latin America, and a 1967 Maria Moors Cabot award.

In 1968 he won the Inter-American Press Association [IAPA] Tom Wallace award in recognition of his work for inter-American friendship and understanding. [This award was founded and financed by Latin American members of IAPA.] In 1969 he received a second citation from the Overseas Press Club for two series appearing in the Monitor – 'Amazonia: Problems and Promise" and "Mexico: New Challenges."

The program will be preceded by a catered dinner at 6:30 p.m. in the lower hall. Those wishing dinner reservations are asked to call one of the following: Miss Edith Coulman of 20 Woodward Ave.; Miss Vera Call of 55 Spear St.; or Mrs. Viola Ellis of 18 Terne Rd., all of Quincy.

A Reliable Directory Of Goods And Services

PRINCE OF PIZZA, 541 Southern Artery, Quincy, has in addition to speedy take-out service, a clean, comfortable dining room featuring a wide variety of tantalizing Italian dishes.

Ten years ago, he thought he could get customers by serving them half-baked food. Today, Mr. Louis Tangusso can rightly say that he has created the South Shore's finest take-home pizza business at PRINCE OF PIZZA, 541 Southern Artery, Quincy.

Since 1959, Mr. Tangusso has followed up on a discovery he made after assuming ownership of the PRINCE OF PIZZA. He discovered that, unless a customer lived right next door to an Italian restaurant, he would never experience the true taste of pizza.

To remedy this, Mr. Tangusso set about establishing a new process for take-home pizza.

He knew that frozen pizzas were no answer for him...they could not retain the necessary crispness and cheese texture which make good pizza. Likewise, fresh-cooked pizza, unless immediately eaten, becomes soft and pasty. Even home-made pizzas might not make the grade, because they are not baked in proven, commercial ovens.

So Mr. Tangusso wound up doing what no one had done before. He now cooks his pizza in his own commercial ovens only long enough to insure proper crispness and texture, then packs them in lightweight aluminum tins, folds a cardboard box around them and hands them over to his customer.

Anytime within the next 24 hours, the pizza can be popped into a home oven and baked for five or six minutes at 500 degrees. The result, Mr. Tangusso says proudly, is the freshest, crispiest, most delicious pizza available.

In the past 10 years, he has built PRINCE OF PIZZA up from a matchless take-out pizza concern to a true family restaurant featuring service, atmosphere and the tantalizing aroma of piping hot Italian food.

Quincy Home To North Friday Night

Friday night is the night the Quincy and North Quincy basketball fans have been waiting for.

The Greater Boston League opens its season with North's defending champions playing at Quincy.

Tuesday night North entertains Revere while Quincy seeks revenge against B. C. High in a return non-league match at the Presidents' gym.

Both North and Quincy have been involved in close non-league games with the Raiders squeaking by Brookline and making a big comeback to nip the Alumni.

Meanwhile Quincy, which shows promise of improving greatly on last year's 2-16 record, dropped a 45-41 decision to B. C. High and then dropped a 57-55 heartbreaker to Weymouth last Saturday.

Tuesday night the Raiders were host to B. C. High while the Presidents played their annual game against a strong Alumni team.

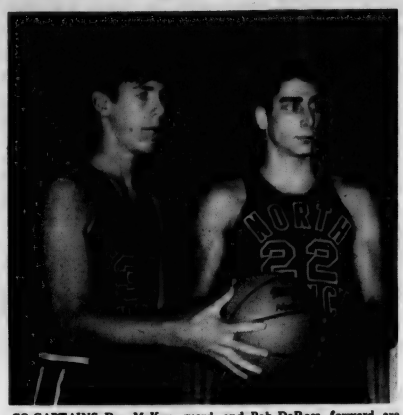
Last Saturday Bob Nolan's North crew trailed a star-studded Alumni team, 52-38, after three periods but North then scored 14 points in a row to tie it at 52-all and pull out a 67-65 win.

Rich Sanderson and Bob DeRosa sparked the Raiders' attack.

On the same night in a game postponed the previous night by the storm, Quincy turned in an excellent performance before bowing to Weymouth, 57-55, in a game which went right down to the wire.

Quincy led, 18-14, after a period but trailed by three at the half and never led again, although the Presidents tied it up three times. They usually trailed by one to three points.

Jim Furfari had 18 points and Bob Pike 14 for the Presidents.



"The kids did a fine job and I feel sure we are not going to be a 2-16 team this year," said Coach Marty Finnegan. "We will give all teams trouble and think we will pull a few surprises."

Earlier in the week Quincy lost a great defensive battle to a tall B. C. High team, 45-41, and Finnegan blamed himself for the loss.

"I didn't have the team prepared offensively," he said. "We've concentrated on defense so far this season and our defense was one of the finest ever by a Quincy team. We are going to work on our offense and we'll be a different team next time out."

Furfari scored 12 points and George Davey 10 for Quincy.

Fran Conroy's Quincy junior varsity walloped B. C. High, 57-37, but bowed to Weymouth, 68-60.

Presidents In Big Ice Win

Quincy's hockey team put itself right in the midst of the Greater Boston League race by handing defending champion Malden its first loss, 6-1 Monday at Boston Arena.

It was by far Quincy's best showing of the year as Harry Bertoni had three goals and two assists to pace the attack.

Chuck Condos had a goal and two assists, Chuck Peterson a goal and an assist and Wayne Milford scored the other goal.

Winless North Quincy, meanwhile, was handed a 9-1 drubbing by Medford as Wayne Fick scored the only North goal.

Friday night Quincy plays Revere at 6:30 and North Quincy takes on Somerville at 8 p.m. Both games will be on Boston Arena Ice.

Last Friday night Quincy made it two in a row with a 4-2 win over Somerville.

Phil Rugg scored his first two goals of the season and Dave Mariano and Harry Bertoni had the others. Rugg also had an assist as did Russ Barry.

"The line of Rugg, Mariano and Wayne Milford played very well and gave us that little offense we had," Sylvia added. "I thought Milford played especially well and it was his best game of the year."

North Quincy continued to improve but dropped a 3-2 toughie to vastly improved Revere.

"We should have won this one," said a disappointed Laing. "A lot of our problems come down to passing. When we do it, we generate some offense, set up some nice plays. When we don't, we bog down and bunch up, killing any attack we might have.

"We are improving in every game and not just score-wise. The awareness out on the ice is coming along. It will take a while for our younger players to develop, but they are getting there."

Bob cited the Raiders' lack of depth. With a defenseman on a vacation trip, Tom O'Malley was forced to play the entire game, doing a fine job but tiring near the end.

Pat McCormick scored the first North goal in the first period with Al Stracuzzi assisting. Revere took a 2-1 lead but North tied it midway in the final period on Neil Cronin's unassisted boal. Revere won it with less than four minutes to play.

"Cronin played an excellent game and goalie Bob Colleran was outstanding," the North coach lauded. "He had 24 stops and some of them were beauties.

Earlier in the week Quincy rebounded from an opening night loss to top Chelsea, 3-1, and even its record at 1-1.

Chelsea jumped off to a 1-0 first period lead but Quincy scored all three goals in the middle period as Chuck Peterson converted a rebound of Bill Blake's shot to tie it up, Chuck Condos scored on passes from Peterson and Kevin Grogan and Peterson scored his second with Condos and Bertoni assisting.

Sylvia praised the performances of Peterson, Blake, Condos and goalie Mark Erickson.

North bowed to unbeaten Everett, 6-3, showing marked improvement over its opening night performance. Al Struzik scored twice and Steve Leonfanti once, with assists going to Cronin, McCormick and Bob Frizzell.

Jack Chase Rolls 655 In Classic League

Quincy's Jack Chase rolled a 655 series to pace Sea 'N Surf Restaurant to an 8-0 win over Carlson Tire in Massachusetts Classic League action at Boston Bowl, Morrissey Blvd., Dorchester.

First place Boch Motors bowled a new high team game mark of 908 to defeat Phillips Candy, 6-2 for a season won and lost record of 83-37.

Gerry Mulcahy Receives Jack Donahue Award

Gerry Mulcahy, outstanding two-way end, received the annual Jack Donahue Award for being named North Quincy's best player in the Thanksgiving game with Quincy.

The presentation was made by Donahue, North's coach from 1933 through 1960 when he retired, at last Saturday's North-Alumni basketball game.

Mulcahy was a standout in every game this fall for the Raiders, continually drawing Coach Ralph Frazier's praises both on offense and defense.

North Quincy Girls Have First Basketball Team

A year ago Quincy High began an interscholastic girls' basketball schedule and, under coach Mary Lou Thimas, the school's first team had a 3-2 record.

This season the North Quincy girls have their first team playing an outside schedule with Marjorie Bollen as coach.

Incidentally, Miss Thimas, who this year is a teacher-coach at Marshfield, was named to the Merestead touring field hockey team and presently is in England for six games.

Quincy, North Trackmen Run Saturday

North Quincy's winter track team, which suffered its first defeat in three meets last week, faced Randolph on Tuesday and on Saturday will meet Arlington in a noon Met League meet at Northeastern's indoor cage.

Quincy, which provided one of the Met League's biggest stories despite losing its third straight last week, ran against Arlington on Tuesday and Saturday will face Newton South, also at noon, at Northeastern.

Bob Gentry's North team, following impressive wins over Quincy and Newton South, bowed to unbeaten Somerville, 55-31, last week at Northeastern.

The Raiders could win only three events including the relay, Paul Affsa winning the mile and John Panarelli the shot put.

Quincy provided the big story of the week when, because of flu and other reasons, only eight boys showed up but these eight did a great job as they lost to undefeated Rindge Tech, 50-3.

Coach Gene Macomber was ready to concede the meet and told the eight to go home but shot putter Scott Brand said "we felt the eight of us could take on Rindge."

Quincy, naturally, could not enter boys in every event and in some had to give away points because of no seconds or third places.

All eight Quincy entrants scored as Bobby Ciano stayed undefeated in the mile and Peter Laing in the two-mile. Brand won the shot and John Dempsey the hurdles.

Larry Butler was second in the 300, Brian Feeney second in the 1000, Larry Finneran second in the dash and Paul Wahlberg third in the 1000.

"I couldn't be prouder of these boys," Macomber said. "Regardless of how we do the rest of the season, I'll never forget today's meet. Not many would agree to go ahead with a meet with only eight boys and there aren't many eight-man teams that could score 30 points against a strong team like Rindge. The boys were wonderful."

Earlier in the week North Quincy topped Newton South, 55-31, as Affsa won the 600, Panarelli the shot, Dave Haight the hurdles and high jump and Pete Davis the dash. The North relay team also won. The Raiders cleaned up on second places with Jeff Strungis in the mile, Richie Yee in the 1000, Chris Kennedy in the 600, Paul Salamaa in the 300, Kevin Henry in the two-mile and Affsa in the high jump.

Quincy lost to Milton, 54-32, with Ciano winning the mile, Laing the two-mile, Frank Aldoupolis the shot put, Finneran the dash and Dempsey the hurdles. The relay team won by default.

Multi-Sports Use Seen For Teel's Pond

If the committee spearheaded by the North Quincy Boosters Club succeeds in acquiring four acres of land--maybe more--in the Teel's Pond area for a physical education site for North Quincy High, it won't solve all the Raiders' problems, but will be a step in the right direction.

"We need this area badly and if we can get it, it will put us a bit closer to Quincy High in regard to athletic facilities," Ralph Frazier, physical education director and football coach at North, said.

"They have excellent facilities up there with three gyms, tennis courts, a practice area right by the school and a soccer field behind Veterns' Memorial Stadium. We are far behind them but this area would help us immensely."

Frazier feels if the area is obtained and filled in, North can use it for such "lifetime" sports as golf, tennis, probably swimming and other sports.

It has been emphasized that the area would not be only for the high school teams but for boys and girls throughout the area.

"When the late President Kennedy took office, he really pushed physical education in the schools," Frazier added. "Most schools moved ahead but we are still way behind."

Ralph went on to explain that North not only is without adequate outdoor facilities but is overcrowded for indoor sports with only one gym and a small boys mechanics room.

"As a result, we just can't accomodate all the kids," he said.

It was explained that the new area could be open for physical education purposes until Thanksgiving, then open again in the spring. It would greatly alleviate the crowded conditions at the high school.

"At present the football and track teams practice at Cavanagh Stadium, the soccer team at Montclair Field, the baseball team at Welcome Young and Montclair and, sometimes, other fields are used," Frazier said. "I think it is necessary that we have a field where all teams can work out near the school."

Ralph went on to point out he hopes that tennis courts, softball diamonds, a track, hockey rink, soccer field and swimming pool, among other facilities, can eventually be built there.

"We want to fill the land in with solid fill and we have had some meetings with city officials to discuss the possibilities," Frazier said.

"Councillor Walter Hannon, Ken Rickson, our coordinator of physical education, Department of Public Works Director John Browne, City Engineer Henry Nilsen and I sat down and it was explained that it might be possible to fill in the land with demolition materials at no cost to the city. We are going to meet again and we certainly appreciate the efforts of Walter Hannon. Councillor Vin Smythe also is interested and doing what he can to help us."

North basketball coach Bob Nolan also explained the crowded conditions in the gym. "The varsity, junior varsity and ninth grade basketball teams, girls' basketball team and gymnastics team all must use the gym and it is just too much," he said.

'Y' Boys Team Swims Jan.11

The Quincy Y boys' swim team will compete next at the District Relay Carnival on Jan. 11 at the West Roxbury YMCA.

The group is off to a rousing start with victories over the Cambridge and Wakefield Y's in their two starts this year. Al Woodward and John Gauthier each coach two groups of swimmers whose ages are from under 10 years to more than 15 years.

Outstanding swimmers this season include:

Spike Cooney, record holder for the 100 yd. freestyle for 11-12 year olds; Billy Ebsary, Jack Gauthier, Tom Clancy and Jonathan Barcelo, a team yet to be beaten.

Jeff Gauthier, Norman Ebsary, Joe Lamb, Dave Walsh, John Schneider, Mark Mariani, Jeff Shulman, Fred Kussman, Kevin Balfour, Steve Anastasi, Seth Shulman, Kevin Boudreau and Kevin Murphy.

Forced by the heavy schedule provided for family groups and classes, the swim team practices at the Quincy Y pool at odd hours, two evenings a week from 5:30 to 7 p.m. and three mornings from 6 to 7 a.m.

Gold Team No. 1 In St. Joseph's Hockey

The Gold team leads St. Joseph's Hockey League with three wins and one loss. The Green team, runner-up, has two wins and one loss.

Don Chiasson of the Red team with three goals and three assists leads Peter Leo of the Greens, with four goals and one assist.

Following in the top 10 are Robert Bosader, Dean Gambino, Don Franceschini, Paul Erickson, Pasquale, John Burrows, Bob Walker, John Schnider and Paul DeCristofaro.

Leading the goalie ratings are Jack Marani, R. Dunn, P. Hanratty, Herb Starr and Don Brown.

North Gymnastics Team Hosts Norwood Tuesday

The North Quincy Gymnastics team, with a 2-0 record, will be host to Norwood Tuesday at 3:30 p.m.

George Golding's Raiders opened with a double meet at Dennis-Yarmouth and gained two wins, topping both Milton and Dennis-Yarmouth.

Following the regular schedule, North will compete in the state individual championships at Framingham South on Feb. 28 and, if it qualifies, in the state team championships at Natick on March 7. Pick up schedule

Zink Starting Forward At Wisconsin

Dave Zink, one of Coach Bob Nolan's many former North Quincy basketball stars to continue on to college, is starting at forward for the University of Wisconsin.

The 6-6 Zink, whose brother Dan is one of Nolan's present North standouts, has been used by Coach John Powless against the opposition's high scorers. In addition to playing great defensive ball, Zink is averaging more than 10 points a game. At North he was a center.

"Dave is great at releasing the ball [passing] to another man," Powless said. "And we have two other big men for him to pass to. He is playing terrific defensive ball for us and getting his share of points."

Monti Paces Sacred Heart

Ed Monti poured in a total of 65 points last week as the Sacred Heart of North Quincy CYO basketball team walloped St. Francis of Braintree, 78-57, and St. Marys of Randolph, 91-37.

25 Upland Rd. Families Virtually Relocated

All persons displaced from Upland Road have now either been relocated in new housing, have been assigned for new locations, or are remaining there until new housing is completed, according to Mayor James R. McIntyre.

"I am very pleased and want to commend Adam Trubiano, Code Enforcement Inspector and Relocation Officer, and Lee Purpora, for their good job under difficult circumstances in making sure that the people on Upland Road were treated kindly and fairly," the Mayor said.

"I have received some letters from people commending them. One of the most difficult jobs of any administration is to displace people for necessary public improvements. I am very pleased that Mr. Trubiano has done an excellent job in finding places for the people who have been displaced for widening of Upland Road."

Twenty-five families and 22 homes were involved in the relocation.

Burke Proposes Drugs Center For Quincy Or Braintree

Dist. Atty. George G. Burke proposes a Norfolk County drugs rehabilitation center with Quincy and Braintree as possible sites.

"We have a very serious narcotics problem thoughout the county –including Quincy and Braintree," Burke told the Quincy Sun last night.

"It is a spreading social cancer that must be stopped."

Burke said he is asking Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre to consider Quincy or Braintree as a site for the center. McIntyre represents both communities on Beacon Hill.

Burke noted the possibility of using or adding onto the Norfolk County Tuberculosis Hospital in Braintree Highlands.

"We need such a center," the District Attorney said, "to send drug users to rehabilitate them."

The growing problem of narcotics is quite evident and is spreading to younger grade levels.

Burke, now beginning his fourth year as District Attorney, recalled that when he first took office the drugs problem involved mainly college age students.

"Three years ago," he said, "it reached the high school level, and two years ago, the junior high school level. It started out among 18, 19 and 20 year olds. Now it is down to the 13 year olds."

Burke noted there is no rehabilitation center in Norfolk County to help treat drug users.

"We badly need such a center," he declared. "There is a great deal of extensive use of drugs in Quincy as well as in the rest of the county."

It is a serious nation-wide problem, too. Burke noted that a 12-year-old New York boy recently died of heroin–the youngest known death due to drugs.

"We can't let this cancer spread to the elementary schools," he said. "We have got to stop it."

Meanwhile, Burke's drugs education program is in high gear.

The District Attorney's office has an extensive film and literature library available to schools, civic, church, PTA, veterans and other interested organizations.

"We have 20 different documentary films available," Burke said. "We have already distributed more than 50,000 pamphlets and have just ordered another 100,000.

"We get more telephone calls at out office regarding drugs–abuse treatment and education–than on anything else. We have received hundreds of calls in a single day."

Burke has two full-time drug educators attached to his office.

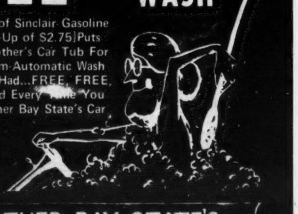
Damien MacDougall of Quincy, former New Hampshire state police officer, and Peter Carr of Braintree, former U.S. Treasury undercover agent, are both experts on combating the use of drugs.

"It has really become a full-time job for them," said Burke.

Mayor In Appeal For 1969 Tax Payments

Mayor James R. McIntyre has issued an appeal to Quincy property owners to pay their taxes today, the last day of the year, to help the E and D Fund. This is the City's "rainy day fund" for emergencies.

The office of City Treasurer David R. Houston will be open tonight [Wednesday] until 6 p.m. to accommodate working people and others desiring to make tax payments within the year 1969.



More than $1 million in 1969 taxes is still uncollected.

"Even those people who are awaiting abatements and who feel they are entitled to abatements can pay the differential in taxes between what they think they should get as an abatement," Mayor McIntyre said.

"This can affect the E and D Fund substantially and also affect next year's tax rate substantially. If we have a good E and D Fund at the end of this year, it will react favorably in the estimate for next year's expenditures for operating the Government."
